INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

The Court should stay execution of Supreme Court's Decision and Order After Non-Jury Trial of February 16, 2024, see Affirmation of Urgency of Clifford S. Robert ("Robert Urgency Aff.") Ex. A (the "Judgment"). The Attorney General's leading argument-that this Court lacks authority to waive or reduce appellate bond requirements under any circumstances-contradicts the plain language of CPLR § 5519(c), this Court's inherent authority, and a host of New York cases. "CPLR § 5519(c) clearly gives the Court discretion with respect to such automatic stays and also allows it to stay all proceedings to enforce a judgment or order appealed from in a case not provided for under subdivision (b)." Schaffer v. VSB Bancorp, Inc., 68 Misc. 3d 827, 834 (Sup. Ct. 2020) (emphasis added).

In deciding whether to enter a stay, the Court may consider "any relevant factor, including the presumptive merits of the appeal and any exigency or hardship confronting any party.'" Id. at 834. Here, Defendants' ongoing diligent efforts have proven that a bond in the judgment's full amount is "a practical impossibility." Affirmation of Gary Giulietti ("Giulietti Aff.") 『 18. These diligent efforts have included approaching about 30 surety companies through 4 separate brokers. Affirmation of Alan Garten ("Garten Aff."), || 5. A bond requirement of this enormous magnitude-effectively requiring cash reserves approaching $1 billion, Giulietti Aff. \| 17-is unprecedented for a private company. Even when it comes to publicly traded companies, courts routinely waive or reduce the bond amount. Enforcing an impossible bond requirement as a condition of appeal would inflict manifest irreparable injury on Defendants, and "defeat or impair [this Court's] appellate jurisdiction." Schwartz v. New York City Hous. Auth., 219 A.D.2d 47, 48 (2d Dep't 1996). By contrast, waiving the bond requirement will impose no cognizable harm on the Attorney General. The case involves no actual victims and no award of restitution, and she is fully protected by Defendants' real-estate holdings. This factor alone warrants a stay.

The manifold errors in Supreme Court's judgment further warrant a stay. Among other errors, Supreme Court disrespectfully disregarded this Court's previous ruling in this case that the statute of limitations applies and that " $[t]$ he continuing wrong doctrine does not delay or extend these periods." People by James v. Trump, 217 A.D.3d 609, 611-12 (1st Dep’t 2023). Moreover, Supreme Court ridiculously valued Mar-a-Lago, in Palm Beach, Florida, as being worth "between $$ 18$ million and $$ 27.6$ million," understating its actual value by about 50 to 100 times. Supreme Court imposed a massive disgorgement award in the absence of any evidence that the alleged misrepresentations caused the supposedly ill-gotten proceeds, in violation of the black-letter requirement that the disgorged amount must be causally connected to the violation. Supreme Court double- and triple-counted damages, and committed elementary errors in the process, such as conflating the proceeds of a sale with the profits from that sale. Such basic mistakes would have been prevented if this case had been allowed to be adjudicated in the Commercial Division, where it belonged.

These errors establish that the disgorgement award is unconstitutional. It is "grossly disproportional" in violation of the Excessive Fines Clause of the United States Constitution and a parallel clause of the New York Constitution, as well as basic principles of due process and selective prosecution. Because the judgment is unconstitutionally excessive, the bond requirement violates the Eighth Amendment as well, because it imposes an irrational, punitive sanction.

This case has no victims, no damages, and no actual financial losses. None of Defendants' sophisticated business partners testified that they would have changed any transaction in light of the alleged "misrepresentations," and all of these sophisticated parties, along with their law firms and other service providers, were well aware of the ironclad disclaimers present in all of the financial statements at issue. The $$ 464$ million penalty in this case has been aptly described as "using a Hellfire missile to annihilate an [alleged] shoplifter." The Editors, Trump's $$ 355$ Million Civil Fraud Verdict, Wall St. J. (Feb. 17, 2024). "There was no real financial victim." Id. "This is choosing a target and then hunting for something to charge him with, which is an abuse of the law." Id. The judgment seeks to destroy a successful business that employs many hardworking New Yorkers, has contributed approximately $$ 300$ million in taxes to public coffers just during the dates in question in this case, and has made historic contributions to the State and City of New York. The Court should stay the judgment pending appeal, and put the brakes on the Attorney General's overzealous litigation crusade. If oral argument would assist the Court in coming to that conclusion, we respectfully request an opportunity for such a hearing.

ARGUMENT

I. This Court Has Discretion to Stay the Disgorgement Award.

The Attorney General argues that, under CPLR § 5519(a)(2), this Court has no authority to stay execution on any condition other than an undertaking in the full amount of the judgment. See Memorandum of Law in Opposition to Motion for a Stay ("Opp. Brief") at 15-20. This argument is meritless, and is a continuation of the Attorney General's consistent lack of respect for the authority, jurisdiction, and impact of this Court. This Court has both express statutory authority and inherent authority to issue unsecured or partially secured stays of execution pending appeal under § 5519(a)(2).

As relevant here, §5519(a)(2), entitled "Stay without court order," provides that service upon an adverse party of the notice of appeal stays all proceedings to enforce the judgment pending appeal where an undertaking in the full amount of the judgment is given by the appealing party.
N.Y. CPLR § 5519(a)(2). Section 5519(c), entitled "Stay and limitation of stay by court order," provides that " $[t]$ he court ... to which an appeal is taken ... may grant a limited stay or may vacate, limit or modify any stay imposed by subdivision (a) ... or this subdivision." N.Y. CPLR § 5519(c) (emphasis added). As the emphasized language provides, § 5519(c) confers on this Court discretion both to grant unsecured stays in cases covered by (a)(2)-i.e., cases involving money judgments-and to "vacate, limit or modify" preexisting stays "imposed by subdivision (a)." Id. Thus, the appealing party may obtain an automatic stay under (a)(2) by posting an undertaking, but he or she may also petition the appellate court for a discretionary stay under § 5519(c).

This is the uniform understanding of § 5519(c) in New York courts. "While CPLR §5519(a) sets forth the conditions for entitlement to an automatic stay, CPLR § 5519(c) clearly gives the Court discretion with respect to such automatic stays and also allows it to stay all proceedings to enforce a judgment or order appealed from in a case not provided for under subdivision (b)." Schaffer, 68 Misc. 3d at 834 (emphasis added). "CPLR 5519(c) permits this Court ... to grant a discretionary stay of proceedings to enforce the order or judgment appealed from, or to vacate, limit or modify any automatic stay obtained pursuant to CPLR 5519 (a) or (b)." Schwartz, 219 A.D.2d at 48 (emphasis added). "The scope of the stay authorized by subdivision (c) is thus coextensive with the stay authorized by subdivision (a), namely, a stay of enforcement proceedings only...." Id. (emphasis added). Regarding the "discretionary stay ... under CPLR 5519(c)," "the scope of this discretionary stay is 'coextensive' with the automatic stay" under §5519(a), and "applies ... to provide non-governmental parties with the opportunity to stay proceedings to enforce the judgment or order appealed from pending the appeal." Tax Equity Now NY LLC v. City of New York, 173 A.D.3d 464, 465 (1st Dep't 2019) (emphasis added); see also CT Chemicals (U.S.A.) Inc. v. Vinmar Impex, Inc., 189 A.D.2d 727, 729 (1st Dep’t 1993) (holding that a defendant seeking a stay of execution of a money judgment may opt "either [to] seek a discretionary stay pursuant to CPLR 5519(c) or to post a[n] ... undertaking" under 5519(a)); Pickwick Int'l, Inc. v. Tomato Music Co., 119 Misc. 2d 227, 232 (Sup. Ct. 1983) ("‘T]hese grounds fully warrant this Court to exercise its discretion and dispense with the posting of any bond pending the outcome of the appeal...").

In addition, this Court has inherent authority to issue equitable stays of judgments pending appeal. Schwartz held that, in addition to $\S 5519$, "[t]here is ... another broad source of authority for this Court, in the exercise of its appellate rather than original jurisdiction, to grant such a general stay of proceedings in an appropriate case." 219 A.D. 2 d at 48. Schwartz reaffirmed "this Court's inherent power to grant a stay of acts or proceedings, which, although not commanded or forbidden by the order appealed from, will disturb the status quo and tend to defeat or impair our appellate jurisdiction." Id. Likewise, in Tax Equity Now, this Court held that a stay of lower-court proceedings was not available under § 5519(a) or (c), yet the Court "exercise[d] [its] inherent authority to grant a discretionary stay of the proceeding pending appeal...." 173 A.D. 3 d at 465.

Moreover, CPLR § 5240 reinforces this broad equitable authority. It provides that " $[t]$ he court may at any time, on its own initiative or the motion of any interested person ... make an order denying, limiting, conditioning, regulating, extending or modifying the use of any enforcement procedure." N.Y. C.P.L.R. § 5240. The Court of Appeals describes § 5240 as a "general provision[] that permit[s] 'any interested person'-including a judgment debtor-to secure remedies for wrongs arising under the statutory scheme." Plymouth Venture Partners, II, L.P. v. GTR Source, LLC, 37 N.Y.3d 591, 600 (2021) (emphasis added). "Section 5240 ... lays out the court's power to, 'at any time, on its own initiative or the motion of any interested person, and upon such notice as it may require, make an order denying, limiting, conditioning, regulating, extending or modifying the use of any enforcement procedure." Id. "CPLR 5240 grants the courts broad discretionary power to control and regulate the enforcement of a money judgment under article 52 to prevent 'unreasonable annoyance, expense, embarrassment, disadvantage, or other prejudice to any person or the courts'." Id. (quoting Guardian Loan Co. v. Early, 47 N.Y.2d 515, 519 (1979)). "[T]his provision 'centers in one place the pervasive judicial power to right, on a case by case basis, any wrong in connection with any of the numerous Article 52 procedures'." Id. at 601 (cleaned up) (quoting Siegel & Connors, NY Prac § 522 at 993 (6th ed 2018)).

This authority matches the universal practice in other jurisdictions. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 62 authorizes the federal courts to "stay enforcement of the district court's judgment, without the posting of a bond or other condition." In re Nassau Cnty. Strip Search Cases, 783 F.3d 414, 417 (2d Cir. 2015); see also Fed. Prescription Serv., Inc. v. Am. Pharm. Ass'n, 636 F.2d 755, 761 (D.C. Cir. 1980) (affirming the decision to require no bond on appeal); N. Indiana Pub. Serv. Co. v. Carbon Cnty. Coal Co., 799 F.2d 265, 281 (7th Cir. 1986) ("‘I]t is a misreading of Rule 62(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to suggest that an appellant who wants to stay execution pending appeal must post a bond."). Other states, likewise, universally recognize an appellate court's authority to waive or modify bond requirements. ${ }^{1}$

In fact, courts routinely exercise this authority to waive or reduce enormous, disproportional, and unjust bond requirements. See, e.g., Texaco Inc. v. Pennzoil Co., 784 F.2d [^0]1133, 1157 (2d Cir. 1986), rev'd on other grounds, 481 U.S. 1 (1987) (reducing a $$ 12$ billion bond obligation to $$ 1$ billion); In re Adelphia Commc'ns Corp., 361 B.R. 337, 351 (S.D.N.Y. 2007) (imposing a $$ 1.3$ billion bond obligation to secure a judgment that required the distribution of " 111 million shares of freely tradeable" stock, "more than 9.4 billion" tradable interests, "and $$ 7.136$ billion in cash"); Int'l Distribution Centers, Inc. v. Walsh Trucking Co., 62 B.R. 723, 732 (S.D.N.Y. 1986) (finding that defendants were not "likely to be capable of posting a bond in the full amount of the approximately $$ 38$ million judgment," and reducing the bond requirement for each to $$ 10,000$ ). The Attorney General's "full-undertaking-only" theory is inconsistent with these and many other cases. It would impair and defeat this Court's appellate jurisdiction in cases involving outrageous judgments-i.e., the very cases where appeal is most necessary.

For this reason, the Attorney General's position raises grave constitutional concerns. As the Second Circuit recognized in Texaco, where posting the full amount is impracticable, an "inflexible requirement [denying] a stay of execution unless a supersedeas bond in the full amount of the judgment is posted" is "irrational, unnecessary, and self-defeating, amounting to a confiscation of the judgment debtor's property without due process." Texaco, 784 F.2d at 1154, rev'd on other grounds, 481 U.S. 1 (1987). This is reason enough to reject the Attorney General's interpretation of § 5519. See, e.g., In re Jamie J., 30 N.Y.3d 275, 282 (2017) ("[W]e should construe the statute, if possible, to avoid the [constitutional] infirmity...").

II. This Court Should Exercise Its Authority To Stay Execution of the Judgment.

This Court should stay execution of all portions of the Supreme Court's Decision and Order, including both disgorgement, and other forms of equitable relief. See Memorandum of Law in Support of Stay Pending Appeal Pursuant to CPLR 5519(c) ("Opening Brief") at 11-14.

A. The Attorney General Misstates the Governing Standard.

The Attorney General argues that "any exercise of inherent power to grant a stay ... would require a showing of extraordinary circumstances." Opp. Brief at 17. That is misleading and incorrect. "Under CPLR § 5519(c), 'there is no single factor in determining whether to grant a stay, the court's discretion is the guide' and 'it will be influenced by any relevant factor, including the presumptive merits of the appeal and any exigency or hardship confronting any party.'" Schaffer, 68 Misc. 3d at 834 (cleaned up) (emphases added) (citing and quoting Deutsche Bank Natl. Trust Co. v. Royal Blue Realty Holdings, Inc., 2016 N.Y. Slip Op. 31510(U), 2016 WL 4194201 (Sup. Ct. 2016), and Richard C. Reilly, Practice Commentaries, McKinney's Cons Laws of NY, CPLR C:5519:4)); see also Navy Yard Hous. Dev. Fund, Inc. v. Carr, No. 33936/96, 2002 WL 1174711, at *2 (N.Y. Civ. Ct. May 23, 2002) (same) (quoting Siegel, Practice Commentaries, McKinney's Cons Laws of NY, Book 7B, CPLR C5519:4); Opening Brief at 10-11.

B. The Exigency and Hardship to Defendants Warrant a Stay.

First, the Court may consider "any exigency or hardship confronting any party." Schaffer, 68 Misc.3d at 834. Here, this factor alone justifies a stay of the judgment.

1. Posting a Full Undertaking Is a Practical Impossibility.

In the Opening Brief, when their efforts to obtain such a bond were still ongoing, Defendants stated their expectation that it would be "impossible to secure and post a complete bond." Opening Brief at 15,25 . Diligent efforts since that time, including "countless hours negotiating with one of the largest insurance companies in the world," have proven that "obtaining an appeal bond in the full amount" of the Judgment "is not possible under the circumstances presented." Giuletti Aff. 9\|I 3, 9-10. The amount of the judgment, with interest, exceeds $464 million, and very few bonding companies will consider a bond of anything approaching that magnitude. Id. \| 12. The remaining handful will not "accept hard assets such as real estate as collateral," but "will only accept cash or cash equivalents (such as marketable securities)." Id. ๆ 13. Moreover, sureties would typically "require collateral of approximately $120 \%$ of the amount of the judgment," which "would require Defendants to hand over collateral in the form of cash or cash equivalents of approximately" $$ 557$ million. Id. II 19. In addition, sureties would likely charge bond premiums of approximately 2 percent per year with two years in advance-an upfront cost over $18 million. Id. ๆ 20.

In short, "a bond of this size is rarely, if ever, seen. In the unusual circumstance that a bond of this size is issued, it is provided to the largest public companies in the world, not to individuals or privately held businesses." Id. ๆ16. The actual amount of cash or cash equivalents required "to collateralize the bond and have sufficient capital to run the business and satisfy its other obligations" "approach[es] $1 billion." Id. \|\| 17. As a result, "obtaining a bond for $464 million is a practical impossibility." Id. ๆ 18.

The Attorney General claims that Defendants "fail to provide information about what steps (if any) they have taken to secure an undertaking." Opp. Brief at 18. In fact, those efforts were ongoing when Defendants' stay motion was filed, and they have since confirmed Defendants' expectation that a full undertaking is a "practical impossibility." Giuletti Aff. ๆ 18. The Attorney General speculates, without evidence and revealing her misunderstanding of basic business practices, that sureties might accept "an irrevocable letter of credit" as collateral. Opp. Brief at 18. But any such ILOC "would still typically have to be fully backed by cash or cash equivalents." Guiletti Aff. \| 15 . Obtaining such cash through a "fire sale" of real estate holdings would inevitably result in massive, irrecoverable losses-textbook irreparable injury.

The practical impossibility of obtaining a bond interferes with Defendants' right to appeal and threatens this Court's appellate jurisdiction. Schaffer, 68 Misc.3d at 834. For this reason, courts routinely waive or reduce bond requirements when securing the bond is not "practicable." Fed. Prescription Serv., 636 F.2d at 760. See, e.g., Cayuga Indian Nation of New York v. Pataki, 188 F. Supp. 2d 223, 256 (N.D.N.Y. 2002) (waiving the bond requirement for a $$ 247$ million judgment where "it would be almost impossible to find a bonding agency willing and able to secure a judgment of this size," and "the posting of a supersedeas bond here would be far from practicable") (cleaned up); TWA, Inc. v. Hughes, 515 F.2d 173, 175 (2d Cir. 1975) (granting a substantial reduction of the bond amount where, "[b]ecause of the unprecedented size of the judgment, the obtaining of a supersedeas bond was impracticable"); Int'l Distribution Centers, 62 B.R. at 732 (finding that defendants were not "likely to be capable of posting a bond in the full amount of the approximately $$ 38$ million judgment," and reducing the bond requirement for each to $$ 10,000$ ); C. Albert Sauter Co. v. Richard S. Sauter Co., 368 F. Supp. 501, 520-21 (E.D. Pa. 1973) (allowing $$ 100,000$ bond on $$ 1.5$ million judgment).

Other features of the Judgment, moreover, threaten to dramatically compound these punitive financial hardships. See Opening Brief, Point II. The provisions preventing the individual Defendants from serving as officer and directors of businesses that they have successfully helmed for decades, and preventing them from seeking loans from any bank registered in New Yorkwhich encompasses most nationwide lending institutions-radically interfere with Defendants' ability to continue to conduct profit-making activities during the pendency of appeal. See id.

2. A Stay Will Impose No Cognizable Hardship on Plaintiff.

By contrast, there is no significant exigency or hardship to Plaintiff. First, there are no victims, as there were no damages and no financial losses. Second, Defendants' real estate holdings-including iconic properties like 40 Wall Street, Doral Miami, and Mar-a-Lago, see Garten Aff. IT 10 -greatly exceed the amount of the judgment. Such assets are impossible to secrete or dispose of surreptitiously, leaving the plaintiff effectively secured during the pendency of an appeal. Cf. Klingenberg v. Vulcan Ladder USA, LLC, No. 15-CV-4012-KEM, 2017 WL 4836313, at *2 (N.D. Iowa Oct. 25, 2017). The Attorney General speculates that Defendants might try to "evade enforcement of the judgment," Opp. Brief at 20, but she does not explain how Defendants might surreptitiously conceal or sell off some of the world's most famous real estate holdings before the appeal is final. See Opening Brief at 11-14.

C. The Court Should Maintain the Interim Stay as to Non-Monetary Relief.

The interim stay extends to the injunction against the individual Defendants "from serving in the financial control function of any New York corporation or similar business entity registered and/or licensed in New York State, and/or serving as an officer or director of any New York corporation or other legal entity in New York," and "which enjoined certain individual and corporate defendants from applying for loans from any financial institution chartered by or registered with the New York State Department of Financial Services for three (3) years." Interim Stay Order (NYSCEF No. 6) ("Stay Order") at 2. The Court should maintain these aspects of the stay pending appeal.

The Attorney General barely addresses these aspects of the interim stay. See Opp. Brief at 23. Her cursory argument has no merit. The Attorney General contends that "Defendants' financial interests" are supposedly outweighed by the need to protect the public interest." Id. But the only authority she cites is a case involving attorney disbarment, which is far afield from Executive Law § 63(12) See id. (citing Matter of Seiffert, 65 N.Y.2d 278, 280-81 (1985)). It is vital to be clear that Executive Law § 63(12) is inapplicable to the facts of this case in the first place, under both the U.S. and the New York State Constitutions, and was wrongfully relied upon by both the Attorney General and Supreme Court, an issue that will be expanded on at length in the merits briefing of the Defendants' appeal. As explained in Defendants' opening brief, Opening Brief at 38, the stayed provisions of the injunction exceed Supreme Court's statutory authority under Executive Law § 63(12). That statute authorizes the court to enjoin only unlawful conductnot lawful, productive business practices. Section 63(12) provides: "Whenever any person shall engage in repeated fraudulent or illegal acts or otherwise demonstrate persistent fraud or illegality in the carrying on, conducting or transaction of business, the attorney general may apply, in the name of the people of the state of New York, to the supreme court of the state of New York, on notice of five days, for an order enjoining the continuance of such business activity or of any fraudulent or illegal acts...." N.Y. Exec. Law § 63(12). Under the statute's plain language, the "such business activity" that courts may enjoin is business activity pervaded by "persistent fraud or illegality," id.-not ordinary, lawful business activity such as running profitable companies and taking out loans. "In every case where a court has granted a permanent injunction pursuant to Executive Law § 63(12), courts have limited the relief to only enjoining the specific activity from which the fraud arose." Opening Brief at 39 (citing cases). The Attorney General has no answer to this point, and in fact, she does not cite any cases involving § 63(12). See Opp. Brief at 23.

D. The Disgorgement Award Will Not Survive Appellate Review.

In deciding whether to stay execution, the Court may also consider "the presumptive merits of the appeal." Schaffer, 68 Misc. 3d at 834. Here, like the other provisions of the Judgment for which Defendants seek a stay, the disgorgement award will not survive appellate review.

1. The Judgment Contradicts This Court's Statute-of-Limitations Ruling.

 First, Supreme Court's judgment clearly failed to comply with this Court's June 2023 ruling on the statute of limitations. As this Court held, "[a]pplying the proper statute of limitations and the appropriate tolling, claims are time barred if they accrued-that is, the transactions were completed-before February 6, 2016." Trump, 217 A.D.3d at 611-12 (citing Boesky v. Levine, 193 A.D.3d 403, 405 (1st Dep’t 2021), and Rogal v. Wechsler, 135 A.D.2d 384, 385 (1st Dep’t 1987). "For defendants bound by the tolling agreement, claims are untimely if they accrued before July 13, 2014." Id. Critically, this Court held that "It]he continuing wrong doctrine does not delay or extend these periods." Id. (emphasis added) (citing CWCapital Cobalt VR Ltd. V. CWCapital Invs. LLC, 195 A.D.3d 12, 19-20 (1st Dep't 2021), and Henry v. Bank of Am., 147 A.D.3d 599, 601-602 (1st Dep't 2017)).The Attorney General wrongfully argues that new "transactions were completed," Opp. Brief at 31, every time Defendants submitted an annual statement relating to long-completed loan transactions. This argument directly and disrespectfully contradicts this Court's June 2023 ruling. First, as Boesky makes clear, such ongoing communications that relate to a prior completed transaction do not toll the statute of limitations for alleged fraud. In Boesky, this Court held that a fraud claim against an attorney relating to the erection of a tax shelter was time-barred, notwithstanding the fact that the defendant maintained an ongoing representation and series of communications with the plaintiff relating to the same tax shelter that extended into the limitations period. Boeksy, 193 A.D.3d at 405. The Attorney General dismisses Boesky as a supposedly "inapposite common-law fraud case" that "did not address §63(12) or its statute of limitations." Opp. Brief at 33. This argument is astonishing, given that this Court cited Boesky as its lead authority in holding that "claims are time barred if they accrued-that is, the transactions were completed-before February 6, 2016." Trump, 217 A.D.3d at 611-12 (citing Boesky, 193 A.D.3d at 405). The principal case cited by this Court in its statute-of-limitations ruling is not "inapposite," Opp. Brief at 33-it is binding.

The Attorney General's argument also contradicts this Court's holding that " $[t]$ he continuing wrong doctrine does not delay or extend these periods." Trump, 217 A.D.3d at 612 (citing CWCapital, 195 A.D.3d at 19-20). CWCapital describes the "continuing wrong doctrine" as applying to a course of conduct where "defendants' activities amounted to a series of wrongs, each of which gave rise to its own limitations period." Id. at 16. Under the doctrine, "a new claim, with a new limitations period, $\ldots$ accrue[s]" each time the defendant engages in a new action within the challenged course of conduct. Id. at 18. Under the "continuing wrong doctrine," each act in the series constitutes "a distinct violation" subject to its own limitations period. Id. at 18-19.

Like Supreme Court's judgment, the Attorney General's argument merely reasserts the continuing wrong doctrine expounded in CWCapital and rejected by this Court in its ruling in this case. See Opp. Brief at 31. The Attorney General contends that new "transactions were completed" every time Defendants "submitted new [allegedly] fraudulent and illegal statements after July 2014 if the Statements were submitted in connection with a loan initiated prior to July 2014." Id. The Attorney General contends that "defendants' activities amounted to a series of wrongs, each of which gave rise to its own limitations period." CWCapital, 195 A.D.3d at 16. She incorrectly argues that "a new claim, with a new limitations period, ... accrued" for each new statement. Id. at 18. She contends that each act in the series constituted "a distinct violation" that re-starts the limitations period. Id. at 18-19; compare Opp. Brief at 31-32. This is a straightforward assertion of the continuing wrong doctrine, which this Court ruled does not apply in this case.

The other case that this Court cited in its ruling, Henry v. Bank of America, makes this conclusion equally clear. Henry describes the "continuing wrong doctrine" as applicable "where there is a series of continuing wrongs and serves to toll the running of a period of limitations to the date of the commission of the last wrongful act." 147 A.D.3d at 601 . Again, that is exactly what the Attorney General wrongfully contends-that the subsequent statements relating to the pre-July 2014 loans and insurance policies constitute "a series of continuing wrongs." Id. Henry emphasizes that the continuing wrong doctrine "may only be predicated on continuing unlawful acts and not on the continuing effects of earlier unlawful conduct. The distinction is between a single wrong that has continuing effects and a series of independent, distinct wrongs." Id. Again, that is what the Attorney General contends-that the subsequent statements constituted "continuing unlawful acts" and "a series of independent, distinct wrongs." Id.; compare Opp. Brief at 31-33.

By holding that the continuing wrong doctrine does not apply here, this Court has already considered and rejected the Attorney General's position. The Court held, correctly, that "plaintiff asserts a single breach" to which the subsequent statements were merely ancillary, and thus "the continuing wrong doctrine does not apply." Henry, 147 A.D.3d at 601-02.

The Attorney General's argument, therefore, is directly foreclosed by this Court's previous ruling, which held that "[t]he continuing wrong doctrine does not delay or extend these periods." Trump, 217 A.D. 3 d at 612 (emphasis added). This Court's holding on the statute of limitations is the law of the case, which "bind[s] a trial court (and subsequent appellate courts of coordinate jurisdiction) to follow the mandate of an appellate court...." Matter of Part 60 RMBS Put-Back Litig., 195 A.D.3d 40, 48 (1st Dep’t 2021); see also, e.g., Applehole v. Wyeth Ayerst Labs., 213
A.D.3d 611, 611 (1st Dep't 2023). "[T]here is no discretion involved; the lower court must apply the rule laid down by the appellate court." People v. Evans, 94 N.Y.2d 499, 503 (2000). ${ }^{2}$

The proper application of this Court's previous ruling forecloses over 75 percent of the judgment. Under that ruling, the only timely claims are those with respect to the Old Post Office Loan and 40 Wall Loan, and only for Defendants bound by the tolling agreement. All claims based on the following transactions are time barred:

- The Trump Doral loan closed on June 11, 2012, with a loan to Trump Endeavor 12 LLC. See Affirmation of Clifford S. Robert in Further Support of Stay Pending Appeal ("Robert Reply Aff.") Ex. CC, ๆ115.
- The Ferry Point contract was awarded on February 21, 2012. See Robert Reply Aff. Ex. DD.
- The loan for 401 North Wabash Venture LLC closed on November 9, 2012. See Robert Reply Aff. Ex. CC, © 131.
- Trump Old Post Office LLC was ultimately selected by the GSA in 2012 to redevelop the OPO property and signed a lease for that purpose on August 5, 2013. Id. \| 146 .

As set forth in Appellants' demonstrative exhibit, Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. X, this error alone accounts for about $$ 351$ million of the overall award, since correctly applying the statute of limitations eliminates any damages associated with the Old Post Office Award, Ferry Point, the Doral Loan, and the Chicago Loan, eliminating $$ 285$ million in damages before pre-judgment interest, and $$ 351$ million including pre-judgment interest. See id.

2. Disgorgement Requires a Showing of Causation.

There is no evidence, and no finding by Supreme Court, that the relevant lenders and insurers would not have given Defendants loans and policies on the same terms in the absence of the supposed "misrepresentations." Opening Brief at 30. The Attorney General argues that this glaring omission in the trial record makes no difference, because "[a]ctual reliance on the misrepresentations is not required under § 63(12) to establish fraud," Opp. Brief at 26, and she "does not need to demonstrate direct losses to victims," Opp. Brief at 27. This argument overlooks a basic principle of the law of disgorgement-the element of causation.

Disgorgement requires a showing of causation between the alleged misconduct and supposedly ill-gotten gains, neither of which exists here. Opening Brief at 30. "[T]he disgorged amount must be 'causally connected to the violation.'" J.P. Morgan Sec. Inc. v. Vigilant Ins. Co., 91 A.D.3d 226, 232-33 (1st Dep't 2011), rev'd on other grounds, 21 N.Y.3d 324 (2013) (emphasis added) (quoting SEC v. First Jersey Sec., Inc., 101 F.3d 1450, 1475 (2d Cir. 1996)). "The amount of disgorgement ordered" must "be a reasonable approximation of profits causally connected to the violation." First Jersey Securities, 101 F.3d at 1475; see also SEC v. First City Fin. Corp., 890 F.2d 1215, 1231 (D.C. Cir. 1989); SEC v. Patel, 61 F.3d 137, 139 (2d Cir. 1995). Thus, "disgorgement extends only to the amount with interest by which the defendant profited from his wrongdoing. Any further sum [constitutes] a penalty assessment." SEC v. Blatt, 583 F.2d 1325, 1336 (5th Cir. 1978); see also, e.g., SEC v. ETS Payphones, Inc., 408 F.3d 727, 735 (11th Cir. 2007) (same); SEC v. MacDonald, 699 F.2d 47, 54 (1st Cir. 1983) (same); Hateley v. SEC, 8 F.3d 653, 656 (9th Cir. 1993) (reversing so-called "disgorgement" exceeding actual gain from fraud); Litton Industries, Inc. v. Lehman Bros. Kuhn Loeb, Inc., 734 F. Supp. 1071, 1076 (S.D.N.Y. 1990). Disgorgement must be based on a showing of "gain causation"-i.e., proof that the amount to be disgorged was caused by the (alleged) wrongdoing. See, e.g., SEC v. Razmilovic, 822 F. Supp. 2d 234, 260 n. 22 (E.D.N.Y. 2011) (government is "required to prove a causal connection between the fraud and [defendant's] ill-gotten gains for the purposes of disgorgement ... or, in essence, gain causation"); SEC v. Huff, 758 F. Supp. 2d 1288, 1355 (S.D. Fla. 2010) (disgorgement requires showing of "gain causation"); see also SEC v. Global Express Capital Real Estate Inv. Fund, 289 F. App'x 183, 190 (9th Cir. 2008) (disgorgement order must be limited to "the profits causally connected to the violation").

The Attorney General incorrectly argues that "reliance ... is not required" to demonstrate a violation of Executive Law $\S 63(12)$. Opp. Brief at 26. Even if reliance is not required to show a violation, which it is, causation is required to justify the particular remedy of disgorgement-i.e., evidence that the alleged misrepresentations actually induced the banks and insurers to agree to less favorable terms. Here, there is no evidence of that critical point. Indeed, not one witness testified that any bank or insurer would have altered the terms or pricing of any loan or policy due to any alleged misrepresentation in the SFCs. On the contrary, every witness agreed that their business decisions were based on their own analysis, thus defeating any showing of causation.

With respect to Deutsche Bank, Nicholas Haigh, head of risk management for the Americas Private Wealth Management business, testified that all decisions were made based on the bank's own internal analysis. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. Q, $1 \uparrow$ 1 31-74, citing PX-290; PX-291; PX-293; PX-294; PX-298; PX-300; PX302; PX-2960; PX-3137 (Robert Reply Aff. Exs. MM-UU). For example, for the Doral loan, Mr. Haigh testified that President Trump's financial strength was assessed on the basis of Deutsche Bank's own adjusted values, not the guarantor's self-reported estimates, especially as to liquidity and net worth. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. Q, 『| 39. David Williams, a current Deutsche Bank employee, similarly testified that an individual's reported net worth is largely subjective or subject to the use of estimates and in underwriting a loan, the bank would make adjustments to client-reported numbers to account for this subjectivity. Id. $\mathbb{\|} 77,80$.

Likewise, Jack Weisselberg of Ladder Capital also testified that net worth was not a key factor in refinancing the 40 Wall Street loan. Id. $\llbracket 124$. He testified that, while the stated net worth on the SFC was something that Ladder Capital "would look at in the underwriting process," it was not a "key factor" in the ultimate underwriting decision. Robert Reply Aff. Ex. BB, 1877:11-24. Rather, liquidity played a primary role over the importance of certain contingent liabilities. See id. 1877:11-18.

Similarly, David Cerron of the New York City Parks Department stated that the License Agreement did not require that President Trump submit his SFCs to the Parks Department, and he personally never reviewed the SFC in connection with the Ferry Point agreements. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. Q, q\| 141-142. The Parks Department did not rely on President Trump's Statements of Financial Condition. First, in the award criteria for the concession, the financial capability of the offeror was weighted the lowest-it was only $10 \%$ of the selection criteria. See Robert Reply Aff. Exs. BB, 2819:2-23 and VV, PX-3290 (Request for Offers). Second, during the term of the license, the Parks Department never received any of President Trump's Statements of Financial Condition, which itself takes the Ferry Point agreements out of this case completely. See Robert Reply Aff. Ex. BB, 2844:15-21. Under the Guaranty Agreement, President Trump was required to submit No Material Adverse Change Letters ("No MAC Letters") which were to "reaffirm the initial financial statements that were shared with the city during the award process were in material respects the same." Id. 2804:20-2805:7. Mr. Cerron admitted that when he reviewed the No MAC Letters, he "was not reviewing them to determine whether President Trump had the financial capability to perform the contract." Id. 2844:22-25 (emphasis added). The determination of whether someone has the financial capability to perform under the contract is made during the award process (which concluded in February of 2012). Id. 2845:1-13; Robert Reply Aff. Exs. EE, PX-3291; DD, DX-981. The sole remedy for failure to submit No MAC Letters under the Guaranty was to increase the security deposit to a maximum of $$ 470,000$. See Robert Reply Aff. Ex. BB, 2832:18-21.

In sum, no witness ever stated that any business decision would have changed, given additional information about the SFCs. Accordingly, the alleged misstatements are not "causally connected to" the supposedly ill-gotten gains, J.P. Morgan Securities, 91 A.D.3d at 232-33; First Jersey Securities, 101 F.3d at 1475, and disgorgement is unavailable as a remedy. The Attorney General has no answer to this fundamental point. Nowhere does she cite any evidence that the SFCs caused the banks or insurers to enter into any transactions that they would not otherwise have entered into-especially not when confronted with ironclad disclaimers.

3. Supreme Court's Valuation of Mar-a-Lago Is Indefensible.

In its summary judgment order, Supreme Court relied on a tax assessment to value Mar-aLago at "between $$ 18$ million and $$ 27.6$ million," and thus accused Defendants of "an overvaluation of at least 2,300\%, compared with the [tax] assessor's appraisal." Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. L at 26 (italics in original). This reliance on a tax assessment "is based on a misunderstanding of basic real estate practice," and the Palm Beach County Appraiser's Office confirmed that its assessment does "not [reflect] the market value." ${ }^{3}$ The chief property appraiser for Palm Beach County stated that its assessments were "for tax purposes only and not for [^2]financing or ... for a lending institution. ${ }^{, 4}$ Yet in its post-trial decision and order, Supreme Court doubled down on this erroneous determination, holding that Defendants overvalued Mar-a-Lago by "possibly a billion dollars or more." Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 77. This holding is indefensible.

Supreme Court disregarded unrebutted evidence that Mar-a-Lago's market value was higher than the price listed on the supporting data to the SFC every year from 2011-2021. See Robert Reply Aff. Ex. BB, 6121:11-6126:9. Trial evidence established that Mar-A-Lago could have sold for $$ 705$ million in 2011 to $$ 1.215$ billion in 2021 (including membership sales), which greatly exceeds the values listed in the supporting data to the SFCs-which ranged from $$ 347,761,431$ to $$ 739,452,519$. See id., 6121:11-6126:9; Robert Reply Aff. Exs. WW-GGG, PX708, PX-719, PX-731, PX-742, PX-758, PX-774, PX-788, PX-793, PX-843, PX-857, PX-1501. Supreme Court also did not consider that Mar-A-Lago is a property in a league of its own because of its history, architecture, finishes, characteristics, as well as the prime and unique location in Palm Beach spanning from the lake, the intracoastal waterway, to the Atlantic Ocean, see Robert Reply Aff. Ex. BB, 6111:10-14. See id., 6106:18-6108:9, 6116:4-12, 6133:5-13, 6134:7-6135:1, 6135:21-6136:10, 6140:10-17. ${ }^{5}$

Supreme Court and the Attorney General contend that Mar-a-Lago should not have been valued as a private residence, but only as a club. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 66-67, 78; Opp.

[^3]Brief at 5,25. That is their sole basis for arguing that Mar-a-Lago was overvalued. See id. This holding is hard to square with the fact that President Trump is currently using Mar-a-Lago as his permanent private residence, and has been doing so for years. In any event, the Attorney General disregards unrebutted evidence that no prohibition exists on Mar-A-Lago being used and valued as a single-family residence, or the fact that its use as a club adds to its value. See Robert Reply Aff. Exs. FF-LL, DX-478, DX-359, DX-360, PX-1013, DX-427, DX-429, DX-484. As explained by a preeminent Florida land use lawyer, when read together as they must be, the Deed of Conservation and Presentation Easement to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, dated March 26, 1995, the Deed of Development Rights, recorded on October 17, 2002, the Rules of The Mar-A-Lago Club, the Town of Palm Beach's zoning code, and the Town of Palm Beach's decision to allow President Trump to actually use Mar-A-Lago as a residence, all support the unrebutted conclusion that no prohibition exists on Mar-A-Lago being used and valued as a private residence. ${ }^{6}$ See id. Ex. BB, 6060:24-6061:3, 6061:16-21; 6062:14-24; 6066:12-17; 6068:7-13; 6068:14-10; 6075:10-6076:20; 6077:2-11; 6078:4-6082:8; 6083:6-19 and Exs. HH, JJ-KK, FF, LL, DX-360, DX-427, DX-429, DX-478; DX-484; see also Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. Q, q\| 570-572, citing DX.478, DX-359, DX-360, PX-1013, DX-427, DX-429, DX-484 (Robert Reply Aff. Exs. FF-LL).

4. Supreme Court Triple-Counted Damages on the Old Post Office Sale.

In 2012, the U.S. General Services Administration ("GSA") awarded the Trump Old Post Office, LLC ("OPO"), a contract to redevelop the Old Post Office property. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. Q, 『 6. On August 12, 2014, OPO closed on a loan with Deutsche Bank in connection with the Old Post Office. ("OPO Loan"). See id., \| 8 . On May 11, 2022, nearly ten years after the

a. Supreme Court conflates proceeds with profits from sale.

First, with respect to the Old Post Office sale, Supreme Court conflated the proceeds of the sale with actual profits from the transaction. Supreme Court held that certain Defendants "are jointly and severally liable, in the amount of $$ 126,828,600$, for the ill-gotten profits Donald Trump netted from the sale of the Old Post Office." Id. at 83. However, the testimony and exhibit the Attorney General cited make clear that that figure was the amount of proceeds from the transaction. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. P, 『l 221, citing 3626:1-24 and PX-1373 (Robert Reply Aff. Exs. BB, HHH). That figure is the sale proceeds distributed to President Trump and his children after repaying the mortgage and other associated costs, not the profit. To calculate profits from a sale, one must deduct equity from the proceeds of the sale, i.e., the value of the seller's cumulative investment in the property prior to the sale. Neither Supreme Court nor the Attorney General bothered to do so-nor presented any evidence of that figure. Thus, Supreme Court's conclusion that the nearly $$ 135$ million proceeds of the Old Post Office sale constituted "net profits received on its sale" overstates the amount of disgorgement by at least tens of millions of dollars.

b. Supreme Court double-counts disgorgement from OPO sale.

Second, Supreme Court punished Defendants for entering into the Old Post Office loan by awarding disgorgement in the sum of both (1) their purported interest-rate savings in obtaining that loan and (2) their alleged "profits" from the sale of Old Post Office. See Robert Urgency Aff.

Ex. A. This is manifest double-counting. If Appellants improperly "gained" interest-rate savings, which they did not, then the amount of the interest-rate differential alone would serve to make any purportedly aggrieved party whole. To also order disgorgement of "profits" for the sale of the same property, in addition to alleged interest-differential "gains," is duplicative, and thus purely, wrongfully punitive. The Attorney General is "not entitled to punitive damages or treble damages, or both, from respondent," as "Executive Law Section 63(12) does not provide for either of these extraordinary remedies and petitioner is limited to obtaining restitution or compensatory damages" alongside an injunction. See State by Abrams v. Solil Mgt. Corp., 128 Misc. 2d 767, 773 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Cty. 1985), aff'd, 114 A.D.2d 1057 (1st Dep't 1985); see also State by Lefkowitz v. Hotel Waldorf-Astoria Corp., 67 Misc. 2d 90, 92 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Cty. 1971). Any award of disgorgement in excess of actual damages caused by Appellants' alleged misconduct is impermissibly punitive. See People ex rel. Spitzer v. Direct Revenue, LLC, 19 Misc. 3d 1124(A) at *7-8 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Cty. 2008) (finding disgorgement only available "in an amount related to the actual damages caused by the misconduct," since "[d]isgorgement of respondents' profits to the state would effectively constitute punitive damages not authorized by statute.").

c. Courts do not disgorge income derived from ill-gotten proceeds.

Third, even in cases where disgorgement of the proceeds of fraud is applied, as it is not here, "a court cannot order disgorgement of income derived from the ill-gotten proceeds." SEC $v$. Govil, 86 F.4th 89, 107 (2d Cir. 2023) (emphasis added); SEC v. Hallam, 42 F.4th 316, 329 (5th Cir. 2022) ("disgorgement could not include 'income earned on ill-gotten profits""); SEC v. Manor Nursing Centers, Inc., 458 F.2d 1082, 1104 (2d Cir. 1972) (holding that the lower "court erred in ordering appellants to [disgorge] profits and income earned on such proceeds"). Here, included in the $$ 464$ million judgment, was approximately $$ 186$ million, plus interest, representing profits

Supreme Court found Defendants to have made from the sale of the Old Post Office and Ferry Point. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 83-84. Thus, Supreme Court ordered Defendants not merely to disgorge allegedly ill-gotten gains from more favorable loan terms, but also to disgorge profits and income earned on the loan proceeds. This was improper. "[O]rdering the disgorging of profits and income earned on the proceeds is in fact a penalty assessment," not disgorgement. Manor Nursing Centers, 458 F.2d at 1104.

5. The Award Is Grossly Disproportionate and Unconstitutional.

Both the United States and New York Constitutions prohibit "excessive fines." U.S. Const. Amend. VIII; N.Y. Const. Art. I, § 5; see Opening Brief at 29-33. A fine is constitutionally excessive if it is "grossly disproportional to the gravity of [the defendant's] offense." United States v. Bajakajian, 524 U.S. 321, 324 (1998); County of Nassau v. Canavan, 1 N.Y.3d 134, 140 (2003).

Supreme Court's disgorgement award clearly qualifies as a "fine." The Excessive Fines Clause applies to all "payments, whether in cash or in kind," ordered to be paid to the state, including in "civil proceeding," if the payment is a "penalty" or assessed "in part" for a "punitive" purpose such as "deterrence." Austin v. United States, 509 U.S. 602, 609-610 (1993); see Canavan, 1 N.Y.3d at 139-40 (quoting Austin); United States v. Viloski, 814 F.3d 104, 108-09 (2d Cir. 2016). Here, Supreme Court explicitly stated that disgorgement under Exec. Law § 63(12) was intended "to deter wrongdoing." Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 81 (quoting People v. Ernst & Young, LLP, 114 A.D.3d 569 (1st Dep't 2014)). Indeed, Supreme Court went so far as to erroneously state that Ernst & Young authorized disgorgement as a "penalty." Id. at 82. Moreover, in Kokesh v. SEC, 581 U.S. 455 (2017), the U.S. Supreme Court held that "disgorgement is imposed for punitive purposes" and that whenever "an individual is made to pay a noncompensatory sanction to the Government as a consequence of a legal violation, the payment operates as a penalty." Id. at 463-64; see also SEC v. Metter, 706 F. App'x 699, 703 (2d Cir. 2017) (assuming that "in light of the Supreme Court's recent decision in Kokesh . . . disgorgement [is] essentially punitive in nature and thus [is] a fine within the meaning of the Excessive Fines Clause of the Eighth Amendment").

The $$ 464$ million penalty is also "grossly disproportional." To determine whether an ordered payment is "grossly disproportionate to the gravity of the offense," both this Court and federal courts consider (1) the "essence" and "seriousness" of the (alleged) offense; (2) the "maximum . . . fine that could have been imposed" under penal statutes prohibiting the conduct at issue; and (3) the "severity of the harm" caused by the defendant's conduct. Canavan, 1 N.Y. 2 d at 140; Viloski, 814 F.3d at 110. All these factors dictate that the award is grossly disproportional.

The first factor-seriousness of the alleged offenses-overwhelmingly favors the Defendants. In its rulings on the Attorney General's Second through Seventh Causes of Action, Supreme Court identified the Penal Law provisions that Defendants allegedly violated. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 77-81. Under these provisions, the offenses that Defendants supposedly committed are mere misdemeanors. See id. A $$ 464$ million penalty for misdemeanor offenses is, on its face, grotesquely disproportionate. Indeed, this Court has struck down a fine of only $2,000 as excessive punishment for a misdemeanor offense. See Prince v. City of New York, 108 A.D.3d 114 (1st Dept. 2013).

Second, the Penal Law provisions that the Attorney General incorrectly alleges that the Defendants violated authorize fines in the thousands of dollars, ranging from $$ 1,000$ for the Class A misdemeanors, to $$ 5,000$ for the Class B misdemeanors, to $$ 10,000$ for corporate offensesthough fines up to "double the amount of the defendant's gain from the commission of the offense" N.Y. Penal Law §80.05(5), or "the corporation's gain," id. §80.10(1)(e), are allowed. On its face, a $$ 464$ million sanction is wildly disproportional to these figures. See Bajakajian, 524 U.S. at 324 (forfeiture of $$ 357,144$ violated the Eighth Amendment where maximum fine for offense at issue, misreporting how much currency defendant was taking out of country, was $$ 5,000$ ).

The final factor-the "severity of the harm" caused by Defendants' conduct-also proves the unconstitutionality of the $$ 464$ million order, because no actual harm was ever alleged or shown here. As Supreme Court acknowledged, Defendants made full and timely payments to the multi-billion-dollar financial institutions and insurance companies that eagerly extended credit and underwrote insurance policies for Defendants. See Robert Urgency Aff. Ex. R at 4 ("undisputed that defendants have made all required payments on time"). Indeed, Supreme Court expressly held that no "showing or allegation of direct losses" to any party, whether "consumers or the public" or the financial institutions involved, was required here. Id. at 81. Without any actual harm, an astronomical $464 million forfeiture plainly violates the Excessive Fines Clause, of both the New York and federal Constitutions. Bajakajian, 524 U.S. at 324 (forfeiture of $357,144 violated the Eighth Amendment where harm shown was "minimal").

In addition, a "grossly excessive" damages award also "violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment." BMW of N.A., Inc. v. Gore, 517 U.S. 559, 568 (1996); see Parker v. Time Warner Entm't Co., 331 F.3d 13, 22 (2d Cir. 2003) ("devastatingly large" damage award "out of all reasonable proportion to the actual harm suffered" violates due process); see also St. Louis, Iron Mountain & S. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 251 U.S. 63, 66-67 (1919) (states cannot impose penalties "so severe and oppressive as to be wholly disproportioned to the offense and obviously unreasonable"). Although the U.S. Supreme Court has "decline[d] . . . to impose a bright-line ratio," it has indicated that a monetary sanction exceeding a "single digit" multiplier of actual, compensatory damages will in most cases violate Due Process. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell, 538 U.S. 408, 425 (2003). Here, no actual, compensatory damage of any kind was shown; the "actual, compensatory damages" are $0.00. The $$ 464$ million order, far from applying a "single digit" multiplier, applies an infinite multiplier and is hence on its face "grossly excessive."

For closely related reasons, the Attorney General's conduct is unconstitutional because it constitutes selective prosecution of the worst sort, as her conduct during her campaign, and after her election, unequivocally proves. Opening Brief at 22-24. In her campaign for Attorney General, Ms. James called then-President Trump "an illegitimate president" and pledged to deploy the full might of her Office against him if elected. ${ }^{7}$ In one campaign video, she described him as "illegitimate," "incompetent," "ill-equipped to serve in the highest office of the land," and someone who should "be indicted for criminal offenses" by "attorneys general across the land." In another campaign video, Ms. James promised "to take on President Donald Trump."9 In her election acceptance speech, she called President Trump someone who "stands as an affront to all that I believe in and all that this country and this state represents, and someone who we must keep in check by the long arm of the law." ${ }^{10}$ As the Washington Post put it, "On the night of her victory, she stood in front of supporters in Brooklyn and all but declared a war against Trump."11 The Attorney General has no convincing response to this point.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated, this Court should stay the execution of the monetary portion of the judgment without requiring the posting of an undertaking, and maintain all other aspects of the interim stay granted on February 28,2024 . If the Court considers denying a stay on any issue, Defendants respectfully request that this Court schedule this stay motion for oral argument at a time of the Court's convenience. In the event that this Court declines to grant a stay, Defendants respectfully request that the Court grant Defendants permission to appeal to the Court of Appeals and enter a temporary stay to allow them to seek relief from the Court of Appeals. ${ }^{12}$

Defendants-Appellants,

IVANKA TRUMP,

Defendant.

I, GARY GIULIETTI, affirm this 15 th day of March, 2024, under the penalties of perjury under the laws of New York, which may include a fine or imprisonment, that the foregoing is true, and I understand that this document may be filed in an action or proceeding in a court of law:

1. I am the President of the Northeast for the Lockton Companies ("Lockton"), the largest privately held insurance brokerage firm in the world.
2. I have been engaged by defendants Donald J. Trump, Donald Trump, Jr., Eric Trump, The Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust, The Trump Organization, Inc., The Trump Organization, LLC, DJT Holdings LLC, DJT Holdings Managing Member, Trump Endeavor 12 LLC, 401 North Wabash Venture LLC, Trump Old Post Office LLC, and 40 Wall Street LLC (collectively, "Defendants") to assist them in obtaining a bond in connection with the abovecaptioned appeals.

3. Based upon my more than 50 years in the insurance industry as well as my actual experience over the past several weeks during which I have been in contact with some of the largest insurance carriers in the world in an effort to try and obtain a bond for Defendants, it is my opinion that obtaining an appeal bond for $$ 464$ million (the "Judgment Amount") is not possible under the circumstances presented.

Background

4. Lockton is the largest privately held insurance brokerage firm in the world with nearly 10,000 associates representing the interests of some 65,000 clients across more than 135 offices and annual revenues in excess of $$ 3$ billion.
5. Prior to joining Lockton in August of 2000, I was the Vice-Chairman of Willis, one of the largest insurance brokers in the world. At Willis, I was responsible for managing the company's real estate and construction portfolio.
6. During the course of my career, I have worked closely with virtually every major insurance company on almost every type of insurance product.
7. I also have extensive surety risk experience, having placed surety for numerous Fortune 1000 companies as well as some of the largest private-equity funds and real-estate developers in the United States. This includes multi-billion-dollar construction and development projects, such as the "Big-Dig" in Boston and the Port Authority in New York. Indeed, Lockton has an entire department devoted to surety and underwrites thousands of bonds a year, including numerous appeal bonds.
8. As a result, I have substantial personal knowledge of and experience with the underwriting process and criteria associated with the issuance of surety bonds in a wide variety of commercial contexts.

Obtaining A Bond for $464 Million Is Impossible Under the Circumstances

9. Over the last several weeks, my team and I, along with others engaged by Defendants, have been diligently working to obtain an appeal bond for Defendants for the Judgment Amount.
10. Among other things, these efforts, which began before the judgment was issued and have continued through the date of my Affirmation, have included reaching out to virtually every major surety in the market and spending countless hours negotiating with one of the largest insurance companies in the world.
11. Despite scouring the market, we have been unsuccessful in our effort to obtain a bond for the Judgment Amount for Defendants for the simple reason that obtaining an appeal bond for $$ 464$ million is a practical impossibility under the circumstances presented.
12. As an initial matter, only a handful of sureties are approved by the U.S. Department of Treasury to underwrite bonds for a sum as high as the Judgment Amount. See https://fiscal.treasury.gov/surety-bonds/list-certified-companies.htmul. Of those sureties, many have internal policies which significantly limit the amount of a bond they will write for a single obligation; indeed, it is my understanding that they will generally only issue a single bond up to $$ 100$ million.
13. Furthermore, none of these sureties will accept hard assets such as real estate as collateral. Instead, they will only accept cash or cash equivalents (such as marketable securities). Among the companies that will not accept real estate as collateral are AXA XL, Hartford, Nationwide, Sompo, Travelers, Berkshire Hathaway, CNA Casualty, Liberty Mutual and many others.
14. This is because sureties are generally (i) not in the business and therefore not equipped to manage, control, or dispose of real property; (ii) not willing to take the risk of having to sell off real estate quickly should a claim be made under a bond; and (iii) unable to offset the risk associated with underwriting a bond collateralized by real property because reinsurers are unwilling to insure such a bond.
15. While it is possible that Defendants could provide a surety with an irrevocable letter of credit ("ILOC") as collateral, that ILOC would still typically have to be fully backed by cash or cash equivalents.
16. Simply put, a bond of this size is rarely, if ever, seen. In the unusual circumstance that a bond of this size is issued, it is provided to the largest public companies in the world, not to individuals or privately held businesses.
17. In the surety world, a bond of $$ 100$ million is considered large; an appeal bond of $$ 464$ million is commercially unattainable for a privately owned company. Such would be the case even for a company with billions of dollars in real estate unless they have cash or cash equivalents approaching $$ 1$ billion so as to collateralize the bond and have sufficient capital to run the business and satisfy its other obligations. While it is my understanding that the Trump Organization is in a strong liquidity position, it does not have $$ 1$ billion in cash or cash equivalents.
18. As a result, for a company such as The Trump Organization, which has most of its assets invested in real estate, obtaining a bond for $$ 464$ million is a practical impossibility.

Even if it Were Possible, the Cost of Obtaining a Bond for the Entire Judgment Amount Would Be Punitive

19. Based on my experience, most sureties also require collateral of approximately $120 \%$ of the amount of the judgment. In this case, the Judgment Amount is $$ 464,576,430.62$. As a result, even assuming there was a surety capable of writing a bond for the full Judgment Amount, that surety would require Defendants to hand over collateral in the form of cash or cash equivalents of approximately $$ 557,491,716$.
20. Further, most sureties typically charge a premium in the range of $2 \%$ per year and require that the premium for the first two years be paid up front. This means that on a $$ 464,576,430.62$ bond, the upfront premium would be approximately $$ 18,583,057$, payable immediately upon issuance of the bond. In the event that the appeal process was to take longer than two years, an additional upfront premium would be due in the same amount of $$ 18,583,057$.
21. As a result, even if it were possible to obtain a bond for the Judgment Amount (and based on my experience, it is not), the cost associated with obtaining such a bond would be so astronomical as to render it both crippling and punitive.

Conclusion

22. Over the course of my career, during which I have been directly or indirectly involved in the issuance of thousands of bonds, I have never heard of nor seen an appeal bond of this size for a private company or individual. This is why, I understand, most states cap the amount that an appellant is required to post in order to obtain an appeal bond.
23. For all of the foregoing reasons and after substantial good-faith effort over the last several weeks, obtaining an appeal bond for the Judgment Amount of over $$ 464$ million is just not possible under these circumstances.

Defendants-Appellants,
IVANKA TRUMP,

Defendant.

ALAN GARTEN, an attorney duly admitted to practice law before the Courts of the State of New York, hereby affirms the following statements to be true under the penalty of perjury:

1. I am General Counsel to defendants-appellants The Trump Organization, Inc., Trump Organization LLC, DJT Holdings LLC, DJT Holdings Managing Member, Trump Endeavor 12 LLC, 401 North Wabash Venture LLC, Trump Old Post Office LLC and 40 Wall Street LLC ("Defendants").
2. I respectfully submit this Affirmation in further support of Defendants' motion requesting a discretionary stay pending appeal relieving Defendants of their obligation to secure an appeal bond in the full amount of the judgment entered in this case by the Supreme Court on February 23, 2024 (the "Judgment").
3. The Judgment awards purported "disgorgement" damages, directing the Defendants to pay the unprecedented sum of $$ 464,576,430.62$. While Defendants are financially stable companies and individuals with substantial assets, given the magnitude of the award and accrued interest, Defendants' only recourse is the utilization of their vast real estate holdings to collateralize a bond for the full amount of the Judgment.
4. Defendants have devoted a substantial amount of time, money, and effort toward obtaining a bond for the Judgment. Despite the foregoing, Defendants have faced what have proven to be insurmountable difficulties in obtaining an appeal bond for the full $$ 464$ million. Critical among these challenges is not just the inability and reluctance of the vast majority of sureties to underwrite a bond for this unprecedented sum, but, even more significantly, the unwillingness of every surety bond provider approached by Defendants to accept real estate as collateral.
5. Defendants, through four separate brokers, including Lockton, the largest privately held insurance broker in the world, have approached more than 30 surety companies, proposing to pledge as collateral a combination of cash or cash equivalents and unencumbered real estate holdings. ${ }^{1}$
6. Unfortunately, we have been advised that there are only a handful of sureties in the market that have both the financial capability and willingness to underwrite a bond of this

[^7]magnitude. According to Defendants' brokers, the vast majority simply do not have the financial strength to handle a bond of this size. Of those that do, the vast majority are unwilling to accept the risk associated with such a large bond.
7. Of even greater import, we are advised that none of the sureties approached by Defendants' brokers are willing to accept hard assets such as real estate as collateral for appeal bonds.
8. While Defendants had been actively negotiating a bond collateralized by both liquid assets and real property with Chubb, one of the largest insurance companies in the world, within the past week, Chubb notified Defendants that it could not accept real property as collateral. Though disappointing, this decision was not surprising given that Chubb was the only surety willing to even consider accepting real estate as collateral.
9. For Defendants, this presents a major obstacle.
10. Defendants' primary business is the ownership, development, and management of commercial and residential real estate. Three of the Defendants, Trump Endeavor 12 LLC, 401 North Wabash Venture LLC and 40 Wall Street LLC, are special purpose entities whose sole assets are real estate. ${ }^{2}$ Defendants DJT Holdings LLC and DJT Holdings Managing Member are primarily holding companies whose main assets are real estate. ${ }^{3}$
11. As a result, there is simply no way for Defendants to tap into the substantial equity in these properties needed to collateralize a bond for $$ 464$ million without causing irreparable harm.

[^8]12. Even assuming sureties were willing to accept real estate (they are not), the requirement to post a bond for the full amount of the Judgment would be extremely costly and unfairly punitive, potentially impacting Defendants' ability to sustain their business, retain employees and satisfy their other financial obligations. As shown in the accompanying Affirmation of Gary Giulietti, President of the Northeast for Lockton, most sureties typically require $120 \%$ collateral and charge a premium in the range of $2 \%$ per year with the first two years paid up front.
13. This means that on a $$ 464$ million bond, Defendants would have to post collateral in excess of $$ 557$ million. It also means that the upfront premium for the bond would be more than $$ 18$ million, payable immediately. In the event the appeal process went more than two years, I am advised that Defendants would then be obligated to pay an additional $$ 18$ million upfront premium.
14. Given these exceptional circumstances, Defendants respectfully request that the Court exercise its discretion and relieve Defendants of their obligation to secure an appeal bond in the full amount of the Judgment.
15. For more than one year prior to the Judgment, Defendants have been prohibited from disposing, transferring or otherwise conveying material assets without the approval of the Independent Monitor. The Judgment directs that the Monitor will remain in her oversight role during the pendency of the appeal.
16. Though Defendants strongly disagree with the Judgment, they have not requested a stay of that aspect of the relief. As a result, there is simply no risk that any of Defendants' material assets will be disposed, transferred, or otherwise conveyed without the approval of the Independent Monitor during the pendency of the appeal.
17. Together with a reduced bond, the Attorney General thus has more than enough certainty that the status quo will be maintained during the pendency of the appeal and that any judgment affirmed would be satisfied.

AFFIRMATION OF CLIFFORD S. ROBERT IN FURTHER SUPPORT OF A STAY PENDING APPEAL

CLIFFORD S. ROBERT, an attorney duly admitted to practice law before the Courts of the State of New York, hereby affirms the following statements to be true under the penalties of perjury:

1. I am the principal of the law firm of Robert & Robert PLLC, attorneys for Defendants-Appellants Donald J. Trump, Donald Trump, Jr., Eric Trump, The Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust, The Trump Organization, Inc., Trump Organization LLC, DJT Holdings LLC, DJT Holdings Managing Member, Trump Endeavor 12 LLC, 401 North Wabash Venture LLC, Trump Old Post Office LLC, 40 Wall Street LLC, and Seven Springs LLC. I am fully familiar with the facts and circumstances set forth herein based on the files and materials maintained by my firm.

2. This Affirmation is submitted in further support of the joint application of Defendants-Appellants Donald J. Trump, Donald Trump, Jr., Eric Trump, Allen Weisselberg, Jeffrey McConney, The Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust, The Trump Organization, Inc., Trump Organization LLC, DJT Holdings LLC, DJT Holdings Managing Member, Trump Endeavor 12 LLC, 401 North Wabash Venture LLC, Trump Old Post Office LLC, 40 Wall Street LLC, and Seven Springs LLC (collectively, "Appellants") brought by Order to Show Cause pursuant to CPLR § 5519(c) for a stay pending appeal of the Decision and Order of the Honorable Arthur F. Engoron, J.S.C., dated February 16, 2024, duly entered by the Clerk of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, County of New York, on February 16, 2024, and reduced to Judgment on February 23, 2024 (the "Judgment").
3. On February 28, 2024, a Justice of this Court granted Appellants' motion for an interim stay of the Judgment, over Respondent's opposition, insofar as the Judgment enjoined (1) the individual Appellants from serving in the financial control function of any New York corporation or similar business entity registered and/or licensed in New York State, (2) the individual Appellants from serving as an officer or director of any New York corporation or other legal entity in New York, and (3) certain individual and corporate Appellants from applying for loans from any financial institution chartered by or registered with the New York State Department of Financial Services for three years. The branch of Appellants' application seeking an interim stay of enforcement of the monetary judgment against them was denied. Appeal No. 2024-01134, NYSCEF Doc. No. 6.
4. As previously noted in the Affirmation of Urgency of the undersigned dated February 28,2024 , the parties commenced a highly publicized, three-month non-jury trial on October 2, 2023. THE COURT: Good morning, everyone. I'm Judge Arthur Engoron, and that is the correct pronunciation of my surname. En-gor-on, not Eng-o-ron or even worse En-gu-ron.

Before we start the actual trial in this matter, I'll hear from the attorney from the various news organizations, who, last Friday, filed an application for certain forms of press access.

MR. BALIN: Good morning, your Honor.
THE COURT: Good morning.
MR. BALIN: Robert Balin of Davis Wright
Tremaine, LLP for 18 news organizations that made a press application for access on Friday.

Your Honor, I start by saying I want to thank the Court. I note the Administrative Judge of this section is here, as well as the Director of Public Information for the Court System; and, I'd like to thank you because you've granted, already, many of the requests that were in our Friday letter.

I have only two requests to make of your Honor this morning. First, is to permit a pool television camera person to televise the opening and closing statements of the defense counsel and the Attorney General.

I'd start by saying I've asked both sides their positions. The New York Attorney General does not oppose. Defense counsel does not take any position and leaves it to your Honor. Your Honor, I believe if ever there was a case that justified the public understanding what their legal arguments are -- it's not about witnesses. What the legal arguments are in this case is of such great significance, this is that case.

We have a pool TV cameraman outside. His name is Tracey Reede. He's from NBC. He has a Whitehouse press pass, a State Department press pas and a Defense Department press pass. I would note, your Honor, that televising of opening and closing arguments was allowed by a Judge in Westchester County in People v. Olivo in 2008, three years after the Courtroom Television Network case.

We believe it is permitted, and, it is up to your Honor. It's within your discretion. There are various factors. One, is the positions of the parties. Two, is would it disturb the proceedings. Your Honor, I can bring the cameraman and his camera in, if you'd like.

Three, is the type of case. I can hardly overstate the significance of this case. Four, safety. Five is. Maintaining decorum. I believe all of those factors are met here.

So, your Honor, that is our first request. I

| 3 | THE COURT: Give me a second. |
| 4 | (Brief pause.) |
| 5 | THE COURT: That's more difficult, a more |
| 6 | fraught request than you might expect or other people |
| 7 | would expect. I'm afraid I'm constrained to deny it. |
| 8 | MR. BALIN: Thank you, your Honor, for your time |
| 9 | on it. |
| 10 | The second request-- I thank the Court. You've |
| 11 | permitted laptop use, which, I believe, is surely |
| 12 | necessary in the courtroom for this type of proceeding. |
| 13 | The concern expressed to me by a number of members of the |
| 14 | press is that with so many members of the press using the |
| 15 | Wi-Fi in this courthouse, that it may either crash or it |
| 16 | may slow down. |
| 17 | The request that I have for the Court is to |
| 18 | allow what are called remote hotspots. A number of the |
| 19 | members of the press have them and to use cell phones |
| 20 | solely for the ability to get to the Internet and get to |
| 21 | their news rooms. That was the second request I have for |
| 22 | your Honor. |
| 23 | THE COURT: Granted. |
| 24 | MR. BALIN: All right. Your Honor, thank you |
| 25 | very much. |

THE COURT: You're welcome. I'm allowing five or so pool photographers. Are they waiting to come in now?
(Photographs taken.)
THE COURT: The name of the case that brings us here today is People of the State of New York by Letitia James, Attorney General of the State of New York, versus Donald J. Trump, et al., meaning, and others.

The index number, which is how we keep track of cases around here, and might help you to follow it on the New York State Court's electronic filing system, affectionately known by its acronym as NYSCEF is 452564/2022.

Early this morning, I received an application from plaintiff seeking to discuss some housekeeping matters. I will address those matters after opening statements. The trial is scheduled to last from today until December 22, 2023, the Friday before Christmas.

I intend to speak now for approximately five minutes. Call it my opening statement. Soon after which, counsel for each side will make their, no doubt, longer opening statements.

For the next three months after that, I hope that the only words I will utter are sustained, overruled, and let's take a ten-minute break and even as

1 to those, the less often the better.
The basic schedule to which we'll adhere is Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. then a one-hour-and-15-minute lunch break, then 2:15 through 4:30 p.m.. on Fridays, we'll only have the morning session, 10:00 to 1:00.

Months ago, I declared that the trial would commence today, October 2, 2023, come hell or high water. Meteorologically speaking, we've had the high water but we're ready to go. I commend all counsel for adhering to my tight schedule and for their Herculean efforts to get us where we are today.

This case has esteemed counsel. On one side, we have an Attorney General. On the other side, we have a former Solicitor General. In the middle, we have me, a generalist, meaning that I know a little about a lot.

One thing I know a lot about is the legal definition of fraud. Common law, meaning law before we all came of age. Fraud, also known as misrepresentation, has five elements.

First, a material statement. Second, falsity of that statement. Third, scienter, lawyer talk meaning that the defendant knew that this statement was false. Four, the plaintiff's justifiable reliance, and five, damages.

Common-law fraud is not an easy case to prove. Material, according to whom? How do we know what the defendant knew? What reliance is justifiable? Then along came Jacob Javitz. Nowadays, he's best known for the convention center and for the federal office building directly across the street from us, which you can actually see out our windows, both named for him.

Before that, he was best known as the long-term United States Senator from New York. Before that, he was the Attorney General of the State of New York, the position that Ms. James now occupies.

In 1956, he convinced New York State to adopt what is now codified as Executive Law Section 63(12) which gives the Attorney General the authority to investigate and bring actions against any entities that allegedly engage in "repeated fraudulent or illegal acts or otherwise demonstrate persistent fraud or illegality the carrying on, conducting a transaction of business."

Subsequent case law has construed that to mean, or at least to include, false statements used in business. Incidentally, Javitz was a savvy politician. He was born on the lower eastside, so very near here. When he campaigned on his home turf, he called himself Jacob Javitz. When he campaigned on the posh upper eastside, he called himself John Javitz, and, when he

1 campaigned upstate, he called himself Jake Javitz. I
2 want to make sure Mr. Kise returns to Florida with some 3 New York history and political street smarts.
The complaint in this case consists of seven causes of action. There are no counterclaims, at least not in court. The first is known as the standard on Section 63(12) claim. The other six are claims that defendants violated Section 63(12) by violating various sections of New York's Penal Law.

As all, or most, of you know, six days ago, on Tuesday September 26th, I granted plaintiff summary judgment only on liability and only on the first cause of action. What's left to be tried and decided are, first, either liability or exoneration on the other six causes of action and, second, monetary damages or other relief.

Plaintiff is seeking disgorgement of alleged ill-gotten gains and to limit defendant's ability to conduct business in New York.

You have probably noticed or already read that this case has no jury. Neither side asked for one and, in any event, the remedies sought are all equitable in nature, mandating that the trial be a bench trial, one that a Judge alone decides. I promise to do my best, despite my lame attempts at humor.

As I said in an earlier phase of this litigation, I take my job very seriously, and, I know
2 that counsel and the parties do, likewise. The acoustics 3 in this room are not too bad, as you can hear, I hope, 4 but I'm sure everybody will be hanging on to every word you say. So, I beseech counsel to speak slowly, loudly, clearly, and, as I'm doing, directly into the microphones so that everyone in the bleacher seats may hear you.

Now, let's listen to plaintiff's opening statement.
MR. WALLACE: Thank you, your Honor. Kevin Wallace for the Office of the Attorney General.

Some of what I heard, I'm just going to double up on what you just talked about. The first of which is that, obviously, the case today --

THE COURT: I hear feedback.
MR. WALLACE: Okay.
(Brief pause)
THE COURT: Please continue and we'll see how it sounds.

MR. WALLACE: Thank you, again, your Honor. As I mentioned, I may cover some of the ground that you already did.

First of all, the case today is, obviously, significantly different than it was just a week ago. At this point, the People have already proven that the Statements of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump were false and misleading in each year from 2011 to 2021.

We have already proven that those statements were then repeatedly and persistently used in the conduct of business after July 13, 2014. We have also proven that each of the defendant's entities and individuals alike participated in that fraud. So, what remains for us to prove at trial?

First, the People will establish that each of these defendants further violated Executive Law 63(12) by engaging in repeated and persistent illegal acts in the conduct of business.

The second thing we will show is that those illegal acts, together with the fraud we've already established, entitles the People to all of the equitable relief that we're seeking, including a bar on new commercial real estate transactions, a bar on borrowing on New York banks, an industry bar for each of the individual defendants, removal of trustees, and an accurate GAAP compliance Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump.

Finally, the People will demonstrate that the Court should disgorge the financial benefits each of these defendants obtained from their illegal conduct. Now, what illegal acts do we intend to prove?

First, we will prove defendants illegally falsified business records in violation of New York Criminal Law. We will show the defendants committed this illegal act by making false entries in the records of Trump Organization and, by extension, the records of their accountants, the banks, and other counterparties that received the fraudulent Statements of Financial Condition.

We will show the defendants made these false entries with the intent to defraud. We'll also show that the defendants conspired to make these false entries in a separate criminal violation.

The next crime we will establish is issuing false financial statements. We will show that with intent to fraud, each defendant participated in, or have knowledge of the creation of a written instrument, here the Statement of Financial Condition that described Donald J. Trump's financial condition in a manner that was inaccurate in a material way.

We will further prove that the defendants also violated this law by representing, in writing, that the statements were true while knowing that they were materially inaccurate and, once again, we'll show the defendants conspired to create and use these false statements, a separate criminal violation.

Opening Statement - Plaintiff/Wallace

1 intent to fraud here on the part of the individual 2 defendants and entities they owned and operated is 3 self-evident.

The defendants knew that the statements were false. They then used them to obtain and maintain benefits they were not entitled to. That is the definition of intent. Now, most of the individual defendants have argued that they lack the requisite intent because they didn't know the statements were false.

With the exception of Mr. McConney, they claim they weren't involved in the valuation process and had nothing do with the preparation of statements. The Court will be able to judge for itself the credibility of those denials when defendants appear on the stand and offer them, but, if those denials are true, the defendants were lying year after year after year to Mazars, to the banks, to any reader of the statements, and, that's because the defendants made the exact opposite representation for years.

From 2011 to 2015, the Statement of Financial Condition represented that every estimate of current value was determined by Mr. Trump. That included individual properties like Trump Tower and 40 Wall Street.

From 2016 to 2021 the Statement of Financial Condition stated that it was Donald Trump, Jr. and Allen Weisselberg, the trustees from Mr. Trump's trust, who determined the estimates of current values; and, again, that included individual properties like Trump Tower and 40 Wall Street.

What about Eric Trump? For years, he served as a source of valuations for properties like Seven Springs shown here in 2012 and, again, 2014 and 2015. In 2021, Eric Trump personally oversaw the intention of Whitley Penn and their work on the statement.

What's more? Each of the defendants certified the banks, time and again, that statements were true and correct. Donald Trump, from 2011 through 2015, he certified the Deutsche Bank and statements presented of financial condition fairly in all material respects.

From 2016 to 2020 Donald Trump, Jr. certified the Deutsche Bank with the statements presented of his father's financial condition fairly in all material respects.

In 2021, Eric Trump certified the Deutsche Bank that the statements presented his father's financial condition fairly in all material respects. In multiple years, Allen Weisselberg certified to Ladder Capital that Donald Trump's net worth was true, correct, and complete, and fairly presented his financial condition.
Even Jeff McConney got into the act of passing these statements off to lenders, including the lender on Seven Springs. When it came time to testify under oath, the defendants wanted nothing to do with these statements. They refuted each of these representations.

Eric Trump denied he had any knowledge of the statements whatsoever.
(Video played.)
Let's move on to the critical question of who's responsible for making sure that the statements complied with GAAP. None of the defendants would take responsibility. Let's start with Donald Trump, Jr., as trustee. He, together with Weisselberg, was responsible for GAAP presentation of the statements from 2016 until 2021. What did he say at his deposition?
(Video played.)
MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, objection.
THE COURT: Hold on. Okay, go ahead.
MR. ROBERT: The examinations under oath are not part of this case. That's not from Mr. Trump's deposition. It's from his examination under oath. The Attorney General did not take his deposition in the instant case. This goes to the motions in limine we discussed last week.

1 Courts recognize that, because conspiracies are secretive endeavors, they often have to be inferred from circumstantial evidence, and confirmed by overt acts. Well, that kind of evidence certainly exists in this case, but we also have direct evidence of the scheme to inflate Mr. Trump's net worth.

Michael Cohen testified to this, when he was deposed by defendants. Let's take a look at one portion of that testimony.
(Video played.)
MR. WALLACE: Now, the defendants may argue that you can't believe Mr. Cohen, but his testimony is corroborated by the other evidence in this case, and his testimony is consistent with that of a current Trump organization employee, Patrick Birney. Mr. Birney played a central role in preparing the Statements of Financial Condition starting in 2017. And what did he say?
"Alan Weisselberg told me, Donald like to see it go up."

He likes it to go up, and, "It," I don't think referred to assets. I think it refers to net worth.

So, we have direct testimony from the people involved in the scheme to inflate Donald Trump's net worth, but I would like to talk a little bit about the overt acts that prove this conspiracy, the evidence that demonstrates

1 Financial Condition, again, with Seven Springs valued at 2291 million, the triplex valued at 200 million, and Wall 3 Street, 40 Wall Street, valued at 660 million. The process 4 kicks off with Jeff McConney and Donald Bender, at Mazars.
5 This is the first of a number of emails with spreadsheets 6 for back-up for DJT's SOFC.
"This one has been marked up, the 6/30/2014 SOFC, before Alan's comments. I should be talking to him tomorrow morning."

Attached to this email we see Mr. McConney's hand-marked-up valuations; his indications of what the values will be, in 2015. He also marks up the text in the draft SOFC. So, let's see what he writes for Seven Springs.

The mansion at Seven Springs, you can see the value is set at $$ 291$ million. You can see Mr. McConney's handwritten notation, "Okay." The value is going to stay at $$ 291$ million, but by the time the statement is finalized in March of 2016, that valuation is no longer what they are going to use. Why? Because of that easement donation. In order to get the tax deduction from that donation, Mr. Trump had to obtain an appraisal from Cushman & Wakefield. Cushman & Wakefield valued the entire economic value of Seven Springs at $$ 56$ million, even before placing the easement. That includes all the development rights the that these are not just innocent differences of opinion, or mistakes. To do that, let's take a look at how this valuation plays out, in practice. As the witnesses have explained, these are not just independent valuations, they are part of a scheme to keep Donald Trump's net worth as high as possible.

So, let's take a look at what happened in 2015. Three properties made big swings in that year. Seven Springs, 40 Wall, and the triplex penthouse. Those swings were connected, designed to prop up Donald Trump's net worth, and hit the target that Mr. Trump wanted to hit. The defendants engaged in a shell game.

The value of Seven Springs dropped by $$ 235$ million, because of an appraisal done in connection with the conservation easement. To prop up Mr. Trump's overall net worth, Jeff McConney and Alan Weisselberg removed the individual disclosure of value from Seven Springs in the statement, and lumped it into a category with the triplex apartment. They then inflated the apartment by $$ 127$ million. Separately, McConney and Mr. Weisselberg added $$ 75$ million to the value of 40 Wall, reducing the gap to just 33 million, but each of these valuations was independently deceptive, and I'll walk you through some of the examples.

Now, the process for preparing the Statement of defendants held on that property.
So, what happens? Seven Springs is no longer $$ 291$ million. Instead, it gets crossed off as an independent valuation. It then gets buried in the Other Assets category. You can see it right here, $$ 557$ million. How do we know that Seven Springs got included in that category? We have the final supporting data spreadsheet. As you can see, Seven Springs, per easement, $$ 56$ million.

So where does the statement end? In 2014, Seven Springs is broken out as a separate property with its own valuation of $$ 291$ million. In 2015, after the value was dropped, they removed the independent valuation. They move it into a new category, and lump it together with other assets. No one reading the statement would know that it dropped, year over year.

So, how do they cover it up? Well, the first step involves Mr. Trump's triplex apartment. The triplex begins the year valued at $$ 200$ million. This is where it's been, for many years. You can already see it has the inflated 300,000 [sic] square feet, and it's priced at $$ 6,700$ per square foot. To get the number for the penthouse up, the defendants find a new comp., and value it at $$ 10,900$ per square foot, for a total value of $$ 327,000$, a rise of $$ 127$ million.

Now, we already know that that $\mathbf{3 0 , 0 0 0}$ square foot

1 number is inflated. The 10,900 number is also inflated.
2 Part of it is because there was a record-breaking sale at 157 that was in no way comparable to Mr. Trump's 40-year-old apartment. But, even the 10,900 number is wrong. That's not what an apartment sold for, at 157.

That's the square footage of the apartment that got sold. The actual price was below $$ 10,000$, so about a thousand dollars less, meaning another 30,000 of this is just from not using the actual sales price of the square footage number. Again, inflating the overall value, and putting it in a category to hide the drop in Seven Springs.

So, on the statement, they eventually need to make up more of the difference with 40 Wall Street. 40 Wall Street starts the 2015 process valued at $$ 660$ million. We can see, right here. It's handwritten in by Mr. McConney. Now, how did they get to that $$ 660$ million? You can see. They actually disclose that there's a Cushman & Wakefield appraisal done June 2015 for loan refinancing with Ladder Capital at $$ 540$ million. This is the initial spreadsheet that goes to Mazars.

Mr. McConney, however, adds value. There's been additional rental activity in vacant spaces, including a retail space that gets leased to Dean & Deluca that generates another $$ 1.4$ million in a given year, and is part of the $$ 120$ million evaluation they want to add to 40 Wall.

Wall, to the $\mathbf{4 0}$ Wall appraisal in the first draft. Through this process, Mr. McConney and Mr. Weisselberg take a $\$ 235$ million drop in the value of the Seven Springs, and turn it into a $\$ 77$ million increase in Mr. Trump's net worth.

This was their process. This was their conspiracy.

So, why did defendants do this? Beyond just a place on the Forbes billionaires list, what does a net worth of over $6 billion gain Donald Trump? The simple answer is, the defendant knew that a high-net-worth was necessary to obtain and maintain certain financial benefits. When he was first looking for financing on Doral, Donald and Ivanka Trump had a meeting with the CEO of Deutsche Bank. After the meeting, Donald sent a letter with his financial statement attached.
"I'm pleased to enclose the recently completed financial statement of Donald J. Trump. Hopefully, you will be impressed. I'm also including a letter that establishes my grant value, which is not included in my net worth statement."

Donald Trump knew exactly how the statement was prepared, and he was using it in search of a loan with a lower rate. Later that year, after negotiating with the commercial real estate group at Deutsche Bank, the Trump Organization began speaking to the private wealth

Opening Statement by Mr. Wallace

Well, what's the problem with adding
Dean & Deluca? It's already included in the appraisal that had been done by Cushman & Wakefield, but the defendants and Mr. McConney only send Mazars an excerpt of that appraisal, the first 15 pages, so he does not see that includes a Dean & Deluca lease, and it does not include the fact that they had a different cap rate, as compared to what Mr. McConney is using.

So, by the end, they use a different technique to inflate the value of 40 Wall Street, and add another $$ 75$ million. They say that they have done their own analysis, and it's based on information provided by Douglas Larson of Cushman & Wakefield in November of 2015, and February of 2016. Now, you can see, these are just general questions that they have asked him about various market activity. Now, who is Doug Larson? Doug Larson is the same appraiser who did the valuation of 40 Wall Street, and valued it at $$ 540$ million. He never gave them grounds to increase the value like that.

So, where does this leave us, in the end? Seven Springs goes down. It gets combined with the triplex, which goes up, and 40 Wall goes up, as well. So, from December 2015 to March 2016, the defendants increase the value of the triplex and 40 Wall by 202 million, and that's on top of the 120 million they had already added to 40 management group at Deutsche Bank, and the group offered significantly lower interest rates, but required the loan to be on recourse with a personal guarantee, and proof of guarantors' net worth, but those rates were worth it.

When the Trump Organization first got the offer from the private wealth group, Ivanka Trump told Alan Weisselberg and others, "It doesn't get any better than this." She didn't even want to negotiate on it. But their in-house lawyer, Jason Greenblatt, immediately saw a problem: The net worth requirement.

Now, the net worth requirement, the proposal from Deutsche Bank was $$ 3$ billion. It may be surprising that a $$ 3$ billion net worth covenant would be a problem for Mr. Trump, who claimed a fortune well north of that every year from 2011 to 2021, but nevertheless, Ivanka Trump tried to negotiate the number down to 2 billion, before agreeing to 2.5 billion.

So, year after year, on loan after loan, the defendants misrepresented Mr. Trump's net worth to obtain and maintain those favorable interest rates. In fact, the value of those low interest rates was so profound, they formed the primary basis for our disgorgement claims. As our banking expert, Michael McCarty, will demonstrate, the use of the false Statements of Financial Condition saved defendants tens of millions of dollars, and those savings came in every year after the July 2014 statute of limitations date, set by the First Department.

That benefit is measured by the difference between the interest rates the Trump Organization could have obtained, if their loans were treated as regular commercial real estate loans, and the interest rates they actually obtained, using the false financial statements with the private wealth management groups, the spread was vast, and it lasted for years.

On Doral, after July 2014, the difference in the interest rates was often more than 8 percent, including 8.2 percent in 2022. On Chicago, the delta after July 2014 ranged from 3 to 5 percent, with the broadest spread in 2022, when it reached 5.45 percent. On OPO, the spread was off around 5 or 6 percent, and was at its widest in 2021.

When combined with the other loans and transactions entered into by defendants, the direct financial benefit was well north of $$ 100$ million. With prejudgment interest, the total disgorgement amount is well north of $$ 250$ million. We'll ask the Court to recoup that entire amount.

So, these are the nuts and the bolts of our case;
the how, what, why, and where of the defendants' fraud.
The defendants' challenge this proceeding is to question why the case even exists at all; to complain about the

Attorney General reaching in private transactions; that the transactions were profitable; and that the banks and insurers, that those financial institutions were sophisticated parties.

But, this isn't business as usual, and this isn't how sophisticated parties deal with each other, and even if it was, there's a reason the legislature gave the Attorney General the authority, under Executive Law 6312, to step in and police fraud and illegality in the conduct of business in New York, because these are not victimless crimes. By hiding their true resources, defendants hid their weaknesses. They convinced they banks to take on hidden risk, risk to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Our financial system, both in this state and in this country, depend on honesty to ensure their safety and soundness. We have already seen the impacts to the banking system when financial institutions take on hidden risk in 2008, and again, just this past year. The defendant's claim they never missed a payment and never defaulted on a loan, but they looked to escape those deals. They sold the Old Post Office Hotel, a property they said they would hold for decades. They refinanced their Doral loan with a small lender in California, at a higher interest rate. Those are not the actions of a market participant who plays by the rules. The defendants got caught lying, and while it may be one thing to exaggerate for Forbes magazine or a television audience, they cannot do it while conducting business in the State of New York.

For that reason, your Honor should bar them from further business in the State of New York, and reclaim their ill-gotten gains.

Thank you.
THE COURT: When Mr. Robert objected before, I said that I don't believe that's a correct statement. Something like that. I just want to make clear, I'm not doubting your facts. I assume these are completely correct. I just doubt the legal conclusion you reached.

Would defendants like to make an opening statement?

MR. KISE: Yes, your Honor.
THE COURT: Please.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

MR. KISE: Can you here me now?
THE COURT: Yes. I hope every else can. As long as there's no feedback. I'm already getting enough feedback about this case.

MR. KISE: Certainly, your Honor. You can hear me your Honor, now?

THE COURT: Very well.

MR. KISE: Okay. Thank you. Sorry about that. As you know I'm not, technologically, the wizard.

So, I'm going to make an opening statement on behalf of most of the defendants. As we have done in the past, Mr. Robert is going to add a few comments on behalf of his clients.

So, you heard an interesting story from the government. Needless to say, we have a very different picture of the evidence. We think that the evidence is going to establish many things, and often we are looking at the same evidence, and often we are looking at different evidence, but in sum, we think it's going to establish many things very different than what the government has laid out.

At the outset, I also -- at the outset of the trial, your Honor, I do want to renew our objection on the limitations issues, and the disgorgement. That is, the introduction of evidence prior to the July 13, 2014 cutoff date. I think the 2011 loan discussions that Mr. Wallace just referenced would fall within ambit of that. I realize that opening statements are not evidentiary, but I want to just make sure it's clear, on the record. I don't mean to burden the Court with the objection, but I will, on that. Same with disgorgement. We just renew our objection with regard to the disgorgement evidence.

evidence that the government really points to is the evidence from a serial liar. A serial liar, an individual who has lied to everyone he has ever come in contact with, and he has lied to the courts; he has lied to congress; he has lied to anyone and everyone he has come in contact with, but the government hinges its proof on conspiracy, of agreement to conduct a conspiracy, on a serial liar. We think the evidence will ultimately demonstrate, that's a fallacy.

In sum, the evidence is going to demonstrate that there was no intent to defraud; there was no illegality; there was no default; there was no breach; there was no reliance by the banks; there were no unjust profits; and there were no victims.

So first, just to place this in context, I'm not going to go through every loan agreement, but as I mentioned, we are talking about specific transactions. We are talking about specific loan agreements that fall within the appropriate statute of limitations period, and as you can see just from this cover example, this is a specific agreement between specific parties. Here, it's Trump Old Post Office, LLC and Deutsche Bank Trust Company America. It's one of the most sophisticated international banks in the world.

Their agreement, the evidence is going to show,

Opening Statement by Mr. Kise

The statements complied with G.A.A.P, and the valuations were derived under what you heard so much about, and we are going to talk about, briefly, ASC 274. The statements had valid and obvious disclaimers negating intent. This goes to intent, materiality and reliance. I understand the judge's -- your ruling on summary judgment, but now we are talking about intent, we are talking about materiality, and we are talking about reliance, and those valid and obvious disclaimers, the evidence is going to establish, negate these elements.

The banks themselves conducted their own independent valuation analysis. The evidence is going to show that, as well. There's no credible evidence of agreement, a necessary element of conspiracy. The only was negotiated by top tier counsel. It provided protection and remedies for the banks. It provided the banks certain rights. It also made certain representations on behalf of the borrower. But this document, and a similar document, the loan agreement between Ladder Capital Finance and 40 Wall Street, LLC - again, a complex private agreement between very specific parties, another sophisticated lending institution, negotiated by top tier counsel -these agreements are what have and should, as the evidence will show, govern the relationship between the parties.

There are specific representations that were made by specific parties, and they relate to, as you can see from the example -- this is an example from the May 2016 Statement of Financial Condition, the certification to Deutsche Bank.

The evidence is going to show that personal financial statements shall present assets and their estimated current values and that ECV, estimated current value, is not the same as fair value or market value, that there is great latitude in valuation methodology. There is no one generally accepted procedure in determining the estimated current value. It does not require a specific method to be used and there are many ways to value assets and all are accurate and acceptable, even if they yield different results.

So, the statements fit within ASC 274. Now, we're talking about intent materiality, reliance. Those statements fit within ASC 274. There may be wide variations between different valuations, but, if comport with ASC 274 that alone we believe the evidence demonstrates intent. It certainly negates materiality.

In accordance with this wide latitude, specifically, the provision that I have up there ASC 274-10-556 provides one of the myriad available bases for determining the value of property and, as you can see, the evidence is going to show us that one of those ways is the net realizable value of the property placed on planned courses of action.

This evidence is going to speak directly to the Seven Springs example that Mr. Wallace spoke so much about. You went between 2015 and 2016 from a period active development -- that's the plain course of action for the property -- to a different approach, which is a conservation easement. Those are fundamentally different ways to look at property.

One is active valuation for active development. The other is for purpose of conservation. There's all sorts of rules that govern how you calculate the value of the property for conservation easement versus how you value for active development.

So, while the government intends to introduce evidence, clearly from their opening, that that change was somehow sinister, that there was some nefarious intent, there was no nefarious intent. It simply reflects the change in a complex, sophisticated real estate development organization where you move from active development to a conservation easement approach. All acceptable under ASC 274, the evidence will show.

 274 will demonstrate no material inaccuracies.

That valuation is an opinion about price and is subjective, and, which valuation methodology to choose and which assumptions to apply, depends on many, many factors. So, estimated current value under ASC 274, you'll hear him testify, places very little weight on current market conditions.

That evidence is important, irrespective of the Court's decision on summary judgment, because it goes to 1 intent. It goes to materiality and, ultimately, we say 2 all of it goes to reliance. Again, compliance with ASC 3274 and GAAP negates essential elements and, the evidence 4 will show, negates essential elements of the People's 5 case.

21 nature of that valuation and presents that, in accordance 22 with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and ASC
23 274, there can be no intentional fraud. There can be no 24 material departure, and, there certainly is no reliance.

The Court will also hear from Professor Laposa, who will testify about the fact that disagreements, essentially, as to SOFC valuations does not establish any fraud. There are disparate but legitimate valuations of specific property that co-exist. The mere existence of these disparate valuations for a given property does not, in itself, establish any specific valuations as inaccurate, inflated or, as we would say, intentionally fraudulent.

This is the essence of the commercial real estate market place. Buyers have a view. Sellers have a view. Banks have a view. None of them are wrong. They're just different. When a seller or owner of a property takes the position and presents his or her opinion of the value of that property and discloses the

The statements, as you will hear Professor

Bartov testify, are the beginning, not the end, of a complex and highly subjective valuation process that users, like banks, sophisticated banks, and insurance companies, engage in as they perform their own due diligence.

Materiality is an essential element, as the Court has recognized and the statutes make clear. Two examples of the statutes that are at issue here. The issuance of a false financial statement occurs when something is inaccurate in a material respect.

Insurance fraud occurs when there's some -- any statement containing the materially false information. We believe the evidence will show, based on what I've said, and beyond, that there is no material inaccuracy. There is no materially false statement.

The Compliance Certificate, as I observed earlier, using that example, also demonstrates the importance and significant centrality of materiality. The foregoing presents fairly, in all material respects. That material inaccuracy is the standard. That cannot be read out of the certificate.
The guarantor made that representation. The guarantor did not say this is absolutely, positively inaccurate. This is in accordance with a specific appraiser's view of the property. This is in accordance with a specific objective for the property.

What the guarantor said in that certification is that the foregoing presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the guarantor of the period presented, and that is a holistic concept. That is not an asset-by-asset concept. GAAP also incorporates materiality and does apply material items.

You'll hear from Professor Bartov. None of the items on the statement identified by the Attorney General as statements or omissions were departures from GAAP. Any such items were, therefore, immaterial from the viewpoint of the sophisticated bank and underwriters who received the statements.

The Independent Accountant's Compilation Report and the statement notes are a unified presentation. This is the disclaimers that you've heard so much about. Here, again, they are fundamental to our concept of intent, materiality, and reliance.

Mr. Flemmons, a former SEC chief accountant will testify that AICPA standards dictate that the Independent

1 Accountant's Report and Statement of Financial Condition are issued together and mutually dependent. Those statements are not relied upon in a vacuum. They must be reviewed in concert with the Accountant's Report, that the two are issued together, cross-reference each other and, therefore, could not reasonably have been viewed by users as separate documents that were not dependent on each other.

So, taking just the statement notes, setting aside the Independent Accountant's Compilation Report, just taking the statement notes. The evidence will show, among other disclaimers, there were clear, bright lines presented to the users, in this case, the sophisticated banks and insurance companies.

Considerable judgment is necessary to interpret market data and develop the related estimates of current value. Accordingly, the estimates presented herein are not necessarily indicative of the amount that could be realized upon the disposition of the assets or payment of the related liabilities. I'm going to come back to that in a minute.

The use of different market assumptions and/or estimation methodologies may have a material effect on the estimated current values that you heard so much about. So, right here, in the statements, the statements themselves, not even the Mazars compilation report-- I'll get to that but right here in the statement, the evidence is going to show the statements prepared by certain of the defendants place the user, any user, on notice that the amounts are not necessarily indicative of the amounts that could be realized upon the disposition of the assets, that the use of different market assumptions and estimation methodologies may have a material effect on estimated current value.

The bank will tell you, like in all transactions, this very standard in sophisticated commercial real estate transactions. The recipient of individual financial statements understand there's not an intentional defrauding. It's simply the opinion of the owner of the property and they are on notice to do their own due diligence.

The Independent Accountant's Compilation Report disclaimer-- this was the Mazars' letters that accompanies the statements which, as I said, the evidence will show, are read together. Users of this financial statement recognize that they might reach different conclusions about the financial condition of Donald J. Trump.

It's not possible to state it any more clearly; and, we think the evidence will show that the banks the 2014 credit memo. This credit memo relates to the OPO loan that-- the Old Post Office loan from the original slide that I pointed out, the transaction that closed in August of 2014.

The evidence is going to show, clearly, and there are a number of these credit memos, but I'm using this as an example. The evidence will show, clearly, the level of detail that the bank conducted in its own underwriting analysis, that they took the numbers provided by the borrower and, as you can see clearly, they dissected those numbers and came up with their own estimates.

So, in the 2012 year, the client reported number was 4.5 billion as net worth. The bank adjusted number was 2.4 billion. In 2013, similar result. The client reported, the borrower reported was 4.9 billion net worth and the bank adjusted number was 2.6 billion, yet the bank proceeded with these loans. They conducted this sophisticated underwriting analysis. They determined there was a $$ 2$ billion delta, $$ 2$ billion difference between what the borrower was reporting and what their own valuation experts determined. Yet, they proceeded anyway. They conducted their own risk analysis.

As I said, this is the heart and sole of commercial real estate lending. This is what happens understood it fully. The evidence will show that the disclaimers alone establish that there was no requisite intent, that there were no material departures, and there was no reliance. The disclaimer is important. We told the banks what was being provided and also, importantly, what wasn't being provided, meaning, we're not providing you with absolutes. We're not providing you with audited financial statements.

We're telling you these are our estimates of current value in accordance with ASC 274 but that you might reach different conclusions, that the assumptions we made may not be assumptions you make. So, they notify users of the statements like Deutsche Bank, like Zurich, that they need to conduct their own analysis.

As Professor Bartov will testify, the disclaimers put sophisticated users of the statements, like Deutsche Bank, on complete notice to perform their own due diligence which, as you will observe and the banks themselves will, a sophisticated user like Deutsche Bank would have performed anyhow in the absence of those disclaimers.

The evidence will show that the banks are required to conduct their own independent underwriting analysis, and, the evidence will show they, in fact, did perform that analysis. One example, if you look just as 1 every day in the city, and, these numbers that are 2 provided by the owner in accordance with GAAP and in 3 accordance with ASC 274 are presented as their evidence.

The bank did an even deeper dive on certain properties. As this page reflects, the bank conducted a much more in-depth analysis of what it described as four trophy properties. Again, others, other than the defendants, believe their properties are trophy properties. They are Trump Tower, Niketown, 40 Wall Street, and Trump Park Avenue.

As you can see, the bank conducted -- this is a summary of the analysis the bank conducted but the bank did its own detailed number analysis and right there on line four: The valuations for each of these properties were discussed with Deutsche Bank's Valuation Services Group.

The evidence will show that's the valuation group within Deutsche Bank that's responsible for conducting independent analyses of collateral, independent analyses of properties.

They advised on adjustments for each property. As the evidence will reflect, they conducted their own analysis. For example, on 40 Wall Street, the borrower had a valuation of $$ 530$ million. Deutsche Bank's own independent underwriting analysis estimated the value at $$ 500$ million. Both of those numbers, the evidence will show, will differ from other appraisals and other valuations. That doesn't make the bank's number fraudulent any more than it makes the defendant's number fraudulent.

Everyone has a different opinion as to value. That is the sum and substance of the evidence; and, as long as those opinions are formulated in a way that comply with ASC 274 and GAAP and they're presented appropriately, there can be no intent. There can be no materiality; and, here, particularly with the disclaimers and with the evidence that will be-- the record will be replete with, of independent analyses done by the user, by Deutsche Bank, there can be no reliance; but, the Court not need take the defendant's word for this.

The evidence will include testimony from actual individuals involved in the loan decisions, the very decisions that the Attorney General is disputing, the very transactions that the Attorney General is focusing on.

These individuals are Thomas Sullivan, David Williams, Emily Pereless and Rosemary Vrablic, all of them were involved in the loan decisions. All of them were involved, in some shape or fashion, in the process by which Deutsche Bank engaged in conducting its own to loan terms that they couldn't otherwise obtain; but, the testimony of the bank officers, themselves, involved in the transaction, will demonstrate that President Trump was overqualified for these loans, by far.

Their testimony also will reflect that President Trump didn't violate the loan agreements by making the certifications that President Trump did not default, that President Trump did not make any false statements, and, that the alleged valuation disparities in the statements did not impact the loan approval or pricing; and, the testimony of the Attorney General's expert is beyond speculative in that regard.

There's no actual connectivity between what the bank's independent sophisticated risk analysis was and the basis for the disgorgement. They're fundamentally disconnected, and, we believe the evidence will demonstrate there is a fundamental lack of proof on any of the disgorgement claims, particularly the evidence of their purported expert.

So, the summation of what the evidence will establish is, as you've heard me say repeatedly, the statements were materially accurate. They complied with GAAP, ASC 274. There's, therefore, no evidence of intent to defraud. The compliance with the acceptable governing standards and the adherence to those standards

Opening Statement - Defendant/Kise
1 analysis and in reaching conclusions.

They will testify that Deutsche Bank conducted, as they're required to, their own independent risk analysis, that they did not rely on the statements. They will testify that the valuation disparities are not falsity or fraud, not evidence of any intent to defraud.

Indeed, their own independent analysis, as I noted, demonstrated a $$ 2$ billion difference between the client reported and their own numbers, $$ 2$ billion difference. Yet, they proceeded with the transaction. They were eager to proceed with the transaction, wisely so, because they made well over $$ 100$ million in interest. They made a good risk/benefit calculation.

The evidence will show that is exactly why they did, what they did, and that is how they proceeded. They fully anticipated that the statements provided by the borrower were going to be different than their values, and, their testimony will demonstrate and reflect their view that the statements were not misleading.

The bank officers will also testify that President Trump was overqualified for the sub-loans, that his net worth far exceeded the minimum required to be a private wealth customer. The Attorney General presents, as evidence that they intend to present, as evidence of motive, that somehow the defendants were seeking access demonstrates that-- will demonstrate that the defendants had no intent to defraud.

There's also no evidence of any agreement, an essential element of conspiracy claim, other than, as I mentioned, from the serial liar, Mr. Cohen. The evidence will establish there was no breach, no late payments, no defaults. The banks profited minorly from their sophisticated risk-benefit analysis, that those sophisticated banks and insurers were never mislead about anything. Importantly, that the disclaimers notified the users to conduct their own independent underwriting analysis in clear terms, fully negating intent.

Anyone intending to defraud does not say to the other side, please conduct your own analysis. No, we put them on notice, fully on notice through those disclaimers. The language is unequivocal. The evidence will suggest there is no unjust benefits or profits of the defendants. They were fully overqualified for the loan.

The bank's independent underwriting analysis is what created the pricing and loan terms, not the Statements of Financial Condition and certainly not the certifications, which came long after, in most cases, the loans that the Attorney General seeks to render at issue here, despite the clear bar of the Statute of

Limitations.

In sum, there was no illegality. There was no fraud. There are no victims; and, we believe the evidence will demonstrate the Attorney General has no case.

Thank you.
THE COURT: I just want to ask you two things. You said, I think twice, that the banks were required to do due diligence. Required by who or what?

MR. KISE: You'll hear from their experts. Mr. Unell will come in to testify about the applicable OCC regulations. That's testimony we think, frankly, should have been incorporated in the summary judgment process. Respectfully, I understand it wasn't but, certainly, that testimony is going to be very poignant and very significant here.

THE COURT: I think you suggested that under Executive Law Section 63(12) disgorgement is not available as a remedy.

Is that your position?
MR. KISE: I preserve that as an objection. I understand your Honor's ruling fully. I just didn't preserve that as an objection but yes. Given your Honor's ruling, we'll certainly speak to that evidence that the Attorney General intends to present. We'll

THE COURT: Tommy's announcements are probably pretty loud for you. If you are standing right next to him, it's deafening.

Can I see just the attorneys for 60 seconds? Come on up to the bench.
(Whereupon, an off-the-record discussion took place at the bench.)

THE COURT: Do defendants have other opening statements from other clients?
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

MS. HABBA: No feedback?
THE COURT: No feedback.
MS. HABBA: I have a feeling my voice will boom anyway.

How are you, your Honor?
THE COURT: I'm good. How are you?
MS. HABBA: Well, we have been doing this for three years. I first want to say that I incorporate everything my colleague said, and Cliff Robert will speak after me, on behalf of the children. As you know, I represent other individuals in this case, Alan Weisselberg Jeff McConney, the President, and certain entities of the Trump Organization.

I will start by saying that I wasn't planning to rebut that evidence directly.
THE COURT: I'm not talking about evidence. I'm talking about point of law and it's not a question as to what I ruled on. It's a question of what the First Department, maybe the Court of Appeals, has been saying.

There's case law that says disgorgement is an available remedy in a 63(12) case. Isn't that what the law says?

MR. KISE: We respectfully disagree with your Honor. We'll take that up with the Appellate Court. I'm not belaboring the point, and, I'm just making note that we had that legal objection, and, when the time comes, we'll make minor objections that we need to to preserve our Appellate record and we will move on.

THE COURT: Thank you.
MR. KISE: Thank you.
THE COURT: We've been going for an hour and 40 minutes. I believe a lot of you have been sitting here for a lot longer than that. I said one of the few things I'd say is, let's take a ten-minute break.
speak today until I saw what the attorney general said outside, and when I saw the presentation that was just put on by Mr. Wallace.

First, I want to say that this case was brought prior to the Attorney General sitting in office, as we know. That is part of this case, unfortunately, because it is a public case, as your Honor has astutely said. That's why we have press here. That's why we are all sitting here, right now, three years later. This case could have been brought before.

I would like to start with some -- I'm going to go through Mr. Wallace's testimony first, but before I do that, I just want to remind everyone that Ms. James said that she was going to come into the Attorney General's office, and she was going to get Trump. She was going to go to work, get Trump, and then go home. This is a case brought by the Attorney General, so it is part of this case.

Michael Cohen's testimony was played by Mr. Wallace.

Thank you for playing that, actually.
I look forward to having Mr. Cohen take the stand, because when he takes the stand, I'll play the rest of the testimony where Michael Cohen, who is a convicted felon, who is a liar, by the Southern District of New York, said that the Statement of Financial Condition took three days, from start to finish. He said that the Statement of Financial Condition, he did with Alan Weisselberg alone, and that will be played, as well.

So, thank you for your part, but I will be putting on mine.

The Attorney General's office would like you to believe that Donald Trump and his family had a conspiracy. When they put in their Statement of Financial Condition, there were -- let's talk about their worth. If Donald Trump and his family wanted to put in a conspiracy, wanted to defraud banks, as the Attorney General's Office would have you believe, then there would have been brand. There would have been the rights to The Apprentice. There would have been the same brand that got that man elected for president.

Now, there's lot of people in this room that probably don't like that, and I believe that's why we are here. But, it's a fact. We are attacking a sitting president, and two of his children, and his employees, for a Statement of Financial Condition which is, frankly, worth less than what they are worth.

These are sophisticated lenders, your Honor. To prove their case, they have to show that there was intent to defraud lenders. These lenders are Deutsche Bank. They

1 to hear about this: When you have a home, and you ask for 2 your tax assessment, no one is giving that top dollar.
3 That's not accurate. The value is the value, and the value of anything -- and they teach this, actually, at HBS, and at many other schools. They say, the value is what someone is willing to pay.

The Trump properties are Mona Lisa properties, your Honor. So, I'll submit that while you want to look at a tax document, we have experts, renowned experts, who have said that properties like Mar-A-Lago are worth over a billion dollars, $$ 1.5$ billion, and I assure you that there is a person out there that would buy that property, that spectacular property, for way over a billion dollars. That is not fraud. That is real estate.

Further, I would like to talk about the one thing that the AG conveniently didn't bring up: WeiserMazars. Let's discuss Weiser. WeiserMazars is a very well-known accounting firm in the State of New York. WeiserMazars, in their own, in their own agreement with the Trump Organization stated, and I'm going to read it in, "Our record will include the following," I quote, "Because the significance and pervasiveness of the matters discussed above make it difficult to assess their impact on the Statement of Financial Condition, users of this personal financial statement should recognize that they may reach are major. We have other lenders we will go through, and I'll let my colleague go through it in excruciating detail, but let me be clear: These lenders made money. They made money. They were not defrauded, and there is no American in this country that has ever given a value of their property to a bank for a loan, and had it be taken at face value. And frankly, if that ever is the case, then those banks should be investigated, not the individuals that valued their great companies, frankly, at less than what they are worth.

Let me give you a few examples, your Honor. You pointed out, in your summary judgment order, that Mar-A-Lago was worth $$ 18$ million. How? How is that possible?

Now, I know Ms. Greenfield is probably writing you a note right now to say that that is a tax assessed value, so let me just get right to that. A tax assessment is different than the market value of the property, and I want the press to understand that, your Honor, and I want -- I hope that by the end of this hearing, I truly hope that you can have an open mind and hear that that is the case.

They are conflating issues. They are saying that when you go for a tax assessment -- and I ask your Honor, and I ask all the American people that are, frankly, going

1 different conclusions about the financial condition of
2 Donald J. Trump if they had access to a revised Statement
3 of Financial Condition prepared in conformity with 4 accounting principles generally accepted in the United 5 States of America."

I know what everyone is thinking. That's the retainer with Trump; okay? Let's talk about what was given to the banks. What was -- like, this Statement of Financial Condition. What was given? Here is the cover page. Page one after the cover page is one page with a disclaimer stating, "Because the significance and pervasiveness of the matters discussed above make it difficult to assess their impact on the Statement of Financial Conditions, users of this personal financial statement should recognize that they might reach different conclusions about the financial condition of Donald J. Trump if they had access to a revised Statement of Financial Condition prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America."

So, what happened? There was an investigation of Mazars, or the AG reaches out to Mazars and puts them under pressure, and we get a statement saying that they no longer can represent the Trump Organization. But that same statement that we received -- and I was there the day we received it -- stated that they could not articulate any flaws that the Trump organization had done. And why is that? Because Donald Bender, who will take the stand as their first, first representative, their strongest guy, Donald Bender will have you believe that, as the accountant who acted effectively as the in-house accountant for this organization, his hands are clean.

He had unfettered access, your Honor. We'll ask him what he did, and we'll prove that he had unfettered access to the Trump organization. He could come in, he could go out. He could get on the computers. We didn't even monitor when he was on, looking through the records. And your Honor, you and I went through, as you recall, back in the special proceeding, when I gave over thousands of documents, thousands, when we opened up the Trump organization, when we opened up his homes and we were willing to cooperate, and did, and there was nothing that turned up that was in direct conflict of what I'm saying now.

So, the Attorney General is going after kids, and I'll let Cliff, who represents the kids, go to that, but I will also say that their representation that a phone call with an accounting department asking for status of zoning, is not a conspiracy. It's doing business. Anybody with real estate understanding - and I personally come from a family of real estate, so I get this, but to the American people, to the people, maybe at the Attorney General's office, that aren't aware of how real estate companies operate, this is normal practice. The banks are aware, and the banks do their own values, and do their own investigations, and frankly, if they don't, then they are in violation themselves.

Opening Statement by Ms. Habba

More examples of properties that were undervalued. Doral. It was stated on the Statement of Financial Condition for $$ 350$ million, your Honor. Anyone who follows golf knows that Doral has one of the best golf courses in the country. I've had the pleasure of visiting these properties, sir. They are not normal properties. Doral would sell for at least a billion dollars.
Mar-A-Lago, at least a billion dollars. Look at OPO. OPO did sell for 100 million more than what was stated on the Statement of Financial Condition. Very point. Very point, sir. Ten times the value that was stated on the Statement of Financial Condition. Doral has 1500 units that have never been developed.

The list could go on and on, because real estate is malleable, your Honor. Real estate changes. The values change, but there was absolutely no fraud, no intent to defraud, no conspiracy.

I would just like to close by saying that I believe -- well, first, before I do that, I do want to thank you, your Honor, for one thing you said when you opened up, which was explaining to the press, the jury issue, because I personally have been dealing with that myself, and 6312, and the fact that we don't have a jury, and I know my client did want a jury. I want to say that. But we have addressed that, and I appreciate that you clarified, for the Court. So thank you, for that, from me. THE COURT: You're welcome.
MS. HABBA: Well, these are sophisticated banks. These are sophisticated lenders. They made over $$ 100$ million, and there was no intent to defraud. Period, the end. The disgorgement only came, which is what the Attorney General is asking for, after the Trumps sold the property that they undervalued for 250 more than was valued. That's when this case was brought, not two years ago. After the sale, and that's the number they picked.

Why? Because if you look at the president and his family's worth, if you look at the Trump Organization and all the 850 -plus people that work for that beautiful company, you will see that they have never overvalued. The Statement of Financial Condition was disclaimed. It was undervalued, in my opinion, and we'll prove that, through our experts, and the AG is setting a very dangerous precedent for all business owners in the State of New York.

The State of New York, they would have you believe, if you believe your property is worth a million dollars and you list it on Trulia for $$ 1$ million, but it sells for 800,000 , then you, sir, should be here, and you should be disgorged of your profits, and that is a very dangerous time for our country, and this state.

Thank you, your Honor.
THE COURT: Ms. Habba, as you referenced, we have been dealing with, to use a slang term, each other for years, and if it's okay with you, and because we don't have a jury, or at least a formal jury, I would like to just go over a few of the things that you said. Is that okay?

MS. HABBA: Of course, your Honor.
THE COURT: One, this is not a question, you referred to Mr. Wallace's presentation as testimony. Opening statements are not testimony.

MS. HABBA: Opening statement. Yes.
THE COURT: It's just what you intend to prove.
MS. HABBA: Yes. Well, I think part of it, your Honor, to be clear, was testimony. He played testimony from some of the witnesses.

THE COURT: You are right.
Next, you brought up the Attorney General's history, motivations, statements.

MS. HABBA: Yes.

THE COURT: You had moved to have the entire case dismissed because it's a, quote, witch hunt, which is what the press tends to call it, and I denied that, and I was affirmed by the First Department. So Ms. James' motivations are not an issue in this case any more; are they?

MS. HABBA: Well, your Honor, actually I brought a case that was separate from this case against Ms. James for what I believe is constitutionally improper, improper by her office, and I do believe her statements out of court prior to having office, and claiming that she knows what goes on in the Trump Organization, are very important to this case. Unfortunately, it's become the fabric of this country, right now, that these out-of-court statements are part of the case.

Ms. James sat on the court steps before coming in here. I didn't know she was going to do that, but that's part of the schtick, evidently, so I have to address it, and I do believe that that was improper on many levels. I withdrew that case. It was not dismissed.

THE COURT: All right. We can go back and forth. MS. HABBA: Sure. Of course, your Honor.
THE COURT: We have a few more points to discuss. The valuation of Mar-A-Lago, there were very significant easements on the ability to turn it into -- subdivide it

THE COURT: I held one of the defendants in contempt. I fined him $$ 10,000$ a day. It was vacated after 11 days, and I was upheld on that, both the contempt finding, and the amount of the fine. So, I don't know why we are --

MS. HABBA: Well, I just wanted to bring up the point, your Honor, that after these ten days, despite the fine, which, we obviously went through our procedure, you did recall that after those days, and after my diligent searches and my certifications, we never did find anything that was not previously revealed.

THE COURT: Yes, that's right.
MS. HABBA: So my point is, that goes to the good faith and the intent, your Honor.

THE COURT: You never did find anything, but the contempt was because you didn't submit an affidavit that said who looked for what, when, where.

MS. HABBA: And then I did, many times.
THE COURT: And then you did. Well, but the defendant didn't. You did, I think. But, I don't think the defendant did.

MS. HABBA: He did, actually, your Honor.
THE COURT: I don't think he submitted an affidavit saying what he did, when, where, et cetera.

MS. HABBA: Right. into residences, et cetera, and more importantly, I specifically said, in the summary judgment decision, I'm not valuing or evaluating properties. I believe that there was --

Well, I wouldn't telegraph that, but please, Press, stop saying that $I$ valued it at $$ 18$ million. That was a tax assessment. Or, something in that range.

There would have been issues of fact as to what the value was.

MS. HABBA: Well, I think, your Honor -- if I may respond?

THE COURT: Yes.
MS. HABBA: I think that is an issue of fact, and the fact -- and I'll preserve, as my colleague said, everything on the Appellate Division, but the fact that you drafted a summary judgment motion saying that that was not an issue of fact is exactly what we are appealing, and we'll handle that on the Appellate Division.

THE COURT: Okay. I didn't draft a motion. I drafted a decision.

MS. HABBA: Yes, your Honor.
THE COURT: You referred, perhaps obliquely, or maybe more directly, to the million pages of documents that were turned over.

MS. HABBA: Yes.

Page 68
THE COURT: You said that at one point, just recently, values change. That's one of the big points in this case. You can't look at property ten years later and say, Well, now look what it's worth. These Statements of Financial Condition were current, current market value, so yes, values change, but the point of the Statements of Financial Condition is what were they worth then? What would a willing seller and willing buyer agree to?

MS. HABBA: And if I may respond?
THE COURT: Sure.
MS. HABBA: Saying that the value of Mar-A-Lago, then or now, would be worth that -- and I obviously, again, on appeal, so I'm not going to litigate our case between you and me, and give my adversaries the benefit of hearing all of my arguments, but I think that we'll prove that, through our experts. We'll prove that at that time, they were undervalued, in many instances. As I noted, some of these properties are heavy undervalued, and we are forgetting the disclaimer, and also the fact that the Trump brand is worth something.

And, I know that you addressed it in your summary judgment motion, and I'm not going to get into it now, but we cannot -- look, my point is this, your Honor, and I think that our case will show this: If this was a conspiracy, if we were trying to inflate his value, which

1 is worth billions and billions and billions of dollars more than anything he ever took the loan out, and frankly, he was underleveraged, but if you were -- if they are trying to prove that, your Honor, that case falls flat on its face, just by looking at certain things that were not included.

If that was the intent for Forbes magazine, then why wouldn't President Trump say, Put in the brand, put in The Apprentice rights, put in the Miss America, or whatever it was, Universe. Put all that in. Let's inflate it. That didn't happen, your Honor.

THE COURT: The brand value, at least some of the Statements of Financial Condition specifically, expressly said, We are not including brand value. Is that the case? Right?

MS. HABBA: And my point is it was not included, and if he had wanted to inflate, why wouldn't we?

Never mind any of that, your Honor. Everything falls on its face when you look at the WeiserMazars disclaimer, and the sophisticated banks we are dealing with that did their own due diligence.

And I just submit, your Honor, I don't want to litigate my case with you, only because of the prejudice that that could cause to my client.

THE COURT: My final point is, the disclaimers, compilations. And again, I go back to my Trulia example. No bank, no lender, takes somebody's value at a compilation, the lowest level. It's not audited. It doesn't proclaim to be. It doesn't proclaim to have been. It never did.

But, on top of the fact that it's a compilation, they put the waiver on the front. On top of that, these banks came in and did their own due diligence. It was not us that did it.

And, for what its worth, your Honor, we could go all day, I'm sure, and it would be great, but that is the crux of where I disagree with you.

THE COURT: All right. Is it not the case that, in a layperson's terms -- and we have a lot of lay people out there -- the Mazars disclaimer was basically, We are relying on the Trump Organization?

MS. HABBA: No, your Honor.
THE COURT: That's how I read it.
MS. HABBA: Well, frankly, the Trump Organization relied on Mazars to come in and do what they did, and they came in. Regardless, they are the accountants. They are the accountants, sir.

THE COURT: Thank you.
MS. HABBA: Thank you, your Honor.
THE COURT: And we have at least one more opening

Opening Statement by Ms. Habba

which understandably, the defendants make a big deal about, first of all, I believe that was part of both the motion to dismiss, and the motion for preliminary injunction. I ruled against that, as a defense. I was upheld both times, but I would just like to explain, basically, what the disclaimers, which were separate from the worth statements, but just talking about the disclaimers, the Mazars disclaimers basically said, We are not sure about all this, look to the Trump Organization, that's where we are getting these figures. So, they were anything but, you know, disclaimers, and you can't even make a disclaimer on behalf of someone else, so I just don't see it.

MS. HABBA: Your Honor, I'm actually glad you brought that up. Did if I may?

THE COURT: Sure.
MS. HABBA: Again, my experts, my colleagues, who are incredibly bright, they will go into excruciating detail with every witness, and we will bore everyone in this room at length for three months, but if I can just give you the high level of where I disagree with you on that, sir?

THE COURT: Sure.
MS. HABBA: It's that, these are compilations.
We did not present the Statement of Financial Condition as an audited financial. Period, the end. They are

Opening Statement by Mr. Robert
Page 72 statement by the defendants.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

MR. ROBERT: Can you hear me, Judge?
THE COURT: Yes. That's pretty good, but keep your voice up.

MR. ROBERT: Okay. Good afternoon, sir. I'll be very brief.

First of all, I want to just say that I echo the statements of Mr. Kise, on behalf of my clients, Eric Trump and Donald Trump, Jr. We reserve all the rights and the objections that Mr. Kise has referenced, but what I want to spend my few moments here talking to you about, your Honor, is what I will respectfully submit that the evidence will show that my clients did in this case, but I actually think, more importantly, what the evidence will show that my clients did not do, in this case.

I don't think it's going to come as a surprise to anyone in this courtroom that I vigorously, on behalf of my clients, disagree with just about everything Mr. Wallace said this morning, but there are two things that I actually do agree with him on, and I actually flagged them, and I put them in red on my pad, because I was shocked that I actually agreed with him about something, and what I agreed with him on were two concepts.
Opening Statement by Mr. Robert Page 73

One, that in order for the Attorney General to win her case, she has to show repeated, persistent, illegal acts, and I respectfully submit to this Court, she will not be able to sustain that burden, especially as to Eric Trump and Donald Trump, Jr., and more importantly, what Mr. Wallace said is that you need to judge credibility. Mr. Wallace put it in the context of credibility of denial.

Well, your Honor, it's credibility, in and of itself. You will be the finder of fact. You will hear testimony from Eric Trump. You will hear testimony from Donald Trump, Jr. You will hear them be cross examined by able counsel for the Attorney General, and you will then make a decision as to their veracity.

In addition, you will hear testimony, as Mr. Kise set forth, from the witnesses of Deutsche Bank, and Deutsche Bank's testimony is going to be consistent in that there was never a material misrepresentation made by Eric Trump or Donald Trump, Jr. So, it's not going to just be the credibility of my clients. It's not just going to be the credibility of the president, when he testifies. It's going to be the credibility of people who were actually involved in the transactions, and I don't think that can be overstated.

It's interesting. You know, when we do an opening statement, I think the first rule we learn is, you

1 the 45th President of the United States in 2017, Eric and 2 Don then continued to grow the business, Eric in an 3 operational standpoint; Don expanding what the company was doing.

But, as you are going to hear, and as the testimony from Eric Trump's deposition -- and I'll read from it, page 32, lines 17 and 18:
"I was focused on pouring concrete, not accounting."

Now, let's be clear. Eric Trump and Donald Trump, Jr. are not walking away from the Statements of Financial Condition. Let's be clear. There were no material inaccuracies. All of the statements and certifications signed by Donald Trump, Jr. and Eric Trump are clear that it talked about no material misrepresentations. This is not a situation where someone signs an affidavit, and they're attesting that every single fact in there is true.

I would ask your Honor to think about it in terms of, it's no different from an affidavit where the affiant says, I believe the following to be true, in all material respects.

That's what they did here, and it is clear, and our evidence will show, our experts will show, Mr. Kise went through, in painstaking detail, that they were not want to show the best part of your case because, you know, especially if there was a jury here -- which again, I agree with Ms. Habba, we were entitled to under 6312 -- but very often I'll tell a jury, it's kind of like a road map. I want to tell you where I'm going, and what I think the evidence is going to prove.

Well, I think it's fascinating that in the Attorney General's opening, their major linchpin is Michael Cohen. Now, as the Court will hear, he is actually on their first -- I think the first six witnesses, maybe the first seven. So, when you talk about credibility, you are going to have a guy who lies to everyone; who is a convicted felon; who allocuted, very specifically in Judge Pauley's courtroom, which we can probably see if we look out the window, and he is a fixture of what their case is about.

Now, they played you a snippet of Eric Trump, which quite frankly I thought was in incredibly poor taste, and really misleading. That snippet has to do with Mr. Trump honestly asking if he recalls a 2021 conversation. What they didn't show is the rest of his testimony, where he goes through what exactly it is he does at the Trump Organization, and the fact that he and Donald Trump, Jr. spent their life working for their dad, learning from their dad. When their dad assumed the office of being materially -- there was nothing materially wrong with them.
And again, you are not taking my word. You will take the word of an NYU Stem School of Business professor. You will take the word of a senior person who used to work at the SEC.

| 1 | MR. ROBERT: But even though we're not running |
| :--- | :--- |
| 2 | away from these statements of financial condition, as I |
| 3 | started my opening, I want to submit to you what the |
| 4 | evidence will show my clients didn't do and there's no |
| 5 | refuting it. There's not any amount of snippets Mr. |
| 6 | Wallace can play, even taken out of context, that will |
| 7 | disprove, one, they were not involved in the creation and |
| 8 | preparation of the SOFC. |
| 9 | Two, they did not assemble the backup for the |
| 10 | SOFC. Three, they did not review the SOFC supporting |
| 11 | data. Four, they did not perform the calculations used |
| 12 | in the SOFC; and, five, they did not review those |
| 13 | calculations after they were done. Others created and |
| 14 | prepared the SOFC; and, for those years, when they signed |
| 15 | documents dealing with financial matters, they relied on |
| 16 | the work product of others, which is not anything that |
| 17 | should come as a surprise to anyone, especially the |
| 18 | People, when you're of a level of a company that |
| 19 | Mr. Trump were, they weren't the ones with the green |
| 20 | accounting hat ongoing through the mountain of documents |
| 21 | in the backup. |
| 22 | So, to suggest there is liability that can be |
| 23 | attached to them, first of all, from the first |
| 24 | foundational issue that there's nothing materially wrong |
| 25 | with the statements and, second, the fact that they acted |

MR. KISE: I think this is-- your hypothetical represents the fundamental problem we have, respectfully, with the summary judgment order. You haven't heard the evidence. You haven't heard from Professor Bartov in person. You haven't heard from Mr. Unell. You haven't heard from Mr. Flemmons and I think you owe it to the defendants to listen to this evidence and understand exactly what I was saying. ASC 274 --

THE COURT: The evidence, that would be argument. Mr. Bartov has evidence?

MR. KISE: He does have evidence. His opinion on what the governing accounting standards are. I'm not an expert on governing accounting standards. I don't think the Court is. Respectfully, I don't think you're an expert on governing accounting standards.

So, if you have an expert that comes in and tells you this is what the estimated current value is and that is how it's calculated. This is what is material or not, you can agree or disagree but at least give us an opportunity to have a trial where you hear this evidence and make those determinations, because, right now, we haven't gotten there and I would caution your Honor vigorously to -- I understand your hypothetical but I think under these circumstances there's a lot more to the story. There is a lot more layers to this.

Opening Statement - Defendant/Robert

as appropriately as they should, both in their capacity as executive and in Donald Trump, Jr. as trustee.

Therefore, I respectfully submit that the claims brought by the New York State Attorney General against my client should be dismissed.

I thank you for your time.
THE COURT: Is it the position of all three defendant lawyers that there were no material-withdrawn. That there were no misstatements in any Statements of Financial Condition?

Is that your position?
MR. ROBERT: You made a ruling in your summary judgment motion. My position was there were no material misstatements because that is what the People must prove and, at least as it relates to my clients, those were the certifications they signed. The words in every single document they signed say the words "material representation."

I'll defer to Mr. Kise as to the others.
THE COURT: Let's talk about, very briefly, that word "material." Let's say there's a statement that $$ 100$ million. At what point would you consider something material? Would $$ 20,000$ be material?

MR. KISE: Your Honor --
THE COURT: Yes.

The Attorney General wants to make it simple. There is an error here and it's material because we say so. I think we have to at least give these witnesses an opportunity to take the stand and understand what this case is about. If you want to disagree later, that's fine, but, I would say that we've got testimony from folks that understand fully valuations. They understand fully accounting standards, and, it is relevant to intent. It is relevant to materiality.

If I prepare a statement and that statement is in accordance with the Governing Accounting Standards, I cannot see how, possibly, someone can say, even if they disagree with my valuations, that I had intended to defraud. So, maybe you disagree with my valuation but that is an entirely different question.

So, I'd ask the Court to allow us to present the evidence. For example, the differentiation in values, I mean, we have experts that you haven't heard from, and, I don't know we're going to hear from them now based on the way the case is structured.

I mean, the Attorney General has certainly opened the door, in my mind, to valuation issues, but, we don't have to decide that today. I think we need to make sure that the evidence comes into the courtroom in a fulsome way and you hear from witnesses who tell you no,

| Proceedings |  |
| :--- | :--- |
| 1 | that is not material. This value is not 18-- back to the |
| 2 | hypothetical. This value is not $18 million, it's a |
| 3 | billion dollars, whatever the case may be, but, the Court |
| 4 | really needs-- and, frankly, I think from the |
| 5 | constitutional perspective, owes it to the defendants to |
| 6 | at least hear this evidence and allow them to defend |
| 7 | themselves. |
| 8 | You're talking about a trial, by the Attorney |
| 9 | General's own press conference, is designed to strip them |
| 10 | of their New York assets and drive them out of business |
| 11 | in New York State. That is a pretty serious thing. That |
| 12 | is a pretty serious charge to level against a business |
| 13 | that's been one of the most successful employers and one |
| 14 | of the most successful real estate developers in New York |
| 15 | City. |
| 16 | The message that sends is staggering to the real |
| 17 | estate community. That is my opinion, but, I know we're |
| 18 | not here to get into my opinions. The record will |
| 19 | demonstrate, what we say will demonstrate, and, I ask the |
| 20 | Court listen to all that evidence before making that |
| 21 | determination. |
| 22 | THE COURT: I intend to be very patient and |
| 23 | liberal listening to things. I think the specific |
| 24 | disagreement we seem to have is if Professor Bartov reads |
| 25 | a document and has a professional opinion about it, to |

THE COURT: That's why I didn't do it.
MR. KISE: You need to certainly hear when we're talking about criminal standards. We're talking about standards under criminal predicates. Those things must and should be adjudicated with the benefit of expert testimony. There's no way to do it otherwise. It's just not possible. We're all lay people when it comes to some of these things.

I am a lay person. I have an accounting degree but I wouldn't call myself an expert on AICPA standards.

THE COURT: Thank you. We have to break in about 15 minutes but let's hear the housekeeping issues that were raised this morning.

MR. AMER: Good afternoon. Andrew Amer on behalf of the People. We did send a letter this morning raising a couple of issues. I'll set it pretty quickly.

The first issue concerns trial subpoenas that were served literally on the eve of trial on Mazars and Ladder Capital. We think the Court should just quash these subpoenas.

First, they were never served on us, as they're required to be under 2303(a) CPLR 2303(a) but, importantly, as the cases we cite to in our letter demonstrate, you can't use the trial subpoena to reopen discovery.
Proceedings Page 82

1 me, that's not evidence. That's testimony or expert 2 opinion but it's not bringing in new facts. Right?

MR. KISE: Respectfully, your Honor, expert opinion in testimony is evidence. That's what evidence is. It's not a document, but, their opinion is relevant. Again, unless the Court is going to be satisfied that it is an expert on accounting regulations, it is an expert on accounting principles and an expert on OCC regulations --

THE COURT: I think what-- is it stacking a dead horse? I intend to listen to all of this. Whether expert opinion is evidence, again, I just consider it opinion and testimony, but, I wouldn't call it evidence, but, there may be different demonstrations.

MR. KISE: Again, I don't know how to say it any more clearly. We, respectfully, disagree. We think an expert, for example, a valuation expert comes in and says Mar-A-Lago is worth a billion dollars and you have taken a position that the tax assessor, without a trial, taken a position that the tax assessor's valuation is more credible but --

THE COURT: I did not judge credibility. You can't do that.

MR. KISE: That is the whole point, your Honor. That is why --

We've had a note of issue. Discovery is over and these trial subpoenas, in large measure, seek documents that they already tried to obtain through subpoenas during fact discovery and, in any event, you just can't use a trial subpoena on an eve of trial to reopen discovery.

We shouldn't be dealing with these type of issue as we're trying to prepare each day to present evidence to the Court. So, we would ask that we not have to deal with these subpoenas because we'd ask that the Court quash them.

THE COURT: I believe the basic rule is in discovery you find out what there is and subpoenas are for, hey, bring it to court.

MR. AMER: Exactly. The second issue concerns Nicholas Haigh.

MR. KISE: Are we going to take these one at a time or is he going to do it --

THE COURT: I gather you'd like to speak now to number one?

MR. KISE: It may just get jumbled if we don't.
THE COURT: I understand. I don't know that I'm making a ruling now.

MR. KISE: I understand. I want to make some points and Mr. Robert may also have some points on the 1 first issue. Just for convenience, because we have the 2 remote microphone over there, which is challenging, I'll 3 just stand here, if that's all right with your Honor. 4 Thank you.

The trial subpoena asks-- Mr. Robert will speak to this. I don't think they were served improperly but to the extent that is a valid argument, we can just reserve them today. That's easy enough.

With respect to the substance, though, this is not information we sought in discovery. As you pointed out, there's things we identified during discovery and, for the trial, we asked for specific records. These are very narrow. They're specific records. They may not think they're narrow because they cover a broad time period but they're very specific records that speak, specifically, to particular witnesses that we now know are going to appear at trial and they go, potentially, to cross-examination of those witnesses.

We're certainly-- it's not discovery. We're entitled to, I want to see those records. It's up to us to go through them but it is not discovery. It's information we need for the trial. We didn't seek it in discovery. We identified it, perhaps, in discovery but, at this point, I don't see that they even have a basis to object to what it is that we want to go through in terms

Mr. Haigh, who was at Deutsche Bank. We understood, and have understood for quite sometime, that Mr. Haigh would be leaving the country starting on October 13th and would be unavailable.

It was our intent to call Mr. Haigh live on our case in chief before he left the country but then on September 26th, your Honor issued a ruling that changed the nature of our case. We actually read the ruling and we understood the ruling to mean that what the banks thought and did just didn't matter.

I don't know how more clearly your Honor could have stated it and how many times you could have stated it, and, I think this is a direct quote. "You can't lie on financial statement period." And so, as a result of your Honor's ruling, which we are taking heed of, we are not calling bank representatives because they're not part of our case anymore. We don't need to put on testimony from banks.

So, the issue we have, and, I think it's absolutely clear from the openings here, is that the defendants haven't changed the case that they intend to put on to incorporate many of the Court's rulings and they still intend to provide you with testimony from their experts, which we'll talk about at a later point in time, and, they still intend to provide testimony from

| 1 | of using other -- locating impeachment material we think |
| 2 | is relevant. If it exists, give it to us. That's it. |
| 3 | It's pretty simple. |
| 4 | THE COURT: The point was raised just a few |
| 5 | hours ago. I'll have to look at the subpoenas. |
| 6 | MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, if I may, the section |
| 7 | of the CPLR Mr. Armen references were to properly notify |
| 8 | them before the return date. |
| 9 | It's my understanding, you referenced, when we |
| 10 | started today, about the rains of Thursday and Friday. |
| 11 | My understanding is the subpoenas were served throughout |
| 12 | the course of Thursday and Friday in due course. If they |
| 13 | don't have it already, we probably already e-mailed it to |
| 14 | them this morning. That's a nonissue. |
| 15 | I also note the people who were served are not |
| 16 | moving to quash. Usually, you have a meet and confer |
| 17 | with the person that received the subpoena. You discuss |
| 18 | whether or not it was too broad, what the relevance of it |
| 19 | is, why we needed it, and, it could be worked out. The |
| 20 | Attorney General is sending the letter, as a nonparty, to |
| 21 | the subpoena objecting to it. I think it's also |
| 22 | procedurally improper. |
| 23 | THE COURT: Let's go on to the second issue. |
| 24 | MR. AMER: The second concerns our need to take |
| 25 | a deposition of Mr. Haigh. Let me give you background of |

1 of using other -- locating impeachment material we think is relevant. If it exists, give it to us. That's it.
It's pretty simple.
THE COURT: The point was raised just a few hours ago. I'll have to look at the subpoenas.

MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, if I may, the section of the CPLR Mr. Armen references were to properly notify them before the return date.

It's my understanding, you referenced, when we started today, about the rains of Thursday and Friday. THE COURT: Let's go on to the second issue.
MR. AMER: The second concerns our need to take a deposition of Mr. Haigh. Let me give you background of bank employees, even though your Honor has said what the bank thought didn't matter.

1

THE COURT: Well, remember, I said that about the first cause of action. I'm not sure about the other six.

MR. AMER: That's why we may have a dispute of whether the bank employees can testify and what the scope of their testimony will be. We need to account for the fact that we may need to call Mr. Haigh in our rebuttal case; and, it's perfectly clear from his schedule that he will not be available to be called at trial on our rebuttal case.

So, we've asked to take his deposition to preserve his testimony for rebuttal and we have scheduled, with his counsel, to do that next week, and, the defendants are refusing to allow us to take his testimony to preserve it for rebuttal, and, we think we should certainly be allowed that right.

We didn't understand until September 26th that we were not going to call him in our case in chief; and, I think our decision not to call him in our case in chief is an appropriate decision, given your Honor's ruling, and, we would like the opportunity to take his deposition next week, and, I would note that your Honor has accommodated the defendants' request the other day to

| :--- | :--- |
| 1 | take depositions of witnesses who we're going to put on |
| 2 | and we've made no objection to that. We're working with |
| 3 | them to schedule it. |
| 4 | So, we think Mr. Haigh's deposition should go |
| 5 | forward on the date Mr. Haigh's counsel agreed to make |
| 6 | him available next week. |
| 7 | THE COURT: Defendant, any quick reply? |
| 8 | MR. KISE: Your Honor, yes. First of all, |
| 9 | there's no need to take a deposition. If they want to |
| 10 | call a witness, they can call a witness and bring that |
| 11 | witness in the courtroom. Your Honor pointed out exactly |
| 12 | the key elements here. You determined in your ruling |
| 13 | that what the bank said or did or thought was irrelevant |
| 14 | to liability, to the decision you made but not to the |
| 15 | remainder of the case. That's the whole point. |
| 16 | So, we think it's highly relevant to |
| 17 | disgorgement, again, the extent I won't belabor but we |
| 18 | think it's highly relevant for disgorgement and, so, if |
| 19 | this witness is going to testify, if they're going to |
| 20 | establish their case then, he's here. We can take him |
| 21 | out of order and put him on the stand. There's no |
| 22 | problem with that. I just don't see any bases -- |
| 23 | Mr. Robert will speak again. |
| 24 | As you know, he's the CPLR expert, not me, but |
| 25 | what the banks thought and did does matter and, frankly, |

1 compressed nature of it but, regardless of that, your order of June 9th said "trial depositions for all nonparty witnesses who are unavailable for trial, as set forth in CPLR 3117 shall be held by July 28, 2023.

We opposed it beforehand. If the Attorney General had any issues prior to that point, they needed to make an application. On July 31st they then filed a note of issue certifying "discovery known to be necessary was completed." Again, because this is a bench trial, because you have tremendous discretion as a result of it, if they're intent-- he may be a rebuttal witness, going back to what I said I agree with Mr. Wallace about, credibility is everything.

Let him come here. Let him take the stand. Let him be subject to the Attorney General's direct, our cross-examination, and this Court can hold that in abeyance, if they then want to use that for purposes of rebuttal, but, in the middle of the trial, you will allow him to take a deposition, not in open court, and not before you, I think is incredibly problematic.

MR. KISE: One other thing I'll add, Your Honor, not to be too pejorative here but it appears there may be a little slight of hand. I note on the Attorney General's initial witnesses on September 8th, just a few weeks ago, the trial was still going to start on

| Proceedings |  |
| ---: | :--- |
| 1 | if they want Mr. Haigh to testify, then he needs to come, 90 |
| 2 | and, we're prepared to confront him in an open forum, not |
| 3 | at some deposition. |
| 4 | The deposition Mr. Amer is referencing are new |
| 5 | witnesses, people that no one knew about before. They |
| 6 | disclosed it the first time on a witness list less than a |
| 7 | week before the trial started. They never disclosed him |
| 8 | in interrogatories or on a witness list until now. |
| 9 | $\quad$ We had a right to depose them because we don't |
| 10 | know anything about their presence but Mr. Haigh, they |
| 11 | interviewed Mr. Haigh for three days or more during the |
| 12 | investigative process. They know full well what the |
| 13 | impact truly is, what he is, why he is. |
| 14 | We deposed Mr. Haigh during the course of |
| 15 | discovery. They didn't ask any questions. So, now, they |
| 16 | want to come along and insert a deposition of what will, |
| 17 | no doubt, be some key witness for them; and, in the |
| 18 | middle of a trial, it's wholly improper. There's no |
| 19 | procedure for it. |
| 20 | If Mr. Haigh is available, he is available until |
| 21 | October 13th, he can certainly come and present his |
| 22 | testimony. |
| 23 | THE COURT: Mr. Robert. |
| 24 | MR. ROBERT: You issued an order and there was a |
| 25 | lot of back and forth over the last year about the |

1 October 2nd. Mr. Haigh was listed as the 37th witness.

So, I doubt that they intended for Mr. Haigh to be called before the 13th on their initial list.

So, I don't know what's even changed between then and now. I don't think Mr. Haigh decided to leave the country for three or four weeks on a whim. So, I think they had their opportunity to raise to depose Mr. Haigh. They could have asked questions during our deposition, as Mr. Robert pointed out. Your order gave a specific time period and there's no basis for that.

We're entitled to confront these witnesses in an open courtroom where everyone can see and hear what they have to say.

THE COURT: Quickly.
MR. AMER: Certainly, there is no slight of hand. We didn't appreciate the full schedule of Mr. Haigh's travel and we were perfectly prepared to call him out of turn.

THE COURT: For reasons of time.
MR. AMER: Sure.
THE COURT: I'm going to allow the deposition. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. No prejudice. You have a right to confront him in court. If he testifies, you'll have a right to confront him in court. I don't think this is close.

What's the third issue? You can work out the schedule.

MR. AMER: Thank you. The third issue concerns a proposal we made. We just haven't gotten a response but I think it's one that will greatly aid the efficiency of the proceedings. We requested that all documents that were produced by any party during the investigative phase in response to our subpoenas be considered authentic to avoid the need to bring in --

MR. KISE: I think we agreed on this already on authenticity. I think we had an agreement on the phone last week on Friday. So, we haven't gotten back. We can work that out. Authenticity.

THE COURT: Authenticity, not necessarily admissibility.

MR. KISE: That's right. That is what we worked out.

THE COURT: I knew this would become a love fest eventually.

MR. AMER: One more procedural issue.
THE COURT: Quick.
MR. AMER: We now have a designated and counter-designated deposition transcript for a witness we are going to call by video, play her video deposition, and there are some objections that were lodged to certain

I'll have a ruling on the first issue by then. See you all then.

| $\mathbf{1}$ | designations and we can't cut the video to play in court |
| 2 | without knowing how your Honor wants to work out ruling |
| 3 | on the objections and what process you want us to follow |
| 4 | to submit the designations and the objections, get your |
| 5 | ruling, and then we can cut the video and make sure, if |
| 6 | you sustain any objections, we leave those portions out. |
| 7 | THE COURT: Submit it with a statement of |
| 8 | objections in camera and I'll go over the whole thing. |
| 9 | Mr. Kise. |
| 10 | MR. KISE: Let us look at the specifics. |
| 11 | Mr. Amer is correct. How we intend to proceed is key to |
| 12 | how we go about resolving the issue. If I'm |
| 13 | understanding, you want us to separately -- first we have |
| 14 | to try and work out any objections. To the extent we |
| 15 | can't, separately submit those, and we'll do that off |
| 16 | trial time. |
| 17 | THE COURT: I mean, we'll do that separate. Of |
| 18 | course. |
| 19 | MR. KISE: Prior to the time that the witness's |
| 20 | testimony is going to be played? |
| 21 | THE COURT: Of course. |
| 22 | MR. AMER: You want a paper copy of the |
| 23 | transcript highlighted or you want a video? |
| 24 | THE COURT: Paper copy will do. I'm old school. |
| 25 | Have a great lunch. We'll resume at $2: 15$ and |

THE COURT: First things first. I would like to have a quick sidebar, or you might call it a front bar, with counsel. This will only take minute or two.
(Whereupon, an off-the-record discussion took place at bench.)

THE COURT: I said I would address the first issue that the Attorney General raised, very recently. I'm quashing those subpoenas. It seems clear to me that they are being used as a discovery device. Let's see what we can find out; not, We want you to bring the report of April 1965, or whatever. So, that's that.

MR. AMER: Along these lines, your Honor, we did learn that Deutsche Bank was served with a trial subpoena this morning, so I think it makes sense to extend your order to that subpoena, as well.

THE COURT: Well, I would have to see the subpoena and the argument, so, without prejudice, withdrawn.

Okay. Are we ready for our first witness?
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, the People had one issue relating to the first witness, we just wanted to raise. The People's first witness is going to be Donald Bender, from the accounting firm Mazars. One of the primary reasons to have Mr. Bender come in is to bring in the various documents that relate to the Statement of 1 Financial Condition. There's four primary documents.

There's the Statement of Financial Condition; there is the supporting data spreadsheet; there's the engagement letter; and there's the representation letter. So, there's those four documents, for every single year.

Many of them are not objected to, by both parties, and so we would propose that documents that are not subject to objection be entered into evidence, without necessarily having the witness go through each and every single document. For the ones that there are objections to, we'll go through them with the witness.

MR. KISE: I think, your Honor, the best approach -- I mean, again, as we said, we agree as to authenticity, but as to admissibility, I think we need to go document-by-document, because as you know, we have a different view of the timeline here, and it's important for our record to make sure that we preserve those objections.

MR. WALLACE: Let me be clear. We are talking about documents which are listed as, No objection, on the exhibit list.

MR. KISE: If we take it document-by-document, your Honor, it's not going to take very long. I mean, it's pretty simple. So, if we just -- I'm not even sure which four documents he is talking about right now. I'm not saying he is right or wrong. I just think it's much

1 every single document.
We are also presenting an electronic copy of the supporting data spreadsheet, because it's an Excel spreadsheet.
(Whereupon, documents were handed to the Court.)
MR. WALLACE: If we have a moment, Chris, I think we might raise one more issue.

Mr. Kise and I both made presentations, as part of our openings. Does your Honor want us to provide you with copies of those, or should we file it on the docket?

MR. KISE: We can provide copies, but as I'm sure the Court is aware, opening statements are not evidentiary. They have no --

THE COURT: I said that, earlier.
MR. KISE: Right.
MR. WALLACE: Understood.
THE COURT: But I'll take them. Sure. It would be the same thing as just getting a transcript, so.
(Whereupon, a document was handed to the Court.) D O N A L D BENDER, after having first been duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

THE COURT OFFICER: Please have a seat.
Please state your name and either home or business address, on the record.

THE WITNESS: My name is Donald Bender, and I easier, and a much better flow, for us to just take it document-by-document, and if we waive objection, we waive objection.

MR. WALLACE: The objections have been waived already, so my request is that documents with no objection be moved into evidence.

THE COURT: I don't think we can do that, en masse, without seeing. I think Mr. Kise is correct. One-by-one, hopefully, if they have waived their objections. If they object, you will say, But you waived it, and they will say, Well, we did, or we didn't.

MR. WALLACE: Well, that's fine, but we'll go through each document for every one year, and we'll do that with Mr. Bender.

So, the people call Donald Bender.
Your Honor, I would also -- per our discussion at the pretrial conference, we prepared binders. Three copies for court, and staff, if Ms. Faherty can bring them up.

THE COURT: Sure. You can approach. Bring it up.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I'll say we have prepared, actually, two sets of binders for today. One would be for the Court to have a set of these Statements of Financial Condition, so we prepared a set of binders for that. We'll go through them. We are going to go through

1 live in Woodbury, New York.
THE COURT: I just ask you to keep your voice way up. Talk right into the microphone.

THE WITNESS: I'll try, your Honor.
MR. KISE: Your Honor, not to delay the proceedings, but while we are on the subject of objections, so, with Mr. Bender's testimony, we are going to do the same thing with each witness, if it's okay with your Honor.

As you know, we won an appellate victory in June of this year. We believe that it wiped out 80 percent of the case, based on the statute of limitations. At all events, we object to any testimony that will come in as to Statements of Financial Condition that were prepared, certifications that were made, any questions of this witness. We are going to do this in a blanket way, so we don't interrupt question-by-question, but we just want to state on the record, now, that the witness has been sworn; that we object to testimony coming in that is outside of the claims that should be addressed.

As you know, we have argued that, and we believe that, the Appellate Division ruling supports the fact that eight of the ten transactions, the loan transactions, are not at issue. Only two are, the two that were mentioned at the beginning, but we make a blanket objection to testimony in that regard. We won't interrupt the proceeding.

As to documents, and this is why I was a bit pedantic about document-by-document. We will object, on that basis, document-by-document. To the extent documents come in, because from the Appellate cases that we have reviewed, we have to do that, to preserve the record. We'll make the objection. We'll try and move the case along, but we have to make that objection.

And then, lastly, if we have agreement, as we have done throughout this case in the depositions, if we have agreement, an objection for one is an objection for all, so that you don't have people popping up, popping up and down, if that's all right with the People. If one of us objects to a document coming in, then we don't all have to stand up and object, to make that record.

THE COURT: Birds of a feather flock together. MR. KISE: Indeed.
THE COURT: Well, let's not get into a whole discussion about statute of limitations, et cetera. It's my position, and I hope it was clear from the summary judgment decision and order, that it's one thing if your client makes a statement, gets a loan, and the money is transferred, and that's it. It's another thing if the deal is, We'll loan you the money; we want to read your Statement of Financial Condition, and every year you are going to have to send us another Statement of Financial course of conduct between the parties during a long-standing relationship can have relevance. The statute of limitations is a bar on claims, not on a bar on evidence. If it's too far gone, understood, it could be not relevant anymore, but I think we do this as we go through the case, and we may likely see this on the first document that I show to Mr. Bender.

So, why don't we get started.
THE COURT: Yes.
MR. WALLACE: If that's okay with your Honor. THE COURT: Please proceed.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. WALLACE:
Q Good afternoon, sir.
A Good afternoon.
THE COURT: A little louder. THE WITNESS: I'll try.
A Good afternoon.
THE COURT: Better.
Q Since there's been some colloquy, could you please state your name again, for the record?

A Donald Bender.
Q Mr. Bender, are you taking any medication that we should just be aware of, during the course of your testimony today?

| Proceedings | Page 102 |
| :---: | :---: |
| 1 | Condition. If those later statements flow within the |
| 2 | statutory period, I certainly consider them relevant. |
| 3 | MR. KISE: I understand your Honor's position, |
| 4 | and I think you understand ours with respect to the |
| 5 | limitations. |
| 6 | $\quad$ With respect to that latter piece, if we are |
| 7 | talking about just certifications that occurred after 2014, |
| 8 | then that still would exclude any evidence about the |
| 9 | underlying loan transaction that predated the statute of |
| 10 | limitations. That's part of --- |
| 11 | THE COURT: I think that's right, but the |
| 12 | pre-statute of limitations dealings may be relevant for |
| 13 | injunctive relief, for their knowledge of things, but we'll |
| 14 | have to deal it with it one-by-one. |
| 15 | $\quad$ MR. KISE: We would object to that as well, your |
| 16 | Honor. |
| 17 | THE COURT: Okay. Objection overruled, but I |
| 18 | will ask the Attorney General to be cognizant of his |
| 19 | points, and if there's something, a discrete transaction, |
| 20 | obviously that occurred before the limitations period |
| 21 | began, then let's not have that in, because I'll exclude |
| 22 | it. I won't consider it, anyway. |
| 23 | MR. WALLACE: Fair enough, your Honor. I think |
| 24 | that -- I'm not going to speak for this witness, and every |
| 25 | witness that's going to come in. We certainly believe that |

Q If you need any breaks, you can --
A Okay. Thank you.
Q -- let Judge Engoron know.
Can you please describe, for me, your educational background?

A I graduated with a BA from Queens College in 1979.
Q Okay. And do you hold any professional licenses?
A I'm a New York State CPA.
Q And are you currently employed?
A No. I'm retired. I do a few hours of consulting, but I'm retired.

Q What was your last job, before you retired?
A I was a partner at Mazars USA.
Q And what is Mazars USA?
A It's an accounting and -- an accounting and consulting firm.

Q At the time of your retirement, how long had you been working for Mazars?

A With predecessor firms, approximately 41 years.
Q Okay. And at what point did you become a partner in the firm?

A About 22 years ago.
Q And what work did you perform as a partner at Mazars?

A I considered myself a generalist. I did a little bit of everything. Some test work, some tax work, sales tax. I came from a background of a multi-functional.

Q And when you say test work, what is that referring to?
A Test work means generally, today, audit review or compilation work.

Q Okay. And we'll get to those, in a minute. Was the defendant, Donald J. Trump, a client of yours at Mazars?

A Yes. He was a client of Mazars.
Q And what work did you do for him, as an individual?
A As an individual, I worked on his tax return. I worked on some certain tax exams, and I worked on the compilation of his Statement of Financial Condition for a number of years.

Q What is a tax exam?
A Some government authority, federal, state or city, or an agency thereof, is auditing him to see if the numbers are correct.
Q Okay. And are you familiar with an entity doing business as the Trump Organization?

A Well, the Trump Organization, in my time, were two different entities. There were two entities. The first entity was Trump Organization, Inc. The second entity was Trump Organization, LLC. In my point of view, those were basically inactive entities. The name of the Trump Organization, to me,

That doesn't include -- I don't have an analysis of non-billable time, so I don't know if that -- I don't think we should rely on those numbers today.

Q Okay. So, I understand you may have been doing work that isn't counted in the billable time?

A Yes.
Q You are describing -- that's what your concern was?
A Yes.
Q Understood.
Do you have a sense of what percentage of your time doing work for the Trump Organization was spent on the compilation of Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?

A Say that again, please?
Q Do you have a sense of how much of your time, how much of the work you are performing for the Trump Organization and Mr. Trump, what percentage was the work on the Statement of Financial Condition?

A I would say somewhere in the range 2 to 4 percent.
Q And do you have a rough sense of how many hours that would be, in a given year?

A It changed, over time, depending on who was helping me, not helping me or -- you know, but I would say 50 to 60 hours of my time wouldn't be unusual, in a year.

Q You were describing -- you mentioned that you did work for entities owned or controlled by Donald Trump and his is like $a \mathrm{~d} / \mathrm{b} / \mathrm{a}$. It's an umbrella entity that reflected all of the entities owned or controlled by Donald J. Trump, or his children. That's how I would think of it, today.

Q And did you do any accounting work for corporate entities owned or controlled by Donald Trump and his children?

A I did accounting work for those entities, corporate, partnerships, LLCs. Not just corporate.

Q And what work did you perform for them?
A Like I said, whole spectrum of work, from some audits, reviews, compilations, test work. Some tax returns. You know, a little bit of everything. Whatever needed to be. I was a generalist. I could help out, from time to time.

Q Do you have a sense of approximately how much of your time, let's say during the years 2011 through --

MR. WALLACE: Strike that question.
Q Do you have a sense of how much of your time, from the period of 2011 until your retirement, you were spending on engagements for Donald Trump and the Trump Organization?

A I don't have a good sense. If I had to guesstimate today -- it changed over the years - I would say approximately, anywhere between 45 or 55 percent. But that's just a guesstimate. I don't have the information in front of me, today.

Q Do you have a sense of how much of your time?
A Let me take that -- that's probably my billable time.

Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallace children. You said you do an array of work. Could you describe for me what individuals you would work with, in the course of your engagement for the Trump Organization and Mr. Trump?

MR. KISE: Objection, your Honor. I've let this go a bit, but can we maybe confine this to year-by-year, or series of years? And are we asking for the entire ten-year period? I'm just -- there's no context, here, for this. I mean, in general terms, he can testify, but the questions need to be more precise. It couldn't be the same people, each year.

THE COURT: Well, what if we did this: If you are asking to average, generalize, just make it clear that that's what you are doing, but I'm not going to insist that he go year-by-year.
Q So Mr. Bender, generally, during the period of 2011 to the time of your retirement, who were some of the individuals you would deal with at the Trump Organization?

A I dealt with a large array of the executives, legal department, accounting department, and a lot of other people in between.
vice president he was, but he had a title, and he was Controller for a number of those years. Before that, he was Assistant Controller.

Q You mentioned that you were familiar with the entities of the Trump Organization, Inc. and the Trump Organization, LLC.
I would like to ask if you are familiar with a few other entities. Are you familiar with an entity called DJT Holdings, LLC?

A Yes, I am.
Q And what do you understand that entity does?
A That was a holding entity for a number of Mr. Trump's investments, in the later years.

Q And did you do any accounting work for that entity?
A Mazars did accounting work, yes.
Q And what accounting work did Mazars do?
A We prepared the tax return, and we did certain accounting work papers.
Q Are you familiar with an entity called DJT Holdings Managing Member?

A I believe the name is DJT Holdings Managing Member, LLC, but you will have to confirm that for me. It's been a while. But yes, I am.
Q And what does that entity to?
A It also held a number of Mr. Trump's investments.
Q And did that entity -- did Mazars do accounting work vice president he was, but he had a title, and he was Controller for a number of those years. Before that, he was Assistant Controller.

I would like to ask if you are familiar with a few other entities. Are you familiar with an entity called DJT Holdings, LC?

for that entity?
A Yes, we did.
Q What accounting work did you do for that entity?
A We did the same kind of work. We filed tax returns and did certain accounting work papers.

Q Are you familiar with an entity called Trump Endeavor 12, LLC?

A Yes, I am.
Q What does that entity do?
A That is the property that owns the Doral, in Florida.
The Doral Golf Club.
Q Did Mazars do accounting work for that entity?
A Yes. Yes, we did.
Q And what accounting work did Mazars do for that entity?

A To the best of my recollection today, I believe we did compilations and we did tax returns, but I would have to check that.

Q Are you familiar with an entity called 401 North Wabash Venture, LLC?

A Yes, I am.
Q And what does that entity do?
A That is the sponsor for Trump International Hotel and Tower in Chicago.

Q And did Mazars do accounting work for that entity?

A Yes, we did.
Q And what accounting work did Mazars do for that entity?

A We did various levels of test work, depending on what year it was, and for certain years we did tax returns and we did accounting, and we did -- let me take that back. 401 North Wabash. 401 North Wabash doesn't file a tax return. To the best of my recollection, we did accounting work papers to assist for the preparation of other entities' tax returns.

Q Are you familiar with an entity called Trump Old Post Office, LLC?

A Yes, I did.
Q What did that entity do?
A That is the entity that operates the Old Post Office Hotel in Washington, D.C.

Q Did Mazars do accounting work for that entity?
A We did test work and we did tax returns, to the best of my recollection.

Q Are you familiar with the entity called 40 Wall Street, LLC?

A 40 Wall Street. Yes.
Q And what did that entity do?
A That is the property that -- that's the company that operated the Trump building at $\mathbf{4 0}$ Wall Street, in Manhattan.

Q And did Mazars do accounting work for that entity?
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallace

Page 112
A We did various levels of test work, depending on what year it was, and we did a tax return, amongst other things.

Q And are you familiar with an entity called Seven Springs, LLC?

A Yes, Iam.
Q And what does that entity do?
A That entity, to the best of my recollection, changed over the years. I think originally, if I recall, it was supposed to be a golf course, potentially. Later, it was -became a development project, and in later years it was a personal asset for Mr. Trump.

Q And did Mazars do accounting work for Seven Springs, LLC?

A Yes, we did.
Q What accounting work did Mazars do for Seven Springs, LLC?

A To the best of my recollection today, we did tax return -- tax returns and accounting work papers.

Q Okay. I would like to go back and focus on the Statement of Financial Condition you mentioned. Can you describe for me what that document is?

A Simplistically, I would say that is what people today would basically call a balance sheet. It's a balance sheet of Mr. Trump's assets and liabilities as of June 30th of the individual year we are talking about, prepared, you know, under accounting principles.
Q When you say you prepared it under accounting principles -- level, during that time 2011 to 2020 , what the process was for getting the statement compiled.

A Well, it changed as technology changed, so I don't know what year exactly technology changed, but in the early years I would go to Trump Tower, some years, and I would sit with Jeff McConney, and he will give me paper backup for the information. He would give it to me in paper. Sometimes he might give it to -- I think they used DHL or FedEx. It would sometimes come by messenger. I would literally sit with him, and he would give me the numbers. He would give me the backup, or what was available as of that day. I would literally punch holes in the paper, and put it into a looseleaf binder.

As technology changed, they started emailing me more and more stuff, and at some point, for the last few years, I believe they went into a portal.

Q Okay. So let's focus on the years when you were getting the information by email. What would you do after you received the information from Mr. McConney?

A Me or a member of my team would insert it into what we call an engagement binder, whether it be an electronic binder, and we would put the information in that binder, and we would leave it in that binder until we were ready to start the engagement. So, if certain information came in and was superseded, we just used -- we would take the one that -- the latest one that came in, at the time we started, physically started the work.
Q So you would not always immediately begin the work on the compilation when you received the information from Mr. McConney?

A Not necessarily. That's true.
Q Okay. And so, if information came in that superseded what you had already received, you would only look at the most recent information?

A In most cases, I would say that's fair. (Continued on the next page.)

Q So, once you start working on it, what does that look like? What are you doing?

A We would cross-- we would look at. Jeff or a member of his team. If it wasn't Jeffrey, it was somebody else. They'd send us a schedule with a control schedule. They would send us an early draft of the financial statement which they marked up.

They usually took the previous years's statement, crossed out and made the changes and, again, that would be an early draft of the statement, and, they would send us backup schedules, and, we'd try to cross-reference the schedules to their supporting control sheet, to make sure the numbers agreed.
Q So, when you say cross-reference to make sure the numbers agreed, can you describe what that looks like?
A I tell a story that I used to say it's a full circle. Their control document was something I believe called Jeff Supporting Data. So, I would make sure the numbers, even if they sent me updates, the numbers on the Jeff Supporting Data available would tie out to the cash schedule, the accounts payable schedule, whatever schedule we were looking at.
Q So, you were making sure the numbers on the support they sent you match the numbers going into the spreadsheet?
A Yes and vice versa.
$1 \quad Q$ Were you doing any other analysis of the supporting information?

A I would look at it at high level. If I saw something that bothered me or something that didn't make sense to me, I'd ask him about it, generally.

Q Okay. So, you checked the schedules. You said they would send you a marked-up version of the statement-- of what is necessary to complete the statement?

A You know, if -- first of all, we'd have to get an engagement letter. We'd have to get an engagement letter from the client, outline the terms of the engagement. We would, you know, after we would type the statement, sometimes we'd type it in before. We would just type the first draft.

After Trump Organization had finalized their numbers and sent to us, you know, we'd send them a final draft. Typically, we'd send them multiple final drafts with red lines sometimes with changes. Red lines, black lines, whatever they call it. I'm not a lawyer. At the point when everybody was-- the Trump Organization was happy with the statement, the compilation, they would send a representation letter.

After they signed the representation letter and when the representation letter was signed, Mazars had done all the procedures, all that was required on our end, we would issue the compilation report.
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 118
$1 \quad \mathbf{Q}$ Did that process generally remain the same throughout the period of 2011 through your retirement?

A To the point we stopped -- not to my retirement.
When we stopped compiling the financial statement.
Q That was in 2021;
A '20 or '21. I don't remember. You have to tell me.
Q You said it was the statement as of June 30, 2021?
A That's what I thought it was.
Q Mr. Bender, you have been handed a document premarked PX-200785. We'll also call it up on the screen here. Do you recognize this document?

MR. KISE: Your Honor, this would be one of those documents that we're going to object to on the Statute of Limitations. We don't think it should come in. It's 2011.

THE COURT: I agree with you we're trying to do this altogether. Hold on. Mr. Kise, I'm going to overrule you on what I think is going to be a continuing objection, and, I'll recognize the continuing objection.

As the Attorney General said earlier, and was in their papers, Statute of Limitations claims are not evidence. These can be relevant to just setting the stage for what happened later. It can be relevant for the equitable relief requested. I'm letting in it in but you can make a statement now.

MR. KISE: We just lodge our objection to the document, and, we're going to do that document by document.

THE COURT: Okay. You can make it quick for the other one?

MR. KISE: Yes.
THE COURT: It's admissible.
MR. WALLACE: We offer Plaintiff's Exhibit 75 in evidence, your Honor

THE COURT: It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, said exhibit was received in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit 75.)
Q Mr. Bender, do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is it?
A It's the engagement letter that compiled the Statement of Financial Condition to Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2011.
$Q$ Okay. If I could direct your attention to the top of the page here. It's addressed to Alan Weisselberg Executive Vice President, Chief Financial Officer of the Trump Organization.

Why is this letter being addressed to Mr.
Weisselberg?
A Mr. Weisselberg signed all the engagement letters.

ender - Direct/Wallace

Page 120
He was the one who ran the accounting department as Chief Financial Officer for the Trump Organization.

Q So, the Trump Organization and their accounting department were responsible for the engagements of you for Donald Trump's personal Statement of Financial Condition?
A Yes. Yes, that is fair to say.
Q If I can direct your attention to the second and third paragraphs of this letter. I'll just highlight this for you.

Let's take a look at paragraphs two and three. "We will perform the following services. We will compile, from information you provide, the Statement of Financial Condition of Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2011."

I think you touched on it when we were talking about high level. What does it mean that you would compile the Statements of Financial Condition?
A Compilation is to present, simplistically, to present, in the form of financial statement, the presented compiled information in the form of financial statement given to us by the client. Mazars would do compilation. Mazars would give no assurance on the work and we'd do no testing or analytical review as part of the compilation procedure.
$Q$ Your responsibility was for the form of the document?
A If I saw something that stuck out at me at high level, I noticed something on that, I would go back to them and ask them a question but I did not order or review procedure.
Q Could you just describe for me when you say "audit or review procedure?"

A Review procedure would include analytical procedure, analytical procedure and the accountant would give limited assurance. On order, we'd do analytical procedure and audit testing and give the assurance that the financial statement, simplistically -- I don't have the exact in front of me. The financial statement would be reasonably stated. Sorry.

Q In the context of the audit you're describing, what kind of analytical procedures were involved?

A Analytical procedure or review would be, you know, comparison from one year to another to determine what kind of procedure, what kind of items you would test.

Q Going back to compilation engagement, are you undertaking any steps to make sure the information you're looking at is true?
A No, I would just look at something. If something stuck at high level or came to my attention, I would bring it to the attention of the client.

Q Okay. Going back to the third sentence here, you write: "We will compile from information you provide." Speak clear. Who's the you that will provide information?
A The Trump Organization.
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 122
$1 \quad Q \quad$ Who selected the as-of date of June 30, 2011?
2 A When I came around, it was already June 30th. I think, historically, for a number of years, it was June 30th.
Q If we could direct your attention to the top of the next paragraph. It states: "We will compile the financial statements and issue an accountant's report thereon in accordance with statements on Standard For Accounting and Review Services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants."
Can you tell me what is an accountant's report?
A In this case, they're talking about the compilation report.

Q So, that is something Mazars would be drafting?
A It's a standard. It's, I think it's AICPA promulgated and we would make certain changes, you know, if we had to, but it's historical.

Q What's the purpose of the accountant's report?
A To inform the reader that there is a compilation or any exceptions to whatever standard of accounting the user, the financial statement being prepared under.

Q Can you tell me, what are the statements on standards for accounting review services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants?

A SSARS is the standard used promulgated to define what rules would have been for a compilation or review.

Q Do you have an understanding of what the rules were provided for related to this letter in 2011?
A Yes, I do.
Q What would those rules have provided for?
A As I said, no analytical procedures, no testing and the numbers in the financial statement on the representation of management, simplistically.
Q Second sentence in this paragraph states: "The objective of a compilation is to present, in the form of financial statements, information that is the representation of management without undertaking to express any assurance on the financial statements." I think we've covered some of this, so I don't want to go through all of it, but, what does it mean it's the representation of management?
A As I just stated, your last question, the numbers are the representation of management of the client.

Q If we go down to the next paragraph, it states:
"Compilation differs significantly from a review or an audit of financial statements."

I want to understand, this is, essentially, consistent with what you were telling me before about the difference between review, audit, and compilation?
A Yes, sir.
Q The next sentence states: "A compilation does not contemplate performing inquiry, analytical procedure, or other
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 124
1 procedure performed in a review."

2

Is that, in fact, the nature of the engagement that Mazars had with the Trump Organization in 2011 regarding --
A I want to make sure to clarify that it is a compilation that did not contemplate inquiry, analytical reviews, or other procedure.
Q Next sentence states: "Additionally, a compilation does not contemplate obtaining an understanding of the entity's internal control, assessing fraud risk, tests of accounting records by obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence through inspection, observation, confirmation, the examination of source documents, for example, cancelled checks or bank images or other procedures ordinarily performed in an audit."

So, it's a long sentence. Let's take it bit by bit. Looking at the first part of the sentence, what does it mean "a compilation does not contemplate obtaining an understanding of the entity's internal controls?"
A That Mazars would not -- Mazars would not, during compilation, would not obtain an understanding of the entity's internal control.
Q What internal control is at issue here?
A Example of internal control is who, the person who signs the checks person, who signs the checks wouldn't do the bank reconciliations. You know, it would be some separation of duties.
Q With respect to this engagement, internal controls that are being described here relate to how the Statement of Financial Condition was prepared?

A No.
Q What would they relate to?
A If you do an audit.
Q So, this is saying this is something you're just not doing?

A Yes.
Q My question is do you have a sense of what internal controls would be relevant for the preparation of Statement of Financial Condition within the Trump Organization?

A Yes, I would wouldn't need to consider internal controls for an audit.

Q Do you recall if, at any point, you actually did obtain an understanding of Trump Organization's internal controls regarding the Statements of Financial Condition?

A No, I did not.
Q In some of your other work, did you look at internal controls the company had in other areas?
A We did some, what we call, walk-throughs, maybe. Yes. We took one transaction and followed it through to understand what was being done.
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Q Can you just give me an example of what one of those walk-throughs might have been?

A When an invoice comes in, the person -- somebody would approve the invoice that they would look and then another person would write the check and then somebody would sign off and review that the check was all ready to be done from start to finish to make sure there was some kind of control involved.

Q It mentions that in that compilation does not contemplate assessing fraud risk. Did you ever, in fact, assess fraud risk at the Trump Organization in connection with the Statements of Financial Condition?

A No, we did not.
Q Did you assess fraud risk for the Trump Organization in other contexts in audit engagements?

A Yes, we did.
Q What would it entail to assess fraud risk in those instances?

A We'd have -- just an example, we'd have, what do you call -- we would have meetings at the beginning of the audit. Brain storming sessions. Sorry. It's been a while.

We'd have brainstorming sessions, for example, and we'd discuss potential fraud risks as part of the audit engagement.

Q What were fraud risks for some of the entities you were doing this work for?
A I don't have that. That potentially the CFO or somebody could override the controls and that would be an example of fraud risk.
Q Sentence also mentions "a compilation does not contemplate a test of accounting records," and goes on. What is a test of accounting records?
A An example of an accounting record would be a voucher bill to see that the bill on-- the amount on the bill agreed to the amount in the general ledger and whatever. We'd look at the bill.
$Q$ Did you ever, in fact, test accounting records in connection with the preparation of Statements of Financial Condition?
A No. No, I do not believe so.
Q The top sentence here states: "Our accountant's compilation report is expected to include references to the following departures from Generally Accepted Accounting Principals. First, what are Generally Accepted Accounting Principles?

A

there particular rules -- are there particular rules that apply to the preparation of Statements of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump?

A They would be under the normal capital rules.
Q Are you familiar with those rules?
A Some of them. I don't know anymore.
Q Do you know which rules govern preservation of financial statements?

A Again, Generally Accepted Accounting Principles.
Q I'm asking if there is a particular rule, by number or section, if you're aware, that covers the preparation of personal financial statement?

A Not right now, I don't know.
Q If there was a time in 2011 you had a question about what rules governed the preparation of financial statement, how would you find that out?
A I was kind of lucky. My managing partner in my office, he wrote-- he was a big contributor for SSARS, one, and, two, he was strong on GAAP. His office was directly next to me or one office away, depending on where our location was. I also had a quality control person with me who would be an independent quality control person who would review the work to make sure it met certain standards.

You know, we would, you know, speak to other partners if I had a question or I could speak to the director of quality control, whatever her department was called. The 21 . 1 states: "Generally Accepted Accounting Principles require 22 that in order to reflect amount to be received in the future 23 at estimated current values, the rights must be 24 nonforfeitable, fixed, and determinable and not require any 25 future services. Several of the values that will be expressed that you needed to add a GAAP departure to Donald J. Trump's Statements of Financial Condition?

A I'm not sure of the year. I believe it was this period there was a GAAP exception pertaining to combining cash and not cash and Marketable Securities. That was the GAAP exception that was put in. There was a GAAP exception.
They were excluding certain assets, either in Vegas or Chicago, and those were, what do you call it - I think may have --have been during this period and that was the GAAP exception when Trump Organization decided to exclude those assets.

Q Okay. So, let's take those each in order. The first one you mentioned was GAAP exception for cash and Marketable Securities. I understand your recollection is you had to inform the Trump Organization that that practice needed to be identified as a GAAP exception?

A Yes.
Q But you don't remember what year?
A No.
Q The other exception you mentioned was Vegas and Chicago properties -- well --
A Vegas and/or. I think it changed over the years.
Q So, one of those properties was not being included in the Statements of Financial Condition and that was the GAAP exception that needed to be disclosed?
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

will be based on future interests that, in some instances, are not for fixed or determinable amounts and, in some instances, are based on performance of future services."

MR. KISE: Your Honor, just, I'm assuming that these questions are all confined to 2011, not generally. He just hasn't asked that.

MR. WALLACE: Yes, we're looking at 2011 statement.
Q Let's move on to point numb three. "Generally Accepted Accounting Principles require the receipt of noninterest-bearing deposits in exchange for rights and privileges of the recorded present value of liability. The present value of the liability for noninterest-bearing deposits received as a condition of membership in club facilities will not be included in the accompanying Statement of Financial Condition."

A Not that I recall today.
the following for Trump International Hotel and Tower Chicago, and Trump International Hotel and Tower Las Vegas:
"One. Real property-related assets.
"Two. Mortgages and loans payable.
Three. Guarantees which Donald J. Trump may have provided."

Is this the exception that we were talking about earlier, that you recall having?

A Yes.
Q So, who was responsible for including this G.A.A.P. exception?

A The Trump Organization.
Q Did you ever discuss, with the Trump Organization, why they didn't want to include Chicago and Las Vegas on the Statement of Financial Condition?

A That would be subject to a Kovel letter.
Q Just, so I understand, you were retained by tax counsel for Mr. Trump, and that's how you learned about issues relating to Chicago and Las Vegas?

A Yes.

25 Q We are fine not going any further on that, then.

Mr. McConney's attention?

A Yes.
Q Do you have any specific recollection of the errors you brought to their attention?

A There could have been an error -- one year, this was many years ago, it was on the cash schedule. They included Mr. Trump's foundation, and we took that off. A couple of years there were errors pertaining to -- there were errors pertaining to -- I'm losing it. Ivanka Trump had an option to buy certain apartments, or one apartment I knew about, on Trump Park Avenue, and the value they were using for that apartment on their schedule, valuing Trump Park Avenue, differed from what Ivanka was valuing the apartment, Ivanka's option for the apartment, was.

There were a couple of times pertaining to straight line receivables. I think they may have gone the wrong way on the financial statements. We would have to correct, adjust an asset for a straight line receivable.

There was some times, from time to time, when they were cross referencing cash on an account's payable schedule, to the lead sheet for cash or accounts payable. The number would be a little bit different than we had talked about it.
Sometimes it would be -- we would adjust it. Sometimes it would be a small amount, and the Trump Organization -- the Trump Organization would adjust it, or sometimes it would not -- it was not worth the material -- not material. It was necessarily to adjust.
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallach

Q Any other examples you remember?
A That's it, right now.
Q Okay. I'll just walk through this, a little bit.
On the last one you said there was an issue with cross referencing cash, or accounts payable. Would the number that you would see in the supporting spreadsheet, wouldn't match the number that was actually in the supporting data?

A Sometimes there would be an example in a cash account on the lead sheet for cash, and then there might be, for instance, a balance sheet for a golf course in Jeff Supporting -- in his back up, Jeff Supporting Data, and there would be a cash number, and it could go either way, but we would bring it to the Trump Organization's attention, if we came across it.

Q Go either way, meaning it could be higher?
A Yes. Yes, or lower.
Q And if I'm understanding your testimony correctly, they would correct it if it was, but sometimes it -- they would often correct it, but sometimes it wasn't big enough to merit a correction?

A Or they didn't want to -- it may have been -- that's fair to say, yes.

Q Do you remember specifically, when you mentioned an issue with the cash schedule, including money from Mr. Trump's foundation, do you remember when that occurred?

A Long time ago.
Q Okay. You mentioned the Ivanka Trump option to buy an apartment at Trump Park Avenue. Do you remember when that occurred?

A I don't remember the year, but I believe it was two years, I changed it. At least.

Q So the error was repeated again the following year?
A It may have not been the following year, but it was more than one year.

Q How did you come to know that Ivanka Trump had an option on an apartment on Trump Park Avenue?

A I don't recall.
Q Could you describe for me what you meant when you were talking about straight line receivables, for someone who may not deal with receivables on a regular basis?

A Oh, my God. You're in trouble, now.
Under G.A.A.P. -- it's more old G.A.A.P. and new G.A.A.P., but when you are doing Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, the income stream for a lease, simplistically, should be picked up pro rata, over the life of the lease. So for instance, if the first year has free rent, and -- let's say it's a ten-year lease, and the first year is free, and the next nine years equal up to a million dollars in total, so for the total ten years, it's a million dollars. You would pick up a rent of $$ 100,000$ every year, on that lease.

Q Okay. And you are saying that sometimes it went the wrong way?

A Certain schedules they would ask us for, and it was -sometimes, it went the wrong way.

Q And this was in connection with the preparation of the Statement of Financial Condition?

A The adjustment they were making on the Statement of Financial Condition did not always go the right way.

Q But you don't remember what year that occurred in?
A No, but again, multiple times. A couple times, I believe.

Q Why don't we take a look at the next paragraph, which, the single sentence, it states, "As part of our engagement, we will also perform other accounting services, as needed."

Do you know if other accounting services were needed, as part of this engagement in 2011?

A I don't recall.
Q Do you remember ever performing other accounting services in connection with preparation of a Statement of Financial Condition?

A Other accounting services might include, for instance, drafting a few words in a footnote, or helping with a footnote. Something like that could have occurred, over the years.

Q I'm sorry. Drafting -- I didn't hear.
A A note, changing something on a footnote. For instance the G.A.A.P. exceptions we talked about before, for cash, the wording for the -- in the compilation report, I keep calling them footnotes. The notes would have almost the exact same wording to the wording that went into the compilation report. That wording, I believe, would go into those financial statements.

Q So, if they were using your accounting work product, that's an additional accounting service, and it might be included in a report where you are just doing compilation?

A Yes, but that's a sentence I generally put in most of my engagement letters.

Q Okay. If we look at the next paragraph underneath that, it says, "You are responsible for making management decisions and performing management functions, and for designating an individual with suitable skill, knowledge or experience to oversee any other services we provide."

What falls into the category of management decisions and management functions?

A Determine the methodology for how the properties would be valued.

Q Okay. And so you didn't have any role in the methods of valuation in the Statement of Financial Condition?

A No, I didn't. No, I did not.
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallach

Q For this engagement, do you know, in 2011, do you know who the individual was who was designated to supervise the services you provided?

A Alan Weisselberg, with the assistance of Jeff McConney.

Q And are you familiar with their relevant skill, knowledge and experience?

A Yes.
Q And could you describe for me, generally, the level of their skill, knowledge and experience?

A Alan --
MR. KISE: Objection. Is the witness going to provide his understanding? Is he opining as an expert on the level of knowledge and experience?

THE COURT: Well, he is not qualified as an expert. He is a fact witness; right?

MR. WALLACE: Correct. I'm asking what his understanding was of the -- of the skill, knowledge and expertise that Mr. Weisselberg and Mr. McConney had, when they were receiving his service.

MR. KISE: I don't think there's any proper foundation laid for that. I don't see how he can ask this witness that question, other than his general guessing as to what their qualifications were. There hasn't been any testimony that he is familiar with those individuals, to the extent he knows their educational background, knowledge or training.

MR. WALLACE: I will ask him some foundational questions.
Q So, let me back up. The suitable skill, knowledge and experience refers to the process of valuing properties. Is that correct?

A Amongst other things.
Q And are you familiar with the skill, knowledge or experience of, let's start with Mr. McConney, in valuing real estate?

A No, I'm not.
Q What about Mr. Weisselberg?
A No, I'm not.
Q So you don't have any familiarity with their skill, knowledge or experience.

Did you ever make a determination as to whether or not they had suitable skill, knowledge or experience?

MR. KISE: Objection.
MR. WALLACE: I'm asking if he made a determination.
MR. KISE: How can he make a determination if he has no understanding?

MR. WALLACE: Then the answer can be no.
THE COURT: Overruled. Whether it was right or wrong, proper-improper determination, if he made a determination, he made a determination.

Q And the question is, did you make a determination?
A I made a determination they had the suitable skill, experience to oversee the services that we were providing.

Q Understood.
MR. WALLACE: If we turn to the next page of this engagement letter.

Sorry. If we can go to the bottom. Next page.
Q Do you recognize -- well, first let me ask you, underneath WeiserMazars, did you sign this agreement?

A WeiserMazars.
Q WeiserMazars?
A But some people use the French interpretation.
You are asking who signed?
Q Who signed that?
A That's either my signature, or an electronic signature of mine, which I would have given permission to use. But it's probably a real signature.

Q On behalf of the firm?
A Yes.
Q And do you recognize the signature underneath that one?

A That's Alan Weisselberg.
Q Okay. And did you have an understanding of whether or not Mr. Weisselberg had the authority to retain Mazars for this engagement, based on his position as CFO of the Trump Organization?

A Yes, I did.
Q And what was the basis for that understanding?
A He was -- he signed all the engagement letters for the Trump Organization, for the entities that -- let me take that back. He signed all the engagement letters for the entities that were run out of 725 Fifth Avenue. I'm not sure he ran all the entities. And he was the go-to guy for all accounting matters for the Trump Organization.

Q Mr. Bender, do you recognize -- I've handed you a document that's been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 1893 -MR. WALLACE: Strike that.

Q Mr. Bender, I've handed you a document that has been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 1873 for identification. Do you recognize this document?

A Yes, I do.
Q And what is it?
A This is a -- this is an email from Jeff McConney to me -- Doc is me. That's a nickname. That's the most asked question in deposition history -- where Jeff is sending us some information. It appears to be in Excel, for the June 30th, 2011 statement of the compilation of the June 30th, 2011 Statement of Financial Conditions for Donald J. Trump.

Page 150
MR. WALLACE: I believe the defendants have an objection.

MR. KISE: Thank you, Mr. Wallace.
Yes. Same objection, your Honor. Predates the July 13, 2014

THE COURT: Okay. Duly noted, and overruled, for the same reasons.
Q Do you want to explain why you're called Doc, on this?
A Jeff came from the predecessor firm, Spahr Lacher & Berk, I won't go through all the -- and this was a nickname I had 35, 40 years ago, and it's only legend. I don't remember exactly what it is, and it still sticks around with one or two people, today.

Q So, do you have an understanding of, what are these attachments that he's sending to you, in this email?

A These are certain -- this is the schedule. It appears to be the schedule we previously discussed, which was their control schedule, or at least the first version of it, for the Jeff Supporting Data, and certain backup schedules, as shown under the attachment section.

Q Okay. And so, this would be at the beginning of the process of preparing the Statement of Financial Condition?

A Assuming that this is the first one. There could have been a predecessor one. I couldn't answer that, today.

Q You can see, there's a number of exhibits listed under attachments, and the first one is Jeff Supporting Data. Can you just describe for me what you understand that exhibit to be?

A That's Jeff's control sheet on how he is coming up to the Statement of Financial Condition for Mr. Trump, as of June 30th, 2011, and if that's the control sheet, we would be using those numbers. At the end of the day, the numbers on the Jeff Supporting Data, when all is said and done, have to agree. Should agree. Nothing has to, in life. Should agree, to the assets and liabilities on the Statement of Financial Condition.

Q Okay.
MR. WALLACE: Can we pull up, I believe it's the native one of that attachment to this email. This is still Exhibit 1873. This is the native version, the Excel version of the attachment that we were just looking at. If we can just go up to the top.
Q Do you recognize this document, or this attachment?
A This is one, a version of the Jeff Supporting Data for the Statement of Financial Conditions for Mr. Trump, as of June 30, 2011.

MR. KISE: Same objection, your Honor.
THE COURT: Well, it's part of the same exhibit, so --

MR. KISE: Well, that's not exactly clear. I think it is.

THE COURT: You are right. So I'll recognize the objection, and overrule it.
MR. KISE: Thank you.
Q So, can you describe for me how this document works?
A Jeffrey, line-by-line, prepares -- he is saying that the cash, 207 million - yes. $$ 207,488,027$, Jeff would have a back-up schedule in this case, for that amount. Sometimes he would do the computation, but this is his control, and his backup. In many ways, it would be like a trial balance. This is where Jeff is determining Jeff, or the Trump Organization, whoever is determining it, would -- this would be their control sheet.

Q And what would you do with this document, when you received it?

A Whatever version was the last version we would have received when we started our compilation work at Mazars, that would be our control. So, if Jeffrey -- and we would change. If Jeffrey would send updates afterwards, Jeff, or a member of his team, we would cut and paste that information into a new worksheet, because we do a lot of referencing back and forth, and we didn't want to put what we call tick marks, and I'm sure we'll see that the next few days. We wouldn't want to have to put all these references in 500 times, so we needed to take a version that was our control, and that would be the version when we started, really started to do the work.

Q Okay. So he might send you this, and you might not work on it, but it might be the version you would use to control and put together your final work?

A The version that we received when we started our compilation procedures, started the real work, not the engagement, but honestly started the work, that was the one we would use, and any updates came in, we would just cut and paste the certain lines, as needed, to make it agree to the Trump Organization's version that they were sending us later.

Q If we go back to the original email, Exhibit 1873 -MR. KISE: Just for record purposes. Sorry. How are we keeping track? I know that the exhibit has a number on it, but the spreadsheet, do we have some number associated with it? I mean, how are we --

MR. WALLACE: That's incorporated with the exhibit list, I believe is how we prepared it, and there is a native file attachment. So, I think that's what we sent to you guys when we produced our exhibit list. I'm not sure. I'll confess, I don't remember how you guys structured your --

MR. KISE: I just want to make sure we have got some way of keeping track. We will sort that out later.

MR. WALLACE: Sure. I will, when I'm reading in the record, I did read -- this is native 01 , so we'll try to make that as clear as possible.

So, I would like to open one of the other

Page 154

$\mathbf{1}$
2 $\quad$ exhibits. It's escrow balances 0611XLS. I'll say this is 154 exhibits. It's escrow balances 0611XLS. I'll say this is going to be Plaintiff's Exhibit 1873, native file 04. This was on the exhibit list, with a file name of September 23,

Q Do you recognize this document?
A I think you said Restricted Cash Flow. I think it's estricted Cash.

Restricted Cash. You are correct. Thank you for Do you recognize this document?
A It appears to be -- it appears to be a schedule Jeff McConney or the Trump Organization would have sent us, with the restricted cash and escrow balances for Donald J. Trump for June 20, 2011.
Q Do you have an understanding of who would have prepared it?
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 156
1 too. It's moving so quickly. I don't recall it but just
2 for the record
3 MR. WALLACE: We're happy to note -THE COURT: We'll accept the objection retroactively.

MR. WALLACE: We're happy to recognize that the defendant's have a standing objection to documents from before the Statute of Limitations.

Q So, I'm sorry. I don't know if it was asked and answered. What would you do when you received this?
A What would we do when we received it?
Q Yes.
A First, we would insert it in our binder. I would need to see our work papers, specifically, to see what we did. I presume that we would have footed it or cross-footed it. We'd have to check that and we would have made sure that the total on the bottom agrees to Jeff Supporting Data.
Q So, you mentioned footing and cross-footing. Is that how you're recording your work on Statements of Financial Condition?
A I record-- we didn't always do it but sometimes we just check the math. You go down Excel, boom, and make sure it adds.
Q Why don't we see if it's helpful. This is a Native
25 file document, so we just have a slip sheet for the document.
12 production number Mazars NYAG 00003154. Do you recognize thisdocument?
A It appears to be Mazars' version, final version of the Jeff Supporting Data Statements of Financial Condition to Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2011.
MR. KISE: Same objection.
THE COURT: Can we simplify this by calling it a standing objection?
MR. KISE: It's the objection on the Statute of Limitations. Perhaps, I should frame it that way. Statute of Limitations objection.
THE COURT: Standing objection to any document before 2014?
MR. KISE: July 13, 2014. Yes, your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. If I change my ruling on the objections, I'll let you know.
Q So, Mr. Bender, you mentioned this is the final version. How did you determine that?
A It appears to be the final version because it has tick marks the blue. Red marks which would be the control version I previously discussed. We would have had the blue numbers cross-references to Mazars' work papers. So, it appears to be our version.
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

1 Q Okay. So, let's walk through that. First, I'll walk up to the screen. The first one you mentioned, what are these red indications? I'll describe them for the record as two red arrows in the form of a circle.

What does that indicate?
A I'd have to go back and confirm to our software definition of tick marks but I believe it means the math was calculated.
Q To the extent folks can see, up in the C area here.
"=round ( $+\mathrm{E}-11$, *E-12, 0.)" What does the combination of red circles of the formula of that cell indicate?
A They are saying 535,714 multiplied by .0615 equals 32,946.

Q So, if I'm understanding correctly, the red circles indicate someone from Mazars is confirming the math is being performed correctly on that?
A Yes.
Q You also mentioned the blue numbers. I'll describe it for the record. We're here at -- why don't we take a look at this one. I'll note for the record it's in row six, column H. There's a blue number 4100.01 . What does that indicate?

A I previously mentioned Mazars had a software package
23 which we call-- I think it's called edge game. We call it, 24 E-pace. In E-pace these work papers are inserted. That's our 25 file. It was paper in the olden days. This is done electronically. The back of the schedule, I can't see what-the yellow sign is for the number but the 207 million and change is on schedule 4100.01 and if the software works correctly, and I clicked that 4100.01, it will open up that schedule and see the numbers are the same.

Q Okay. So, I'm going to ask if we can pull up the document marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 2613. This is another Native file document. So, we have handed up a slip sheet.

We're going to put the Excel version up on the screen here and I could ask you, do you recognize this document?

Actually, let me state for the record that on our exhibit list, this document is identified as a document listed as SLA&E and it's saved as 4100. Cash balances as of 6/30/11, XLS XLS.

Do you recognize this document?
A It appears to be the schedule short-term cash and short-term investments under 50,000 for Mr. Trump and his entities as of June 30, 2011.

Q There's an earlier tab 6/30/11. What is that tab document?

A This is the schedule prepared by the Trump Organization of cash and short-term investments for Mr. Trump and his entities as of June 30, 2011.

Q What does the notation up on the top in red PBC

Bender - Direct/Wallace
Page 160
indicate?
A That's -- it stands for prepared by client.
Software you can just click it and it goes on.
$Q$ This is indicating this is information you received from the Trump Organization. It's not something generated by Mazars; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Is this a schedule that would pop up in your system?
A Yes.
Q When you click on number 41?
A It should.
MR. KISE: Your Honor, Statute of Limitations objection.

THE COURT: I don't think we have to do it for every document.

MR. KISE: I'm going to look again, but, my understanding of the case law is we actually do, unfortunately. That the Appellate Division won't accept a straight line objection. We can come up with a way to streamline this, I assure you.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, we only have a few more months.
Q So, if we could scroll down to the bottom here, row 42. The line reads: "Balances in US dollars at the exchange rate on $6 / 30 / 11$." it that's in small red letters, TB.

What does that indicate?
A That stands for trial balance. That was one of the ways we could reference it back to Jeff Supporting Data.
Q So, can you explain to me how that works? Is this another link?
A It's just placed on top PBC. Trial balance in most accounting closings is the control sheet. In many ways, I think I stated earlier today the Jeff Supporting Data is equivalent of trial balance for this purpose.

So, you might see a TB, you might see a reference to control sheet or whatever the reference is to Jeff Supporting Data.

Q This is an indication the number here matches the number in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A Yes.
Q If we look at the bottom, the number here, again, it's got the-- we'll describe as two red arrows and a circle. What is indicated by two red arrows and circle?
A I have to check the definition but I think it means math calculated.
Q Okay. That number there 207,488,026.58. Did Mazars undertake any audit procedures to confirm that number was correct?
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 162
A No, he did not.
2 Q Did Mazars undertake any assurance procedures whatsoever with respect to that number?

A No, it did not.
Q So, I think we just follow the link 4100.01 to see the $$ 207$ million number. Is that how it works?
A The little yield sign is -- -
Q That should be what it is?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, that looks right?
A I think it was, yeah.
Q So, when Mazars would check that numbers, the 207,488,027 against the spreadsheet we were just looking at, are you performing any accounting procedure in doing that?

A No, I did a quick overview and I told you, one year I looked at the high level. The second, a member of the Mazars looked at it and one year I included the foundation and we took it up and we suggested-- we made the recommendation it should be taken out and the Trump Organization agreed with us and they took it out.
Q So, as you spot an issue, you bring it up. You weren't going out and looking for issues?
A If something bothered me and I noticed it, I would bring it to their attention, and we'd talk about it.
Q So, can I ask, if all of the blue numbers in this document look the same way, they'd take you back to another file that would have information that sports the number in the spreadsheet?
A I believe that would be true, but, I'd have to look at the whole document to confirm that.

MR. WALLACE: Could we pull up Plaintiffs

Exhibit 787?

Q I put a copy image up on the screen, Mr. Bender. Do you recognize this document?

THE COURT: Objection duly noted.
MR. KISE: Thank you.
A Yes, I do.
Q What is this document?
A This is the Statement of Financial Condition for
Mr. Trump as of June 30, 2011.
Q Is this the final version?
A Yes, it is.
Q How can you tell?
A It has my electronic signature on the second page of the Accountant's Compilation Report.

Q If we can turn to that page, the second page, Bates number 3133. This is the electronic signature you're talking about?

A Could be by manual or electronic. I don't know.
Q So, what should the relationship be between this document and the Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet we were looking at?

Page 164

A The numbers should be the same.
Q So, why don't we go to the top -- actually, let's go down a couple of pages here. So, cash and Marketable Securities, the number here is $258,900,000$. That should match the number in Jeff Supporting Data?

A Yes, it should.
Q You see the number 258,900,000 those are the numbers that should be matching?
A Yes.
Q That was the service Mazars is providing, translating those numbers into the form of the financial statement we were just looking at?

Q So, you're just typesetting the financial statement or is there some other --
A No, we'd-- all of those things, it's more of typesetting. We would discuss the kind of things we talked about before the cash, Ivanka's apartment, footing of the schedule. We make sure they cross-reference but we would have typed final statements.

Q Okay. So, if we could go back to the statement which I believe is Exhibit 787, I want to walk through the various segments of the report. I believe this is the first page.
So, this page stating "Donald J. Trump Statement of Financial Condition June 30, 2011."

What is this section of the Statements of

Financial Condition?

A This page?
Q Yes.
A This page is the asset page.
Q Okay. What is reflected -- so, who is responsible for the numbers on this page?
A The Trump Organization.
Q I should have gone back a couple of pages. Can we go back. So, if we go to the top, actually. Independent Accountant's Compilation Report. What is this section of the Statements of Financial Condition?
A As we talked about earlier this afternoon, this is the Accountant's Compilation Report. This is basically a AICPA promulgated form. We make some changes. In this case, the GAAP exceptions, for example, and this explains that, you know, our procedures are only compilation procedures.
They're not order review procedures, and we did not do review or audit testing or analytics, as we went through this afternoon.

Q So, why is this addressed to Donald J. Trump?
A Because the engagement-- it's assets of Donald J.
Trump and, in this case, the engagement letter was and the -the engagement letter is addressed to Donald J. Trump.
Q The first paragraph states --
A I take that back. It's not true. The engagement letter does not address Donald J. Trump but the engagement letter says we were engaged to prepare the financial letter statement for Donald J. Trump.

Q The engagement letter was to the Trump Organization signed by Allen Weisselberg to prepare, compile the Statements of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump?
A Yes. I apologize for the error.
Q First paragraph states: "We have compiled the accompanying Statements of Financial Condition of Donald J.
Trump as of June 30, 2011. We have not audited or reviewed the accompanying financial statement and, accordingly, do not express an opinion or provide any assurance about whether the financial statement is in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America."

Is this statement accurate?
A Yes, it is.

Q Okay. Did this language have to be included with the Statements of Financial Condition?
A This letter had to be included in the Independent Accountant's Compilation Report.
Q Which attaches to the Statements of Financial Condition?
A Yes.
Q So, to make sure we're describing the full document here as the Statements of Financial Condition but, technically, that list of values, that's what is his statement and this is an attachment?
A That and the accompanying footnotes, notes.
Q Why don't we take -- why don't we take a quick look at those. I think they appear on page six -- no. Four. So, this says: "Notes to Statement of Financial Condition," and in parenthesis, "Independent Accountant's Compilation of Work."

Q So, is this information coming from Mazars or the Trump Organization?A This is coming from the Trump Organization. Mazars may have made some adjustments over the years or potentially put wording in, but, the original numbers come from the Trump Organization, and, any changes that would have been made at the end, would have been approved by the Trump Organization.

MR. WALLACE: Judge Engoron, I don't know what time we all need to be filtering out. I'm trying to structure my next sections.

THE COURT: I said this morning we'll go to 4:30. In two minutes, I would have given you the ten-minute warning.

What do you want to do?
MR. WALLACE: We're okay to stay until 4:30. THE COURT: We'll break at 4:30. How's that? MR. WALLACE: Got it. Understood.
Q We can move on from this in a moment. I want to ask you to turn to page 17. I want to direct your attention down at the bottom segment where it says: "Miss Universe Pageant," and it says "in 1996 Donald J. Trump and CBS acquired all of the assets together on the Miss Universe Pageants."

Do you remember this was an asset to be included in the DJT Statements of Financial Condition?
A I remember Mr. Trump for many years owned Miss Universe, yes, or a portion of it.

Q This was included as one of the assets in the Statements of Financial Condition?

A In 2011, yes, it was.
Q Whose decision was it to include the Miss Universe
Pageants as an asset on Statements of Financial Condition?
A It was the Trump Organization's but it was required by GAAP anyway.

Q Mr. Bender, we've handed you a document marked as Plaintiffs Exhibit 786.

Do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is this document?
A It's the representation letter for the June 30, 2011, compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statements of Financial Condition.

MR. KISE: We assert a Statute of Limitations objection on this document.

THE COURT: Noted.
Q How did this representation letter fit into the process of compiling a Statement of Financial Condition?

A It's something that would have been required for us to issue the Statements of Financial Condition.

Q Why was it required?
A Because I felt I wanted it.
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

19 "We're providing this letter in connection with your 20 compilation of Statements of Financial Condition of Donald J.
21 Trump as of June 30, 2011 (the statement.) We confirm that we 22 are responsible for the fair presentation in the Statement of 23 Financial Condition in conformity with accounting principals
24 generally accepted in the United States of America."
Before I ask you about this, could we go to the Q Why did you want it?
A To make sure that the client took responsibility for his-- for the Statements of Financial Condition.
Q Looks like this is dated the same day as the Statements of Financial Condition; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Why is it dated the same day as Statements of Financial Condition?
A On a compilation, I believe, and I haven't done it in I long time but I believe the letter on the statement is the date of representation letter. That's when we completed our compilation procedures and were ready to issue as soon as we'd get the compilation -- as soon as we get the representation letter.
Q So, there's no gap between the Statements of Financial Condition and the representation?
A Not if I prepared the statement, no.
Q We'll look at the first paragraph. It states: bottom of the document? Do you recognize the signature at the bottom?

A Yes, I do.
Q Whose signature is that?
A Allen Weisselberg's.
Q He's signing on behalf of the Trump Organization?
A Yes, he is.
Q Can we go back to the paragraph I just read into the record? This is the first paragraph of the letter.

Q We'll look at the next paragraphs. We'll read them to go. It states: "We confirm, to the best of our knowledge and belief, the following: As of October 6, 2011, you have provided us with a copy of the statement that you have compiled. We've read that information. The data presented in the statement was provided to you by members of Mr. Trump's accounting department and you have compiled that information in an appropriate manner when preparing the statement." What's the significance of this language?
D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

Page 172
A It's, you know, it's confirming that the Trump Organization has read the statement; and, the information included and the data presented in the statement was provided by the Trump Organization's accounting department.

Q So --
A And you've compiled the information in an appropriate manner. That we prepared it.

Q So, they've read the final statement, and they're signing off on it?

A And that the information was provided by them.
Q Okay. The next paragraph states: "The statement referred to above is fairly presented in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. All assets are presented at their estimated current value and all liabilities are presented at their estimated current amount which have been determined in accordance with the guidelines promulgated by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants except to the extent noted in the Accountant's Compilation Report which was annexed to this statement."

Would Mazars have issued a Statements of Financial Condition if Alan Weisselberg did not make that representation on behalf of Mr. Trump?
A It says "to the statement," not to this statement.
25 No, we would have not.

Q Would Mazars have issued a Statements of Financial Condition if they learned this representation was not true?

A No, we would not have.
Q I'll go on to the next paragraph. It states: "There are no material transactions that have not been properly recorded in the accounting work papers underlying the statement, other than those exceptions from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America that are noted in the Accountant's Compilation Report."

So, first the Accountant's Compilation Report is that section of the Statements of Financial Condition we were looking at before?

A That's the first two pages of the Accountant's Compilation Report that bears my signature on the second page.

Q Focusing on the word "material". There are no material transactions that have not been properly recorded. Is that an accounting term of art or what is meant by the term "material"?
A In this case, the materiality is not a concept on compilation. Material means important, big. There's no state of art to it.

Q If I could direct you to the next paragraph, it states, "We have no plans or intentions that may materially affect the carrying amounts or classification of assets and liabilities, other than those noted in the accounting work papers underlying the statement."

Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Condition if Alan Weisselberg did not make this representation on behalf of Mr. Trump?
A No, we would not have.
Q Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Conditions if it learned this representation was not true?
A No, we would not have.
MR. WALLACE: If we could turn the last paragraph, here.
Q It states, "There are no material losses, such as from purchase or sale commitments that have not been properly accrued or disclosed in the statement."

Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Condition if Alan Weisselberg did not make this representation on behalf of Mr. Trump?

A No, we would not have.
Q Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Condition if it learned this representation was not true?

A No, we would not have.
MR. WALLACE: If we could scroll onto the next page. I'll just -- we can highlight this section?
Q That starts, "There are no," and it talks about violations or possible violations of regulations, other claims, other material liabilities.
 top of the page, now. There's a paragraph that states, "Mr. Trump has satisfactory title to all owned assets, and there are no liens or encumbrances on such assets, or has any asset been pledged as collateral, other than those noted in the statement."

Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Condition if Alan Weisselberg did not make this representation on behalf of Mr. Trump?

A No, we would not have.
Q Would Mazars have issued the Statement of Financial Condition if it learned this representation was not true?

A No, we would not have.
THE COURT: Let me stop you there, because we only have one more minute.

I think the "or" in that paragraph should be "nor", but I'll let everybody else interpret it.

I just want to talk to both sides for a second.
Stay where you are.
Mr. Robert, you are very well versed in the CPLR; correct?

MR. ROBERT: You will know, after I answer your question.

MR. ROBERT: That is correct, sir.

MR. KISE: We certainly agree with that, Judge. MS. HABBA: Thank you.
THE COURT: I figured you would.
MR. WALLACE: As you said, it's turned into a love fest, I guess.

Your Honor, I think we saw, in Mr. Kise's opening, that there are credit reports from Deutsche Bank that include these earlier years that happen --

MR. KISE: No, your Honor. These credit reports related to the OPO loan that was closed in August of 2014, which postdates the statute of limitations. Those credit reports relate to that specific loan that, unfortunately for us, is within the limitations period. So, that's a very different scenario, then.

MR. WALLACE: I will explain my point, then. There are credit reports that consider things that happen in 2011, during the period that is under the statute of limitations.

MR. KISE: Not for any loans that are within the limitations period, your Honor, but we'll tie that up

Proceedings

later. You told him he needs to tie it up.
THE COURT: I'm sure we'll address this many times, going forward.

And Mr. Robert, I hereby deem you an expert in the CPLR, and no doubt other aspects of New York law.

MR. ROBERT: Thank you, Judge.
THE COURT: All right. Give me one second.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Okay. We are going to break for the day. I appreciate everybody's patience and stamina. We resume tomorrow on schedule, 10:00 in the morning. Have a good evening.

MR. WALLACE: Thank you, your Honor.
(Whereupon, the proceedings were adjourned to Tuesday, October 3, 2023 at 10:00 a.m.)

Original File People v. Trump 10-3-2023 - CORRECTED.txt Min-U-Script ${ }^{\circledR}$ with Word Index

Finally I want to emphasize that this trial is not an opportunity to relitigate what I have already decided, including my conclusions in the summary judgment decision. That's why we have appeals.

So, let's continue with the testimony of Donald Bender, a former principle of Mazars, and I will, over defendant's continuing objection, allow testimony about documents, dates and events that occurred in 2011 and beyond, subject to connection to later documents.

Speaking of continuing objections, although I appreciate Mr. Kise's diligence in attempting to preserve the record by continuing to object to the use of documents dated prior to 2014, the Court of Appeals, the highest Court in New York State, has made clear that a continuing objection makes it unnecessary to challenge other evidence, for the same reason. And that is Kulak, K-U-L-A-K, versus Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company, 40 N.Y.2d 140 at page 145, 1976.

Obviously, I would not be commenting like this if a jury was present. It is not, so I've taken the liberty of attempting to clarify where the trial stands at this juncture.

And, now shall we continue with Mr. Bender?

And as yesterday -- and most of you know this -I'm allowing a group of pool photographers and one videographer to come in and show how good looking we all are.
(Photographs taken.)
THE COURT: Oh, the wages of fame.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, if I could just raise one procedural issue with the defendants concerning timing? I understand Mr. Bender was served with a trial subpoena when he left the courthouse yesterday, from the defendants, and so I just would want to know for us, in ordering our witnesses, are they planning to cross Mr. Bender, or are they doing taking him as a -- separately, during their case in chief?

MR. KISE: As of now, we are planning to cross Mr. Bender.

MR. WALLACE: Okay.
MR. KISE: One other point of clarification, your Honor. So, I have not yet -- I did receive a letter from the Attorney General early this morning. I have not yet looked at the cases, including the cases that you cite -- Usually no one has a problem hearing me.

-- including the cases that -- the case that you just cited, the Kulak case. I've not looked at them. I will state, again, that our appellate consultants, some of whom I'm sure the Court would recognize, have told us differently. But, give us the opportunity to look at the case. I take it that your Honor is not precluding me from making the objection. I just don't now how to balance this, because I'm being told that I need to preserve these objections a certain way.

THE COURT: My mother always told me, Do what you're told. So, yes. Feel free, until you have had a chance to digest that case --

MR. KISE: Thank you, Judge.
THE COURT: -- to object to each document. Okay. Are we recalling Mr. Bender?
MR. WALLACE: The People are going to continue to the testimony of Mr. Bender.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: This is a big room, and apparently the isolation room is far away.

MR. WALLACE: I believe the words rabbit warren came to mind, as we were making our way through, yesterday. DONALD BENDER, having been previously sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

THE COURT: I will remind the witness, as I remind every witness, that he is still under oath. THE WITNESS: Good morning.

            THE COURT: Good morning.
            Counselor, please proceed.
BY MR. WALLACE:
    Q Good morning, Mr. Bender. Are you settled in?
    A I need two seconds.
    Q Okay.
```

            (Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
    A Okay.
    Q Mr. Bender, when we closed yesterday, we talked in fairly extensive detail about the process and documents related to the preparation of the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition.
    Do you recall that testimony?
    A Yes, I do.
Q And we talked about, I believe there was an engagement letter, Jeff Supporting Data, a representation letter, and the reported -- the statement itself; is that correct?

A Yes. That's correct.
Q Did Mazars also compile a Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump as of June 30 for each year from 2012 to 2020 ?

A That's correct.
Q Okay. Were there any significant changes in the preparation process for those statements between the 2011 and the 2020 statement?
MR. KISE: Objection, your Honor. I don't think that we can summarize. This case involves documents, as they have said, and so we can't just summarize. It's inappropriate to summarize a ten-year span and say the process is the same, everything is the same. Each year stands on its own. It's a very complicated process, and if the government intends to establish intent, materiality and reliance, then it needs, respectfully, to go year-by-year.

MR. WALLACE: What's the evidentiary objection?
MR. KISE: The nature of my objection is, it's calling for a narrative. The question calls for a narrative. It's an open-ended question, and it's introducing facts that are not in evidence. There's no foundation.

MR. WALLACE: Yesterday you said I needed to tie things together. The 2011 process continues. I'm allowed to ask this general question. If I want to go through the additional documents, I will. It's my exam.

MR. KISE: Okay. That's fine. If he's intending to through the additional documents year-by-year, that's fine. I just want to make that clear. If it's an initial summary question, then I'll withdraw my objection.

THE COURT: Was the question whether the - I think the question was whether the process that he used

A It was signed. I'm not sure if it was signed by Trump Organization, or the trustees, after Mr. Trump became president.

Q But in each year from 2011 to 2020, you required an engagement letter?

A Yes. Mr. Weisselberg would have signed, either way.
Q And do you know if, in fact, in each year from 2011 to 2020, you did, in fact, receive an engagement letter?

A Yes, we did.
Q Okay. For each Statement of Financial Condition engagement, from 2011 to 2020, did Mazars receive a supporting data spreadsheet from the Trump Organization?

A Yes. Jeff Supporting Data.
Q For your Statement of Financial Condition engagement from 2011 to 2020, did Mazars maintain a control version of the supporting data spreadsheet?

A Say that again, please?
Q Did you maintain, in each year from 2011 to 2020, a control version?

changed, over time.
MR. WALLACE: That's correct, your Honor.
THE COURT: And has that question been answered?
MR. WALLACE: That question has not been answered.

THE COURT: Objection overruled. Let's hear the answer to that, and then we can discuss whether it's proper to group everything, or to what extent every year has to be examined individually.
A I think the process was pretty much the same. The only thing I could think of off the top of may head was that I think the December 2015 return -- return. Financial statement -- the trustees were in place by the time the statement got released in -- no. One year, the trustees took over. That would have been the 2016 statement, probably.

Q So that I'm understanding correctly, the process generally remained the same, but at some point the trustees of the Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust became responsible for the statement?

A They were the one that signed the engagement letter and the representation lever.

Q Can I ask, did the obligations of Mazars in compiling this financial statement change in any significant way, from 2011 to 2020?

A No, sir.
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallace

Page 190
A Yes, we did.
Q Okay. For each Statement of Financial Condition engagement from 2011 to 2020, would the final version of the supporting data spreadsheet tie out to the final Statement of Financial Condition?

A Yes, it did.
Q And for each year for -- as of June 30 year, from 2011 to 2020, did Mazars require a signed representation letter from the Trump Organization in order to issue the Statement of Financial Condition?

A It would have been signed by Trump Organization. Like I said, it may have been signed by the trustees, in the later years.

Q Okay. But in each year, you would have required a representation letter in order to release the statement?

A Yes, we did.
Q And for each statement from 2011 to 2020, did Mazars receive a signed representation letter from the Trump Organization?

A Yes, we did. Or the trustees.
Q Or the trustees. We can go through the document in detail, now.

MR. WALLACE: So, could we please put up, on the -- well no.

1 Thank you, sir.
Q If you look at the top, it says: Weisselberg. right there, okay.

A Yes.

THE COURT: Understood. Overruled.
"This letter correctly sets for the understanding of the trustees on behalf of Donald J. Trump."
Do you know what trustees that's referring to?
A The trustees would have been Donald, Jr. and Mr.
Q What trusts were they the trustees of?
A Exact name, I think it's the Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust as of 2014, but, I'm not sure. It says it

Q So, I'll, just for the record, underneath Mr.
Weisselberg's signature, it states: "Trustee, Donald J. Trump, Revocable Trust dated April 7, 2014, as amended."

That's the trust you understood?

Q Do you have an understanding of why Mr. Weisselberg is now signing this on behalf of a trust?

A He's signing on behalf of both, Executive Vice President of Trump Organization and as trustee.
Q So, why is it now the trust that's involved?
A Because Mr. Trump was now President and a significant portion of his assets were put into holding companies that we discussed yesterday and were all "position" in the highlight, should that have been condition or is there a reason that it's a different word being used?

THE WITNESS: I think it's a mistake but I'd have to check. Good catch.

THE COURT: You don't have to check. I think it's a mistake.

THE WITNESS: It's still a good catch.
Q We'll go through a little more of this. It might be easier to read up here. The next paragraph states: "We'll also provide other accounting services, as necessary, to obtain sufficient accounting records from which to prepare a statement. The performance of these additional accounting services does not alter the fact that you are responsible for the content of the financial statement, including the estimated current value of assets and"-- "the estimated current value of liabilities."

Do you have a recollection of what is being referred to in the "other accounting services, as necessary?"
A Anything-- the example I gave yesterday is we may assist with a few footnotes or something.

Q Any assistance you provided did not change the nature of the work that Mazars was responsible for; is that correct?

A Yes, that's correct.
Q If we scroll down to the number paragraphs below.

Page 212

transferred all into the trust.

Q

T
Q If we can go back to the top of this document?
A I would say the trust and the Trump Organization.
Q If we look at the second paragraph, it states: "We will prepare the statement of financial position of Donald J.
Trump and the related notes to the financial statement and perform compilation engagement with respect to this financial statement."

Do you have an understanding of why the language has changed in this engagement letter from prior years?

A I don't recall.
Q Does the nature of the work that you were performing on behalf -- strike that question.

Is the nature of the work you were preparingstrike that question.

Is the nature of the work you were performing in compiling Statements of Financial Condition changed in any way?
A No, except now some of the assets are in a trust but the statement included the assets of Donald J. Trump through his Revocable Trust.

THE COURT: I have a question. The word

Bender - Direct/Wallace
Page 214
Paragraph number one states -- well, I'll read the introduction.
"The objective of our engagement is, one, prepare a financial statement in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America based on information provided by you."

Who, again, is the "you" in that sentence?
A The Trump Organization and the trustees.
Q Who is responsible for preparing the statement in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America?
A The Trump Organization and the trustees.
Q If you look at the next one, number two, it says: "Apply accounting and financial reporting expertise to assist you in the presentation of the financial statement without undertaking to obtain or provide any assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statement in order for it to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America."

Is that consistent with the practice Mazars would have followed in prior years?

A I'd have to compare the two but, I believe, yes. It would be consistent with our practice.
Q So, separate and apart from the language, the

D. Bender - Direct/Wallace

practice would remain the same?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Please, scroll down to the bottom paragraph. It states: "We're not required to, and will not, verify the accuracy or completeness of the information you will provide to us for the engagement or otherwise gather evidence for the purpose of expressing an opinion or a conclusion.
Accordingly, we will not express an opinion or a conclusion nor provide any assurance on the financial statement."

Why would Mazars not verify the accuracy or completeness of any information provided?
A You don't do those types of procedure in a compilation. That is what we're being asked to perform.
Q If you look at the paragraph that it's in italics, underneath the statement "our accountant's compilation report is expected to include" -- I won't read it into the record. I'll give you a minute to just look at it.
A Just the first paragraph?
Q First two. Actually, the one that starts: "The accompanying Statement of Financial Condition." So, what's being reflected in these paragraphs?
A These are basically the GAAP exceptions we discussed yesterday and that GAAP is- the accompanying statement does not reflect above-noted items.
Q Who was responsible for determining what exceptions to GAAP will be in the Statements of Financial Condition?
A Trump Organization.
Q If you look at the next paragraph, I will read that one into the record. It says: "Further, our report will include the following: Because the significance and pervasiveness of the matters discussed above make it difficult to assess their impact on the Statements of Financial Condition, users of this personal financial statement should recognize that they might reach different conclusions about the financial condition of Donald J. Trump if they had access to a revised Statement of Financial Condition prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America."

I'd like to direct your attention to the phrase "users of this personal financial statement should recognize that they might reach different conclusions." The reason for those different conclusions -- what's the basis for the different conclusions a user might reach?
A Because if you didn't have these GAAP exceptions, 20 these financial statements would be presented in a different 21 format.

in the beginning.
Q So, who is responsible for this paragraph?
A The Trump Organization and trustees.
Q Do you understand what is meant by inclusion of all informative disclosures?

A Generally, they include notes to financial statements.
Q So, the actual text of what's contained in that financial statement?
A Yes.
Q Look at item number 25. It states: "Compliance with the laws and regulations applicable to its activities." Do you know who the "its" is in this?
A The Trump Organization and the trustees.

Q Look at the next item number six. It states: "The accuracy and completeness of the records, documents, explanations, and other information, including significant judgments you provide us for the engagement."

Why is this item included?
A Because the parties we discussed are responsible for the accuracy of the compilation of records, documents, explanations, and other significant items and judgments.

MR. KISE: Just -- go ahead. Sorry. I just have a housekeeping question.

THE COURT: Overruled on Statute of Limitations. What's the housekeeping question?

MR. KISE: Maybe it's me. I want to make sure there's-- it looks like there's two copies of the Statement of Financial Condition, one redline and the other is very thick. So, I'm just.

MR. WALLACE: I can ask, maybe, Mr. Bender if he understands it and, if not, I can make a proffer on something.

MR. KISE: That's fine.
Q So, I believe your testimony was -- I think you said that this was information that was provided to you by the Trump Organization in connection with the preparation of Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition; is that correct? A Yes.

Q Item seven states: "To provide us with access to all information of which you are aware is relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements such as records, documentation, and other matters."

What's encompassed within information that is relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements?
A Any information that they know or documents that they know pertaining to the financial statement.
Q If there was a document that related to the value of the asset but they weren't using it for their specific form valuation, would you still expect that to be shared?
A Yes, I would.
Q Mr. Bender, you've been handed a document that has been marked as plaintiff's Exhibit 3003. Do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is it?
A This is certain data that was sent to us from the Trump Organization for the preparation of the June 30, 2016, compilation of Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we ask this document be entered into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Objection. Statute of Limitations.

A Yes.
Q Did you understand that he reported Mr. McConney I?
A Yes, I believe he did.
Q So, I think we recognize the name of the first attachment. What is that one?
A Jeff Supporting Data.
Q We can go through it, but, I believe there's two file names separated by semicolons. Ill attempt to read them into the record.

The first one states: "SOFC 02-17-2017 VPB 2.17 .17 clean.doc," and the second file states: "SOFC 2.17. 2017 VPB 2.17.17.doc."

Do you have an understanding of what those two files are?
A I can guess. I'm not sure.
Q Based on your experience of working with Mr. Birney?
A I can't-- I can make a guess but not based on working with Mr. Birney.
Q What was your guess?
A I'm guessing--
MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Sustained. Not allowed to have speculation.

Q Do you have an understanding of what a clean document means?

A I'm thinking that it's a document that they want us to use for -- as their version of the typed financial statement. It appears they typed the financial statements themselves, this time.

Q And there are two files that are dot doc files, that are SOFC 21717.

If you take a look at the list underneath, Mr. Birney writes, "Bender, see attached. Item six is Word document, clean. Item seven is Word document, track changes."

Based on that language, do you have any understanding of what the files are, that are included?

A It just appears to me that one of them would be the document that we just spoke, and one of them would track changes, but I would have to review.

Q I'm happy to move on from this. It's not actually relevant to the questions I was asking about the --

MR. ROBERT: I just want to be clear, your Honor.
Are you moving in the attachments, too? Or just the covering email?

MR. WALLACE: The full document. The document comes with the attachments.

MR. ROBERT: Okay. So, then our objection was including the attachments that you moved in, as one piece?
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallace Page 224

MR. WALLACE: Let's pull up Exhibit 742.
Q Mr. Bender, you have been handed a document that was marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 742. It's a pull sheet for a document that was produced as an Excel file. We have put a copy of that Excel file up on the screen, here. Let me ask, do you recognize this document?

A Yes, I do.
Q And what is this document?
A This is the file from Mazars' binder for the Statement of Financial Condition compilation of Donald J. Trump, as of June 30, 2016.

Q And what do the letters PBC stand for?
A Prepared by client.
$Q$ And what was the use of this table?
A This was our control to tie into the statement of -the compilation of the Statement of Financial Condition for Mr. Trump, as of June 30, 2016.

MR. WALLACE: If we could --
Q I'll just ask you this: The systems you described for preparing this document, did they operate the same way in 2016 as what we discussed in 2011?

I can clarify the question.
A At some point, they started putting stuff into a portal. I don't think it was this early, but the systems would have been the same, except for that.
which people at the Trump Organization would send you documents, the Statement of Financial Condition, changed, but there was no change to how you prepared this document?

A The last document you gave me was 2016, also.
Q Correct.
A So, yes. So, the stuff would have been -- the same process would have on the statement, as before.

MR. ROBERT: To the extent Mr. Wallace is going it move this document in, we object on statute of limitations, and I also object, it was a leading question.

THE COURT: Do you want to withdraw it?
MR. WALLACE: No, I don't want to withdraw the question. I was just going to say, this is the electronic version of an attachment of the document that was already entered into evidence, over Mr. Robert's objection.

MR. ROBERT: I thought, because you identified it as a separate exhibit number, it wasn't.

MR. WALLACE: No, I didn't. This was the same exhibit number.

MR. ROBERT: It's the same exhibit number?
MR. WALLACE: Different file name.
MR. ROBERT: Then I still have the objection to the leading question, your Honor.

MR. WALLACE: I would say that the leading marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 2587. This is a document that was produced as an Excel file, so l've put a copy of the Excel file that was produced up on the screen. Do you recognize this document - let me introduce -- this document has been produced with, and is listed on plaintiff's exhibit list, as a file name of 4100.01 Cash Balances as of 6/30/16 - final VPB 2.17.17.XLS.XLS.

Do you recognize this document?
A Yes. This is the Excel file for the cash and short-term investments for the compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2016.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we would ask that this document be marked into evidence.
MR. ROBERT: Objection. Statute of limitations.
THE COURT: Overruled.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 2587 was received in evidence.)
Q Again, what does the red letters at the top say, PBC, what do those indicate?

A Prepared by client.
Q And what would you do with this table?
A It would -- the bottom total should hopefully tie into the Jeff Supporting Data.

Q Okay. So this is the support for the number on the document we were just looking at?

A Yes, sir.
Q If we look at the lettering in blue, on row one, it states, "Per discussion with J. McConney, 2.717, cash balances are from bank reconciliations and not individual balance sheets."

Can you just tell me, what does that mean?
A I'm not 100 percent sure, today.
Q Do you recall if Mr. McConney was still involved in the preparation of the Statement of Financial Condition, as of February 27, 2017?

A He was involved with the compilation for the Statement of Financial Condition of Donald J. Trump as of June 30th, 2016. I don't know if you said '16 or '17.

Q So, just to clarify, this is a discussion that happened in 2017, but it's for the as-of-June 30, 2016 statement?

A It appears to be so, yes.
Q Do you have a recollection as to why work on the as-of-June 30, 2016 statement was happening in 2017?

A I have a general recollection.
Q What's your general recollection?
A I think things -- Mr. Trump became president, and things were a little crazy.

Q Okay.
A For the Trump Organization.

Q If we go down to rows 69 through 72, I just want to direct your attention to -- there's two red arrows -- let me start by staying, we are on row 69. There's two red arrows. One going up, and one going down, and they each go into a red line. What is indicated by that symbol?

A I believe, and I would have to double check, I believe that it was footed. Added done.

Q So, someone has confirmed that the formula that's operating there, it had been prepared correctly?

A Somebody would have taken the --

MR. WALLACE: I think we are done with this document, if that's a good time to break, your Honor.

THE COURT: I don't allow breaks longer than 10 minutes, but we are going to have 15 minutes to have the 10 -minute break. So, please be back at 11:45, everyone. MR. WALLACE: Thank you.
(Whereupon, a recess was taken.)
HE COURT: You know, for various reasons, I want to run a tight ship. It seems like I'm going to have to be a little firmer in these the timing of these breaks. I said -- another example of lame humor -- we'll take a

| 1 | 10-minute break, but you can have 15 minutes. Maybe you | 1 |
| ---: | :---: | :---: |
| 2 | could push that to 20, but I'm starting in 20 minutes. If | 2 |
| 3 | I say we are talking a 10-minute break in 15 minutes, and | 3 |
| 4 | if you are not here, I'm starting anyway. So, please be | 4 |

| 8 | Ms. Habba. | 8 |
| 9 | 10-minute break, at most 20 minutes. | 9 |
| 10 | All right. Let's continue. | 10 |
| 11 | Before we do, I looked at Kulak, the case that I | 11 |
| 12 | mentioned before, very closely. Kulak versus Nationwide, | 12 |
| 13 | 40 N.Y.2d 140, and at page $145--$ depends which version -- | 13 |
| 14 | the Court of Appeals makes clear, not just that continuing | 14 |
| 15 | objections can be made, but they don't even have to be | 15 |
| 16 | made. | 16 |
| 17 | Quote, "The objection, thus clearly made and | 17 |
| 18 | overruled, served as a continuing objection, and made it | 18 |
| 19 | unnecessary to challenge other improper evidence," close | 19 |
| 20 | quote. | 20 |
| 21 | The next sentence says, quote, "Although | 21 |
| 22 | objection was not made to every question during this line | 22 |
| 23 | of testimony, the objections were," internal quote, "Were | 23 |
| 24 | sufficient to cover the whole of the material accepted as | 24 |
| 25 | evidence." | 25 |

So, I beg to differ with the advice that the defendants received. You can make continuing objections, and you can just object, and it's understood that that will cover the exact or similar, same situations.

MR. KISE: Just looking a this, your Honor, briefly, and I didn't get to look at it on the break, even though it was a long break, but just pulling it up now, I think this goes - and I've sent it off to our folks. I think this goes to what I said yesterday, the difference between testimony and documents. This case relates, I think, from what I'm seeing more, to testimony, and that's why with Mr. Bender, we have made one blanket objection as to testimony, which is sufficient. But, I don't know that that covers us with documents.

But, I can assure you, to the extent that I don't -- and Mr. Robert, so we don't have to keep standing up and down -- if we can come up with a way to satisfy our side, we would do that. I just think this is testimony and not documents, because it speaks to, defendant objected only to the first of three hypothetical questions. The last hypothetical question -- the first three hypothetical questions addressed to the first expert, it was not error to admit, into evidence, testimony as to the possibility of adequate representation. I think that's the distinction that we are drawing here, as I did yesterday, I mentioned that. But we will continue to look into it, to save all of us the --

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I can, also, though -I think we have offered to -- the parties exchanged exhibit lists that contained the information. If they want to do a list that specifies the document to which they object, based on statute of limitations ground and timing, just that, and your Honor can rule on the list, regardless of whether or not -- and then they can preserve their objections that way, we would be happy to do something along those lines.

MR. KISE: We'll look at that as well, your Honor. Anything to expedite these process, I can assure you.

THE COURT: As I said much earlier, Mr. Kise and everyone at defense table, I'll let you do what you feel like you need to do.

MR. KISE: Understood and appreciated. But we'll streamline it, as much as we possibly can.

THE COURT: And by the way, I didn't read the exception into this that you are reading into it, but you know, reasonable minds can differ. Okay.

I hope he is closer, this time.
(Whereupon, the witness resumed the witness stand.)
D. Bender - Direct by Mr. Wallace

THE COURT: Please proceed.

BY MR. WALLACE:

Q We have three minutes of good morning left, Mr. Bender, so good morning, again.

MR. WALLACE: I would like to offer the witness a new document.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q Mr. Bender, you are being handed a document that has been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 756. Can you just take a moment to look through this document?

THE COURT: And while he is looking, F 11 ask the court officer to hand a copy of the Kulak case to the defense table, for their convenience.

MR. KISE: Thank you.
Q Mr. Bender, do you recognize this document? A Yes, I do.
Q And what is this document?
A This is the compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition, as of June 30, 2016.

Q And does this appear to be the final version? A Yes, it does.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we ask that this document be moved into evidence.

| 1 | MR. ROBERT: Objection. Statute of limitations. |  |
| ---: | :---: | :---: |
| 2 | THE COURT: This, the date of this -- I'm |  |
| 3 | speaking to the expert here. The date of this document is |  |
| 4 | after the limitations period had started, if we can call it |  |
| 5 | that; right? |  |
| 6 | MR. ROBERT: Correct. The limitations period, in |  |
| 7 | our view, is from February 6, 2016, so what is contained in |  |
| 8 | here, and the work product that's within here, to protect |  |
| 9 | our record, we believe that that would be barred by the |  |
| 10 | statute of limitations as for those defendants not bound by | 1 |
| 11 | the tolling agreement. |  |
| 12 | THE COURT: And what if it was $2017 ?$ | 11 |
| 13 | MR. ROBERT: It gets a little more complicated | 13 |
| 14 | there, because sometimes, especially on the McConney | 14 |
| 15 | spreadsheets, you will see that they have two years' worth | 15 |
| 16 | of information on a spreadsheet the year before, in that | 16 |
| 17 | year. That's why we have to take them one document at a | 17 |
| 18 | time, just to make sure we are preserving our position and | 18 |
| 19 | not waiving that we feel, for those defendants not bound by | 19 |
| 20 | the tolling agreement: Anything that happened prior to | 20 |
| 21 | February 6th of 2016, is out. |  |
| 22 | THE COURT: Overruled. | 21 |

holding companies. These two holdings companies are owned by the Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust, dated April 7, 2014, as amended, (The Trust). Prior to Mr. Trump being sworn in as President of the United States of America on January 20, 2017, he transferred a significant portion of his remaining assets and liabilities, including certain entities, to either the trust, or entities owned by the trust."
"The accompanying Statements of Financial Condition consists of the assets and liabilities of Donald J. Trump, including the assets and liabilities of the trust."

So, just to reorient, this is the trust process that you speak about earlier this morning?

A I'm not sure what you mean by that?
Q Okay. You are not sure --
A What you mean by that question.
Q You said that at some point trustees took over the responsibility for the preparation of the Statement of Financial Condition. This is the trust that the trustees were operating on behalf of --

A Yes, it was.
Q Okay. So, if we look at the next full paragraph, it states that, "Assets are stated at their estimated current values, and liabilities at their estimated current amounts, using various valuation methods."

So who is responsible for making sure that assets are

1 the defendants are entitled to lie about events that happened in 2014, in ' 17 and so that the statute of limitations isn't applicable, or the statute of limitations period certainly encompasses this document, but I will move on.

And so I take it this document has now been entered into evidence?

THE COURT: Yes. It's now in evidence.
MR. WALLACE: Thank you.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 756 was received in evidence.)
Q Mr. Bender --
MR. WALLACE: If we could pull up page three of the document. It's the one that has the production number 1985.

Q Just please reorient us. What portion of the Statement of Financial Condition is this section?

A

Q And just to clarify, I'll leave the record here, under the heading, Basis of Presentation it states, "Prior to June 30, 2016, Donald J. Trump transferred certain of his assets and liabilities, including certain entities that he owned, to two stated at their estimated current values?
A The Trump Organization, and the trustees.
Q Okay. So, if we could just flip to the page five of this report, it's the production number that ends 1987, if we look at the second paragraph, it states, "The estimated current value of 600 million -- $$ 631$ million, is based on an evaluation by the trustees in conjunction with their associates and outside professionals, applying a capitalization rate to the cash flow to be derived from building operations."

So, who is responsible for deciding to use this technique, to value Trump Tower?

A Trustees, in conjunction with their associates and outside professionals.

Q And did Mazars undertake any procedures to determine if that was an appropriate means of valuing Trump Tower?

A No, we did not.
Q And did Mazars undertake any accounting procedures to determine if the 631 million number was accurate?

A Say the question again, please?
Q Did Mazars undertake any accounting procedures to determine if the $$ 631$ million number was accurate?

A Anything that -- I would have to see the Jeff Supporting schedule, to see if we footed any other, or if we did any other work.

Q But would you have undertaken any kind of audit or

| 3 THE COURT: Please keep your voice nice and | 3 MR. KISE: Objection. Which year? |
| 4 loud. | 4 THE COURT: I may be second-guessing myself but |
| 5 THE WITNESS: I apologize. My throat is -- | 5 I think he can ask if it was done, and, you can |

| 1 presentation inaccurate? | 1 A I recently saw that we had those appraisals appear |
| 2 A Because they were not giving us all the documents |  |
| 3 that we needed, potentially, to compile the compilation. |  |
| 4 Q So, had you made inquiries for those documents? |  |
| 5 A In many, yes, I did. Yes. |  |
| 6 MR. KISE: Objection. Which documents? He's |  |
| 7 testified he's not sure which year it was. So, which |  |
| 8 documents are we talking about? |  |
| 9 THE COURT: Sustained. |  |
| 10 MR. KISE: What year? When? When - |  |
| 11 THE COURT: Sustained. I think we need to be a |  |
| 12 little more particular. |  |
| 13 Q Mr. Bender, you testified that the Trump Organization |  |
| 14 was not giving us all the documents that we needed to |  |
| 15 potentially compile the compilation. What documents are you |  |
| 16 referring to? |  |
| 17 A There were certain appraisals out there for a number | 17 Q Again, you don't remember exactly when that practice |
| 18 of years. | 18 started? |
| 19 Q Do you remember, specifically, which years? | 19 A No, but, I did see that the appraisal appeared |
| 20 A Not all years off the top of my head, no. | 20 around 2013. |
| 21 Q Do you remember some of the years, off the top of | 21 Q You've seen an appraisal dated 2013 that conforms to |
| 22 your head? | 22 what your memory is? |
| 23 A I think it was ' 15,16 , something like that but I'd | 23 A I saw appraisals in the 2013, the binder for the |
| 24 have to double check. | 24 compilation for the year, as of June 30, 2016. |
| 25 Q So, you made inquiries for appraisals to the Trump | 25 Q What did you do when you learned that there were | ## appraisals that had not been given to you?

A What did I do?
Q Yes.
MR. KISE: Objection. The timeframe. Back to timeframe. Objection.

MR. WALLACE: He identified the timeframe as during a meeting with the New York District Attorney's Office.

MR. KISE: Is that a timeframe? He said some timeframe but then it was unclear as to which --I just want the record to be clear.

THE COURT: We all do.
Q Do you remember when?
THE COURT: Hold on a second. Let's start with: Can you remember a specific time when you reacted to this realization.
Q Can you answer the question from the Judge?
A It was my first meeting with a Zoom meeting with the District Attorney of the State of New York.
THE COURT: You remember, roughly, when that meeting was?

THE WITNESS: Not off the top of my head.
THE COURT: Can you approximate from point of view of more than speculation but less than certainty?

THE WITNESS: I would say about three years ago, during COVID. Yeah, it was during COVID but, yes, the late part. Wasn't the first year of COVID.

Page 248
Q Did you do anything after you learned from that meeting with the District Attorney's Office that there were appraisals you'd not been given?
A I was not personally involved in any of those matters. It wasn't handled by me.
Q Were you still working on the compilation for Donald
J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition at the time you learned that information?
A No, we did not. So, it had to be after 2020. The date would have to be after June 30, 2020, was, I believe, the last compilation we did.
Q Did you have any conversations with Mr. McConney after you learned this information from the District Attorney's Office?
A Pertaining to that matter?
Q Correct.
A No, I did not.
Q You had conversations with him on other matters?
A Yes. Let me go back.
THE WITNESS: It would have been early part of '21, your Honor.

THE COURT: Just finish the sentence.
A Would be the early part of the ' 21 that we had the Zoom meeting with DANY.

Q Meaning the District Attorney's Office of New York County?
A Somebody taught me this.
THE COURT: DANY.
THE WITNESS: Somebody taught me this. I'm sorry.
Q Mr. Bender, in any given year where you asked for appraisals you were not given -- let me withdraw that question.

THE COURT: He's a quick learner.
Q Mr. Bender, would Mazars have issued Statements of Financial Condition-- without reference to a specific year but, if Mazars learned that the Trump Organization had not provided all appraisals, would you have issued the Statement of Financial Condition?

MR. KISE: Objection. Back to which year?
THE COURT: Overruled. Again, I may be second-guessing myself but you can ask if it was ever done. I don't see a problem with that.

MR. KISE: Which years did he not receive the appraisals? Which years is the government asking him which statements wouldn't have been produced? I mean, there are some years where there might not have been any appraisals provided and some years were there were appraisals provided but what the government is doing is mashing it all together and saying, in those years that you didn't get appraisals, would you have issued the statements, but, that doesn't speak to the direct point which they have to establish that it was a specific year or a specific appraisal not provided in connection with a specific statement.

Not generally, over a ten-year period, whether appraisals you didn't receive and did that then -- what the --

MR. WALLACE: How would the witness know if he didn't receive an appraisal, apart for the ones shown by DANY?

MR. KISE: According to his testimony, he was told by the District Attorney of New York when he didn't receive it. So, if the witness can recall which years that related to and he can recount what he would have done or not have done, based on information he would have received in that particular year, fine; but, if it's no, he can't just speculate generally about --

MR. WALLACE: You're arguing in front of the Judge now.

THE COURT: He is allowed to. Overruled.
MR. WALLACE: Can we go back to --
THE COURT: Subject to the cross-examination.

Mr. Bender, do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is this document?
A This is the engagement letter compiling the Statements of Financial Condition of Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2018.

Q If you take a look at the bottom of this document, do you recognize that signature?

A Yes, I do.
Q Whose signature is it?
A Allen Weisselberg's.
Q In what capacity is Mr. Weisselberg signing this letter?

A Executive Vice President of the Trump Organization and Trustee of Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust.

MR. WALLACE: We ask this document be entered into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q Mr. Bender, you've been handed a document that's marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 774. It's a pull sheet for a document that was produced as an Excel file. We've put a copy of the Excel file on the screen here.

Do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
$Q \quad$ What is this document?
A It's the Jeff Supporting Data for the Statements of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2018.
$Q$ The initials, again, PBC in red at the top, what do those mean?

A Prepared by client.
Q We haven't seen these symbols before, but, next to number $$ 76$ million on line 12 are the letters PY. Do you know what the letters indicate?

A Prior year.
Q The next cel lists the number of $76,200,000$, says $F S$.
What does that indicate?
A Financial statement.
$Q$ What is being indicated by the fact that is the financial statement?

A It agrees to the financial statement.
$Q$ So, that you've confirmed that the number that is marked there is $76,200,000$ is in the final Statement of Financial Condition?

A I don't like the word confirm. I'll say check, cross-reference.

Q You've cross-referenced?
A Yes.

Q Mr. Bender, you have been handed a document that is marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 773. I'll give you a few moments to look through the document.

Mr. Bender, do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is it?

A Yes, it does.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we would ask that this document be moved into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 773 was received in evidence.)
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q Mr. Bender, you have been handed a document that has been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 772. Have you had a chance to look at this document?

A Yes, I have.
Q And what is this document?
A This is a letter of representation for the compilation

A No, I did not.
Q After the time that you disengaged from the Trump engagement, did you have any personal contact with Donald J. Trump?

A No, I did not.
Q Before seeing him in the courtroom the last two days, when was the last time you saw Donald J. Trump in person?

A It was before Covid. It was December, 2019.
Q And do you remember in what context that was?
A Yes. Ms. Trump had invited by son to a Christmas party for children, to make ornaments, and I had to get some papers signed by Mr. and Ms. Trump.

Q Since that meeting, did you have any conversations with Mr. Trump?
A No, I have not.
Q Did you have any conversations with Mr. Trump about the decision by Mazars to end the engagement with the Trump Organization?

A No, I did not.
Q Did you have any in-person meetings with Mr. Trump about the decision by Mazars to end to the relationship with the Trump Organization?

A No, I did not.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we reserve our right to testimony. We have no more questions at this time, of Mr. Bender.

THE COURT: Mr. Kise, do you want five minutes to cross exam?

MR. KISE: Do we want to -- just, probably better
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we would ask that this document be entered into evidence?

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 855 was received in evidence.)
Q And Mr. Bender, would Mazars have issued the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition if Mr. Weisselberg and Mr. Trump did not offer these representations?

A No, we would not have.
Q Would Mazars have issued the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition if it knew that any representations contained in this letter were false?

A No, we would not have.
Q Mr. Bender, did you work on Statements of Financial Condition for Mr. Trump in any later years?

A No, we did not.
Q Why not?
A Mazars disengaged from the Trump Organization.
Q And did you have any involvement in the decision to disengage from the Trump engagement?

Page 268 to just take our break.

THE COURT: I thought you would say that. Give me one second.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Okay. We are going to resume at 2:15. Have a good lunch, everybody.
(Whereupon, a recess was taken.)
THE COURT: Welcome back, everyone.
This morning, one of the defendants posted, to a social media account, a disparaging, untrue and personally identifying post about a member of my staff. Although I have since order the post deleted, and apparently it was, it was also emailed out to millions of other recipients. Personal attacks on members of my court staff are unacceptable, inappropriate, and I will not tolerate them, under any circumstances. Yesterday, off the record, I warned counsel of this, and this was disregarded. My warning was disregarded.

Consider this statement a gag order forbidding all parties from posting, emailing, or speaking publicly about any members of my staff. Any failure to abide by this directive will result in serious sanctions. I hope I've been very clear.

Okay. Let's get Mr. Bender back.
MR. KISE: While we're waiting, Judge, I'll just observe, this will be better for me because I don't have to stand up and object when there's a document, since it's cross examination.

THE COURT: Are we up to cross?
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I'll take the opportunity to introduce myself. My name is Jesus Suarez. Thank you for admitting me, pro hac vice. I practice with Mr. Kise, in Florida.

THE COURT: Of course. I remember the application.

MR. SUAREZ: I don't speak as nicely as he does.
THE COURT: Well, almost nobody does, so --
MR. SUAREZ: Is my mike on? Now my mike is on.
THE COURT: Is he as good in the office as he is in court?

MR. SUAREZ: He is certainly as charming in the office as he is in court, but he almost never picks up lunch. I don't know what that's about.

| 2 | MR. KISE: You are forgetting all the dinners. |

| 6 | THE COURT: I'll remind the witness, as usual, |
| 7 | is still under oath. |
| 8 | THE WITNESS: Thank you. |
| 9 | THE COURT: Counsel, please proceed. |
| 10 | CROSS EXAMINATION |
| 11 | BY MR. BENDER: |
| 12 | Q Mr. Bender, good afternoon. |
| 13 | A Good afternoon. |
| 14 | Q We have met before? |
| 15 | A Good afternoon. |
| 16 | THE COURT: That's a question. Have you met |
| 17 | before? |
| 18 | Q We have met before. We met in April of 2023, when I |
| $19$ | took your deposition on behalf of the defendants. Do you |
| $2$ |  |
|  |  |
| 22 | Q Okay. Mr. Bender, you have been up here testifying |
| 23 | for the last day about the Statements of Financial Condition of |
| 24 | the 45th President of the United States. Is that correct? |
| 25 | A Yes, sir. |

Q And Mr. Bender, preparing the president's Statements of Financial Condition, that was a big job; wasn't it, Mr. Bender?

A It wasn't a big job. It was part of my normal engagement.

Q Part of your normal engagement, I see. In 2011 alone, the first Statement of Financial Condition that the Attorney General had you talk about, the president had over $$ 258$ million in cash, Mr. Bender. You don't think that's a significant engagement?

A No, sir.
Q Okay. The president had a company with a brand value of over $$ 10-$, maybe even $$ 20$ billion, Mr. Bender. That, for you, wasn't a significant engagement?

A No, sir.
Q Okay. Now, is that because you were the in-house accountant at the Trump Organization for over 30 years, Mr. Bender?

A I wasn't the in-house accountant.
Q Okay. So who was?
A The in-house accountant?
Q Yes.
A Mr. McConney, Mr. Weisselberg. They were the in-house accountants.

Q Mr. McConney. Mr. McConney worked with you at Spahr

Page 274
Lacher?
A Yes, he did.
Q May have been responsible for giving you the name Doc?
A He wasn't, but he kept it going.
Q Did they call you Doc because you were good at documented transactions? That was the Doc?

A No.
Q It's a cute nickname.
Was Mr. Weisselberg an accountant?
A He was an accountant.
Q Mr. Weisselberg is a CPA?
A No. He is not a CPA.
Q Mr. McConney is a CPA?
A No. Mr. McConney is not a CPA.
Q Okay. So who was the in-house accountant at the Trump Organization, Mr. Bender?

A Mr. Weisselberg, and his team.
Q All right. You did work for the Trump Organization for over 35 years; did you not, Mr. Bender?

A Excuse me?
Q You did work for the president and his company, the Trump Organization, for over 35 years?

A Approximately.
Q Approximately. In fact, you came to work with the Trump Organization through a gentlemen named Mr. Mitnick; didn't you?
A Mr. Mitnick was my boss.
Q Mr. Mitnick your boss at Spahr Lacher, where you started; right?
A Yes.
Q And ever since Spahr Lacher, more than 35 years ago, you have been doing work for the Trump Organization; have you not?
A Yes, sir.
Q Now, you have been a licensed certified public accountant for over 40 years; have you not, Mr. Bender?
A Yes. That would be correct, yes.
Q Over 40 years as a certified public accountant;
correct?
Correct, Mr. Bender?
A Yes.
Q And as a certified public accountant, you have got responsibilities to the public; right?
A I think that's fair.
Q If you put your signature on a document, that's a document that you know is going to go out to the world; is it not, Mr. Bender?
A Not necessarily.
Q All right. But as a certified public accountant, you are certainly in a position to put together financial statements that go out to the world; right, Mr. Bender?

A Out to the world. I think in some cases.
Q In some cases. In some cases. And in fact, you not only prepared financial statements for the president, you also prepared his tax returns; did you not, Mr. Bender?
A Yes, I did.
Q You prepared the tax returns of the 45th President of the United States?
A Yes, sir.
Q Possibly even the 47th President of the United States
Mr. Bender?
MR. WALLACE: Objection. Relevance.
THE COURT: Sustained.
Q It's a very serious thing, Mr. Bender, to have that responsibility, that level of trust, that you were the person that, for over 35 years, prepared the tax returns?
THE COURT: Asked and answered. Let's move on.
Q You also prepared the tax returns of other members of the Trump family; did you not?
A Yes, sir.
Q For over 35 years; did you not?
A No, sir.
Q For more than 30 years?
A No, sir.
Q For more than 20 years?

Q You also prepared the tax returns of other members of the Trump family; did you not?

A Yes, sir.
Q For over 35 years; did you not?
A No, sir.
Q For more than 30 years?
A No, sir.
Q For more than 20 years?

A I can't answer that.
Q You can't answer that. You can't remember the time when you started preparing tax returns for the first lady?

A The first lady?
Q The First Lady of United States, Ms. Trump?
A When they got married.
Q Oh, okay. When they got married.
And how about other members of the Trump family? Do you remember when you started preparing their tax returns?

A Not off the top of my head, no.
Q Did anyone other than you prepare President Trump's tax returns in the last 30 years, Mr. Bender?

A I'm not sure. I prepared them for 30 years. I would have to go back.

Q Do you have any issues with your memory, Mr. Bender?
A No, sir.
Q You also prepared tax returns for other entities that are ultimately owned by President Trump; did you not?

A Yes, sir.
Q Dozens of entities?
A More than that.
Q More than that. How many more than that, Mr. Bender?
A In a year, it could have been hundreds.
Q Hundreds. You prepared tax returns for hundreds of entities ultimately owned by Mr. Trump; did you not?

Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez
Page 278
A Yes, sir.
Q And in fact, you testified at your deposition, the last time we met, that many of those flowed up into President Trump's tax returns; did you not?

A Yes -- did I testify to that? I don't know if I testified to that.

Q Well, we can play the tape in a little while.
And isn't it the case, Mr. Bender, that you were a trusted adviser to the Trump Organization?

A I think that I was a trusted adviser. I would hope so.

Q That they consulted you whenever they opened a new entity?

A They did consult me quite often.
Q How often is quite often, Mr. Bender.
A They would usually check to see what type of entity it should be, a partnership or a corporation.

Q So they frequently consulted with you when they created a new entity?

A In that regard, yes.
Q And they frequently consulted with you as to where to put that entity in the corporate structure of the company; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q And they also consulted with you, for example, to file a new entity's tax documents, to get their EIN; right?

2 A No, sir.

A Yes, sir.
Q And in fact, President Trump and the Trump Organization were loyal clients of yours; were they not?

A I hope so.
Q In fact, they were so loyal to you, Mr. Bender, that in 2004, when the Securities and Exchange Commission censured Weiser, the Trump Organization let you keep their business; did they not?

A I have no knowledge about that.
Q You have no knowledge of the Securities and Exchange Commission censuring Weiser in 2004?

A I know there was something at one point. I don't remember when it was.

Q Do you recall that the SEC called Weiser's conduct highly unreasonable?

A I have no knowledge of that.
Q Do you recall if the SEC called Weiser's conduct improper professional conduct?

A I have no knowledge of that.
Q Do you recall if a gentlemen named Victor Wahba, at the time when he was at Weiser's, was also censured by the SEC?

A I don't remember exactly.
Q Who is Victor Wahba?
A He is the Chairman of Mazars.
Q Mazars?

A Yes. Mazars U.S.A.
Q And that's the accounting firm that you retired from recently; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And you later became a partner at Mazars; did you not?

A When the firm merged in. Yes, I did.
Q And the Trump Organization and President Trump had confidence in you to continue handling their business; did they not?

A When we merged?
Q Yes.
A I was not a partner in Mazars at that point.
Q When President Trump's business went to Mazars, you were no longer the partner in charge of his business?

A Say that again?
Q When President Trump transferred his business to the Mazars firm, you were no longer the partner in charge of his business?

A I was not the partner in charge at the time of the merger, no.

Q Who was the partner in charge?
A Jerry Rosenblum.
Q Mr. Wilson was the partner in charge of the relationship with the Trump Organization?

Page 282
A Rosenblum.
Q Rosenblum?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A May he rest in piece.
THE COURT: I don't know how we got from Wilson to Rosenblum.

MR. SUAREZ: My hearing.
Q When Weiser merged into Mazars, you continued to handle work for the Trump Organization; did you not?

A I continued to be on the account, yes.
Q Okay. And as you testified today and yesterday, you were one of the parties that signed the Statements of Financial Condition compilation reports every year; were you not?

A For a number of years, yes.
Q Okay. According to your testimony from at least 2011 to 2020, was that not the case?

A Yes. That's the case.
Q And during that period of time, President Trump's business was at least half of your billable work at the firm; was it not?
A Close to it, I would say.
Q Close to it. He was your single biggest client, in fact?

A Yes.

Q Okay. In 2021, did you compile the President's Statement of Financial Condition in 2021?

A I do not believe so. I wouldn't know who we consulted with in 2020.

Q In 2020, when you prepared President Trump's Statement of Financial Condition or-- excuse me. The compilation report to President Trump's Statement of Financial Condition, what authoritative literature did you review?

A I know we had the subject matter specialist and we discussed the -- any issues that were out there.
Q My question was a little bit different. My question was: What literature did you review, in connection with preparing the compilation report to the Statement of Financial Condition, for the leader of the free world?

A We have required check lists and I went through the required check lists that's required by Mazars.

Q Did you check any AICPA guidelines?
A I do not recall.
Q Did you check any notes or commentary for the accounting standards?

A I do not recall.
Q Did you read any literature concerning the applicable

| 25 Q Any other properties you can recall visiting? | 25 A No, sir. |

1 Q In fact, you were also invited to the Inaugural; were you not?

A I was invited after it was too late. They missed me. So, I was invited, so I couldn't-- I was not on the original list. I wasn't on the original list at the wedding. They missed me at the wedding. It was last minute.

Gerry Rosenblum, the predecessor partner, mentioned it to them. So, I was invited last minute to the wedding also.

A Yes, sir.
Q Because you need a general ledger to prepare a tax return; do you not?

A I think if the company has a general ledger, generally, you need a general ledger to prepare a tax return.

Q In the last 25 years that you worked with the Trump Organization, there wasn't any other accounting firm that was involved with preparing a Statement of Financial Condition compilation report, was there?

A There was. I don't know what year it was but Arthur Anderson was doing it for a number of years. I couldn't tell you what year.

Q Certainly, not between 2011 and 2020, right, Mr. Bender?

Q You were familiar with all the folks at the legal and accounting department of the Trump Organization?

A Significant portion, yes.
Q The People at the Trump Organization trusted you'd give them good advice; did they not?

A You'd have to ask them, but I'd hope so.
Q You'd hope so. In fact, you were often provided with an ability to give input on loan transactions even before they took place?

A That I don't recall right now, other than seeing some loan documents, certain pages of loan documents, as we previously stated.
Q Did you always read everything the folks over at the Trump Organization sent you?

A Everything the Trump Organization sent me, no.
Q In connection with preparing tax returns, you had access to ledgers, I trust?
A The Trump Organization supplied us with general ledgers.

Mr. Trump.

Q Which firms were those?
A McGladry or whatever they were called after they merged. There was a firm in California called Ludlow. Something like that. I don't know. A firm that did-- DH Properties Corp. in California. They had a number of firms that did golf courses over a number of years before we took them over.

A lot of them were McGladry over the years before we took them over and McGladry continued to do Mar-a-Lago. There was a gentleman who did some returns over the years, Matthew Dapolito and, obviously, some of the larger companies in the olden days. I don't remember timeframe. Arthur Anderson did some returns, and, Ian Wise did returns in the old days.

Q Okay --
MR. SUAREZ: Let's zoom back out, and keep going.
Q And here it's got the notes for the Statement of Financial Condition, and again, a reference to the independent accountant's compilation report. That's your report; correct, Mr. Bender?

Page 309
A Yes, sir.
MR. SUAREZ: Now, keep going all the way to the end of the document. This is the second to last page. Flip it over. Keep going, to the end of the document. Q And this would be the back page of the document; correct?

A That would be the back cover.
Q The back cover of this document. So, this document would be presented from front cover to back cover?

A Yes.
Q And the back cover, it's got -- what does it say down there? Www.weisermazers.com?

A Yes, sir.
Q So it's presented as a single document with the front and the back page?

A So, I can't speak for this individual year. In the older days, they were bound statements, and they would be bound. There would be a cover and a cover, and there would be the white pages that you have just shown me, would be in between. In later years, I don't know. In 2016, they may only have been PDF-ed.

Q Now, so this would all be bound, in other words?
A In the earlier years.
Q And in the later years, when it was an electronic document like this one that you identified previously, it would start with the WeiserMazars logo on its front page, it would have your compliation report, it would go through the financial statement and the notes, and then it would have this page; correct.

A I can't speak to the fact that they might have gotten hard copies in those years.

Q But the digital copy -- you would agree with me that this is a true and correct copy of the documents; correct? I think that's what you testified to earlier?

A Yes.
Q Yes it starts with a Mazars page, and ends with a Mazars page?

A Starts with a cover, the bound the cover. The cover, the statement, and it ends with a cover of the statement.

Q The documents all travel together. All the pages in this document travel together.

A Yes.
Q Nothing is missing?
A No, sir.
Q Let's take a look at engagement letter for this Statement of Financial Condition, which was PX 74 -- excuse me. PX 740. Yes.

MR. SUAREZ: Can we put those up next to each other?
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed

```
MR. WALLACE: Objection, your Honor.
"Any of this," is unclear.
THE COURT: Thank you.
Sustained.
Q You were the only certified public accountant that was involved in determining which exceptions to G.A.A.P. existed.
MR. WALLACE: Objection, your Honor. That wasn't his testimony.
THE COURT: I'm sorry. Say again?
MR. WALLACE: Im saying that determining which exceptions to G.A.A.P. existed was not Mr. Bender's testimony.
Q You were the only certified public accountant that was involved in 2016 in connection with the presentation of this engagement letter in determining which exceptions to G.A.A.P. existed?
```

MR. WALLACE: Same objection.  THE COURT: Overruled.

```
A I did not determine the G.A.A.P. exceptions. The Trump Organizations determined the G.A.A.P. --
Q The Trump Organization determined the G.A.A.P. exceptions, is your testimony, Mr. Bender?
A Yes.
Q Mr. Weisselberg? Is he the one who determined the G.A.A.P. exceptions?
```

A He is the ultimate one responsible.
Q Not my question. I didn't ask who is responsible. I asked who determined what G.A.A.P. exceptions applied?

A The Trump Organization.
Q What individual? The Trump Organization, we agree, is a corporate entity. It doesn't make determinations. It acts through people; right?

A Excuse me?
Q Trump Organization acts through people. Companies don't make decisions.

THE COURT: I'll take judicial notice that corporations and businesses generally have to act through their personnel. consulted with me.

Q You are a CPA?
A Yes, sir.
Q You were a CPA when you prepared this?
A Yes, sir.
Q Mr. Weisselberg was not a CPA?
A No, sir.

A He had the knowledge of speaking to us, if he had any questions.

Q And did you ever advise Mr. Weisselberg that there were any other disclosure that should have been included as departures from G.A.A.P.?

A Some of these ones, we did suggest to him.
Q You did? Which ones?
A We had discussions on, as I think I stated yesterday, about the G.A.A.P. exception for cash and marketable securities. When he made that change to the financial statement, we agreed it would have to be a G.A.A.P. exception.

Q You agreed that it was a G.A.A.P. exception?
A Yes, I did.
Q You recommended that it should be a G.A.A.P. exception?

Page 322
A I don't know if we recommended it. It could have been prepared, they prepared the statement without a G.A.A.P. exception.

Q It was changed to your satisfaction; was it not?
A The -- what was changed to my satisfaction?
Q The manner in which they presented it.
A With the G.A.A.P. exception, it met the -- it was appropriate.

wanted at the time -- there was a discussion --
MR. WALLACE: I would just like to note my objection, that if he could let the witness answer the questions before he starts the next question, we would appreciate it.

THE COURT: That is the proper way to proceed. MR. SUAREZ: I will try. I will do.
Q In fact, when you suggested other changes to the Trump Organization, when you had discussions about things that you believed were appropriate, they generally heeded your advice?

A I didn't suggest changes, but there was one other change that they -- they wanted -- they did, in the preparation of their financial statements that I recall, that would have required a G.A.A.P. exception, and there was a discussion about it.

Q There was a discussion about it?
A Yes.
Q So, when you raised an issue with the Trump Organization's compliance with G.A.A.P., there was a discussion about it?

A We talked to them about the G.A.A.P. exception. Yes, sir.

Q And it was resolved to your satisfaction?
A It was resolved to my satisfaction.
Q In fact, I believe yesterday you testified that

A We. Would not have issued a financial statement, if not resolved solved, to your satisfaction?
A Yes, sir.
MR. SUAREZ: Let's bring up the management representation letter from that same year, previously
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q Mr. Bender, who drafted this letter?
A Mazars.
Q Mazars prepared the management representation letter that's here on the screen?

A We drafted it. Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And you drafted it, because this is something that you wanted; correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q You wanted this piece of paper?
A Yes, sir.
Q And you are the one that put the words on the page here; correct?

A A member of Mazars. Yes.
Q A member of Mazars. And that would be a member of Mazars working under your supervision; would it not be?

A Yes.
Q And that member of Mazars working under your supervision, in the year 2017, would have typed out this letter?

A Somebody in typing would have typed it. Yes.
Q And it would have been sent over to the Trump Organization?
A Yes.
Q And you would have asked the Trump Organization to sign it?

A They would have reviewed it. If they had questions, they would have come back to us, and we would have discussed any issues on the draft that would be necessary, and if there was a change, we would discuss it.

Q Does this management representation letter that was prepared at your direction contain the word appraisal anywhere in it?

A I would have to read the whole letter.
Q Please read it. It was prepared at your direction.
THE COURT: Is there some way to short circuit him reading three pages?
MR. SUAREZ: They're his words, your Honor, and I'm asking -- I know --
Q The word appraisal, I don't believe, appears anywhere here, Mr. Bender; does it?

A I have to read the letter.
THE COURT: Does anybody think that the word appraisal appears in this letter?
Let's assume it doesn't.
Mr. Bender, are you comfortable with that?
THE WITNESS: I'm comfortable, your Honor.
THE COURT: We want you to be comfortable.
Q Nowhere in this letter does the Trump Organization warrant to you that it's given you every appraisal that they have.

A In item three, "We have made available to you all literally made your entire professional reputation, Mr.

Bender. Your entire identity was being the big accountant for the powerful Trump Organization for the President of the United States and you blew it.
MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: Sustained.
Q Let's get into 2017 then.
THE COURT: Two-minute warning.
Q PX-755 let's see what else. This is the compilation report for 2017, Mr. Bender. Mazars, that's your logo on the front page, right?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. It's not the Trump Organization logo?
A No, sir.
Q They're not the ones taking credit for this, you are?
A Mazars compiled the financial statement.
Q You know, Mr. Bender, what I think bears repeating for the Court. The Jeff spreadsheets weren't attached to this document that went between the two Mazars logos, right?
A No, sir.
Q No. It was just the Statement of Financial Condition and your compilation report, correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q And the notes?
A Notes are considered part of the accountant's -- notes are considered part of the Statement of Financial Condition.
Q The notes that are considered part of the Statement of Financial Condition are also discussed in your accountant's compilation report, correct?
A Repeat the question, please.
Q The notes that form part of a Statement of Financial Condition are also referenced in your independent accounting compilation report; are they not?

LISA M. DE CRESCENZO, LISA CASEY,  OFFICIAL COUURT REPORTERS

THE COURT: If this was Broadway, we'd be having a long rum here. I think we're getting the photographers.
(Photos taken.)
THE COURT: They do this every day. I mean, they look the same.

Is the defense going to recall Donald Bender?
MR. SUAREZ: Yes, sir.
THE COURT: It's a little confusing. There are two Donald's. Okay, let's get him in.

MR. SUAREZ: Good morning, your Honor.
THE COURT: Good morning.
MR. SUAREZ: I've taken heed to a request to speak more slowly today. I also understand that it's pronounced, in the great State of New York, triplex.

MR. KISE: In the south, it's just called apartment.

THE COURT: Chris, do you have triplexes down there?

MR. KISE: That's why it's called an apartment, no.

THE COURT: Welcome to New York City.
(Whereupon, the witness enters the courtroom.)
THE COURT: I'll remind the witness, as I always do, that he's still under oath.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, your Honor.

THE COURT: Counselor, whenever you're ready, please proceed.
CROSS-EXAMINATION (Cont'd)
BY MR. SUAREZ:
Q Mr. Bender, good morning.
A Good morning.
Q Yesterday we were taking a look at Plaintiffs Exhibit 758; and, I just wanted to thank you for acknowledging the mistake, the change in value of the triplex from 327 million to 116 million.

MR. SUAREZ: If you can please pull up the 2016 and 2017 Statements of Financial Condition.
Q I just wanted to walk you, Mr. Bender, through both statements, the June 30, 2016 statement, Plaintiff's Exhibit 756 with Mazars and WeiserMazars logo on the front page and then Plaintiff's Exhibit 755, which is the Statement of Financial Condition, Mazars USA logo on the bottom.

Mr. Bender, between 2016 and 2017, I take it,
Mazars stopped using the WeiserMazars and just started referring to Mazars?
A Yes, our name changed many times over the years.
Q If you can please go to the next page, on both documents. The 2016 Statement of Financial Condition was dated March 10, 2017; is that correct?
A Yes, sir.

|  | Bender - Cross/Suarez Page 346 |
| :---: | :---: |
|  | Q Just a few months later, in October of 2017, the same |
| 2 | year, the 2017 Statement of Financial Condition was issued. |
| 3 | Is that your signature there on October 30, |
| 4 | 2017? |
| 5 | A It's either mine or electronic copy thereof. |
| 6 | Q Okay. This was a particularly interesting year |
|  | because President Trump assumed the Presidency on January of |
| 8 | 2017, correct? |
| 9 | A Yes, sir. |
| 10 | Q And for that reason, there was an understandable |
| 11 | delay producing the compilation report for the 2016 Statement |
| 12 | of Financial Condition? |
| 13 | A You'd have to confirm that with the Trump |
| 14 | Organization. It was just a guess yesterday. |
| 15 | Q You would agree the Trump Organization, on its own, |
| 16 | changed the value of the triplex. It wasn't prompted by |
| 17 | anybody to do it? |
| 18 | A It wasn't prompted by Mazars. |
| 19 | Q Okay. Moving on. Did you have an opportunity last |
| 20 | night to speak to anybody about your testimony? |
| 21 | A I spoke to counsel last night. |
| 22 | Q Did you speak to anyone from the New York Attorney |
| 23 | General's Office? |
| 24 | A No, sir. |
| 25 | Q Did your counsel speak to anyone from the New York | agree.

MR. KISE: Thank you, Judge.
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, we're providing the Attorney General's Office a copy of an exhibit we're going to use solely for impeachment. It bears the Bates labeled Mazars DANY GJS 0003106, and, I'd like to ask Mr. Bender if he recognizes this document.

THE WITNESS: Are we finished with this one?
MR. SUAREZ: You can set that down.
THE WITNESS: Thank you. Thank you.
A Yes, I recognize it.
Q All right. You see this is a Weiser Engagement Continuance Form?
A Yes, sir.
Q What does this document represent?
A This is a part of our client acceptance process, client continuance process in this case.
Q This was for Statement of Financial Condition prepared June 30, 2011. You see on the right-hand corner date of financial statement?

A I guess so, yes.
Q Okay. Do you see where it says "partner"?
A Yes.
Q Is that your name, Donald Bender?
A Yes.

```
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez
Page 347
    Attorney General's Office?
    A You'd have to speak to them.
    Q Are you aware if your counsel spoke to anyone from the New York Attorney General's Office?
    A I don't recall any conversation with counsel last night.
    Q All right. Moving on. Yesterday --
        MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up the testimony from yesterday.
        Q We had a discussion about whether you were the relationship partner in charge of the Trump Organization when Weiser merged into Mazars, correct?
        A Yes, sir.
        Q You told me there was a gentleman named Gerry Rosenblum that was the partner in charge for a period of time?
    A For a number of years.
    Q Okay, for a number of years.
            MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up the 2011 engagement report.
            MR. KISE: Just to make a record observation.
        Sorry. I want to be clear, the fact they were pointing to documents that are in evidence now doesn't waive our objection as to the Statute of Limitations. I mean, we're working with the record as it exists.
            THE COURT: All right. I understand and I
```

D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

Page 349
Q Is Mr. Rosenblum's name on there? A No, sir.

MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up the 2012. Your Honor, I will move this document into evidence solely for impeachment purposes.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence solely for impeachment purposes.

MR. WALLACE: As we're evaluating whether this comes in for impeachment, what is the testimony this was impeaching? Can you give us a specific date?

THE COURT: And who was the partner?
MR. SUAREZ: At the time, Gerry Rosenblum.
MR. WALLACE: I wanted to see the date.
MR. SUAREZ: He said at the time of the Mazars transition and we'll move now to Mazar's years when Gerry Rosenblum --

MR. WALLACE: I'm not sure that it established how this impeaches his testimony.

MR. SUAREZ: Mr. Bender testified yesterday that at the time that Weiser merged into Mazars, Gerry Rosenblum was the partner in charge of the Trump Organization. The Engagement Continuance Reports showed that Mr. Bender is the only person listed as a partner in connection with the engagement in these reports for the Trump Organization.

MR. WALLACE: I guess I wasn't aware of when this merger was or what the date is and so how this is impeaching --

MR. SUAREZ: We're getting there. It's got Weiser. I'm showing 2012, which will show the dates that Mr. Bender is the only one on there. 2016 will show only Mr. Bender on there.

MR. WALLACE: I understand it's impeaching the statement at the time, I guess, of the merger. I'll confess for the record, I did not know when that merger occurred and why this document impeaches his prior testimony.

THE COURT: Just to give perspective on this, there's no jury here. I don't think it matters that much whether somebody was the lead partner or is not the lead partner, who signed it. I think it's easiest just to move on.

MR. WALLACE: I'm happy to move on. My objection is overruled, I guess, your Honor.

THE COURT: Take a hint.
MR. SUAREZ: This is now WeiserMazars engagement continuance report, your Honor; and, the Engagement Continuance Report that I would like to show the witness for impeachment purposes, relates to the financial statement dated June 30, 20127, and I'd like to ask the witness if he recognizes this document.
THE COURT: You're being asked if you recognize that document.

THE WITNESS: I don't have the document in front of me.
(Handing.)
A Thank you. Yes, I do.
Q Do you see who the partner that's listed for this engagement is?
A Yes.
Q You see where the client is?
A Yes, I do.
Q Who is the client?
A Donald J. Trump.
Q Who is the partner?
A Iam.
Q Okay. Does this refresh your recollection as to whether you or Mr. Rosenblum were in charge of the account at the time that Weiser merged into Mazars?
A Okay. So, to make everybody understand, Weiser has had five different names. We merged about 22 to 25 years ago. I think about 23 years ago. Our original name-- excuse me if I miss any- was MRWeiser then I think we became Weiser LLP, then we became WeiserMazars, and then we did Mazars USA.

It's all the same firm. We just changed our name and we merged about 23 years ago.
At that time we merged, I was a junior partner in the firm, and, Gerry Rosenblum was the senior partner at the firm.

Q At what time was Mr. Rosenblum the partner in charge of President Trump's account?
A I couldn't tell you -- it started, he was probably -- he was. I was not senior partner of the firm until 13, 14 years ago. He was still more the senior than me in the firm, but, I would say I probably took over somewhere about 20 years ago as the lead partner from -- I was still considered the lead partner on the account but he was the senior partner, and I was still junior partner in the firm.
Q You were the lead partner in the account and Mr. Rosenblum was senior to you?
A Mr. Rosenblum, when we merged, was senior partner and in charge of the account. A number of years later, he transferred a lot of the work to me, but, he was still senior partner, and I was junior partner of the firm.
Q But you were the partner in charge?
A We shared it together for a number of years, but, it was, you know, we co-shared the work.

Q You co-shared the client, but, to be sure, in 2011, Mr. Rosenblum wasn't your copartner on this engagement?
A No, sir.

Bender - Cross/Suarez

Page 353
Q Nor was he in 2012?
A No.
MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up 2016. Your Honor, I would move this into evidence for impeachment purposes solely.

THE COURT: The Attorney General just told me they have no objection.

MR. WALLACE: Certainly not on Statute of Limitations, your Honor.
Q Do you recognize this document, Mr. Bender?
A Can I see the original, please?
MR. SUAREZ: This document has been premarked by defendants as Exhibit 949.
Q The Mazars logo up top?
A Please let me read it.
Q Take your time.
A Thank you.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes, I do.
Q What is this document?
A This is the Engagement Continuance Form for the Trump Organization for 2016.
Q Okay. Who's the partner in charge here?
A Iam.
Q Who's the manager?

1 A Jennifer Safran.
2 Q Who's Jennifer Safran?
3 A My senior manager and later became partner.
4 Q Then she became your partner?
5 A Yes.
THE COURT: Counsels, let's have a real quick side-bar. As I like to call it, front bar.
(Side-bar discussion held off the record.)
Q Mr. Bender, in connection with this document, I'd just like to give you an opportunity to refresh your recollection. The page bearing Mazars DANY GKS 01201998. What you have in front of you.

Do you see that, 01998 ?
A Yes, sir.
MR. WALLACE: We want to note our objection is that he's refreshing his recollection for a document that he hasn't established that he doesn't have a recollection to be --

THE COURT: That is the rule. You can't refresh a recollection if the person doesn't recollect.
Q Mr. Bender, yesterday I asked you how many engagements the Trump Organization-- you had done for the Trump Organization over the years and you weren't quite sure if it was 11,000 or another number?

A Yes, sir.
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

Q I'd like to run through the WeiserMazars LLP work in process realization, by client, for the Trump Organization from January 1, 2016, to December 31, 2016, which starts on page one of sixteen.

I'd like you, Mr. Bender, to note the number of entities, different entities controlled by the Trump Organization that are listed here in the first page. I would ask you if these were all entities that you provided services for in the year 2016?

A These are all entities that Mazars provided services for. Some of them on this page might be independent condominium associations that were not controlled by the Trump Organization but these are all entities that were work that Mazars worked on or somebody worked on in 2016.

Q These were all grouped here January 11, 2017 DJT-1, Donald J. Trump, Bender.

That grouping would mean that these were all the entities that you considered were part of the client group for President Trump, correct?
A These are all clients that we considered as one billing group for accounting purposes.

Q As one billing group. You'd agree with me on this 23 page there's at least-- and by no means do I want to spend the 24 Court's time counting each of these, but, there's at least two 25 dozen entities on this page?

1 A That's fair.
2 Q Then I'd like to scroll through so the Court can see and see if we can refresh your recollection, Mr. Bender.

Over the first 16 pages, there's about two dozen entities on each page, maybe more. These were all entities that you and WeiserMazars provided accounting services for just in the year on 2016; is that correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q So, would you agree with me, roughly, that over, I don't know-- what's the math? Twenty-five, twenty-four entities per page, over 16 pages?
A Approximately.
Q Do you know what that math works out to?
A 203.
Q 203?
A Could be. I'm on my phone. Roughly, 200.
Q Roughly, 200 entities. All right, 200 entities in one year that you provided engagements for; is that correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q You provided work for the Trump Organization for a period of 30 years?

A Yes, sir.
Q Does that refresh your recollection as to how many separate individual engagements you may have undertaken for the Trump Organization?

Bender - Cross/Suarez
Page 357
A In the early years, I only worked on one engagement, Trump Equitable Fifth Avenue. I didn't work on these other engagements.

When Mr. Trump's business was strong, the number of entities that were being performed, I don't remember, somewhere between 50 to 100 entities a year.

So, I didn't work on earlier years. Earlier years most of these entities didn't exist.

Q So, in 2016 you did your work for over 200 entities --

MR. ROBERT: I'm having a difficult time hearing. I can't understand.

THE COURT: Mr. Bender, right into it. Slowly.
Q In the year 2016 there were, at least, over 200 entities that you were performing services for President Trump and the Trump Organization?
A Yes, sir. Including outside entities but he didn't control.
Q That were all grouped under --
A For billing purposes.
Q All right. We'll continue going through there all the way to page 16.

So, Mr. Bender, and the Court, can see all of the different entities that Mr. Bender provided work for grouped under President Trump's billing code. We can stop see who prepared it.

MR. WALLACE: At this point, can we note an objection to relevance. I'm not sure how this relates to any issue that needs to be decided in this case.

THE COURT: Offer of proof. What is this showing?

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, this is showing that Mr. Bender, who signed all 12 however many Statements of Financial Condition that were introduced by the Attorney General on Monday may not have seen or done all the work.

Just because it has his signature on it, doesn't mean that he's actually the person that prepared it.

MR. WALLACE: I believe he's already testified to that. So, I'm not sure how this is impeachment. It sounds like maybe he is trying to refresh his recollection about the details of engagement but I still fail to see the relevance.

THE COURT: I'll be charitable and let-- give him some latitude but I see the plaintiff's point.

MR. SUAREZ: All right.
THE COURT: Let me just say, I think you said just because it says it's from him, doesn't mean it's from him.

That's not his testimony, as I understand it. Just because it says it's from him, he wasn't the only person that worked on it. Is that correct, Mr. Bender?

D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

THE WITNESS: Yes, these forms would have been submitted in certain years to the Executive Committee. So, people could help me prepare. A partner doesn't normally do client acceptance continuance. There's staff that prepares these forms.

THE COURT: If it says it's from you, it's still from you?

THE WITNESS: The final responsibility is mine, your Honor.
$Q$ The final responsibility is yours?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, the final responsibility is yours. We got that. Okay.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I would ask to move in D-949 in evidence.

THE COURT: There's no objection. So, yes. It's in evidence.

MR. SUAREZ: 2017. Pull 2017, the Engagement Continuance Form, if we have it. We'll come back to that later. That's fine. Okay, let's pull up premarked Defendant's 27.
Q Do you see here what this document is, Mr. Bender, and we'll certainly give the Attorney General a copy.
A This copy -- can I have a paper copy, please? Yes,

    Q Do you recognize this document?
    A It appears to be an FASB.
    Q I think you would agree that the Statements of Financial Condition were prepared in accordance with ASC 274 ?
    A I would have to check with experts to see. I'm not an expert on these matters, so I would have to check.
    Somebody -- it's a matter that I'd reach out to inhouse experts on.
    Q So, whether ASC 274-- when determining whether ASC
    274 applies to the President's Statement of Financial Condition, that's a subject matter you'd have to check with an expert?
        A I'm not on top of these FASB's today in my

Q Do you see at the top where it says estimated current value, Mr. Bender. Is that a concept you are familiar with?

A Somewhat. Again, I'm not an expert on --
Q You are not an expert on estimated current value?
A Not today; no.
Q Were you ever an expert on estimated current value?
A I wouldn't say I was ever an expert on it, no.
Q Now, this section on estimated current value, this lays out the implementation guidelines; correct?
A It appears so.
Q Can you read what 55-3 says?
A "In determining estimated current value of some assets," parenthesis - thank you, "for example, works of art, jewelry, restricted security investments, and closely held company -- closely held businesses and real estate," close parenthesis, "the person may need to consult a specialist."

Q Okay. So in determining estimated current values, the implementation guidance considers that you may need to consult a specialist; correct?
A It's saying that you may need to consult a specialist, but this was a compilation that did not require me to -- I was not engaged to do that type of work.
Q And in connection with preparing a compilation report for a Statement of Financial Condition, did you need to have an understanding as to what estimated current value was?

A I had an understanding of what it was.
Q Did you have an understanding as to how estimated current value applied to real estate?

A I had somewhat of an understanding, yes.
Q Did you consult with specialists to inform your understanding as to how estimated current value applies to real estate?

A I may have discussed matters over the years with Andy Cohen. I don't recall.

Q Well yesterday, Mr. Bender, you said that you had discussed, with Andy Cohen, I believe it was the NikeTown lease.

A You are right. Among other things.
Q Okay. But at your deposition, when we asked you about whether you had ever consulted with a specialist on estimated current values, you said you did not recall.

A I don't -- I didn't recall at that time, and I didn't say -- I said I may have consulted with Andy Cohen, over the years.

Q Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, may I play a clip from his deposition?

THE COURT: Sure.
Q Do you recall your deposition on April 7, 2023?
A Yes, I do.
MR. SUAREZ: Can you please play the Andy Cohen?
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 365
(Whereupon, a video was played.)
MR. WALLACE: I'm just going to object. That doesn't impeach. It's a different question than he was just asking.

THE COURT: The rule is, you can only refresh your recollection if the person doesn't recall. I think I said it the opposite, last time. So again, there's no jury. Tell me what the point is.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, he didn't recall at his deposition whether he had discussed estimated current values with Andy. Yesterday he agreed that he had consulted Andy Cohen for estimated current values. Today, he is not a specialist in determining what estimated current value is, despite the fact that ASC 274 requires him to consult with a specialist if he doesn't know it, and today he doesn't recall if he consulted with a specialist or not.

MR. WALLACE: The testimony that he showed was a question about whether he consulted with an expert on the difference between estimated current value and fair value. It was not on current estimated value, standing alone, which is the question he has been asking Mr. Bender this morning, so it's not impeachment. If he want to probe that area, we have no objection.

THE COURT: This is starting to sound like, how many angels can dance on the head of a pin.
Objection overruled. Let's just keep moving.
Q Is there a difference between estimated current value and fair value?

A There is a difference. Yes.
Q And are you familiar with the differences?
A Estimated current value delineates -- there's five standards, five or six methodologies, that are suggested here -MS. HABBA: I'm sorry. I have to say, I can't understand anything Mr. Bender says.
A There are five or six methodologies that are delineated here that can be used to estimate a current value.
Q And are you an expert in those different areas?
A No, I'm not.
Q All right. Do you understand how estimated current value is different than fair value?

A I understand it, to a certain extent.
Q Okay. What is your understanding, to a certain extent, of what the difference is?

A Estimated current value would use these five, $A$ through E, items. Their value, fair market value, would be what a willing buyer or seller would use. That would be fair market value, and that's the main difference I can think of, right now.

Q So in your mind, there's a difference?
A Excuse me?
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez Page 367

Q In your mind, there is a difference?
A Between fair market value and estimated current value? Yes.

Q And is estimated current value more flexible than fair value?

A I would say so.
Q And is it correct that there's no one generally accepted way to determine the estimated current value of an asset?

A I believe so.
Q And would you have consulted a specialist in determining whether it was appropriate to use any particular basis for establishing estimated current value of an asset?

A The 57th Street example I gave yesterday would be an example that I can think of today, that we consulted.

Q Any others?
A I'm just going through a balance sheet in my head.
Q That's President Trump's balance sheet?
A Statement of Financial Condition.
Not that I can think of, off the top of my head.
Q You have the statement, President Trump's Statement of Financial Condition in your head?

A No, but I saw parts of it yesterday. I know what assets he owned, generally.

Q All right. Let's turn to 55-6, on page 14.

Do you see where, 55-6b, it says, "Information that may be used in terminating -- in determining estimated current values of investments in real estate, including lease holds includes any of the following," and b says that, "Discounted amounts of projected cash receipts and payments relating to the property, or the net realizable value of the property, based on planned courses of action, including lease holds whose current rental value exceeds the rent in the lease."

Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q Do you know what realizable value of the property, based on planned courses of actions, means?

A I would need to consult an expert, before I gave testimony.

Q In connection with preparing President Trump's Statement of Financial Condition, did you ever consult an expert to understand what that meant?

A I don't recall, at this moment.
Q Okay. Moving on.
MR. SUAREZ: If we could pull up page 293 from yesterday's testimony.
Q Do you see when I asked you yesterday, Mr. Bender: "They --" referring to the Trump Organization "-- would give you an opportunity to review loan agreements before they entered into them?"

And you responded:
"Many years ago they might have, certain paragraphs."
A Yes, sir.
Q And I said:
"Certain paragraphs?"
And you said:
"Yes."
And you responded -- and I continued to ask you:
"They wouldn't send you loan agreements and ask you, Hey, Mr. Bender, can you review these for us and let us know if this is something you can enter into?"
A Yes.
Q And you responded:
"I don't think they sent full agreements. I do remember seeing certain paragraphs, from time to time."
A Yes.
Q All right. I would like to show you a document to see if it refreshes your recollection as to whether documents were sent to you by the Trump Organization while they were still being negotiated for your review, and we have marked, or we have -- and we'll offer, for impeachment, a document bearing Bates label Mazars DANYGJS7O4 -- excuse me -- 01432223.
A Are we finished with this document?
Q You can set it aside.

| :---: | :---: |
| 1 | MR. WALLACE: I'm sorry. That was a production |
| 2 | number you were reading? You said Bates. I thought you |
| 3 | said documents -- |
| 4 | MR. SUAREZ: No. Just a Bates label. Mazars |
| 5 | DANYGJS. |
| 6 | (Whereupon, a document was handed to the |
| 7 | witness.) |
| 8 | Q Do you recognize this document? |
| 9 | A Not particularly. |
| 10 | Q Do you see where it says, "From Allen Weisselberg to |
| 11 | Donald Bender," at the top? |
| 12 | A Yes. |
| 13 | Q Would Mr. Weisselberg send you emails? |
| 14 | A Excuse me? |
| 15 | Q Would Mr. Weisselberg send you emails? |
| 16 | A Yes, sir. |
| 17 | Q And they would have documents attached to them? |
| 18 | A Yes. From time to time. |
| 19 | Q Do you see here, "Forward OPO loan agreement?" |
| 20 | A Yes, sir. |
| 21 | Q Do you see where it says, "JDG notes on BL final Doral |
| 22 | loan agreement to OPO loan agreement?" |
| 23 | A Excuse me. Say that again, please? |
| 24 | Q Do you see where the attachments up top -- |
| 25 | A Yes. |

D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez Page 371

Q - say, "GDG notes -- JDG notes on BL final Doral loan agreement to OPO loan agreement?"
A Yes.
Q Does this document refresh your recollection on being shown loan agreements prior to their being entered into?

And you can review the attachment to the document. We can pull it up on the screen and scroll through.

A I remember from time to time, looking at certain pages or paragraphs. I remember Jason Greenblatt, chief counsel for Trump, would drive me nuts. He would send me only two or three pages of a loan agreement. I never reviewed any full loan agreements, prior to them being signed, to the best of my recollection.

Q Okay. But after they were signed, did you have an opportunity to review the loan agreement?
A We would look at the loan agreement, if it would be required information for a footnote disclosure on a financial statement.

Q And what would you do with the loan agreement, when you had to review a footnote disclosure on a financial statement?

A Certain sections of the -- of the loan agreement would be looked at to discuss things like terms of a loan, payment, interest rates, information that we would need to write a footnote.

Q Okay. So you would look at the whole loan agreement, and it wasn't in your possession?

A Excuse me?
Q You would see the whole loan agreement, and it would be sent to you?

A I would have the whole loan agreement. I wouldn't review the whole loan agreement.

Q Okay. So, just because something was sent to you doesn't mean you reviewed it?

A That is correct.
Q Okay. Yesterday, I asked you, the Trump Organization -- if you were the in-house accountant at the Trump Organization.

A Yes, sir.
Q And I think we discussed whether you were the only certified public accountant.

A I'm not --
MR. WALLACE: Objection.
Q Whether you were the only certified public accountant that interacted with the folks that prepared the Statements of Financial Condition.

THE COURT: Overruled.

A I believe you did ask me that, yesterday.
Q And we established that, in fact, I believe you were?
A No. In hindsight, I do realize that they may have had

Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez
Page 373
some CPAs in the Trump Organization who worked on portions of the financial statement, from year to year.

Q Do you recall who they were?
A I know some schedules were prepared by Mark Hawthorne from the Hotel Group, so they did have a CPA in house. At least, he did it, I think. He's all I remember ever discussing a schedule with.

MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up a document bearing Mazars DANYGJS01487514.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q And first, Mr. Bender, do you recognize this document?
A No, I do not.
Q From Mazars, DANYGJS01487514?
A Yes.
Q Is this a document that was sent to you?
A Yes.
MR. SUAREZ: Can you turn to the last page of this document?
Q Do you see where it says intraoffice memorandum?
A Yes.
Q Within the office?
A Yes.
Q And who is the first person there, that's listed?
A I guess the Trump Organization doesn't know I'm not on

D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 377
you produced the compilation report, did you see this?
A Yes, I did.
Q And what did you do with it?
A I -- me or a member of my team appears to have cross referenced it to worksheet 4800.01 and 4800.01a. It appears they also did some math checks.

Q Okay. So you did see it?
A Me or a member of my team. I would have to check the sign-offs.

Q Sitting here today, do you recall if you saw it?
A Did I see the schedule? I'm sure I saw the schedule.
Q Did you see the basis for valuing Trump Tower when you prepared the compilation report?

A I believe so.
Q Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: Scrolling down to the next asset.
Stop.
Q Do you see there, NikeTown, when you prepared the compilation report for NikeTown, did you see the basis for the asset value ascribed to NikeTown?

A I can't say if I saw every one, without looking at the sign-offs, but it -- I need to confirm the sign-offs, but I believe I would have seen it.

Q You believe you would have seen --
A I believe I would have seen it. I can't say I looked at every line in this worksheet, no.
Q Okay. So you didn't look at every line of the spreadsheet, and you are not sure if you saw it.

A I would need to see the sign-offs in the binder to confirm who worked on it.

Q But you took responsibility for everything that was in the compilation report; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q All right. So either you or a member of your team would have seen this?

A Yes.
Q But you don't recall if you saw it?
A I don't recall if I saw it, in 2015, line-by-line.
No.
Q Okay. Line-by-line. Let's go to the next asset. Do you see where it lists the basis of valuation for 40 Wall Street in this document?

A Let me just adjust my chair, so everybody is happy. Yes, I do.
Q Did you see it at the time that you prepared the compilation report, in 2015?

A I can't say if I looked at every line of it, but I'm sure I saw a portion of it.

Q Okay. What portion of it might you have seen?
A I don't recall, today.
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Q Okay. Would you have seen where the asset value was calculated, based on an NOI?
A Yes, sir.
Q Would you have seen where a cap rate was applied?
A I presume so, but I would have to check the sign-offs on my work papers to confirm who worked on the work.

Q So you are not sure if you saw it or not?
A I would have to double check, but I believe I would have probably seen it.

Q You probably did see it. Okay.
Let's go to the next asset, Trump Park Avenue. Did you see that?

A Again, I would have to confirm who worked on it, and I would have to check the sign-offs in the binder.

Q So, you are not sure if you saw it in 2015?
A I can't be sure what lines I looked at on the worksheet, or what lines I did not look at on the worksheet.

Q How about the club facilities, there. I think the first one is the Mar-A-Lago club. Do you see that.

A I can't tell you which exact lines I looked at on this worksheet, and which lines I looked at as part of my compilation procedures.

Q So you might have looked at some, and not others?
A I may not have looked at every line in the worksheet.
Q You may not have looked at every line on the worksheet. Okay.
Can you tell me how you would --
MR. SUAREZ: Withdrawn.
Q So, you may not have looked at every line on this worksheet for club facilities?

A No, sir.
Q All right. Let's keep going.
Would you have looked at every line on the worksheet for the Trump International Golf Club, Florida?

A I'm not sure which lines I would have looked at and didn't look at.

Q Okay. So you might have looked at some, and not others?

A Yes, sir.
Q And the Trump National Golf Club in Briarcliff, do you recall which lines you saw and which you didn't?

A No, I do not recall, today, which lines I looked at and which lines I didn't.

Q So you may have looked at some, and not others?
A That is possible.
Q All right. And the Trump National Golf Club in Bedminster, the next line, right there. Do you recall which of those you looked at, and which you didn't?

A No, sir. I do not.
Q So, it's possible you may have looked at some and not others?

Page 381
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. The Trump National Golf Club, Colts Neck, do you recall which of those lines you looked and which you didn't?

A No, sir. I do not.
Q May have seen some, and not others?
A That's correct.
Q The Trump National Golf Club, Washington D.C. Do you see that?

A Yes, sir.
Q Do you recall which lines you looked at when you were compiling the Statement of Financial Condition in 2015?

A No, I do not.
Q Okay. The Trump National Golf Club, Philadelphia. Which of those would you have reviewed? Which lines of those would you have reviewed, in connection with preparing the compilation?

A I couldn't tell you which lines I looked at and which lines I didn't look at, today.

Q So you would have looked at some and not others?
A I'm not sure what I looked at, today, and what I didn't look at.
THE COURT: Can we just agree that the questions will be the same, and the answers will be the same, for each one of these? We have gone through, I don't know, eight, ten. It's always the same.

I would ask Mr. Bender, you are more familiar with this document than I am: Will your answers be the same, if the questions are the same, as to each particular property?

THE WITNESS: I believe so, your Honor.
THE COURT: All right. Then, let's move on.
MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, if I could just have 30 seconds to talk to my colleague, your Honor?
THE COURT: Sure.
(Whereupon, the witness spoke to the Court, off the record.)

THE COURT: You can get off the stand, but you can't talk about the case.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
Q Let's keep going through, here.
THE COURT: Not the same way.
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, may I get through the spreadsheet, and I won't do it for every year. Just, I would like to get through one spreadsheet, as an example. THE COURT: Fine.
MR. SUAREZ: Thank you.
Q The Trump National Golf Club, Hudson Valley. Did you different assets that are -- you would agree that the basis for valuation was disclosed to you?

A I would have to look at -- I would say their methodology was disclosed. To the best of my recollection, that would be true.

Q The methodology was disclosed. Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: If we can keep scrolling down.
Q The methodology with respect to these assets would have been disclosed to you in the Jeff Supporting Data, from year to year; correct?

A To the best of my recollection that -I believe that is true.

Q Okay. MR. SUAREZ: Keep scrolling. Keep scrolling. Stop.
Q Trump National Golf Club, Charlotte. Would you have seen this information?

A I don't recall, today, if I looked at every line in the worksheet.

Q All right. So it's not your testimony that you looked at every line on this worksheet?

A It is not my testimony that I looked at every line in this worksheet.
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

review every line here?

A I couldn't tell you, today, if I looked at every line or I didn't look at every line.

Q For the assets that were on the Statement of Financial Condition, did you draw an understanding as to how they were valued?

A Generally. So, I may not have known every asset, but I would have known a significant portion of them.

Q Okay. And that was possible, without reviewing every line?

A Yeah, because it was a lot of -- it was -- let me take it back. The footnotes of the financial statement disclosed certain methodologies that are included, so to that extent, I would have known. I may not have recalled if I looked at every one or not, today.

Q And would you have looked at every one at the time?
A I can't recall, today, what I did in 2015. Or 2016.
Whenever the report was issued.
Q But you may have seen some, but not others?
A I don't recall today, but I would have definitely seen some, yes.

Q And there are some that you wouldn't have?
A I didn't say that. I don't recall, today, what I look at in 2015, or '16.

Q You don't recall. All right. So, for all of these
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

Page 385
1 Q Excellent.
2 A My testimony is that I don't recall.
3 Q You don't recall if you looked at it?
4 A I don't.
5 Q You may have looked at it and relied -- 6 A I don't remember at this moment. I don't think I looked at every line on this spreadsheet.
8 Q You don't think you looked at every line?
9 A No.
10 Q Would that be true of the Jeff Supporting Data for each of the different years, you wouldn't have looked at every line on the spreadsheet?

A I can't recall today if it would be true every year.
Q Was it your practice to look at every line on the spreadsheet?

A I don't recall if I looked at every line every year.
Q You may have looked at some lines and may not have looked at others?

A I don't recall today.
Q Did you ever express any disagreement-- did you ever bring up any disagreement on the basis of valuation of any asset?

A Yes.
Q Which assets?
25 A We discussed the Nike building yesterday. I don't know of any others right now. That is the one that sticks out in my mind.

Q You would agree with me that the basis of valuation of the triplex was set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A Yes, sir.
Q The basis valuation for 40 Wall Street was set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?

A The method valuation, yes, sir.
Q The basis for the valuation of Trump Tower would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A Trump Tower Commercial, yes, sir.
Q Basis for valuing Niketown would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?

A Their methodology for valuating was included in the Jeff Supporting Data.

Q The basis of valuing Trump Park Avenue would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?

A Their methodology for doing it would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data.
Q Their methodology for valuing their interest in-- the Trump Organization's interest in 1290 Avenue of the Americas would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A Mr. Trump's interests in 1290 --
Q Yes?
A --Avenue of the America would have been -- their methodology would have been set forth.

Page 387
Q The method for valuing 555 California, President Trump's interest in that entity, that would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A Yes, I believe it would have.
Q The method for valuing Seven Springs would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A I believe it would be yes, sir.
Q The method for valuing Mar-a-Lago would have been set forth in the Jeff Supporting Data?
A I believe that would be true.
Q So, every year, you were presented with the basis for valuation of each of these assets in the Jeff Supporting Data? A I believe, off the top of my head, that would be true, sir.

Q Yesterday, I think you said you had tremendous respect for Jeff, for Mr. McConney; is that correct?

A He's one of the better accountants I ever worked with.
Q He passed along this information to you every year?
A Him and Patrick Birney.
Q The Jeff Supporting Data was what you reviewed when preparing your compilation report?

A Mazars would have looked at it. I don't know the word "reviewed".
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

1 Q Mazars would have looked at it but not necessarily you?
A I may not have looked at every line of Mazars and -say the question again.

Q Mazars - someone from Mazars would have looked at all the Jeff Supporting Data but not necessarily you?

A I can't say somebody from Mazars looked at every line of the worksheet.

Q You can't tell me whether someone from Mazars looked at every line on the worksheet?

A I can't read somebody else's mind today.
Q You testified earlier you would responsible for all the work product that went into it?

A Absolutely.
Q You agree you were responsible to make sure somebody at Mazars looked at every line on that spreadsheet?

A I don't think a person at Mazars would need to look at every line on that worksheet. I agree I was responsible for the compilation, if it's the right word. I was the partner in charge of the compilation procedure.
Q You were the partner in charge of the compilation procedure. The buck stopped with you?

A Absolutely.
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
Q If the buck stopped with you, Mr. Bender, would you

If something, as part of a high-level review, if I noticed something, like 57th Street, I'd bring it to-yeah, 57th Street.

If I brought something like 57th Street came to my attention, I'd do it, but, it was not our responsibility to. We were not engaged to discuss -- we were engaged to do method appraisals-- not appraisals. That was not part of our engagement.

Q Appraisals weren't part of your engagement?
A We were engaged to- to the best of my recollection, we were never engaged to do an appraisal for the Trump Organization.

Q Now, Mr. Bender, you told me that you were required to follow AICPA guidelines, correct?

A To the best of my ability.
Q And when you weren't, you'd consult a specialist?
A I would try to, if I something came to my attention.
Q Are you aware that the AICPA guidelines for the compilation of personal financial statements require you, in connection with the compilation, to under ordinary-- excuse me. MR. SUAREZ: Sure. I'm happy to move into evidence what I believe was premarked and somebody will give me the number.
Q AICPA personal financial statements. Chapter Two. 2.03, compilation of financial statements.

Have you ever seen the AICPA guide for preparation of financial statements?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. So, turn to page -- to chapter two, which governs a compilation of personal financial statements at Section 2.03. We've premarked this as exhibit D-950. It said: "Ordinarily, an accountant can compile personal financial statements based on the individual's representation of estimated current values of assets and the estimated

A One second. Thank you.
Q "Before submission, the accountant should read the compiled personal financial statements and consider whether such financial statements appear to be appropriate in form and free from obvious material errors. In this context, the term error refers to mistakes in the compilation of financial statements, including arithmetical or clerical mistakes and mistakes in the application of accounting principles, including disclosure. Misstatements that may occur in personal financial statements prepared in conformity with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles include:

Number one: "The failure to record estimated
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez value of assets and the estimated current amounts of liabilities and their tax basis."

Two: "Failure to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts."

Three: "Failure to record accounts on the accrual basis" and, number four: "Presentation of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount."

Do you see that?

Q In connection with the 2014 compilation report, did anything come to your attention as the presentation of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

1 A Nothing came to my attention at that time.
2 Q Certainly, you didn't disclose to the Trump
3 Organization or President Trump that any assets presented at an obviously inappropriate value or not?
A No, sir.
Q In connection with the 2013 compilation report for Statement of Financial Condition, did you identify any asset that was presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?
A At the time, the compilation report was issued, I did not -- I did not inform the Trump Organization of the presentation of assets or liability in misappropriate value.
Q Did you determine whether there was a determination of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value?
A At the time we issued the financial statement, nothing came to my attention.
Q In 2013 when preparing your independent accounting compilation report, did anything come to your attention about a presentation of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?
A I think you already asked, 2013, but, I repeat, no.
Q How about 2012? In connection with your preparation of an Independent Accountant's Compilation Report, did any asset strike you as being presented at an obviously 5 inappropriate value or amount?

A No, sir.
2 Q Did any liability strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A Not that I can recall at this time. No, sir.
Q In 2011, which you testified to on Monday, you were preparing your Independent Compilation Report, did any asset or liability strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A No, sir.
Q How about 2016? In 2016 did any asset strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A No, sir.
Q In 2017, when you prepared your Independent
Accountant Compilation Report, did any asset strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?
A No, sir.
Q In 2018, when you were preparing your Independent Accounting Compilation Report, did any asset or liability strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?
A No, sir.
Q In 2019, in connection with the preparation of your Independent Accounting Compilation Report, did any asset in the President's Statements of Financial Condition strike you as being presented at an obviously inappropriate value or 1 answer. So I asked counsel to ask for all the years and the answer is the same. Either he doesn't remember or he didn't. What's the difference? Jesus.

But I'll ask the Plaintiffs, do you want to go through every year or not? Because I could get reversed for not allowing him to ask for every individual year rather than lumping them all together.

What would you like me to do?
MR. WALLACE: Whatever your Honor wants.
THE COURT: I don't want to go through nonsense.
So, let's move on. Objection overruled.
MR. KISE: So, to be clear, we're precluded from asking year-by-year questions in the course of this proceeding?

MR. WALLACE: I object.
MR. KISE: What we're driving at here is who, at Mazars, was responsible for conforming with the AICPA standard each year. President Trump and the other defendants are accused of committing fraud in a repeated and persistent pattern, year by year by year each statement.

So, each statement, respectfully, your Honor, stands on its own. Each statement is a freestanding statement. Each certification is a freestanding certification. This is what your Honor has ruled, that involves millions of pages of documents. I'm sorry, your Honor, but, I think we should be entitled to go year by year because that's their burden of proof. If we're going to lump it all together and all the organizations together --

THE COURT: We're not lumping it all together. We're asking if the answer is the same for every year. Same for 2020. Same for 2019. Same for 2018. He saidhe can ask whether the answer would be the same for every year. You can argue for every year. His answer of 2013, ' 15 or ' 11 or ' 12 would be the same. That's your record. I don't see any way around that.

Again, I'll ask Plaintiff, do you want to hear it for every year or risk my being reversed because I wouldn't let them put on a defense in a really big case. (Continued on the following page..)

D. Bender - Cross/Suarez  Page 403

1 they're independent. So, it is crucial, we believe, for the government to establish that in each independent year, there are these infirmities and if they can't establish that, then they need to -- they've not met their burden of proof and I'll give you an example.

We're talking here about a presentation of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount. The government has introduced evidence of an alleged five or six hundred million dollar disparity on the Statement of Financial Condition for Mar-a-Lago. They've said it should be 18 to 27 instead of the six, seven, eight hundred that we have. That, to me -- I'm just --

THE COURT: You're talking to me or the press or the audience, Chris?

MR. KISE: I'm talking to you, your Honor. That, to me, you're asking why we have to go year by year.

THE COURT: You don't have to go year by year. You have to go every year and he said every year, the answer would be the same. We're wasting more time than if he just let him go through it but this is --

MR. KISE: We need to be able to put on our defense the way we think we should be able to put on a defense, year by year. They brought this case. It

MR. WALLACE: So the record is clear, we are happy to stipulate here that Mr. Benders' response will be the same from every year from 2011 to 2020.

THE COURT: That's my ruling. Objection overruled.

Q Mr. Bender, when you stay you don't believe so, do you know?

A Read the question again?
THE COURT: Do you want read back?
Read back, please.
By the way, I do this same technique to try to save time, whether a big case or a little case. It's the same thing.
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the proceedings was read back by the court reporter.)

THE COURT: So, let's move on with the next question.
Q Mr. Bender, I do not believe so, does that mean no?
A Yes. That means no.
Q Thank you. And Mr. Bender, for each and every year that you prepared a Statement of Financial Condition and didn't notice a failure to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts, if you didn't notice a failure to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts, you certainly couldn't have communicated that to the Trump Organization; correct?
MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: Correct. If he didn't notice, then he couldn't communicate it.

MR. SUAREZ: I just asked the question, and I got an objection. I just want to make sure we all understand it correctly, your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. If you don't notice something, you can't communicate it to someone else. Can we agree on that, counselor?

MR. SUAREZ: Yes.
THE COURT: So, what's the point of asking the question?

MR. SUAREZ: I would like the witness to make that record, that if he didn't notice it, he didn't communicate it. The point is to establish that he didn't communicate it, your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes. You did establish it, and he said he didn't notice it. But, I'll ask the witness to answer.

Did you communicate what you didn't notice?
THE WITNESS: The only change I would make is, he used the word, prepared. This was not a preparation. This was a compilation, so I just -- his question has to be adjusted.
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 407

A If you say compilation, if I didn't notice it, I didn't communicate it on the compilation.

Q Mr. Bender, certainly when you prepared the 2015 Statement of Financial Condition --

MR. SUAREZ: I'm going to stop. I'm going to withdraw the question. I'm going to speak more slowly.
Q Certainly, Mr. Bender, when you prepared the independent accountant's compilation report for the 2015
Statement of Financial Condition, you didn't forget all of the things that you learned when you prepared the independent accountant's compilation report for the Statement of Financial Condition in 2014; did you?

A No -- say that again.
MR. SUAREZ: I'm trying to adhere to your Honor's direction not to go year-by-year.
Q But, I'm simply trying to establish the fact,
Mr. Bender, that, from year to year, you didn't forget what you learned the prior year in preparing a Statement of Financial Condition. Compilation report.

A Generally, that would be true. I'm not saying I would remember line-by-line from the year before, but generally, that would be true.
Q But material issues that you learned in one year, you would remember the following year?

A Generally, that would be true.

Q Or they would be reflected in your work papers?
A Generally, that would be true.
Q And the work papers were maintained by Mazars?
A Yes, sir.
Q Would you review those work papers each year, before picking up on the following year's independent accountant's compilation report?

A I don't recall if I didn't or I didn't.
Q You don't recall whether you, each year, before beginning the prior - the current year's independent accounting compilation report, review the prior year?

A I don't recall -- I don't recall.
Q Mr. Bender, at your deposition you testified that you spent 50 to 60 hours each year working on the Statement of Financial Condition compilation report; is that correct?

A That would be an estimate. Yes.
Q Okay. It's an estimate. It would change from year to year.

MR. SUAREZ: And I'm not going to ask year to year, because I understand the Court's order.
Q That would be an estimate from the period of time 2011 to 2020 , you spent about 50 to 60 hours a year?

A That would be an estimate.
Q And in your opinion, as the --
MR. SUAREZ: Withdrawn.

Q And as the partner in charge at Mazars, in charge of preparing the independent accountant compilation report for the 45th President of the United States, 50 to 60 hours a year was a sufficient amount of time for you to spend on that assignment; correct?

A Yes, sir.
THE COURT: We are taking a very short break. (Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
THE COURT: Okay. Let's continue with where we left off.
Q And within those 50 to 60 hours a year, approximately, that you spent compiling the Statement of Financial Condition for the 45th President of the United States, that was a sufficient amount of time for you to satisfy yourself that the statements did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts?

A I did the best, based on my professional skills, to meet those standards.

Q I'm sorry. I can't --
A I did the best, based on my professional standards, to meet those.

Q You did the best, based on your professional standards?

A My professional skills.

Q And were those the professional standards for Donald Bender, or the professional standards of Mazars.

A I used my best professional skills to meet the standards of Mazars. Of Mazars, and the AICPA.
Q All right. So you used your best professional skills. So, can we infer from your testimony that it was your best professional skills that the president had the benefit of, or can we infer from your skills that it was the benefit of -- from your statement that it was the benefit of Mazars' skills, that the president had the benefit of?

A I thought you asked about me -- I method your question was addressed about me.

Q Well, was 50 to 60 hours a year sufficient for you to supervise everyone at Mazars that worked on this engagement?

A Yes. I felt it was.
Q And to adequately make sure that you could represent to the president that his Statements of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts?
A We did our best to try to meet those standards, yes.
Q You tried your best?
A Yes.
Q And you tried your best, in those 50 to 60 hours a year, to make sure that Mazars USA -- 2016, for example -- could represent to the president that all of the assets were presented, all of the assets or liabilities, were presented at an amount that was not inappropriately -- that was not obviously inappropriate?
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 411

MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: What's the ground?
MR. WALLACE: The question is completely unclear.
THE COURT: How about a rephrase? MR. SUAREZ: Sure.
Q The 50 to 60 hours a year that you worked on the Statement of Financial Condition, was that sufficient for you, Mr. Bender, to be comfortable signing the name, Mazars USA, to the Statement of Financial Condition certifying that the assets were not presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A I was comfortable signing the compilation. I did not need to certify anything. That was not an audit. This was a compilation. The standards for a compilation don't require us to certify anything.

Q Well, the standards for at compilation do require you to present a compilation report that notes whether any of the assets or liabilities are stated at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A Yes, sir.
Q And in 50 to $\mathbf{6 0}$ hours a year, you were able to satisfy yourself that the asset value that was stated -- and let's take an example. Let's use a concrete example. Let's take 2013. Let's start with 2013. Fifty to 60 hours a year -- let's put up 2013.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q Mazars and WeiserMazars, both of those logos on are the page, at the top. It says WeiserMazars LLP.

MR. SUAREZ: Come on over. Next page.
Q Your signature, the assets.
Let's go through the assets. In 2013, in 50 to 60 hours a year, you were able to satisfy yourself that it was appropriate to list $$ 339$ million in cash, $$ 339$ million in cash, on the statement of assets in 2013, Mr. Bender?

A On the Statement of Financial Conditions? I met the professional standard for a compilation. Yes, sir.

Q So, to meet the professional standard for a compilation and conclude that an asset or liability is not stated at an obviously inappropriate value or amount, in 50 to 60 hours a year, you could do that, to determine, just go through them, $$ 339$ million in cash and marketable securities?

A Yes, sir.
Q And in 50 to 60 hours a year, you were able to take Trump Tower at $$ 526$ million, and determine that Trump Tower, at $$ 526$ million, was not presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A Based on my compilation procedures, nothing came to my attention.

Q And in 50 to 60 hours a year, you were able to determine that Trump Tower being presented at $$ 526,800,000$ did not fail the compilation -- did not -- I'm sorry, the Statements of Financial Condition, it did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value of that asset?

A Say that again, please?
Q You were able, in 50 to 60 hours a year, to determine that the Statements of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value, estimated current value of that asset?

A Nothing came to my attention, as part of my compilation procedures.

Q And in 50 to 60 hours a year, you were able to determine that NikeTown, worth $$ 287,600,000$ in 2013, was appropriately listed, and that the Statement of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts?

A Nothing came to my attention, as part of my compilation procedures.

Q And in 50 hours a year, you were able to determine, 50 to 60 hours a year, approximately, you were able to determine that that asset was not presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A Nothing came to my attention, as part of my compilation procedures.

Q And in connection with 40 Wall Street, identified in 2013 at $$ 530$ million a year, Mr. Bender, you were able to determine that the Statement of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value and amount of that asset?

A Nothing came to my attention, as part of my compilation procedures.

Q Okay. And in 50 to 60 hours a year, Mr. Bender, you were able to determine that 40 W all Street was not presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount; is that correct?

A Nothing came to my attention during my compilation procedures.

Q And in 50 to 60 hours a year, Mr. Bender, you were able to determine that Trump Park Avenue, listed in the Statement of Financial Condition at $$ 346,100,000$, that the Statement of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value and amount for that asset?

A Nothing came to my attention, during my compilation procedures.

THE COURT: Counselor, can we lump this all together? Again, using the same principles, you can ask him, for each item, whether 50 or $\mathbf{6 0}$ hours was sufficient.

Plaza was disclosed in this financial statement?
A No.
Q And did anything come to your attention that would cause you to think that this asset was not presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A No, sir.
Q Did anything cause you to think that it was presented at an inappropriate value or amount?

A No, sir.
Q The Trump Plaza commercial and retained residential portions identified at $$ 31$ million, in 50 to 60 hours a year, is that something that you were able to determine that the Jeff Supporting Data that then was reflected in the notes, Mr. Bender, did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts?

A Nothing came to my attention.
Q Nothing came to your attention.
So, this is all work that you did in 50 to 60 hours a year?

A My time would have been 50 to 60 hours a year.
Q Your time alone?
A My time alone.
Q Sufficient?
A On average.
Q On average?

I think that would make sense, but if you really want to do it, go ahead.

MR. SUAREZ: I'm doing my best to lump this together, but I can't lump it together, your Honor, because each separate asset on the spreadsheet presents the basis for valuation, and Mr. Bender's testimony, I believe, is that within 50 to 60 hours a year, he was able to look at all of those valuations and make sure that they were properly listed, or at a minimum, that they were properly disclosed in the Statement of Financial Condition, what the basis for that methodology was.

THE COURT: Yes. The key word you used is, all. Ask him if he would have the same answer to the same questions for each line. But all the lines --

MR. SUAREZ: May I try to truncate is by saying --
Q Would you have the same answer to the same questions concerning the club facilities and real estate in New York, Florida, New Jersey, California, Washington D.C., North Carolina, and Scotland, at $$ 1,656,200,000$ ?

A Nothing came to my attention as part of my compilation procedures.

Q Nothing came to your attention. Did anything come to your attention concerning the manner in which estimated current value and amounts for the Trump World Tower at United Nations
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 417

A Guesstimate.
Q I've been asked to bring them all together.
A Okay.
Q And in 50 to $\mathbf{6 0}$ hours a year, Mr. Bender, the Trump Palace, the Trump Parc, the Trump Parc East condominiums, those commercial portions, you were able to satisfy yourself that the Statement of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value and amounts for those three assets at $\$ 13,700,000$ ?

A Nothing came to my attention, as part of my compilation procedure.

THE COURT: Counselor, I don't talk just to hear myself. You seem to be doing the exact same thing, and I'm precluding you from doing it. You can lump together - I thought you were just going to list the different properties, but to ask the question again, I'm not going to let you to that.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, here is the concern that I have: Every single Statement of Financial Condition lists the property differently. Every single Statement of Financial Condition, from year to year, identifies the properties differently. Mr. Bender just told you, your Honor, that he or Mazars retained the knowledge as to all material assets that went from year to year, and how those assets changed, and in 50 to 60 hours a year, Mr. Bender

1 to materiality, and with respect to reliance, these concepts are very important, and so we'll attempt to streamline these as much as possible, but they gone back --

THE COURT: You haven't seen that, yet. I made a ruling, and he totally ignored it. I said, I'm not going to let you do property by property, and then he just went on, property by property.

MR. KISE: But we have to do property by property, because that's -- the devil is in the details. I'm sorry, but it is.

THE COURT: You can do property by property, and you can lump them all together. This is ridiculous.

To the reporters, I'm pounding the bench, again. This is ridiculous.
MS. HABBA: That's the one thing I agree with you, sir. This is absolutely ridiculous.

THE COURT: There's no point in going through each line, when the counsel can ask the witness if his answer would be the same for each line. Then you have got your record on appeal, and then you have got whatever post-trial brief you want to say. I'm just being logical, here.

MR. KISE: I'm not sure -- let me be sure I understand what you are saying. So, you are asking us to go line by line, but just ask the same question for each ## line?

Page 423

THE COURT: I'm asking --
MR. KISE: Would your answer be the same -- for example, would your answer be the same as to Trump International Hotel and Tower; would your answer be the same as to Mansion at Seven Springs; would your answer be the same as to partnerships and joint ventures? I mean, I've never had to negotiate how to ask questions, as a defense lawyer, but -- and I think it's highly irregular. I think it makes -- I think it makes a very poor record, frankly.

So, this is why I think we should be entitled to present our defense the way we want to. It is going to take some time, but they brought a case that spans a decade, and accuses --

MS. HABBA: Exactly.
MR. KISE: -- my client of massive and staggering fraud, they can't condense it all together, because they have a witness waiting, and it's inconvenient.

MS. HABBA: And your Honor, your order itself goes to, for instance, Mar-A-Lago, famous Mar-A-Lago, which we are clearly having a discrepancy for, on the value. How can you say that now we can't sit her and ask about the value of Mar-A-Lago?

THE COURT: All I'm asking is that you lump things together, so we don't waste time. You can include Mar-A-Lago and any other property in whatever question it is, but let's not waste time. I'm just being logical, here. I'm not going to let you ask every single line, when you can just ask, For all the lines, would your answer be the same. You will have your record, you will have what I've heard, and let's just move ahead. You are not going to get away with this.

MR. KISE: For the record, I object to that procedure, your Honor.

MS. HABBA: As do I, your Honor.
MR. ROBERT: As do I.
THE COURT: Okay.
By the way, you don't even have to say every line on the page. You can say, Would your answer be the same for A, B, C, D, E, F. You can name them all, but you don't have to ask the question again.
Q For the questions that we have just run through Mr. Bender, I'm just going to --

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, Im being very delicate, to make sure I don't re-ask the question.
Q But, I'm going to go through, and I'm going to question you, for the remaining assets, whether 50 to 60 hours a year was sufficient for you, number one, to determine that the Statement of Financial Condition did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts; and number two, that the asset was presented at a value or amount that was not obviously inappropriate.

A I'm sorry. Nothing came to my attention, during my compilation procedures.

Q And that was true --
MR. SUAREZ: I'm sorry, your Honor.
Q But my question, actually, Mr. Bender, was a little different. My question wasn't whether anything came to your attention. My question was whether 50 to 60 hours a year was sufficient for you to determine that the Statement of Financial Condition with respect to, take the Trump International Hotel and Tower, New York, New York, did not fail to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts, and presented the value or amount of that asset or liability, in a manner that was not obviously inappropriate.

A I was able to meet my standards for my compilation procedures.

MR. SUAREZ: The witness is being evasive, which is the reason we've got to go and try to pin him down. He testifies, 50 to 60 hours a year. I'm asking him, with respect to each asset, whether within those 50 to 60 hours a year, it was sufficient for him, the person who signed the accountant's compilation report, to determine whether two very basic and fundamental criteria had been met.

| D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez | Page 426 |
| :---: | :---: |
| 1 | That's the question. Was that enough time for you to make |
| 2 | that determination? If his answer is yes, I'll say, same |
| 3 | question. Same question for this asset. Same question for |
| 4 | this asset. If his answer is no, I'll ask him the same |
| 5 | question for each asset, same question for each asset, same |
| 6 | question for each asset. |
| 7 | THE COURT: I think that's what Im asking you to |
| 8 | do. |
| 9 | MR. SUAREZ: And I'm more than happy to do that, |
| 10 | your Honor. I'm certainly not intending to upset you or |
| 11 | not follow the Court's orders but -- |
| 12 | THE COURT: I have a thick skin, but it's really |
| 13 | being pierced, here. |
| 14 | MR. SUAREZ: But the answer that I'm getting from |
| 15 | the witness is not responsive, candidly. |
| 16 | Q The question is, Mr. Bender, in 50 to 60 hours a year, |
| 17 | were you able to determine whether the asset listed in this |
| 18 | Statement of Financial Condition, with respect to each asset |
| 19 | listed on the Statement of Financial Condition, the Statement of |
| 20 | Financial Condition did not, number one, fail to disclose the |
| 21 | methods used to determine estimated current values and amounts; |
| 22 | and number two, present an asset or liability at an obviously |
| 23 | inappropriate value or amount. |
| 24 | Was that enough time for to you make that |
| 25 | determination? |

D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 427
A It was enough time for me to make that determination, based on my compilation procedures.

Q Okay. Same question for Trump International Hotel and Tower. Would you give me the same answer? Yes or no.
A Yes, sir.
Q And for Mansion at Seven Springs. If I asked you the same question, would you give me the same answer?

A Yes, sir.
Q With respect to the partnerships and joint ventures, the first one, 1290 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York; and 555 California Street, San Francisco, Califomia, would you give me the same answer, if I asked you the same questions?

A Yes, sir.

1

7 A Yes, sir?
Q With respect to real estate licensing developments, would you give me the same answer, if I asked you the same questions?
A Yes, sir.
Q With respect to the other assets, would you give me the same answer, if I asked you the same question?
A Yes, sir.
Q Now, the other assets, the other assets are disclosed at a value of $$ 337$ million in this Statement of Financial Condition, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q You, Mr. Bender, made the determination it was appropriate to present them as other assets, to lump them together in the category of other assets?

A It's the client's compilation. They prepared the financial statement. Yeah, they prepared the financial statement.
Q You understood which assets were included within the value of the other assets. Was that part of your mathematical calculation?
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez

Page 429
A Yes, sir.
Q You went through all of the other assets and I, with your Honor's permission, I'd like to pull them up and walk through what other assets fold into other assets.

THE COURT: I'm not sure he understood the question before. I think isn't the question, do you know what the other assets were. I'll ask that question, all right.

Do you know what the other assets were?
THE WITNESS: I know a lot of them. I don't now them all for every year, off the top of my head.

THE COURT: Did you know them all for 2013?
THE WITNESS: I can't tell you today.
THE COURT: Ask him what you want.
MR. SUAREZ: Let's pull up the Jeff Supporting Data for other assets. I would just note that part of the argument that we've heard is that assets were moved in or out of this category over the years, for one reason other another, and, whatever motivations the government ascribes to them, that we don't agree with, but, certainly, certainly, the point is the independent accountant that looked at these Jeff Supporting Data in 50 to 60 hours a year was able to determine that they

|  | Bender - Cross/Suarez Page 430 |
| :---: | :---: |
|  | should all be lumped together in the category of other |
| 2 | assets and that that same independent accountant and his |
| 3 | knowledge of the AICPA guidelines carried that knowledge |
| 4 | over from year to year, your Honor, and how those assets |
| 5 | changed and what he looked at and whether those assets |
| 6 | were lumped together into the category of other assets |
| 7 | are the questions that I respectfully intend to ask the |
| 8 | witness. |
| 9 | THE COURT: Let's start and see how it goes. |
| 10 | MR. SUAREZ: Excellent. |
|  | Q Mr. Bender, other assets, The Apprentice. Did you |
|  | review the basis for including that asset into the category of |
|  | other assets? |
| 14 | A It wasn't a review but I was happy -- I was content |
|  | with the classification at that time. |
| 16 | Q It was okay with you to classify that as other asset? |
| 17 | A At that time, yes. |
| 18 | Q Okay. The Wollman Rink, were you able to classify |
|  | that as an asset in the Statement of Financial Condition? |
| 20 | A At that time, yes. |
| 21 | Q Is it still okay to call it an other asset? You keep |
|  | saying "at that time" as if you'd change your mind and would |
|  | call it another asset today. That would be okay with you? |
| 24 | A I would be fine. |
|  | Q You'd be perfectly fine with | asset. The President's family receivables, you'd be okay with calling that an other asset?

A Yes, sir.
Q Trump Model Management disclosed to you $$ 2$ million.
You'd be okay with calling that an other asset?
A Yes, sir.
Q The Virginia Vineyards which, in 2013, were valued at $$ 15,439,000$, you'd be okay with calling that an other asset?
A Yes, sir.
Q You made the determination it was okay to include that in the other assets?

A The client made the determination. I did not have any problem at the time.

Q You had no problem in the manner in which it was disclosed in the financial statement?

A Not at that time, no, sir.
Q How about today, you think it was inappropriate to disclose that?
A As of today, I'm not on top of all standards as of today but I know of nothing --

Q When did you stop being on top of all standard?
A I stopped doing compilations about two or three years ago.
24 Q Before that, you were on top of all the standards?
25 A No but I have subject matter specialists who would assist me, and I would able to consult people.

1 2
Q Starrett City Associates, $$ 10$ million. It was okay for you to lump that into other assets? You didn't have an issue with how that was disclosed, Mr. Bender?
A No, I did not have an issue.
Q Okay, the President's aircrafts which, in 2013, were disclosed at asset value of $$ 52$ million. You can see there the manner in which those asset values were derived at $$ 52$ million. You were okay lumping that into other assets?
A I was okay at that time.
Q Are you okay with it today? I'm trying to understand or qualify "at that time."
A Yes. Yes.
Q Okay. The triplex --
MR. SUAREZ: I think he I said it right this time, your Honor.
Q --listed there at $$ 200$ million, it was okay with you to lump that in as an other asset?
A It was, yes.
Q Okay. The two homes in Palm Beach in 2013 listed as an asset of $$ 9$ million and $$ 2,750,000$, that was okay for you to list as an other asset?
A It was okay.
Q In Beverly Hills, California the residence in Beverly Hills, $$ 15$ million asset, that was okay to lump it in?

Bender - Cross/Suarez
Page 433

A It was okay at that time, yes.
Q The licensing deals, the management fees, and incentive fees, it was okay to lump those assets in as other assets?
A It was okay at that time. Yes, sir.
Q Same question for the accounts payable. Okay to lump them in as other assets?
A Those are the liabilities. I take it back. That is a liability on the other side and that's a -- Q Let's put a pause on that. So, in 2013 when you reviewed all of those assets, you were okay lumping them into other assets?
A Mazars compiled the financial statement. We had no problem at that time.
Q Do you have a problem with the fact in 2013 all of those assets were put together and included as other assets in the Statements of Financial Condition?
A We had no problem when we issued the statement.
Q Okay, at that time-- withdrawn. In connection with all the assets that we just discussed, the failure -- sorry.
You did not know, in connection with all the assets that we just discussed, as other assets, you did not know or notice a failure to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current value among any of those assets?
A Not that I recall at this time.
D. Bender - Cross/Suarez Page 434

1 Q And in your estimation, in the 50 to 60 hours you spent on this worksheet, you did not notice that any of these assets were presented at an obviously inappropriate value or amount, did you?
A Nothing came to my attention when I compiled the 2013 -- 2013?

A Yeah, it's not shown.
Q You would agree with me when you compiled 2013, you had in front of you the number used in ' 13 and the number that was used in 2012?

A Yes.
Q So, you can see, for example, when you go all the way to the top, that the President's cash position in June 30, 2013 increased to $$ 339$ million from $$ 169$ million the year before?
A His cash and marketable security balance.
Q Cash and Marketable Securities increased from $339 million from 169 the year before?
A That's what it says. Yes, sir.
Q In the time that you spent reviewing that, you were comfortable that the method used to determine the estimated current value of all of these assets on the spreadsheet were properly disclosed in the Statement of Financial Condition?

A When I was compiling it, not reviewing it. You said

1 Q If I asked you the same question for the note related to Trump Tower, you'd give me the same answer?

A Yes, sir.
Q If I asked you the same question for the secured lease bond related to Niketown?
A Yes, sir.
7 Q The loan related to 40 Wall Street, you'd give me the same answer?
9 A Yes.
10 Q The loans related to club facilities and related real estate, you'd give me the same answer?

A Yes, sir.
13 Q The loan related to Trump Park Avenue, you'd give me the same answer?

A Yes.
Q So, in reviewing and preparing your Independent Accountant's Compilation Report, you would have been apprised of the fact that there was a loan on Trump Tower, correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q You would have been apprised to the fact that there was a loan related to 40 Wall Street?

A Yes, sir.
Q You would have been apprised of the fact that there was a loan related to club facilities and real estate?

A Yes, sir.

1 Q And the loans related to club facilities and real estate, that's also grouping, correct?
3 A Yes, sir. I believe so.
4 Q That reflects more than one loan?
5 A I'd have to check. I'm not familiar with the debt on the club facilities at the time.

Q You certainly would have determined that was an appropriate way to disclose that?
9 A Yes, sir.
10 Q You would have determined that loans related to Trump Park Avenue were appropriately disclosed?

A Yes.
Q The loans related to the commercial and retained residential portions of Trump Plaza were appropriately disclosed?
A Yes, sir.
Q Same question with the Trump International Hotel and Tower New York?
A Sorry?
Q The loan related to the Trump International Hotel and Tower New York?

A Nothing came to my attention.
23 Q The loan related to the mansion at Seven Springs, you would have determined that was appropriate to disclose at that time?

| 1 | A | Nothing came to my attention, so I agree. | 1 |
| :--- | :---: | :--- | :--- |
| 2 | Q | So, you agree. Same question for other mortgages and | 2 |

| 4 | A | Nothing came to my attention. | 4 |
| 5 | Q | Same question for commitments and contingencies? | 5 |
| 6 | A | Nothing came to my attention, your Honor. | 6 |
| 7 | Q | Same question for the net worth calculation for 2013? | 7 |
| 8 | A | That's math. A plus B should equal C. | 8 |
| 9 | Q | So, nothing came to your attention that the Statement | 9 |
| 10 | of Financial Condition in any way failed to disclose the | 10 |  |

| 10 | A Good afternoon. |
| 11 | Q You just gave us your name and place of business. |
| 12 | Can you just state your employer and title, for the record? |
| 13 | A Yeah. My employer is Whitley Penn. Title is audit |

| 15 | Q Mr. Harris, were you involved in the engagement |
| 16 | compiling of a 2021 Statement of Financial Condition of Donald |
| 17 | J. Trump? |
| 18 | A Yes, sir. |
| 19 | Q Mr. Harris, how long have you been employed there? |
| 20 | A Over 19 years. |
| 21 | Q Can you describe your educational background? |
| 22 | A I graduated from Texas Tech with an accounting and |

| 24 | MR. KISE: Is his microphone on? |
| 25 | THE COURT: You have to speak right into it, |

C. Harris - Direct/Gaber

Page 443
1 clearly.
2 A I graduated from Texas Tech with a management and accounting degree and I'm a CPA.

Q I believe that you said you were an audit partner, Mr. Harris. Can you describe that role?

A Yes, as an audit partner, I lead multiple teams that are in charge of doing attestation work for numerous clients.

Q As audit partner, did you have a role in any of Whitley Penn's audit engagement for the Trump Organization?
A I only work on attestation engagements.
Q All of the attestation agreements?
A Correct.
Q So, Mr. Harris. I'll bring up a document that Plaintiffs have marked PX-1498 for identification.
Are you familiar with this document, Mr. Harris?
A Yes, sir.
Q Can you describe what this document is?
A Yes. This is our client acceptance procedure memo.
This memo details out the work that we did, forbearance proposal, and onboarding process and determining if this was a client that we were going to take on.
Q When you say this was a client, can you clarify?
A Restate, please.
Q Who is this?
25 A The engagement that we do for the Trump Organization.

Q Is this memo kept among the work papers for this engagement?

A Correct.

MR. GABER: I'd like to move this into evidence, Judge.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q So, Mr. Harris, I'd like to direct your attention to the top of the second page of this document, if you would.

It says: "On August 17, 2021 Camron Harris, Randy Gregg, Jeff Lawlis held a call with Mark Hawthorn and Jeff McConney. During this call we went through all the prior years' audit and compilation records and asked various questions about the operation and each of the entities. We also discussed the clients acceptance inquiry outlined above. Management provided and answered all questions adequately and was forthright in providing all necessary information."

Was-- the meeting occurred as described here?
A Yes.
Q Who is Jeff McConney?
A Jeff McConney was the Vice President of Finance.
Q At the Trump Organization?
A Yes.
Q Who is Mark Hawthorn?
A Mark Hawthorn's role was CFO at the Trump

Harris - Direct/Gaber
Page 445

Organization over the resort properties.

Q Was the Statement of Financial Condition of Donald J. Trump one of the audits and compilations discussed on this call with Mr. Hawthorn and Mr. McConney?

A I believe so.
Q Do you know what or can you describe what role Jeff McConney played in the SOFC engagement?

A Yes, Jeff was one of our main points of contact as we were going through that compilation. He's reviewed a lot of the work prior to it being provided to us.
Q Same question for Mr. Hawthorn.
A Mr. Hawthorn was not involved in the Statement of Financial Condition.
Q Now, move down to the third to last paragraph on this document. It's right there above the section called "background check." It says that-- I'm sorry. It's the one starting on September 1, 2021. It says that "Camron Harris Randy Gregg and Jeff Lawlis held a call with Jeff McConney. During this call we discussed and asked questions regarding the DJT SOFC and reviewed the prior year report."

Is prior year review a requirement of compilation engagement?
A No.
Q Can you tell me what you recall of the discussion at that meeting?

1 A We would have gone through the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition that was provided by Jeff McConney to us and just read through it trying to get an understanding of what was included, what the process entailed, and how we were to obtain information and then we asked the client acceptance inquiries as well.
Q Prior year inquiries aren't required, as I believe you just testified. Why were you reviewing the previous year's SOFC?

A We all prefer to get the prior year papers, if we can, to obtain a better understanding of the work audit that was done in the prior year and to help us, aid us as we begin to plan for potentially doing this engagement.
Q Did you ultimately accept that engagement?
A Yes.
MR. GABER: Can I bring up 1497.
Q Mr. Harris, I've handed you a document marked Plaintiffs Exhibit 1497 for identification. Do you recognize this document?
A Yes, sir.
Q Can you tell me what this document is?
A Overall compilation program. So, this program is sort of built out into three sections. A planning section or work papers section and then a reporting section. This program is promulgated from the compilation guidance SSARS which is made by the AICPA.
So, this is our guide whenever there is a compilation that shows all the steps that we need to complete as part of the compilation.

Q And is this for the Statement of Financial Condition engagement, this particular compilation program?

A Correct.
MR. GABER: I'd like to move this into evidence. THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q Mr. Harris, take a step back. Can you explain your understanding of what a compilation is, in accounting terms?

A Sure. At a compilation, we're receiving information from the client. We're reviewing that for obvious errors.
We are then putting it together in a format and presentation that is the proper, in accordance with the applicable framework, that we're doing that compilation in. We do not conclude or do not verify any of the accuracy on any of the information that is provided.

Q Is that different than a review or audit engagement?
A Yes.
Q In what way?
A Compilation, we're at lowest attestation, lowest assurance in the attestation agreements. Review would be the next level of an attestation agreement, which would include review, year after year analytics, inquiries with management and then an audit would be the top attestation engagement type where you're truly going into the underlying support documents.

Q You mentioned the standard governing compilation engagements. Do you know what those standards are? Can you describe them?

A SSARS 80. Yes. SSARS 80, that is the main guidance we file when we go through the compilation. It's a statement on standards for accounting and review services and that's what these programs are derived from that.

We followed that as our guide to complete all of the necessary and required steps and procedures.
Q At this time, I'd like for you to turn to page 4, on the screen here. Page four says that "Whitley Penn held a planning call with Jeff McConney and Patrick Birney in early October 2021."

Were you on this call?

A Yes.
Q Early October 2021. Can you describe what was discussed at this call?
A We described it as our planning call. So, during the planning call, we'd going over introducing our team to the client. We'd also be introduced to the main points of contact that we'd be working with in regards to that engagement.

Page 449
We'd also go through a timeline of when we were going to do this work for them. We also, during that time, we'll ask for updates, things that are going on with the operations of entities, any changes in systems or internal controls and go through inquiries as well.

A As the trustee, executive leadership, corporate governance, tone at the top.
Q And Donald Trump, Jr.?
A Same responsibilities.
Q Did either -- did Eric Trump play any roles as a member of, or chairman of, the audit committee for the Trump Organization?

Q They do not have -- okay. What interactions did you have with Eric Trump in their role as -- (Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
Q Tone at the top?
A The person in charge, they set the tone at the top.
The leader.
Q And did you have meetings with Eric Trump, in this capacity?
A Is this in relation to the Statement of Financial Condition?
Q Yes.
A No.

Q And I believe that we were at your counsel's office, we sat in the conference room, there was a stenographer there?

A I remember, yes. I remember this.
Q Do you remember what I asked you about the audit committee and the annual meetings at the time?

A Yeah.
Q Okay. And if I were to bring up your transcript, would that potentially refresh your recollection as to answers you gave during that meeting, or during that --

A I don't recall what I said.
Q Okay. And would it refresh your recollection if I showed you your testimony from that day?

A Yes.
MR. GABER: I would like to refresh his rec, so if we look at page 76.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed.)
Q So, I asked you:
"So, in this capacity that we are describing here, did Don, Jr. or Eric certify that there were any internal audit controls, policies or procedures at the Trump Organization that you are aware of?"
And you said:
"No."
And I asked you:
"You have described some of what you understand

Q Mr. Eric Trump. Did you have meetings with Mr. Eric Trump regarding other engagements?
A Other engagements, yes.
Q But you had no other meetings that included you discussing the Statement of Financial Condition?
A Yes.
Q I had asked you if you had had any meeting with Eric Trump that discussed the Statement of Financial Condition.
A No, I did not.
Q Did you have an annual meeting with Mr. Eric Trump related to the Trump Organization engagement?
A Correct.
Q Yes?
A Yes.
Q The Statements of Financial Condition have been discussed at any of these annual meetings?

A No, they were not.
Q You sure about that?
A Our first meeting took place subsequent to the issuance of the Statement of Financial Condition.

Q Mr. Harris, do you remember giving a deposition in May of this year?

A Yes.

Eric's role to be. You mentioned an annual meeting. You had mentioned that you/he is present at meetings between you and the managers of the hotels."

You said:
"Correct."
I asked:
"Any other interactions with Mr. Eric Trump in regards to his, like, role as either --"

I think the transcript is a little --
"-- in the capacity of an audit committee member, or --"

And then you said:
"Sure. On the audit side, those are primary discussions."

Let me just see.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
Q So then, if we skip ahead to 77, on line 11, I asked you:
"Just the high level, just the high level managerial operational stuff that you described?"

And then you said:
"Yup. Exactly right. That annual meeting we have goes through all the engagements which, the Statement of Financial Condition would be a part of that discussion."

So, does this refresh your recollection as to whether those annual meetings discussed the Statement of Financial Condition?

MR. ROBERT: Objection, your Honor.
THE COURT: And what's the ground of the objection?

MR. ROBERT: I think Mr. Gaber has to go up to the question and answer that's before that, to put that in context.

THE COURT: Well, let's do that, unless there's an objection.
Q Okay.
"Question: Did you have any meeting with either Don, Jr. or Eric, with respect to the SOFCs?"

You answered:
"Not specifically. Not specifically in relation to the, yeah, Statement of Financial Condition."

And then, the question that I just read out.
So, while not specifically, did you have any meetings in which the Statement of Financial Condition would be a part of the discussion?

A I did not have any meetings with Donald Trump, Jr. or Eric Trump in regards to the Statement of Financial Condition.

Q So, when you testified that at the annual meeting that you had that goes through all the engagements, which the Q Okay. Mr. Harris, looking at the signature block, can you tell me why this engagement letter is addressed to Mr. Eric Trump?

A As the trustee of the revocable trust and most of the properties, assets, liabilities that are included on the Statement of Financial Condition fall under the revocable trust.

Q The signature block identifies Mr. Trump as president of the Trump Organization. Did you understand that to be his role at the time of this letter?

A Yes.
Q The letter then goes on to say:
"Mr. Trump -- Dear Mr. Trump, you have requested that we prepare the financial statements of Donald J. Trump, the company, which comprise your Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2021, and the related notes to the financial statements required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, G.A.A.P., and perform a compilation engagement with respect to these financial statements. We are pleased to confirm our acceptance and understanding of this engagement by means of this letter."

So, this is, Whitley Penn will prepare the financial statements and perform a compilation engagement with respect to these statements. Is preparation and performing of the compilation engagement different than compiling the Statement of Financial Condition?

Harris - Direct by Mr. Gaber
Page 459
Statement of Financial Condition would be a part of that discussion -

A I think the question, lines seven and nine, or line nine, would be my answer, that I did not have any meetings in relation.

Q Did you discuss the Statement of Financial Condition at the annual meetings in any way?

A No.
Q That seems --
A Yes. It's contradictory, nine and fifteen are definitely contradictory, but during those annual meetings that we had in January, that's with Eric Trump and his accounting team and the property managers, and we go through the audit and other compilation engagements during that meeting.

Q Okay. Let's move on.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q So Mr. Harris, I'm handing you a document marked PX 2300 for identification. Do you recognize this document?

A Yes, sir.
Q Can you tell me what it is?
A Mazars engagement letter.
Q Engagement letter for what engagement?
A Engagement letter for the Statement of Financial Condition.

A As part of the compilation engagement, what we were doing is taking the information provided by the client, reviewing that for any obvious errors, and then adjusting it for any presentation or format issues to make sure it's in accordance with that applicable guidance.

Q Does preparation include generating valuations of assets or determining the amounts of liabilities in the financial state?

A No. We do not verify anything, in a compilation.
Q So under, Our Responsibilities, it says, "The objective of our engagement is to prepare financial statements in accordance with G.A.A.P., based on information provided by you, and then B, apply accounting and financial reporting expertise to assist you in the presentation of financial statements, without undertaking to obtain or provide any assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with G.A.A.P."

Can you describe what you mean, by without undertaking to obtain or provide any assurance?

A Correct. As part of a compilation, we could not verify the accuracy of any of the information that is provided, and we do not provide an opinion, or any assurance or conclusion, in regards to the accuracy of the information on that compilation.

Q Okay. And then a moment ago we discussed the, I believe it's pronounced SSARSs?

A Correct.
Q And you had said you discussed them, but can you tell me what they provide in the context of a compilation engagement, including the ethical principles here?

A Yes. Under SSARSs, that is the guidance and the rules that we follow. It provides the guidelines that we must follow, and the procedures that we must do to be in compliance with the compilation guidance.

Q And then the paragraph below that, it says, "We are not required to, and will not, verify the accuracy or completeness of the information you will provide to us for the engagement, or otherwise gather evidence for the purpose of expressing an opinion or conclusion. Accordingly, we will not express an opinion or conclusion, nor provide any assurance on financial statements."

Why are you not required to verify accuracy or completeness of the information?

A That's the definition of a compilation.
Q So --
A Under -- not required, under a compilation, to do those procedures.
Q Okay. And assurance here, again, I think you described it, means what?
C. Harris - Direct by Mr. Gaber

Page 463
A We are not providing any opinion or providing any conclusions in regards to the information within the Statement of Financial Condition.

Q In the next paragraph it says, "Our engagement cannot be relied upon to identify or disclose any financial statement, misstatement, including those caused by fraud or error, or to identify or disclose any wrongdoing within the entity, or noncompliance with laws and regulations."

Is this also part of the compilation standards that you have discussed?

A Correct.
Q So, this is set by the AICPA for any compilation engagement?

A Correct.
Q Can I direct to you page two? Under the header, Your Responsibilities, it says, "This engagement is -- the engagement to be performed is conducted on the basis that you acknowledge and understand that our role is, to prepare financial statements in accordance with G.A.A.P., and assist you in the presentation of the financial statements in accordance with G.A.A.P. You have the following overall responsibilities that are fundamental to our undertaking the engagement, in accordance with SSARSs."

And then there's a list here of several items that fit that description. Can I just ask, as a general matter, for all of the responsibilities listed here in the A through G -- sorry,

A through H , is it important that a client acknowledge and understand their responsibilities, as described here?

A Yes.
Q Is it necessary for them to do so in order for Whitley Penn to take and engagement such as this one?

A Yes.
Q So, beneath the list of responsibilities, the document also says that the Trump Organization would be responsible for, quote, "Designating an individual with suitable skills, knowledge and experience to oversee our preparation of your financial statements."

To your knowledge, was somebody at the Trump Organization designated for this purpose, in fact?

A Jeff McConney.
Q Jeff McConney.
So, it also says, "You are also responsible for all management decisions and responsibilities --" Sorry. That's what I just read.

Okay. Later in the document, it says, "These responsibilities are fundamental to your undertaking the engagement."

I think that you already said that Whitley Penn would require the client to acknowledge all of these things before taking it, but why are they fundamental? Can you explain that?

A Under a compilation, we are not doing anything, you know, to verify the accuracy of that information, so that responsibility and accountability follows within the client to be doing those things so that the information is correct, because we didn't do anything to verify that it is correct.

Harris - Direct by Mr. Gaber

Q And then the last sentence on this page, it says, "You are responsible for evaluating the adequacy and results of these services performed, and accepting responsibility for such services."

What does that mean to you, for a client to be responsible for those items?

A The client needs to make representations that the information that they are providing is accurate and complete, and in accordance with the framework that we are following.

Q Can we go down to the next page, then?
On page three of this, under, Our report, it says, "As part of our engagement, we'll issue a report on the compiled financial statements that will state that we did not audit or review the financial statements, and that accordingly, we do not express an opinion, a conclusion, or provide assurance on them."

I believe that you describe the assurance issue. Then it says, "Our report will disclose," and for the sake of time, I'll just say that there's a long list here of disclosures that the report will include. Are you able to summarize what these disclosures are?

A Under the compilation guidance, again, we, the management, acknowledged that the framework was going to be under G.A.A.P., and so we reviewed all of the information that we were providing, reviewed the Statement of Financial Condition and the report to ensure that it's in that proper presentation and format that follows G.A.A.P., but then you must disclose any departures from G.A.A.P., and so these are the departures from G.A.A.P.

Q So, departures from G.A.A.P. are required disclosure in a compilation report?

A Correct.
Q And so, would each one of the disclosures here be necessary to disclose, before you were to issue your compilation report?

A Restate that question?
Q So, if there is a departure from G.A.A.P. in the financial statement, you would -- would you issue the compilation report, without disclosure of that departure?

A No.
Q Okay. At the bottom of this paragraph it says, "If these provisions were to be included in the financial statements," referring to the disclosures that we just discussed, "they might influence the user's conclusions about the entities' financial position, results of operations, and cash flows. Accordingly, the financial statements will not be designed for those who are not informed about such matters.

There may be circumstances in which the report differs from the expected form and content."

Can you explain to me what it means here, that the provisions -- if the provisions were to be included, they might influence the user's conclusions? What does that mean?

A That if all this information was included, that the amounts could be different.

Q And what does it mean that the statements will not be designed for those who are not informed about such matters?

A Anybody that uses the statement should understand that the numbers have not been verified, we have not verified the accuracy of them, and we have not concluded or provided any sort of assurance on them, and that these departures could change the amounts that are being presented, on that statement of the financial condition. So, any user needs to be aware of those disclaimers.

Q Is that for the benefit of Whitley Penn, as the compiler?

You just described that it -- that you hadn't performed assurance on it, and so the user would need to be aware of that.

A I think part of it, yeah, it's for Whitley Penn. Yes.
Q Okay. So is the warning here, that users might reach a different conclusion about the financial condition of Donald J. Trump, is that wording based only on the G.A.A.P. exceptions here, the disclosure of the G.A.A.P. exceptions, or is it just broadly, that's construed.

A I believe this paragraph, specifically, that we are referring to, is talking about the disclaimers and the differences, those departures and the differences, those could make.

Q So Mr. Harris, having gone through the statements that Whitley Penn has made in the engagement letter, and looking at the Trump's organizations responsibilities in the engagement, broadly speaking, what's the role of this mutual responsibility and obligation in the engagement letter?

A The majority of the responsibility falls upon the client to do A through G , or H , that was listed on that previous page, whereas part of our compilation procedures -- again, you're gathering information from a client, reviewing it for obvious errors, and putting it into a usable format that's in accordance with the framework.

MR. GABER: Can we go to the bottom of the document?
Q So, at the bottom it says, response, "This letter correctly sets forth our understanding, The Trump Organization, acknowledged and agreed on behalf of the Trump Organization by," and then do you recognize that signature, Mr. Harris?

A Yes, I do.
Q Whose signature is that?

Harris - Direct by Mr. Gaber
based on his position at the Trump Organization?

A I would presume the trustee and president would be able to make that decision.

Q Okay. And would Whitley Penn perform a compilation report without an engagement letter?

A No.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q So Mr. Harris, I'm handing you, for identification, a document that has been marked Plaintiffs Exhibit 1512.

Do you recognize this document Mr. Harris?
A Yes. I recognize this document.
Q Can you describe to me what it is?
A Yeah. Email from another engagement team member to me. He was trying to put the agenda together that we would provide the client, as we started to begin the planning and the compilation for the Statement of Financial Condition.

1 that's the main part of what he was referring to.
$2 \quad Q \quad$ As beyond the scope of the compilation engagement?
3 A Not beyond the scope. Sorry. Restate your original question.

Q I had just asked you, I believe, and the last answer, you said that Mr. McKinnell was looking at the agenda and trying to make sure the items that were going to be discussed, that would put you in the position of providing too much assurance or getting rid of the audit scope of the compilation. I was trying to understand and identify any of the items here.
A Yes, number seven, the management inquiries. It's larger than the audit review agenda. There's more items.

Q Looking at this agenda, as you and Mr. McKinnell, as the engagement team, and two other client teams Jeff McConney, Raymond Flores and Patrick Birney, these were the individuals, the ones at this meeting?

A Correct.
Q It seems we don't have paper copies of this. Are you comfortable with just reviewing it on the screen, Mr. Harris?

A Yes.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q Can you tell us what this is?
A Our Statement of Financial Condition, the final report.
Q The Statement of Financial Condition, the final report. What are the components of this document?
A This document would be made up of our compilation report, which is our letter to the trustee that goes at the front of this report and then it's going to include the Statement of Financial Condition as well as the footnotes and disclosures.

MR. GABER: First, I'd like to admit this document in evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q You just said, Mr. Harris, you'd include our compilation report. Whitley Penn is responsible for the compilation report?
A When I say compilation report, I'm referencing just the one page that has our signature on it.

Q In addition to the compilation report, you mentioned the Statement of Financial Condition and the notes.

Who is responsible for the content of the ## Statements of Financial Condition?

A The client's responsible for that.
Q Who's responsible for the notes?
A The client is responsible for them.
Q So, at the top of this, this is the report that you were describing, right?

Harris - Direct/Gaber
Page 473

A Correct.

Q It says: "The trustee of the Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust dated April 7, 2014 as amended on behalf of Donald J. Trump, are responsible for the accompanying personal financial statement which comprises the Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30,221 and related notes to the financial statement in accordance with accounting principals generally accepted in the Untied States of America."

Then it says: "We had performed a compilation engagement in accordance with the statements on standards for accounting and review services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. We did not audit or review the financial statement nor were we required to perform any procedure to verify the accuracy or the completeness of information provided by the trustee of Donald J. Trump Revocable Trust dated April 7, 2014, as amended on behalf of Donald J. Trump. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion, a conclusion, nor provide any form of assurance on this personal financial statement."

Can you explain why this language is included in your report?

A It's going back through a lot of that compilation guidance that's stating that the client is ultimately responsible for this, as the accounting firm would be responsible for taking the information that the client provided, reviewing it for obvious errors, and putting it into the format that would then be used by GAAP in this circumstance.
Q Who is this addressed to, this report?
A The trustee.
Q It says: "The effects of these departures. These departures above," being the GAAP disclosures that were referenced in the engagement letter. You can correct me if Im wrong. "From the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America have not been determined."

Can you explain that?
A As part of the compilation guidance, the accountants are not responsible to understand what the effects of those departures from GAAP are that we've included within that disclaimer paragraph.

THE COURT: Five-minute warning.
Q It says: "Because of the significance and pervasiveness of the matters discussed above."

I'll first ask, what are the matters discussed above? What do you understand that to be?
A From the previous page, it's discussing who's responsible and that it's in GAAP, that it would not provide our assurance or conclusion on it. It includes the departure from GAAP as well.
Q It says: "Makes it difficult to assess their impact financial statement should recognize that they might reach different conclusions about the financial condition of Donald
J. Trump if they had access to a revised Statement of Financial Condition prepared in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America."

Who are the users of this personal financial statement?
A That, as my understanding, this requirement came from a lender.

Q Do you know which lender?
A I believe Deutsche.
Q Does this paragraph only refer to the disclosed exceptions to GAAP listed on the previous page?

We can go up to that, if you want to see it?
A Yeah. I think it's referring exactly to those departures from GAAP as well as this other paragraph in regards to effects of COVID on the operations of the assets.
Q This here, this is, it's labeled The Notes to Statement of Financial Condition.
Why does it say in parentheses Independent Accountant's Compilation Report?
A That's a requirement in the disclosure checklist for compilation to include that wording in there. I think it's in there so that the user will refer back to that compilation report we just went through that has those certain departures and some of that wording that provided no assurance on this information.

Q Right before we take a break, it says "assets are stated at their estimated current values and liabilities at their estimated current amount using various valuation methods."

Can you explain what that means?
A The client prepared calculations for the assets and liabilities-- well, for the assets in regards to -- they prepared calculations to get to the fair market value, the current value, or selling price of these assets.

Q The client prepared them?
A Yes.
MR. GABER: Judge, we can take a break now. Okay?

THE COURT: Another ten-minute break. Take 15 minutes.
(Recess taken.)
THE COURT: Let's get the witness.
(Whereupon, the witness enters the courtroom.)
THE COURT: Please proceed.
Q Mr. Harris, you said the client is responsible for calculating the assets and liability in the Statement of

Harris - Direct/Gaber

1 Financial Condition?
2 A Correct.
3 Q Did Whitley Penn determine any of the values presented in the Statements of Financial Condition?

A No, we did not verify the accuracy of the information.

Q Did Whitley Penn determine any valuation methods for the client to use?

A No, we did not determine any valuation methods.
Q Mr. Harris, I'm going to hand you an exhibit marked PX 050101, slip-sheet for a document provided to us. Do you recognize the spreadsheet, Mr. Harris?
A Yes, sir.
Q Can you tell me what that is?
A This worksheet, the Excel worksheet was provided by the client. It included all of the asset amounts that feed, tie back into the Statement of Financial Condition.
Q Is that the final version that was used to tie back to your final compilation report?

A If it was pulled from our work papers, it would be the final version.
Q I can represent to you it was pulled from your work papers.

A Yes.
MR. GABER: I ask that this be admitted into

C. Harris - Direct/Gaber

Page 479

$\qquad$

Q So, any asset or liability listed in this Statement of Financial Condition would be found in this document?
A The liabilities are not within this work paper.
Q Where do the liabilities come from?
A We have a separate detail for an accounts payable detail and notes payable detail that are included within our work papers that detail out all of those portions, the liability portion of Statement of Financial Condition.
Q Okay. You said that Whitley Penn would correct any obvious errors in this document; is that correct?
A Management or the clients would correct any errors that we noted. Any obvious errors, we would not make the corrections.
Q Did you perform any analysis or analytic procedure on the assets listed here?
A No, we do not.
Q I'm going to present you an exhibit now marked Plaintiffs Exhibit 1502 for identification.

Do you recognize this document, Mr. Harris?
A Yes, sir.
Q Can you tell me what it is?
A This is our representation letter. This letter is prepared by us but we provide it to the client to review and sign and return to us. It is the last work paper that we receive prior to issuing our final compilation report and it includes representations that management is making, that representations are stating that the information that the client has provided is accurate, complete, and in accordance with applicable framework.

Q The second paragraph here says: "Certain representations in this letter are described as being limited to matters that are material. Items are considered material, regardless of size, if they involve an omission or misstatement of accounting information such that in the light of surrounding circumstances there is a substantial likelihood that individually or in the aggregate, they would significantly influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the SOFC."

I just want to ask you, what does it mean if the items are considered material, regardless of size?

A On the compilation we did prepare materiality calculation but, yeah, if anything can be misconstrued by the user, regardless of that materiality that we use, yeah, it could significantly influence or change your judgment.
Q It says: "We acknowledge our responsibility and have fulfilled our responsibilities for the preparation and fair presentation of the SOFC in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America except for the following items:" Then there's, I believe, a list, we've grown very familiar with, of GAAP exceptions but would Whitley Penn have issued the SOFC if the client did not make this representation about the GAAP exceptions?

Harris - Direct/Gaber
Page 481
A No.
Q Now, in the interest of time, I won't read through all the representations but there's a number of representations in this document that are being made.

Would Whitley Penn issue the compilation report without these representations from management?
A We would not issue a report without getting the signed representation letter.
$Q$ In this form?
A In?
Q Signed representation. Would Whitley Penn have issued the 2021 SOFC without a signed representation letter in this form?

A This form?
Q This letter. Not any letter. A letter that lists out everything here?
A Correct.
MR. GABER: Apparently, I have not moved to admit this into evidence. I'd like to do so.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
MR. ROBERT: Can we ask Mr. Sherief to speak a little more into the microphone.

MR. GABER: I'll try that. Can we scroll to the Q Who would have read and comprehended the documents that were uploaded by the Trump Organization in the Mazars portal?

A Whichever staff member would have been assigned to work on an engagement would have done whatever procedures were required for the engagement they were working on.

Q Okay. And in connection with the 2016 compilations report for the Statement of Financial Condition, who would have read and reviewed the documents that were uploaded in the Mazars portal by the Trump Organization?

A I'm not sure it went into the portal. I'm just saying, it's a possibility.

Q So, the Trump Organization, it's possible, could have been uploading documents into the portal, but you don't know who would have read those documents?

A Any person who would have signed off on the document, or on the binder -- any staff member who would have worked on the, prepared the work papers, an individual entity, would sign off on the work papers that they worked on.
Q But you don't know who that was?
A On which occasion?
Q In the connection with the 2016 compilation report for the Statement of Financial Condition.

A You need to look in the binder and see who signed off on the binder.
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 491

Q Are these physical binders?
A Electronic binders.
Q They are electronic binders. Did you access to the electronic binders?

A Yes.
Q And in connection with preparing your compilation report for the Statement of Financial Condition, did you read and understand the documents that were in the electronic binders?

A I did not read -- all I did not necessarily read all of the documents.

Q Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: If we can please turn to Plaintiff's
Exhibit 740, and if we can zoom into the section that says, Our responsibilities.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
A Excuse me. Which paragraph?
Q We are looking here at, Our responsibilities, and you would agree, Mr. Bender, that this was the engagement letter prepared by Mazars in connection with the 2016 compilation report for the Statement of Financial Condition?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Do you see in paragraph two, where it says, "The objective of our engagement is to apply accounting and financial reporting expertise to assist you in the presentation of the financial statement, without undertaking to obtain or provide any assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statement in order for it to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States."

Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. What accounting and financial reporting expertise did you apply to assist the Trump Organization in the presentation of the financial statement?

A I applied compilation procedures, as deemed necessary to do this engagement.

Q Any others?
A I can't tell you what I did for the June 30, 2016 statement without my binder to see if I did anything else that I could find.

Q So, paragraph one of this document says, "The objective of our engagement is to prepare the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepting in the United States of America, based on information provided by you."

Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q So, "you," is the Trump Organization, in this case?

Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez
Page 493
A Yes, sir.
Q They would provide, you, Mazars, through Mr. Bender, information; correct?

A They provided us information, that we do compilation procedures.

Q Okay. And then you, Mazars, undertook the responsibility to apply accounting and financial reporting expertise. In the second paragraph. Do you see, in the second paragraph --

A Yes, sir.
Q -- it says, "Apply accounting and financial reporting expertise?"

A To assist.
Q To assist. So, you undertook, you promised the Trump Organization that you were going to apply Mazars allegedly considerable accounting and financial reporting expertise to assist the Trump Organization.

A We were engaged to compile financial statements.
Q But that's not what this says. This doesn't say that, We agree that it is our responsibility to apply compilation procedures, Mr. Bender. This goes a step further. It says that you are going to assist them in the presentation of the financial statements.

A Without undertaking or obtaining or providing any assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made.
Q And granted, it says that, but what meaning do you ascribe to the concept that there was expertise that you were going to apply to assist your client in preparing those financial statements?

A If you would need a further definition, I would have to reach out. We would need to get somebody who is an expert in compilations.

Q So, you are not sure of what additional expertise was applied to the Trump Organization.

A I would want to get expert help.
Q And is that something that we would be able to determine, from your time records? Did you log this in your time entries?

A Did I do the --
Q Yes.
A Did I --
Q Did you maintain time entries? All the lawyers in private practice are still traumatized by time entries.

A I did time sheets.
Q You do time sheets.
A Yes.
Q And you maintain time sheets in connection with your work on the compilation reports for the Statements of Financial Condition?
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 495

A Yes, sir.
Q And would those time sheets adequately describe the accounting and financial reporting expertise that you applied to assist in the presentation of the financial statements?

A I don't think -- you would have to check to see if there were descriptions.

Q All right. And how were those time sheets kept?
A Electronically.
Q Are they in the binders?
A No, sir.
Q Where are they kept, in the Mazars universe?
A You would have to speak to somebody in internal accounting.

Q The last time -- you retired from Mazars in what year, Mr. Bender?

A '22.
Q In 2022? And at that time, if you needed to pull up your accounting records to see your time sheets and your time entries, how would you do that?
A I would have the ability to pull up most of those, that information, yes.
Q You would have had the ability?
A Yes.
Q Affirmatively had the ability to do?
A Yes.

Q And if you needed to do it, how would you do it?
A I would load my time entry program.
MR. WALLACE: Objection, at this point. I interrupted the witness. I apologize.
MR. SUAREZ: We'll move on.
Next page.
Q Do you see this disclaimer language here, Mr. Bender, where it says that your own report will include the following and, then it has a disclaimer?

A Yes, sir.
Q And if I were to pull up the compilation report for 2016, Plaintiff's Exhibit 742 -- excuse me, Plaintiff's Exhibit 756, Plaintiff's Exhibit 756, that would have the same disclaimer?

MR. WALLACE: Objection. Im not sure the record it clear what Plaintiff's Exhibit 756 is.

THE WITNESS: That's what I want to make sure. (Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
A Yes, sir.
Q We are going to blow up 756, and it will show the disclaimer, and that disclaimer appears there, on the second paragraph of 756.

A No. That's the last paragraph.
Q Last paragraph?

Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez
Page 497
A Not the second paragraph.
Q Significance and pervasiveness of the matters discussed above?

A Yes, sir.
Q And the engagement letter was a prerequisite to you getting the engagement to prepare the compilation report; correct?

A We might have started the procedures before we received the physical engagement letter.

Q So, you did not need an engagement letter to start the procedure; is that your testimony?

A We might have started it without the -- without the --
Q My question is a little different. Did you need the engagement letter to start the procedures?

A I did not need the engagement letter to start the procedures.

Q Do the accounting, the accounting, the CPA accounting guidelines require you to have an engagement letter before you perform a compilation report?

A I would have to check. I'm not sure, off the top of my head.

THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
MR. SUAREZ: Thank you, sir.
Q If the engagement letter, in theory, predates the compilation report, and in fact predates the compilation report,

| 14 and financial reporting of the organization in order to | 14 Q Yes. Same question for Trump Tower? |
| 15 determine which clause you needed to include as a disclaimer; | 15 A Just reword the question one more time? Or reread the |
| 16 correct? | 16 question? |
| 17 A Yes, sir. | 17 THE COURT: Do you want to repeat? |
| 18 Q And you would do that, in theory, prior to preparing a | 18 MR. SUAREZ: Please. |
| 19 compilation report? | 19 THE COURT: Okay. |
| 20 A Yes, sir. | 20 (Whereupon, the requested portion of the |
| 21 Q Okay. And the next page, as to cash and marketable | 21 proceedings was read back by the court reporter.) |
| 22 securities and hedge funds, escrow reserve, deposits and, | 22 A Yes, I was. |
| 3 pre-paid taxes -- | 23 Q Same question for Trump Tower? |
| 24 MR. WALLACE: Objection. It says expenses, not | 24 A Yes, sir. |
| 25 taxes. | 25 Q Same answer? |
| D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez Page 499 | D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez Page 501 |
| MR. SUAREZ: I'm sorry. Thank you. It's late. | 1 A Yes, sir. |
| 2 Q As to cash, marketable securities and hedge funds, | 2 Q Same question for NikeTown on East 57th Street? Same |
| 3 escrow reserve, deposits, and prepaid expenses, those are two | 3 question, same answer? |
| 4 separate lines in this Statement of Financial Condition; | 4 A Yes, |
| 5 correct? | 5 THE COURT: You don't have to say, Same question, |
| 6 A Yes, sir. | 6 same answer. You can just list each property. |
| 7 Q All right. So, as to cash, marketable securities and | 7 Q And that applies, as well, to 40 Wall Street? |
| 8 hedge funds, which are listed as $$ 114,400,000$, would you agree | 8 A Yes, sir. |
| 9 that you had the ability to determine that there was no failure | $9 \quad$ Q And that applies, as well, to the Trump Park Avenue? |
| 10 to disclose the methods used to determine estimated current | 10 A Yes, sir. |
| 11 value and amount of that asset? | 11 Q And applies as well to the club facilities and related |
| 12 A What's the last word? I'm sorry. Just last word. I | 12 real estate in New York, Florida, New Jersey, California, |
| 13 didn't hear. | 13 Washington D.C., North Carolina, Scotland and Ireland? |
| 14 Q Of that asset? | 14 A Yes, sir. |
| 15 A Okay. Thank you. | 15 Q And those are identified at 2,107,800,000? |
| 16 THE COURT: I'm sorry. Just, ask the whole | 16 A Our compilation procedures, we were able to satisfy, |
| 17 question again. | 17 as part of our compilation procedures. |
| 18 MR. SUAREZ: Sure | 18 Q And the same question for the Trump World Tower at |
| 19 Q In connection with your preparation of the independent | 19 United Nations Plaza, Mr. Bender? |
| 20 account and compilation report, were you able to determine that | 20 A Yes. We were able to satisfy, as part of our |
| 21 there was no failure to disclose the method used to determine | 21 compilation procedures. |
| 22 estimated current values and amounts for that asset? | 22 Q And the same question for 100 Central Park South? |
| A I believe there were. | 23 A Yes. We were able to satisfy, as part of our |
| 24 Q You believe there were no failures? | 24 compilation procedures. |
| 25 A No failures. | 25 Q And the same question for Trump Plaza, commercial and | residential portions, in New York, New York?

A Yes. We were able to satisfy, as part of our compilation procedures at that time.

Q You say, at the time. Is there anything that's changed now?

A I don't recall. I can't tell you what's going on today.

Q With respect to the Statement of Financial Condition in 2016?

A At the time we prepared, there was no issue.
Q Okay. With respect to the Trump Palace, Trump Parc, and Trump Parc East condominiums, the commercial portions, same question Mr. Bender.

A There were no issues at that time. We had no trouble satisfying ourselves.

Q The same question for the Trump International Hotel and Tower in New York, New York, Mr. Bender?

A At that time, we had no problem satisfying ourselves.
Q And the same question for the Trump Old Post Office in Washington D.C.?

A At that time, we had no problem satisfying ourselves.
Q And would you give me the same answer if I asked about 1290 Avenue of the Americas, and 555 California Street?
A Yes, sir.
Q And the same question for the Trump International

Q This document would have been done separately?
A Yes.
Q And where would the values on this document have been divined were?

A They would have come from Jeff Supporting Data.
THE COURT: Okay. Are we through with this? MR. SUAREZ: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay. We are going to break in a minute. My Principal Law Clerk, Allison G., has questions for the attorneys about scheduling; okay?

MS. GREENFIELD: So we are starting off tomorrow morning, continuing with the cross of Mr. Bender? Is that correct?

MR. SUAREZ: That's correct.
MS. GREENFIELD: How long do you anticipate you have, remaining?

MR. SUAREZ: Depending on the answers, I will hope to be able to conclude.

MS. GREENFIELD: By the morning?
MR. SUAREZ: Tomorrow.
THE COURT: In the afternoon?
MR. SUAREZ: I think we got into pretty good rhythm. If we can keep that going --

MR. WALLACE: We are prepared to stipulate that each year Mazars issued Statements of Financial Condition.

                    Page 503
    Hotel and Tower in Las Vegas?
    A Yes, sir.
    Q Same question for real estate licensing developments?
    A Yes, sir.
    Q And when you say, Yes, sir, Mr. Bender I'm understanding that to mean that if I asked you the same question, you would give me the same answer?
        A Yes, sir.
        Q And the same for, other assets?
        A Yes, sir.
        Q And that mathematically footed to the 6,300,000,000 --
        MR. SUAREZ: Please move that up.
            Q And that footed to the $6,388,510,000 in total assets?
            A I believe so.
            Q And that's the math that you would have carried over from the supporting data which was provided to you?
            A The math would have been done separately, on the sheet.
            Q It would have been a separate document?
            A This would have been added up separately.
            Q The math to get here, the numbers that are reflected in this statement of assets.
            A I can't tell you if it was done on Excel or in Word, without seeing the line documents, but the math would have been done -- this document is separate. Would be done separately.
D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez

Page 505
I'm not sure that we need to go through every line, to get repetitive answers. We are prepared to enter into stipulations to shorten this.

MR. KISE: I think we are back to the future. We had this discussion, earlier. We'll make every effort, overnight, to streamline it, so that we can be done as rapidly as possible.

MS. GREENFIELD: Okay. Do you want to plan to have another witness, just in case?

So, who is next?
MR. WALLACE: Jeffrey McConney is the next witness.

MS. GREENFIELD: I imagine we are not going any further than that tomorrow; correct?

MR. KISE: That's probably right.
MS. GREENFIELD: Okay. Thank you.
THE COURT: Counselors, come up, one minute.
(Whereupon, an off-the-record discussion took place at the bench.)

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

THE COURT: SO, I understand some members of the press are coming in. Photographers. We are ready.

Get your best smile.
(Photographs taken.)
THE COURT: Okay. Let's start, but I'm going to stay off the record for a minute.
(Whereupon, an off-the-record discussion took place.)

D O NALD BENDER, after having been previously duly sworn, was examined and continued his testimony as follows:

THE COURT: All right counselor whenever you are ready please proceed.

MR. SUAREZ: Thank you your Honor.
CONTINUED CROSS EXAMINATION
BY MR. SUAREZ:
Q Mr. Bender, good morning.
A Good morning.
Q Did you discuss your testimony with anyone since you left the stand yesterday?
A No, sir.
Q Mr. Bender, I would like to show you a document that was previously identified as Exhibit D 950.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q It's an audit guide for personal financial statements.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Do you recognize that document?
MR. SUAREZ: Can we turn to the second page?
Q It's an audit and accounting guide; right?
A Second page?
Q Yes. Do you see where it says, Personal financial statement audit guide?

A Okay. This copy doesn't -- it's on the third page. Yes. Yes, sir.

Q Is this a document that you would have reviewed, prior to preparing a compilation report for the Statements of Financial Condition for President Donald Trump?

A I may not have reviewed it every year, but I probably have seen it, in my career.

Q You have probably seen it?
A Yes.
Q And the audit guide for personal financial statements published by the American Institute of Certified Public accountants is this something that you would have endeavored to make yourself familiar with, prior to preparing compilation reports for President Trump's Statements of Financial Condition?

A I was familiar with standard, at the time I prepared -- I compiled Mr. Trump's personal financial statements.

Q Sitting here today, do you have a recollection of having reviewed this audit guide prior to preparing compilation

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez} reports for the president's Statement of Financial Condition?
A I have no independent memory of when \(I\)-- if I did it, at that time.

MR. WALLACE: We would like to just renew our objection to this exhibit, which, the first time I objected to this coming in -- it's been superseded. It was not in place at the time of 2011, or any engagement going forward.

THE COURT: Well, I have a more fundamental issue. It says, blah, blah, blah, Audit guide. There was no audit here.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I'm more than happy to respond with two comments. Number one, I'm simply trying to establish if Mr. Bender has looked at it or relied upon it; and number two is, it does, in fact, address the compilation standards within the guide. A compilation is a form of attestation, like an auditor review. I know your Honor --

THE COURT: Okay. You have answered my objection. I'll overrule the plaintiff's objection.

MR. SUAREZ: Thank you.
I would like to move Exhibit D 950 into evidence.
THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, Defendant's Exhibit 950 was received in evidence.)

Q Mr. Bender, is this a document that you looked at,

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}
prior to doing the compilation reports? Yes or no?
A I looked at it, but I may not have looked at it every year.

Q You may not have looked at it every year. Did you look at it prior to 2011?

A I don't have any independent memory of which years I looked at it.

Q Okay. Would you have relied on the audit guide?
A It would have been something that we would have -- we would have, with help of members of Mazars, we would have used to rely on to compile the personal financial statements, as applicable.

Q This is something that would have been from Mazars' library?

A I don't know if we had libraries in those days, anymore, but it would have been available online.

Q In the online collection of reference materials, Mr. Bender?

A We would have to check that, specifically.
Q You wouldn't be sure?
A I don't remember how things worked, back then.
Q Okay. Mr. Bender, if you could please turn to page 9 of this document? And that's 9 of the compilation guide. It might not be the ninth page that's right in front of you.

MR. SUAREZ: Keep going.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Chapter two. Do you see where this document reads, compilation of financial statements?

A Yes, sir.
Q All right. Do you see, in section 2.03 , in the second line, where it says, "At a minimum, however the accountant should obtain an understanding of the methods by which the individual determined estimated current values of significant assets, and the estimated current amounts of significant liabilities, and consider whether the methods are appropriate, in light of the nature of each asset or liability?"

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: I would like to pull up Plaintiff's
Exhibit 786.
I'm sorry. 787.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed.)
Q Mr. Bender, you would agree that this is a Statement of Financial Condition for the year ending June 30, 2011?

A I'm just waiting for him to give it to me.
(Whereupon, a document was handed to the witness.)
A Yes, sir.
Q Did the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the value of each asset?

A I believe it did.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez} and asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount. Mr. Bender produced the compilation report.

THE COURT: I agree with you. Okay.
So, do you want to read back; you want to just ask it one more time? Up to you.

Q Mr. Bender, did the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A Not at the time we issued the compilation report.
Q Did the compilation report change, after you issued it?

A No, sir.
Q Mr. Bender, if you could, please turn to Plaintiff's Exhibit 815?

A Are we finished with these?
Q You can set it aside.
A Thank you.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q Mr. Bender, the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition is on the screen; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q And the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the value of each asset; correct?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

A Yes, sir. I believe so.
Q And the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability correct; sir?

A Yes. Yes, I believe so.
Q And the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount; correct, Mr. Bender?

A That is correct as of the date, at the time we issued the compilation report. Report. Yes. Report.

Q And the 2012 compilation report did not change, after it was issued; correct.

A We did not change the report.
Q And the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition did not change after it was issued; correct?

A Mazars did not recall the statement -- let me take that back. The report did not change.

Q Did the statement change?
A The statement did not change.
Q Because the report traveled with the statement; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q All right. Let's turn to Plaintiff's Exhibit 707.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Mr. Bender, is this the Statement of Financial Condition for the year ending June 30, 2013, of President Donald J. Trump?

A This is the compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2013.

Q The first page includes your compilation report; correct, Mr. Bender.

A The first page?

A Includes Mazars independent accountant's compilation report. Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And the 2013 Statement of Financial Condition, Mr. Bender, disclosed the methods used to determine the value of each asset; correct?

A I believe so.
Q You believe that?
A Yes. I'm sorry. I left the word "yes" out.
Q And the 2012 Statement of Financial Condition, Mr. Bender, disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability; correct?

A Yes. I believe so.
MR. WALLACE: I'm just going to note an objection to that question, because he said 2012.
I'm also just going to note an objection to this

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}
as cumulative. We covered this ground yesterday, and if we are just going to go through, year-by-year, to get the same answer, this is exactly the issue we objected to yesterday. THE COURT: And I'm not going to change the ruling I made in the sidebar, but I accept the premise of it.

Mr. Suarez, how long do you think you will need, to finish cross examining this witness?

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I've formulated, following your Honor's direction, last night --

THE COURT: All I did was ask you how long. How long?

MR. SUAREZ: I believe \(I\) can be done within the next hour and a half.

THE COURT: Plaintiff?
MR. WALLACE: I would like it to be faster, but if that is a hard cap, \(I\) would just as soon move along. THE COURT: All right. In my discretion, you have an hour and a half. Until noon, basically. And then, whatever it is. And, if you want, you can finish earlier. MR. SUAREZ: Understood.

MR. ROBERT: As we discussed yesterday, your Honor, I have about ten minutes or so.
THE COURT: Okay.
MR. SUAREZ: Thank you for clarifying.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

MR. AMER: I am also suggesting that if there's some way that we can say, If I asked you the same questions with respect to the statements from 2013 to 2020 that I just asked you on the statements for 2011 and 2012, would your answers be the same, I mean maybe we can get there a little sooner.

THE COURT: That's sustained, as a suggestion. Yes.

MR. SUAREZ: And I did follow your direction. I'm down to three or four questions, per statement. I'm moving quickly.

THE COURT: Okay.
Q Mr. Bender, with respect to the 2013 Statement of Financial Condition, is it correct that it disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability?

A Yes. I believe it is so.
Q Mr. Bender the 2013 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount; correct?

A Not as of the date that we issued the compilation report, independent compilation report.

Q And Exhibit 707 did not change after it was issued; correct?

A It did not change, sir.
Q Moving to Exhibit 730, Mr. Bender.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q Is this the Statement of Financial Condition dated June 30, 2014, of Donald J. Trump?

A Give me a second, please. Yes, sir. It is.

Q And Mr. Bender, the 2014 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the value of each asset; correct?

A Yes. I believe so.
Q The 2014 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability; correct?

A Yes. I believe so.
Q The 2014 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount; correct?

A Not as of the date we issued our independent compilation report.

Q And Mr. Bender, Exhibit 730 did not change after it was issued; correct?

A No, sir.
Q Moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 729.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Mr. Bender, is this the Statement of Financial Condition of President Donald J. Trump for the year ending June 30, 2015?

A This is the compilation of the Donald J. Trump Statement of Financial Condition, as of June 30, 2015.

Q The 2015 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the value of each asset; correct?

A Yes. I believe so.
Q The 2015 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability; correct?

A Yes. I believe so.
Q The 2015 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount; correct?

A Not as of the date the independent compilation report was issued.

Q Did Exhibit -- did Plaintiff's Exhibit 729 change, after it was issued?

A No, sir.
Q Thank you. Moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 756. (Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q Mr. Bender, do you recognize Plaintiff's 756 as the Statement of Financial Condition of Donald J. Trump for the year

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez} ending --
MR. WALLACE: Objection, at this point. A disclaimer. Mr. Bender viewed and identified it previously, and it was entered into evidence. I think we can just say what the document is that he has identified, and ask questions. I don't know that he needs to review it and identify it again.

THE COURT: No need to reinvent the wheel.
MR. SUAREZ: If there's an easier way to do it, I'm happy to do it, your Honor. Just for the witness's benefit.

MR. AMER: I thought I suggested an easier way that the judge sustained as a suggestion. Why can't we do that?

THE COURT: I'm torn. On the one hand, it is deja vu all over again. On the other hand, I gave him an hour and a half. So, let's try not to go over the same ground that we have already gone over, and any way you can think to save time, please do it.

MR. SUAREZ: We are already halfway through, your Honor.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

THE COURT: Objection. Overruled without prejudice.

A Yes, sir. What was your question?
Q I believe my question was whether it was a Statement of Financial Condition of President Donald J. Trump for the year ending June 30, 2016?

A This is the accountant's compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2016.

Q The 2016 Statements of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the value of each asset, correct, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q The 2016 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability, correct?

A Yes.
Q The 2016 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate amount right, Mr. Bender? Correct?

A Not as of the date the Independent Compilation Report was issued.

Q Plaintiff's Exhibit 756 did not change after it was issued, Mr. Bender?

A No, sir. It did not.
Q Moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 755. Do you

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez} recognize this document, Mr. Bender?
A Yes, sir.
Q Is this the 2017 Statements of Financial Condition of President Donald John Trump?

Q The 2017 Statement of Financial Condition disclosed the method used to determine the amount of each liability, correct, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q The 2017 Statement of Financial Condition did not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount, correct, Mr. Bender?

A Not as of the date the Independent Compilation Report was issued.

Q Did Plaintiff's Exhibit 755 change after it was issued?

A No, sir.
Q Moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 773. Do you recognize this document, Mr . Bender?

A Yes, sir.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Q Is this the 2018 Statement of Financial Condition of President Donald John Trump?

A This is the Independent Compilation Report for Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2018.

Q Does the 2018 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the value of each asset, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2018 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the amount of each liability, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2018 Statement of Financial Condition not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A As of the date the Independent Compilation Report was issued, that is correct.

Q And Plaintiff's Exhibit 773 has not changed since it was issued, correct?

A No, sir.
Q Moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 842. Do you recognize this document, Mr . Bender?

A Yes, I do.
Q Is it the Statement of Financial Condition for Donald

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}
J. Trump for the year ending June 30, 2019?

A The first question is yes, I do. What was the second question?

Q Is this the Statement of Financial Condition for President Donald J. Trump for the year ending June 30, 2019?

A This is the compilation of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2019.

Q Does the 2019 disclose-- excuse me. Withdrawn.
Does the 2019 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the value of each asset, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2019 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the amount of each liability, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2019 Statement of Financial Condition not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A As of the date of the Independent Compilation Report was issued, yes, that is correct.

Q Yes, it's correct that it does not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount correct?

A As of the date of the Independent Compilation

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Report.
Q Plaintiff's Exhibit 842 did not change after it was issued?

A No, sir. It did not.
Q Okay. Moving on to 2020. Plaintiff's Exhibit 856. Do you recognize this document, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, sir.
Q Is this the Statement of Financial Condition for President Donald J. Trump for the year ending June 30, 2020?

A This is the Compilation Report of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2020.

Q Does the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the value of each asset, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition disclose the method used to determine the amount of each liability, Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so.
Q Does the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition not present any asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount?

A As of the date the Independent Compilation Report was issued, that is correct.

Q Exhibit -- Plaintiff's Exhibit 856 did not change

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez} after it was issued, correct?
A No, sir, it did not.
Q Mr. Bender, you never spoke with Eric Trump about his father's Statement of Financial Condition, correct?

A I may have had -- nothing with the actual compilation of the report.

Q What does that mean?
A I may have had a side conversation with him once about something. I don't recall.

Q You don't recall?
A Yes.
Q Is there any conversation you do recall having with Eric Trump about his father's Statement of Financial Condition?

A There was one conversation in a conference room about one asset once but \(I\) don't recall what it was. Many years ago, I believe.

Q How many years ago, Mr. Bender?
A I know within the last ten years.
Q Within the last ten years?
A Yes.
Q All right. Can we bring up-- do you recall having a discussion with me about this at your deposition, Mr. Bender?

A I do not recall that.
Q Would it be helpful to refresh your recollection if I

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez} showed you a clip from your deposition transcript?
A You can show me a clip.
MR. SUAREZ: Please play transcript 237, page
237 line 7 to 238 line 18.
(Video played.)
Q Why is it that you have any better recollection today, Mr. Bender?

A I remember one conversation maybe when he asked me a question in the conference room once about an asset but I don't remember which asset it was. It wasn't the actual preparation, but, \(I\) do remember one question one time.

Q Mr. Eric Trump asked you a question?
A There was one conversation for a minute or two. I don't remember what it was about.

Q You responded to Mr. Eric Trump's question?
A The issue was resolved. I don't remember what the issue was.

Q Whatever the issue was, it was resolved to your satisfaction?

A Yes, sir.
Q An issue that you can't remember what it was?
A Yes, sir.
Q Mr. Bender, did you ever speak with Donald Trump, Jr. about his Statement of Financial Condition?

A Not that I recall.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Q Mr. Bender, you never spoke with Ivanka Trump about her father's Statement of Financial Condition, correct, Mr. Bender?

A Not that I recall.
Q Mr. Bender, in fact, with respect to Ms. Trump, are you aware she invested over \($ 7.5\) million under the terms of a lease into penthouse 20 at the Trump Park Avenue?

A Say that again, please.
Q Are you aware of Ms. Trump, Ms. Ivanka Trump ever invested \($ 7.5\) million under the terms of the lease into penthouse 20 at the Trump Park Avenue?

MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: Ground?
MR. WALLACE: No foundation for that question.
THE COURT: I don't think the way it's worded needs a foundation. Let's just get an answer. Go ahead.

A I don't recall.
Q Mr. Bender, you described Mr. McConney, several times, as someone for whom you have a tremendous amount of respect?

A I said he was a good accountant.
Q Do you have a tremendous amount of respect for Mr . Bender?

THE COURT: For Mr.?
MR. SUAREZ: I'm sorry.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Q For Mr. McConney?
A Not really, no.
Q Do you recall your testimony from Monday?
A I do not.
MR. SUAREZ: I'd like to bring that up, if I may use it to refresh the witness's recollection, your Honor. Your Honor, may I have a second?

THE COURT: Sure.
(Brief pause. )
MR. SUAREZ: I apologize. We're having technical difficulties.

THE COURT: These things happen but it's part of your hour and a half.

MR. SUAREZ: I understand.
Q I apologize. October 3rd, it was Tuesday. You say, Mr. Bender, where I asked you:
"You and Mr. McConney were close friends at one point; were you not."

You said: "We didn't have a relationship outside of work but we get long well."

I said: "You got along well?"
And you said: "I had a tremendous respect for him. He is a very good accountant."
A That's past tense. You asked me if I have tremendous respect today.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Q You lost your respect for Mr. McConney?
A It's a little different today than it was back when we were younger.

Q When you were younger?
A When I had hair and he had hair too, and, his hair was blond back then, not white.

Q Is that Mr., Bender, because-- withdrawn.
Did you ask Mr. McConney to provide you everything that he had relied upon in coming up with the supporting data for the Statements of Financial Condition?

A He was supposed to get us all information that he had to -- he was giving us a full package of what he thought was necessary.

Q Of what he thought was necessary?
A He gave us all his supporting data.
Q His supporting data for things he used to prepare the Statement of Financial Condition supporting data, correct?

A Say that again, please.
Q Information that he used to prepare the supporting data spreadsheets?

A Yes, and, I'd ask for supplemental things, like appraisals, that we previously discussed, if any.

Q Did he ask you to provide you things that he didn't use in preparing the Statement of Financial Condition?

A Say that again, please.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Suarez}

Q Did he-- withdrawn.
Did you ask Mr. McConney to provide you with things that he didn't use in preparing his supporting data spreadsheets?

MR. WALLACE: Objection. Asked and answered.
THE COURT: It's a strange question. Can you read back that question? Maybe I missed something.
(Read back.)
THE COURT: Well, again, I'm not an accountant but I don't know why you'd ask for things he didn't use. You'd ask for things he did use.

MR. SUAREZ: If it's that he didn't ask him, then he didn't ask him to give him things he didn't use.

THE COURT: I'm overruling the objection. I'm just telling you how I see things.

A I did ask him for things like appraisals that he did not use.

Q You asked him?
A From-- not in every year, as I previously testified. I did ask a number of years for appraisals.

Q The only thing you asked him to produce to you, to send you, were appraisals that he didn't use in preparing the Statement of Financial Condition; is that correct?

A That is the only thing I can recall at this time.
Q That is the only thing you can recall. The only

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Did you send him an email saying, I never asked, please send me every appraisal you didn't use in preparing your supporting data?

A No, sir.
Q Did you send him a text message asking him to send you every appraisal he didn't use in preparing his supporting data?

A I don't use text that much. No, sir.
Q Did you ever send him an email asking him to send you any appraisals?

A I don't recall.
Q Did you ever ask him to provide you with appraisals in the presence of anyone else?

A I don't recall.
Q Did you ever ask him to send you any appraisals in writing?

A Can you clarify that question, please?
Q Did you ever ask Jeff McConney to send you any appraisals in writing?

A In writing?
Q Did you ever write Mr. McConney and say, Please send me any appraisals?

A Not that I recall.
Q Not that you recall.
Did you ever have this discussion with Mr. McConney asking him to provide you with appraisals he didn't use, while

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez} anyone else was present?
A I don't recall.
Q You knew that the Trump Organization had appraisals in their possession; correct?

A Not necessarily.
Q You had no idea that the Trump Organization had appraisals in his possession?

A I knew there were certain appraisals that had been given. I don't recall any other appraisals that I --

Q Are you familiar with the real estate industry?
A Somewhat.
Q Somewhat. You are not an expert in real estate; right?

A I'm a real estate accountant.
Q A real estate accountant?
A Amongst other areas.
Q And a real estate accountant couldn't be expected to know that a company that owns massive amounts of real estate would have appraisals in its files?

A I asked for, if they have any appraisals.
Q You asked?
A Yes.
Q In passing?
A As a question.
Q Did you ever make that request, in writing?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

A No, sir.
Q Was that an important thing for you to look at?
A Say that again, please.
Q Were appraisals an important thing for you to look at?
A I would have liked to have had all information available.

Q Okay. You knew that the Trump Organization had loans on its books; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q And you knew that those loans were backed by real estate, right; Mr. Bender?

A Many of them.
Q Many of them. And you knew that you typically, in real estate, can't get a loan backed by real estate if there's no appraisal that the bank orders; right?

A That is sometimes correct, yes.
Q Okay. So you would have known that the Trump Organization had appraisals in its records?

A I didn't know that the Trump Organization had access to any appraisals the banks had.

Q It's not a staggering concept to understand that a company that owns insane amounts of real estate all over the world had appraisals in its books?

A I didn't know the Trump Organization had any access to appraisals they did not give me.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Okay. And how many appraisals did the Trump Organization give you, Mr. Bender?

A I don't recall.
Q You don't recall. Do you remember on Monday when you talked about learning that there were appraisals that you didn't know about after meeting with the District Attorney of New York?

A Say that again, please?
Q Do you recall on Monday what you testified in response to a question from Mr. Wallace about first learning that the Trump Organization had appraisals that you didn't know about, when you met with the District Attorney of New York?

A Not particularly. That's what I said.
Q I'm sorry?
A Not particularly.
Q You don't recall your testimony, or you don't recall learning that from the District Attorney of New York?

A I don't remember my exact testimony.
Q You don't recall your exact testimony --
MR. SUAREZ: This is what happens when I try to go fast.

Q And you generally remember testifying on Monday that in your meeting with the District Attorney of New York, you learned, or you testified that that was when you learned, that the Trump Organization had appraisals that you hadn't seen?

A Yes. That, I do recall.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Okay. And that, just so I understand your testimony Mr. Bender, that was the first time you learned that the Trump Organization had appraisals that it hadn't given you?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And you couldn't really remember what year that meeting took place; is that right?

A The first meeting with the District Attorney?
Q Yeah.
A I believe of was in the spring of -- that was 20 -the last time -- I believe it was in the spring of ' 21.

Q Okay. And you remembered having a Zoom meeting with him, and that's when he showed you these appraisals?

A It was. It was a Zoom -- we were on Zoom with the District Attorney, so this is the first time -- I don't know if we were saw them physically, but this was the first time I was informed of it.

Q And then all of a sudden, you remember having made a request, back in 2013, that appraisals -- that you had made a request for appraisals from Mr. McConney; is that right, Mr. Bender?

A No, sir. I remember it because I requested it.
Q You remembered that, over a number of years. Did you ask in 2013?

A I don't remember specifically which years, but I know I asked the question numerous sometimes.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Oh you asked the question numerous times?
A Most of my years I did ask, yes. And starting around, I believe -- I thought I testified yesterday -- when we -- the appraisals first appeared for TIHT Commercial, LLC or Trump Plaza, LLC, I asked -- that's when I starting asking, Do you have any other appraisals.

Q And that's when you first learned that the Trump Organization had access to appraisals?

A Say that again, please?
Q That is what you first learned that the Trump Organization had access to appraisals?

A That's the first time that it came to my attention, during the compilation procedure, that I asked the question.

Q You told me at one point that you were the head of the Long Island Real Estate Group for Mazars; is that correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q The Long Island Real Estate Group for a big fancy accounting firm and you didn't know that a real estate developer would have appraisals on its real estate available to them?

A I asked the client the question. They made a representation. They gave it to me, and they told me they didn't have any other appraisals.

Q You asked -- well, your testimony is that you made a request to Mr . McConney that was never documented.

A I asked them for appraisals -- let me finish. I asked. The representation letter said that they gave me all relevant -- whatever we pulled. I don't want to say what the representation letter said, off the top of my head. We can bring one up. But they represented they gave me everything I needed.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q The representation letter that you drafted, and didn't request appraisals?

A The representation letter asked for all relevant data. We can get the exact language, if you would like to.

Q And do you think, Mr. Bender, that all relevant data includes things that people don't rely on, in preparing documents? Is that relevant data?

A I felt -- yes, I do.
Q Okay. So, the head of the Long Island Real Estate Practice Group at Mazars, the big fancy accounting firm that the president hired to compile their Statements of Financial Condition, thinks that it's relevant to review appraisals that weren't relied on in preparing spreadsheets, but never puts it in writing, doesn't put it as part of his representation letter that he drafted for his client of 30 years to sign, and all of a sudden this becomes an issue when you are in front of the District Attorney?

A No, sir. I asked them, at the time.
Q Oh. At the time. Never followed up. Never said to Weisselberg, Hey, send your appraisals. Never sent the president an email saying, Hey, I don't have a single appraisal for your massive, giant real estate holding company that we have done over 280 engagements for, that you prepare tax returns, that you know have books and records and loans, it never crossed your mind that is an entity that could have appraisals?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

MR. WALLACE: Objection to form.
THE COURT: That's not what he's testifying to. Objection sustained.

Q Mr. Bender, did the District Attorney of New York threaten you with prosecution?

A No, they did not.
Q Did they threaten Mazars with prosecution?
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Do you know that Mr. Pomerantz, the gentlemen that you met with when you met with the district attorney, put in his book that Mazars sent you there to meet without your own lawyer?

A You informed me of that.
Q Yes. And is that the case, that Mazars sent you in there to meet with the District Attorney of New York without your own lawyer?

A I had counsel with me.
Q Counsel from Mazars?
A I believe they were my counsel.
Q You thought Mazars lawyers were your lawyers?
A I had my own counsel.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

Q Okay. From Mazars?
A Mazars and I had counsel.
Q So is Mr. Pomerantz lying, in his book?
A I never saw Mr. Pomerantz's book, but --
Q Okay.
A Let me finish. I had counsel with me, and I was satisfied that I had appropriate counsel at all times.

Q And was that when Mr. Pomerantz informed Mazars of the precarious legal position that they were in, if they didn't play ball?

A I have no knowledge of that.
Q You have no knowledge of that. The lawyers Mazars provided you when they met with the District Attorney told you nothing about that?

A I have no knowledge of that.
Q Okay. And it was in this meeting when, all of a sudden, it dawns on you that you had made a request for appraisals?

A No, sir. I knew I had made the request, beforehand.
Q Right. And you never got it?
A Never received it. Requesting additional -- when the question came up, Do you have any official appraisals to give me, they never supplied me with any additional appraisals.

Q Mr. Bender, in the last three days, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, you testified, "I don't know," or, "I don't remember," over 89 times in response to questions, both from me and Mr. Wallace.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

A Mr. who?
Q Wallace.
A Okay. Sorry. My apologies.
THE COURT: It was his birthday yesterday.
THE WITNESS: Mr. Wallace's birthday?
MR. WALLACE: The nightmare continues.
THE WITNESS: Happy birthday.
Q But that, you do remember?
A What was the question again, please?
Q You do remember requesting appraisals from Mr. McConney?

A Numerous times. Yes, sir.
Q Numerous times. Numerous times, and you never received them?

A I never received any -- I did not receive any additional appraisals, that they didn't supply as part of his package.

Q And you said, Oh, okay. The Trump Organization must not have appraisals.

THE COURT: That's not his testimony.
Q Did you conclude that the Trump Organization didn't have appraisals?

A I didn't need to make a conclusion. I asked the

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez} question; they gave me an answer; and they made representations that they gave me all relevant data.

Q Okay. And in your --
A I don't know the exact words. We can pull it up on the screen.

Q We are happy to pull them up.
In your mind, relevant data is documents that you didn't rely on?

A We can pull it up.
Q Okay. Mr. Bender, I have to ask you the question, are there any mental health reasons that you can't testify here today?

A No, sir.
MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: Overruled.
Q Let me show you Defendant's Exhibit 729.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
A Do you want me to read this?
Q Have you seen it before?
A I have to read it.
Q Okay.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
Q I can draw your attention to the specific part of the document I intend to ask you about. On page two of the document, a document prepared by Mazars and sent to the Trump Organization concerning the transition away from Mazars to a new accounting firm.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

MR. WALLACE: Just, objection. What is the basis for that? I'm just not familiar with the basis for the statement that this was drafted on Mazars and to the Trump Organization.

THE COURT: Well, I'll give counsel a little leeway.

So, where we are going?
Q It talks about Mazars' transition being contingent on the physical and mental health of Donald Bender.

A I see that.
Q Okay. Did you disclose to Mazars that you had a mental health condition that precluded them from terminating -from continuing their transition to a new accounting entity?

A No, sir.
Q Then why would Mazars imply to us, to the Trump Organization, that your mental health was a consideration in whether they could continue to transition and comply with their professional obligations in assisting to transitioning to a new accounting firm?

MR. WALLACE: Objection to the implication part.
THE COURT: Overruled.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}

A You would have to ask Mazars.
Q Okay. Was there ever a physical or mental condition that should have been disclosed to the Trump Organization?

A Any health issues I had, they were aware of.
Q The Trump Organization was aware?
A Mr. Weisselberg knew I had certain health issues, over the years, but nothing serious.

Q Okay. So you discussed your personal health issues with Mr. Weisselberg?

A We had some common health issues over the years.
Q Okay. But you never said to Mr. Weisselberg, someone that you could talk to about your health issues, you never said to him, Let me see your appraisals?

A I don't recall if I ever asked Mr. Weisselberg for his appraisals.

Q All right. I'm sorry?
A I don't recall if I spoke to Mr. Weisselberg about appraisals.

Q Okay. You don't recall, you don't recall, you don't recall.

So, for specific questions you don't recall, other than you do remember, you do recall, asking Jeff McConney for an appraisal, but everyone else, you don't recall anything else -MR. SUAREZ: Withdrawn.

Q Is there any reason here, based on this document that

\section*{D. Bender - Cross by Mr. Suarez}
we received from Mazars, that your testimony shouldn't be relied on because of your mental or physical health?

A This memo was drafted by Mazars, no, I have no physical or mental health issues that you have to be worried about, today.

Q You disclosed no physical or mental health issues to Mazars?

A I have had some health issues, and Mazars is aware of them, and nothing serious?

Q Did any of them impair your ability to do your job for the Trump Organization, Mr. Bender?

A My physical issues have been the last few months, and they were resolved within two weeks.

Q And were there any mental health issues that challenged your memory when you conducted your engagements for the Trump Organization?

A No, sir.
Q Okay. That, you do recall; correct?
A I have no mental health issues.
MR. SUAREZ: No further questions on cross examination, your Honor.
THE COURT: Thank you. Will there be --
MR. ROBERT: Me, sir.
THE COURT: That's right. You wanted ten minutes, I believe.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

> MR. ROBERT: May I proceed, your Honor? THE COURT: Please proceed.

CROSS-EXAMINATION
BY MR. ROBERT:
Q Good morning, Mr. Bender. It's still morning?
A Good morning.
Q So, in order to-- when I was sitting there yesterday I had a little bit of difficulty hearing you. So, what I'm going to ask you to do is speak into the mic, and, following the Judge's admonition, or statement, a while ago, I'm going to ask you to give me yes or no answers to my questions.

To the extent you feel you can't, I know the Judge said you can say it's not able to be answered. So, ask me, and, I'll be happy to rephrase the question so we can have a dialogue and it's easier for the reporter to write it down. Fair enough, sir?

A We'll do our best.
Q So, over the last couple of days where Mr. Suarez left off --

THE COURT: Wait a minute. That was supposed to be a yes or no question.

MR. ROBERT: I'm starting out that way. It's going to wind up with a yes or no, I promise.

Q In Mr. Suarez's last few minutes of his questioning of you, he brought to your attention, correct, that over the last few days you answered "I don't know" and "I don't recall" approximately 90 times.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Do you remember that?
A I believe he said 89, but you can check the court record.

Q So, that you remember, and I'm glad you do. You're an accountant, and I'm a lawyer. So, you're good with numbers. So, about 89 times, right?

A I believe that's what he said.
Q Okay. Do you recall a couple of days ago, actually Wednesday morning, which would have been yesterday morning, Mr. Suarez asked you the following:
"Question: Did your counsel speak to anyone from the New York Attorney General's Office?"

You said:
"Answer: You have to speak with them."
Then the question was:
"Are you aware if your counsel spoke to anyone from the New York Attorney General's Office?
"Answer: I don't recall any conversation with counsel last night.

So, is your testimony that when you were here yesterday morning testifying, you don't remember if you had a conversation with your counsel the night before?

A Say that again, please.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q Yesterday morning you testified that you couldn't recall if you had a conversation with your counsel Tuesday night.

So, you don't remember yesterday morning whether your lawyer spoke with the Attorney General Tuesday night?

A I don't remember Wednesday morning if I had a consult Tuesday night? I do not know what conversations my client -- my counsel had -- my counsel had with the Attorney General.

Q Did you speak to your lawyer Tuesday night, yes or no? I don't want to know the contents of it, but, did you speak with your lawyer Tuesday night?

A I believe I did.
Q As you sit here today, on Thursday morning, you don't remember if, on Tuesday night, after your first day of testimony, you spoke could your lawyer; is that your testimony?

A Say that again, please.
Q Is it your testimony, as you sit here today, on Thursday morning, that you don't remember if on Tuesday night you spoke to your lawyer or not?

A I spoke to my lawyer because they wanted --
Q Don't tell me what you spoke about, please.
A You're right.
Q Now, you remember you spoke to him Tuesday night?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A Yes.
Q Did you speak to him last night?
A Yes.
Q Do you know if he spoke to the Attorney General last night?

A I do not know.
Q During the course of Mr. Suarez's examination of you, you said that during the course of your engagement for the Trump Organization there were two or three times that you had a question about how they were handling certain GAAP issues in the Statement of Financial Condition.

Do you remember that?
A No, I do not remember that being my testimony. I believe, if we're talking about the same matter, I believe there were two or three times where we discussed GAAP exceptions.

Q There were two or three times, during the course of your engagement, where you discussed GAAP exceptions, correct? Yes or no?

A There were two or three times where we discussed it, newer GAAP exceptions. I believe my testimony was two times, not three times.

Q So, there were two times you talked to the Trump Organization about issues of GAAP exceptions, correct?

A That's all I recall at this moment.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q That is all you recall at this moment, that there were two times, correct?

A That is all I can recall right now.
Q Will you agree with me GAAP exceptions are an important part of a Statement of Financial Condition?

A Yes, sir.
Q As a matter of fact, at the beginning of the Statement of Financial Condition is where it's listed what those GAAP exceptions are, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q And I know you testified you're --
A Let's take it back. There are two or three times where I discussed new GAAP exceptions with him.

Q New GAAP exceptions and every time you had a conversation, the Trump Organization agreed with what your assessment was and either-- it changed the GAAP exceptions to reflect something that you and Mazars were comfortable with, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q So, every time you, as the accountant, go to the Trump Organization, you have a discussion about a concern you have about GAAP, they comply with what you're suggesting, correct?
It's a simple question, sir. Please.

A We came to a --

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, please. THE COURT: I believe it's capable of a yes or no.

A Yes.
Q Yes. Then the period of those times, you were the partner in charge of the Statement of Financial Condition project, correct?

A I was a partner in charge of the compilation, yes.
Q Okay. We talked about, or Mr. Suarez talked to you the other day about ASC 274. You remember that?

A I don't remember the exact questions, no, sir.
Q Do you remember that the words ASC 274 were discussed over the last few days?

A Yes.
Q I'll be honest with you, before this trial, I would have thought it was a motor oil. I wouldn't have known it has anything to do with accounting, but, you know ASC 274 has to do with accounting, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q I think your testimony was if you had specific questions about it, you'd go next door or talk to somebody else at Mazars, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q Can we at least agree you have the requisite knowledge and experience and training to know that ASC 274 is

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert} the governing principles behind what needs to be in a Statement of Financial Condition?

Would you agree with that?
A At the time I was doing the engagement, I had the appropriate knowledge, correct.

Q So --
THE COURT: Wait a minute. That didn't answer the question.

MR. ROBERT: Can we have the question read back?
THE COURT: Please read back and listen carefully.

MR. ROBERT: Thank you.
(Read back. )
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. During the time that you were in charge of the Statement of Financial Condition assignment from-- on behalf of Mazars for the Trump Organization, you had that knowledge, correct?

A Yes.
Q To the extent you had specific questions about it, you would go to other people within Mazars to ask specific questions, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q That you remember, correct?
A Yes, sir.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q Okay. But as you sit here today, you also remember now that you asked Jeff McConney every year for appraisals; is that what your testimony is?

A I said most years.
Q So --
A Started in, approximately, I believe, you can check my testimony. I thought I said something like 2013.

Q Can you speak into the microphone?
A Can't get much closer without kissing it.
Q I don't think it wants that. Don't worry.
A It's the first time I've had one without a cover since I've testified in the last few years. I believe my testimony is, I asked most years. I could have missed one but I did ask most years and I believe my testimony was 2013. I believe, but, we can pull that up, if you'd like to confirm that.

Q So, your testimony today, under oath, is that you, specifically, recall, on one or more occasions, Jeff McConney to give you every appraisal that he had. Is that your testimony?

A My testimony is --
Q Yes or no, sir, please.
A My testimony is that I asked for -- do you have any other appraisals.

Q That is not my question, sir. Did you or did you

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert} not, as you sit here today under oath, ask Jeff McConney, on one or more occasions, give me all the appraisals you have. Yes or no?

A That's not the words I used. My words were, do you have any other appraisals.

Q So, is your testimony then that it was only on a year that you got one appraisal, you'd ask him if he had more appraisals? Yes or no, sir?

A No. My testimony is that when the Trump Plaza LLC, Trump Plaza LLC, and TIHT Commercial LLC appraisal appeared, I asked: Do you have any-- that's when I started asking: Do you have more appraisals.

Q Mr. Bender, please. You keep saying when you started. I'm trying to make it clear for the record because in a little while, Mr. McConney will raise his right hand and will be asked these very same questions by Mr. Wallace and his colleagues, because I want to tee this up now because I, respectfully submit, there is going to be a difference. So, let's be clear.

So, is it your testimony now that on specific years, you told Jeff McConney: Give me all the appraisals you have. Yes or no?

A My --
Q Please, sir. Mr. Wallace can --
THE COURT: Yes or no. If you want it read

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert} back, read it back or --
THE WITNESS: Read it back.
THE COURT: Let's have a read back.
(Read back.)
A I would submit that's the word "ask" not "told" but the answer would be yes.

THE COURT: Is that sufficient?
MR. ROBERT: I'm going to probe a little, sir.
Q So, you asked Jeff McConney every year to give you appraisal's to the extent he had any appraisals. That's your testimony under oath?

A Say that question again, please.
Q Your testimony under oath today is that every year you asked Jeff McConney to provide you with any appraisal he may have had; yes or no, sir?

A I never said every year.
Q You don't recall. Let's take a step back.
On the years that you did, is that question-- is that the way you phrased it to Mr. McConney?

A The way I phrased it to Mr. McConney is: Do you have any other appraisals.

Q Mr. Bender, we're having a disconnect here, because, when you say: Do you have any others, that presupposes there was one. So, since you don't remember what year it was, I was trying to help jog your memory.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

So, is it your testimony then that only on the years when you got one appraisal, you said: Hey, Jeff, do you have any more?

A My testimony is when I got THIT Commercial and Trump Plaza Commercial's appraisals, I said: Are there any more appraisals.

Q So, that is one time?
A No, that is when it started, and, I asked most years.

Q You asked-- so, on a year that there were no other appraisals given to you as backup for the SOFC, you said: Hey, Jeff, do you have any other appraisals?

A I asked him: Do you have appraisals, at the time the first ones appeared.

Q So, your testimony is, after the first one appeared in the year, you don't know every year, you would say to Jeff McConney, do you have any other appraisals, even if he didn't give you any appraisals for that year? Yes or no, sir? Please.

A Say that, again, please.
MR. ROBERT: Can I have it read back, please? THE COURT: Read back.

A Yeah.
MR. WALLACE: I'm going to object at this point.
His testimony has been clear. Mr. Robert keeps

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert} rephrasing it in different forms.
THE COURT: Overruled. I hope we don't need another read back. Let me see.

MR. ROBERT: I'm trying to do it in as tight a way I can, Judge.

THE COURT: You seem to be asking if there weren't any, would he ask for any others, and, logically, you can't say are there any others, if there weren't any.

MR. ROBERT: That is what I'm going to get at. I respectfully summit you're going to here diametrically opposed testimony, either today or tomorrow, from Mr . McConney, because, in my opening, I told it's all about credibility, and, I stand before you today saying the same thing.

So, I want to figure out exactly what it is you say you said because that is not the way we see things.

MR. WALLACE: I will object to the representation about what other people will testify to that have not appeared in court.

THE COURT: Sustained. You should not do that. I think I have it fairly simple.

MR. ROBERT: Please try, Judge.
THE COURT: If you didn't receive any appraisals for a given year, would you actually say: Do you have any others?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

THE WITNESS: Do you have any appraisals. Do you have any others. I apologize to the court if I had the wrong word, but, starting at the point when he started giving me appraisals, I started asking: Do you have any other appraisals or you have any appraisals -or have any appraisals. I started asking for appraisals at the point when the first appraisal appeared.

Q That is different from what you've been saying. So, let's be clear.

Are you saying that you would either say to him: Now, do you have any appraisals, or, do you have any other appraisals, or, to you, does it mean the same thing?

A To me, it's the same thing.
Q So, you don't remember exactly what it is you said to Mr . McConney on the years you don't remember what the years were?

A I don't remember word for word but I know I asked for appraisals.

Q You know you asked Jeff McConney for appraisals. You don't remember the words you used?

A I --
Q Correct? Yes or no?
A No, I do not remember the exact words.
Q No one was witnessing when you asked for these, correct?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A I don't recall.
Q You didn't send him any e-mails about it?
A No, I don't recall.
Q You didn't send him any text messages about it?
A I don't text, generally.
Q You don't recall texts. You don't recall e-mails. You don't recall if anyone is in the room, but, you have a specific recollection today that you asked him for it, but, you still don't remember if you even spoke to your lawyer two nights ago, right?

A I said I did speak to my lawyer two nights ago.
Q You don't really know what you asked Jeff McConney for. Do you, sir?

A Yes, I do.
Q Sir, you're aware of the accepted standards of practice for an accountant, correct? Generally speaking?

A Generally speaking, yes, sir.
Q You know that if you depart from generally accepted accounting standards, liability can be imposed, correct?

A Yes.
Q It can be liability in terms of accounting malpractice, correct?

A I believe so.
Q And there can be regulatory and criminal obligations that flow from it, correct?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A Yes, sir.
Q You know, as you sit here today, that, to the extent you give any admission that shows you departed from general and accepted accounting standards, that potentiality you and Mazars will be sued by our clients, correct?

A I never really thought about that.
Q You never thought about the fact that there was liability? Perhaps, that our client would sue Mazars or you?

A It wasn't my biggest concern, no, sir.
Q You just went from it wasn't a concern to it wasn't your biggest concern. Can we at least agree it was a concern of yours?

A Not really sir, no. I wasn't worry about it.
Q You didn't worry about that. You're not worried your testimony today will be scrutinized by regulator, or are you?

A Never thought about it.
Q What about the authorities?
A Which authorities?
Q The District Attorney's Office, US Attorney. You're not concerned your testimony will be scrutinized by them?

A No, sir.
Q Okay. That, you're certain of?
A Yes, sir.
Q You know, another thing you weren't too sure about over the last few days is how big a client our clients were to

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}
you.
Do you remember, generally, that testimony?
A I don't remember the exact revenue stream, if that's what you're talking about.

Q I think we established pretty clearly that in any given year for the last ten years, the fees generated by Mazars was over a million dollars?

A Yes.
Q Some years, as high as 2.6 million?
A I don't recall the exact number.
Q Can we at least agree they were your biggest client?
A My biggest client, yes.
Q Can we agree they were a cache client to have?
A Me, personally?
Q Yes.
A I wasn't really into-- it wasn't a cache thing for me.

Q Do you think, as you sit here today, you would have been made a partner at a large firm like Mazars but for the fact the Trump Organization and affiliated members were your clients?

A I can't speak to what Mazars would have done or didn't do.

Q How much of your business, percentage-wise, is not Trump related-- withdrawn.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

From 2010 to 2020, on average --
MR. ROBERT: And I'm not going year by year,
Judge. I promise.
Q For those ten years, on average, the Trump Organization was your largest clients, right?

A Yes, sir.
Q More than 50 percent of your revenue was generated by them, correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q If we added up all the other clients you had, it was going to be less than the amount of money the Trump Organization generated for fees for you, correct, in any given year? True?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. You know, there was also some testimony about your-- and I'm going to use the word, and then I'll change it. Your review of the McConney spreadsheets. You remember?

A I don't remember using the word "review".
Q There was a whole back and for you and Mr. Suarez using the word "review." It dawned on me, to accountants, review means something different than it means to the rest of us, right?

A Yes.
Q We have three levels to review. Financials, right? We have an audit?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A You're using the word "review" inappropriately, but, I understand where you're going.

Q That's great because during the break, since we were allowed to bring in our iPads, I was looking for a synonym for review so \(I\) can use a word we both agree on.

Can we use the word inspect?
A Look at.
Q Well, it's funny. You have a different-- I looked at the definition of look because you had a different definition of "look" yesterday. When you said "look" is kind of skimming. You remember that?

A No.
Q When you look at something. When you look at something are you comprehending what's in there?

THE COURT: This is starting to sound like the interrogation of Bill Clinton. It depends upon what the definition of "is" is.

Q I want to ask some questions about the McConney spreadsheets and I know if I used the word "review," the answer will be I didn't, and, I appreciate it wasn't a review, and, I can't say did you compilate the spreadsheet. So, I'm trying to come to a term we can agree on.

THE COURT: He's suggested looked at and inspect.

A Worked on.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q Worked on? Okay.
A Use. Use. Whatever you prefer.
Q So, you worked on?
A Used, I like but go ahead.
Q Used is a better word?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. So, my English will be a little bad for the record because I'll use the word "use". You used the McConney spreadsheets?

A Mazars used the McConney spreadsheets, yes.
Q So did you?
A I'm part of Mazars. Yes, sir. I was part of Mazars.
Q When this was discussed the other day, the Judge took judicial notice the other day that companies act through people.

So, can we agree that Mazars acted through you as the primary liaison with the defendants in this case? Fair enough?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay.
A For a number of years.
Q I'm sorry?
A For the last --
Q Last ten years. Before 2020. 2010 to 2020?

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A Yes, sir.
Q We can agree on that? Okay.
When you used the McConney spreadsheets, you made a very big point of saying you didn't go through them line by line. Remember that?

A Yes, sir.
Q I want to be clear. I'm not suggesting -- we can take a step back.

Do you think you had an obligation to go through them line by line?

A No, sir.
Q We can agree, in a world of levels of seniority in an organization, you may not be looking line by line, like I might not be looking at citations in a brief. Somebody else may be doing it but I'm signing my name to it, like you're signing your name to Statements of Financial Condition?

A Yes, sir.
Q I don't want to waste the Court's time putting it on the screen, but, in addition to their being a line-by-line Excel spreadsheet, there was descriptions under each category of how Mr. McConney came to his valuations, correct?

A I don't know if there's each category.
Q Sorry?
A I'm not sure if there were descriptions in each category.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q Well, sir, again in trying to do this quickly, can we agree as to the main assets held by the Trump Organization when we come to a value, whether it was Trump Tower, seven Springs, one of the other-- 40 Wall. On the McConney spreadsheet, he would explain how he came to the valuation? We can put it on the screen but I want to save time.

A There is a detailed cross-reference, but, for instance, cash-- I don't know if there is a description.

Q I didn't ask about cash. Did you call the bank to verify how much money was in the bank?

A No, sir.
Q But I'm not asking you about cash. I'm asking you about the major real estate assets. Let's take three, for example. 40 wall, Trump Tower, and Seven Springs. You're familiar with the three assets owned by the defendants?

A Yes, sir.
Q Can we at least agree that underneath those, on the McConney spreadsheet, it explained the way Jeff came up with the value?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. In your use of the McConney spreadsheets, did you use that information? Did you look at that?

A Personally?
Q Yes.

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

A I don't know if I looked at it every year.
Q So, you didn't personally even look at the highlights that show how a valuation was come from -- where a valuation came from?

A I don't recall if \(I\) looked at every line, if that's what you're asking.

Q I'm not asking about every line. I'm trying to make it simple. I don't think everyone in the courtroom thinks you'd be looking at every line of a 40 -page spreadsheet.

What I'm asking is: Did you, as a partner in charge of this multimillion-dollar account, your biggest client at Mazars, did you at least look at the valuation methods that were used by the Trump Organization for its largest assets?

A I looked at those assets, yes, sir.
Q You looked at those assets and you looked at the description as to how the valuation was determined, correct?

A I believe --
Q Yes or no, sir?
A I believe I did, yes.
Q Okay, you did. You didn't have a problem --
THE COURT: He said: "I believe I did." You can't say, oh, then you did.

MR. ROBERT: Fair enough.
Q So, you don't know, one way or the other, whether you

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert} looked the it?
A To the best of my recollection, I did.
Q Let me ask this. When we talk about generally accepted-- acceptable accounting standards, do you think it would have been appropriate, yes or no, for Mazars to sign off on the Statement of Financial Condition and you, as the primary partner in charge of the account, to have not looked at how the valuations came, how the valuations came about before you signed off on it?

A So, I did look at the largest assets. You're correct, sir.

Q Okay. You didn't have a problem with them?
A I had no problem with them. At the time we issued the compilation report, I had no problem with it. No, sir.

Q At the time you issued the compilation report, you had no problem in the methods Mr. McConney used in coming to the valuations, correct?

A I had no problem with the methodology the Trump Organization came up with. What's the rest of the sentence? To-- substitute the Trump Organization for Mr. McConney.

Q Fair enough, sir. It wasn't until the time that after you sat down with the New York County District Attorney's Office that you then had a change of this opinion; yes or no? Please, sir. Yes or no?

A I do not --

\section*{D. Bender - Cross/Robert}

Q Yes or no, please. It's a very simple question?
A I can't answer that question.
Q So, you can't answer the question?
A I can't answer it yes or no.
Q You can't answer the question yes or no that it-- let me ask -- I'll withdraw the question.

Prior to your meeting with the New York County District Attorney's Office, you did not notify, you, The Trump Organization that you had any problem with that, did you?

A Say that again, please.
Q Prior -- withdrawn.
You testified earlier today --
MR. ROBERT: And this is my last point. I'm not going to belabor it, Judge.

Q You testified earlier today that it wasn't until you sat down in the Manhattan District Attorney's Office, with Mazars' lawyers by your side, up until that point in time, you were not aware of these additional appraisals, correct?

A That's not what I testified.
Q You didn't testify that you-- that this was-- your first foray into knowing there were these additional appraisals was when you met with the Manhattan District Attorneys by Zoom?

A That is a different question. You said when I was in the Manhattan District Attorney's Office.

Q That-- you seem to be very precise, right? That's a compliment, sir. You can take it.

A I'm not very precise but I'm trying to listen to your questions and give you honest answers.

Q And I appreciate that, sir. So, being precise. So, now we just spent a few minutes and thank you.

So, it was not until the Zoom meeting with the Manhattan District Attorney's Office that you first had any concern about the work you had done for the Trump Organization, correct?

A That is correct.
MR. ROBERT: I have no further questions.
Judge. Thank you.
THE COURT: I think it's time for a break. As usual, we'll have a ten-minute break but take 15 minutes, and I will be strict about that.

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

THE COURT: Mr. Wallace and your team, any re-direct of the previous witness?

MR. WALLACE: I have exceedingly brief re-direct. It will just be a couple minutes. So, if we could get Mr. Bender back.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
(Whereupon, the witness resumed the witness stand.)

THE COURT: Okay please proceed with re-direct.

\section*{RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION}

BY MR. WALLACE:
Q Welcome back, Mr. Bender. I assure you, I will try to be exceedingly brief.

MR. WALLACE: Could we please pull up Defendant's Exhibit 950 .
(Whereupon, a document was displayed.)
Q Mr. Bender, up on the screen we have defendant's Exhibit 950. It's a document entitled Personal Financial Statements Guide with Conforming Changes as of May 1, 2008, audit and accounting guide. Do you remember discussing this document with Mr. Suarez?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. I'm just going to note that this document comes from the University of Mississippi, and over here we can see that it's from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, AICPA, Historical collection. Do you know why this document came from the historical collection?

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

A Not off the top of my head.
Q Do you recall that in 2009, U.S. G.A.A.P. was replaced by the FASB, with the release of the FASB Accounting Standards Collection?

A I don't remember the date, but that's approximately correct. Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Let me show you a document, see if I can refresh you on the date.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q It's a long document. I'm not going to ask you to look at the whole thing. I would just like to direct your attention to the header at the top of the page which states -- I will represent to you, this is a copy of the same document we were just looking, at that Mr. Suarez shared with you, but this version states at the top, "Notice to Readers, Executive Summary, U.S. G.A.A.P. was replaced by the FASB with the release of the FASB Accounting Standards Codification on July 1, 2009. The codification is effective for financial statements for interim or financial reporting periods ending after September 15, 2009. While the accounting guidance in this audit and accounting guide may be useful, only guidance that was incorporated into the certification is considered authoritative."

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

THE COURT: Codification. Not certification. MR. WALLACE: Codification. Thank you, your Honor.

Q Does this refresh your recollection as to the dates that U.S. G.A.A.P. was replaced by the FASB?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. So, the guidance that you were shown by Mr. Suarez was no longer authoritative as of 2011?

A That's correct.
Q Okay. And if you were consulting with your colleague Mr. Cohen about what standards governed your work from the period of 2011 forward, it would not have been in reference to this guidance; is that correct?

A It would have been with the superseded guidance.
Mr. Cohen, or anybody else I consulted with.
Q Okay.
MR. WALLACE: If we can go back to Defendant's Exhibit 950, and go to D-950, 22.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

MR. WALLACE: And if we can blow up item 2.05, please. I'll just read it into the record. This is section 2.05 .

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

Q I believe you discussed this with Mr. Suarez, and it states, "Before commission, the accountant should read the compiled personal financial statements and consider whether such financial statements appear to be appropriate in form and free from obvious material errors. In this context, the term error refers to mistakes in the compilation of financial statements including arithmetical or clerical mistakes, and mistakes in the application of accounting principles, including inadequate disclosure. Misstatements that might occur in personal financial statements prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, G.A.A.P., include," and then there's series of four bullet points?

A Yes, sir. I see that.
Q Do you remember Mr. Suarez taking you through these bullet points?

A Yes, sir.
Q And I believe that earlier today he asked you a number of questions about whether the statements in each year complied with the bullet point at the bottom here which states, "Presentation of an asset or liability at an obviously inappropriate value or amount."

Do you recall that testimony?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay.
MR. WALLACE: Could we put this up?

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

Actually, let's just pull up Defendant's Exhibit 25.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

A Are we done with these?
Q You can just put that to the side, for now.
So Mr. Bender, I'll direct your attention to the top of the screen. It states, "AR-80, Compilation of Financial Statements." It states, "Issue date --"
A AR section.
Q AR section. Thank you?
A Okay.
Q "Compilation of Financial Statements. Issue date, unless otherwise indicated, December 2009. See section 9080 for interpretations of this section."

Do you know if this is the section that replaced the guidance you had been looking at?

A Yes, sir.
Q So, this was in effect from 2009, forward?
A I believe so. Yes, sir.
Q And just to keep this moving along, I'll represent to you that this guidance was superseded, as of December 15, 2015, but I would like to take you to page 4 of this document, and if we could look at the item under, Reading Financial Statements, and this states, "Reading Financial Statements, before submission, the accountant should read the financial statements and consider whether such financial statements appear to be appropriate in form, and free from obvious material errors. In this context, the term error refers to mistakes in the preparation of financial statements, including arithmetical or clerical mistakes, and mistakes in the application of accounting principles, including inadequate disclosure."

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

Do you see that language?
A Yes, sir.
MR. WALLACE: I would like to put this up next to the language we looked at in Defendant's Exhibit 950-22, if we could.

So, can we put that side by side, with the stuff we just looked at? Oh they're on top of each other.

Q So you can see, the first two sentences are pretty close; correct? It states, especially in the second sentence -well, they're pretty close?

A One refers to compilation.
Q Right, but they say that before submission, it should consider whether such financial statements appear to be appropriate in form, and free from obvious material errors. They both state, in this context, "the term error refers to mistakes in the compilation of financial statements, including arithmetical or clerical mistakes and mistakes in the application of accounting principles, including inadequate disclosure." But the version on the top that comes in at 209, it no longer has those bullet points does it?

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

A No, but there's a little difference in wording.
Q Right.
A You said the same. They refer to -- the bottom one refers to compilation, I believe.

Q Right. So this bullet, though, about the presentation of assets or liabilities, and obviously inappropriate value, or amount, had been removed from the guidance?

A It appears so.
Q Okay.
A What you are showing me.
Q So those would not have been authoritative guidance at the time you were discussing, with Mr. Cohen, what standards apply to the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition of Mr . Trump; is that correct?

A I will have to confirm that with somebody in my technical group.

Q Okay.
A And it could have been Mr. Cohen, or somebody else in my firm.

Q But the bullet point would not have governed your work on its financial statements for the leader of the free world; is that correct?

A No, sir.

\section*{D. Bender - Re-Direct by Mr. Wallace}

Q Okay.
MR. WALLACE: Nothing more.
THE COURT: Any re-cross?
No. Okay. The witness is excused.
THE WITNESS: Thank you, your Honor.
THE COURT: And we need a five-minute break for technical reasons. I advise everybody to stay where you are.
(Whereupon, the witness was excused from the courtroom.)
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Plaintiff, would you like to call your next witness?

MR. AMER: Yes, your Honor. We call Jeffrey McConney.

THE COURT: And where is Mr. McConney?
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Because Mr. McConney is a party, he has an absolute right to be sitting here the whole time. Maybe just he didn't think it would be exciting enough.

MR. ROBERT: That must be what it is.
J E F F R E Y M C C O N N E Y, after having first been duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

THE COURT OFFICER: Please have a seat.
Please state your name and business or home address on the record.

THE WITNESS: Jeffrey McConney, 390 First Avenue, New York, New York.

THE COURT: You seem to have a nice, loud voice, but I will ask you to speak right into the microphone, nice and loud, slow, clear.

THE WITNESS: I'll try. Thank you.
DIRECT EXAMINATION
BY MR. AMER:
Q Good afternoon, Mr. McConney. My name is Andrew Amer. We have not met before. I'm with the Attorney General's office. Am I correct that you graduated with a Bachelor's of Business Administration from Baruch College in 1978?

A Yes, sir.
Q And your degree was in accounting; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And after you graduated, you worked for a small real estate company, and then went to an accounting firm; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q You worked at the accounting firm for about nine years before joining the Trump Organization in about April of 1987; is that right?

A That's correct.
Q And am I also correct that when you were at the accounting firm, that's where you first met and worked with Donald Bender?

A Correct.
Q And when you started with the Trump Organization, you started as an assistant controller?

A Correct.
Q And at that time, Mr. Weisselberg, Allen Weisselberg, he was the controller of the organization; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And it's when he was promoted to Chief Financial Officer that you stepped into his role as Controller of the organization; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And as controller, you reported to Mr. Weisselberg; correct?

A Correct.
Q And during the entire time that you were controller, he was your boss; correct?

A Correct.
Q Is it also correct that you basically had the same job and same responsibilities when you your title changed from Assistant Controller to Controller? Is that fair?

A That's correct.

Q And your responsibilities included making sure interest payments were made on loans; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And you dealt with the general ledger; correct?
A Yes.
Q And you oversaw accounts payable and accounts receivable; correct?

A Yes.
Q Are you still employed by the Trump Organization?
A No.
Q And when did you leave the Trump Organization?
A I retired February 25th. February of this year.
Q And did you receive a severance package when you left?
A Yes, I did.
Q And how much that was severance package.
A The total package was \($ 500,000\).
Q And have you received all of your severance, as we sit here today?

A As of today, no.
Q How much have you received, and how much is left to go?

A 375,000 has been received. 125,000 is the last payment.

Q And is that contingent on anything?
A No. Other than me being alive, no.

Q Let's talk about the Statements of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump. You became involved in the preparation of Mr. Trump's annual Statement of Financial Condition and eventually took over the whole processes, likely sometime in the 90s. Is that fair?

A Sometime in the 90 s , I believe. Yes.
Q And you were primarily responsible for preparing Mr. Trump's statement between 2011 and 2017; is that fair?

A We didn't -- we, being the Trump Organization, didn't prepare the statement. Mazars, or whatever their name was at that time, prepared the statement. I prepared the backup for the statement.

Q And you prepared the valuations that went into the statement; is that fair?

A Yes.
Q And you were primarily responsible for preparing the valuations between 2011 and 2017; is that right?

A Yeah. I don't remember if it was the June of '16 or the June of '17 statement when I walked away, but that's correct.

Q And starting in around 2016 or 2017, you received assistance from an employee named Patrick Birney, in the preparation of the valuations; correct?

A Correct.
Q And is it fair to say that starting in 2017, after

Mr. Birney came on board, you played less of a role in preparing the valuations that went into the statement; is that correct?

A Whenever that handoff was, I had little to very little to do with the financial statement.

Q Around the time that Mr. Birney took over for you?
A Right. Once Mr. Birney took over, I had little to do with the statement.

Q But you still reviewed Mr. Birney's work with him; didn't you?

A I believe the first time we went through it, I'm not too sure, or I don't remember, how much interaction I had with him, after that.

MR. AMER: I'm going to put up, your Honor -- we prepared a demonstrative. We labeled it PDX-2, and it shows the sources, which I believe are all already in evidence.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed.)
MR. AMER: I don't know your preference on demonstratives. Do you want me to admit it into evidence, or not?

THE COURT: Yes. I would like that.
MR. AMER: Okay. So, I would ask that this be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: As a demonstrative exhibit, obviously. Not -- I'm not used to having a

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}
demonstrative -- I'm used to having a demonstrative document be marked, but not moved into evidence, so I would object that a demonstrative document be put into evidence. THE COURT: Well, \(I\) don't know that it matters, in a bench trial, but would plaintiff be willing to just have it marked as an exhibit, rather than it admitted into evidence, as of now?

MR. AMER: I was asking your Honor how you would like to do it, and I'm fine either way. I would say we admit it -- I'm fine to say we are admitting it solely as a demonstrative, if that helps Mr. Robert's objection.

MR. ROBERT: Let's mark it as demonstrative.
We'll talk over the break. I think we are saying the same thing. We'll work it out.

MR. AMER: Does your Honor want a copy?
THE COURT: Yes.
(Whereupon, a document was handed to the Court and to the witness.)

THE COURT: It's on the screen, but I like souvenirs.

Q This just puts in chart form, on a single page, the as-of date of the statements, and the actual date that the statement was issued, and as this indicates -- and you can confirm Mr. McConney -- the statements were all done as of June 30th of the year that they covered; correct?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

A Yes.
MR. ROBERT: Do they have a hard copy to give us?
I see something was handed to the witness.
(Whereupon, a document was handed to counsel.)
Q And it looks as though, for all but three years, the statement is issued in October or November of the year that the statement covers; correct?

A Yes.
Q And for '15 and '16, it looks as though the statement was not issued until March of the year after the year that it covers. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q And am I correct that in 2015, the statement issue date was delayed because Mr. Trump was campaigning for office? Is that right?

A That's correct.
Q And in 2016, the statement was delayed until March because of the transition to the oval office; correct?

A Yes.
Q There's one other year where the statement was delayed by a few months, and that's 2020. The judge alluded to this in his opinion, but I would like to confirm, was that due to the Covid pandemic?

A I really don't remember. I didn't have much to do with --

Q Okay.
A -- the June 30 of 2020 statement.
Q Generally speaking, unless there were extenuating circumstances, the annual statement was due in October; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And that's because Mr. Trump's lenders required submission of an annual financial statement as part of the covenants in the terms of the loans that were made to Mr. Trump and the Trump Organization; is that right?

A Yes.
Q As a general matter, the due dates for those statements on those loans were October 31 of each year; is that right?

A Yes.
Q You knew every year that once June 30 passed, you would need to start working on the statement as soon as you could; right?

A Yes.
Q And you would start working on the statement in July or August; right?

A Depending on the year, but yes.
Q And the statements take a long period of time to work up and there's a lot of work involved in doing it; correct?

A That's correct.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q And to start the process of preparing the annual Statement of Financial Condition, you began with the years' prior Excel spreadsheet; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And that spreadsheet is something that was called, internally, Jeff Supporting Data; is that right?

A Jeff supporting something. I don't remember the exact name.

Q And the Jeff was you; correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q And the Excel spreadsheet would include two years' worth of information; is that right?

A Correct.
Q And the information in that spreadsheet included the valuation methodology and prior valuations for each of the assets valued in the statement; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And you would also go through the backup for assets, and determine what information you needed to prepare the next statement; correct?

A Yes.
Q You would gather that information and input the new information into the Jeff Supporting spreadsheet; right?

A Yes.
Q And different assets on the statement were valued

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer} differently; correct?
A Yes.
Q And so the valuation methodology dictated what new information you needed in each year; correct?

A Yes.
Q And is it correct that the meat and potatoes of the financial statement, in terms of preparing valuations and making decisions with respect to those valuations, would be done by Mr. Weisselberg and you, prior to Mr. Birney's involvement, and then you, Mr. Weisselberg, and Mr. Birney, once he started to be involved?

A And then just Mr. Birney and Mr. Weisselberg.
Q Can you put a year on it, when it became just Mr. Weisselberg and Mr. Birney?

A It's been a while. It could have been the June of '17 statement, the June of '18 statement. But it was a fairly quick process.

MR. AMER: I would like to put up PX-717, which is the 2014 engagement letter, which has already been admitted into evidence.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q Mr. McConney, you are familiar with this document; right?

A Yes, sir.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q This is a letter dated January 2nd, 2014 from Mazars to the Trump Organization; right?

A Yes.
Q And it's signed by Mr. Weisselberg; correct?
A Yes.
Q He has acknowledged the document by his signature, and accepted it; correct?

A Yes.
Q You reviewed this document before Mr. Weisselberg signed it; correct?

A Yes.
Q And is it correct to say that you continued to review these engagement letters, even after Patrick Birney started taking over your role in the preparation of the valuations?

A I believe that's correct. Yes.
Q And you understood the terms of the compilation engagement set forth in this letter, at the time that you reviewed this letter; correct?

A Say that again, please? Can you ask that again?
Q Sure. You understood the terms of this compilation engagement letter at the time that you reviewed it; correct?

A Yes.
Q If we go to page three of the letter, you will see there's a section entitled, Management Responsibilities; right?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q You understood that, pursuant to this engagement letter, Mr. Trump had an obligation to comply with these responsibilities set forth in \(A\) through \(F\); right?

A Yes.
Q And I just want to highlight, in particular, item \(F\), which says that, "It's management's responsibility for making all financial records and all related information available to us."

Us being Mazars; correct?
A Yes.
Q And for the accuracy and completeness of that information; right?

A Yes.
Q So you understood at the time that this language placed the responsibility for providing complete and accurate information squarely on Mr. Trump's shoulders; correct?

A Yes.
Q And for 2016 through 2021, you understood, based on the engagement letters for those years, that the management responsibilities listed were the obligations that rested with the trustees of the revocable trust; correct?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Grounds?
MR. ROBERT: Rested? I guess if the witness understands it, I withdraw the objection.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

THE COURT: Okay.
A I believe that's correct.
Q And can we agree that your personal and professional relationship with Mr. Bender, going back decades, did not in any way relieve Mr. Trump or his trustees from having to comply with any aspect of these management responsibilities; correct?

A Correct.
Q You provided Mazars with financial information, in the form of the supporting data spreadsheets that we discussed, for use in compiling Mr. Trump's annual Statement of Financial Condition; correct?

A The information we used to prepare my spreadsheet, yes.

Q And you provided that information in order to comply with the obligation in item \(F\) of the engagement letter; correct?

A Correct.
Q And this letter explains that Mazars is performing a compilation, and not an audit or a review; correct?

A Yes.
Q And you understood the significance of that terminology; correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: And why don't we go to the compilation procedures paragraph, which is on page one.

Q And this says, in the second paragraph, "A compilation

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer} differs significantly from a review or an audit of financial statements."

You certainly understood that at the time; correct?
A Yes.
Q A compilation does not contemplate performing inquiry, analytical procedures, or other procedures performed in a review. You understood that; right?

A Yes.
Q So you had no expectation that Mazars was going to perform inquiry, analytical procedures, or other procedures like those an accounting firm performs in a review; correct?

A I wouldn't say that.
Q You understand, though, that this was a compilation, and that the engagement letter sets forth that a compilation does not contemplate that the accounting firm would perform inquiry, analytical procedures, or procedures performed in a review; right?

A I understood that.
Q Okay. And additionally this says, "A compilation does not contemplate obtaining an understanding of the company's internal control;" correct?

A Yes.
Q And it does not contemplate the accounting firm assessing fraud risk; correct?

A Correct.

Q And it does not contemplate the accounting firm testing accounting records by obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence through inspection, observation, confirmation or the examination of source documents; correct?

A Correct.
Q And source documents would be the documents you just testified would go to Mazars, along with your supporting data spreadsheet; correct?

A Yes. I believe that's correct.
Q And it does not contemplate the accounting firm conducting any other procedures ordinarily performed in an audit; correct?

A Correct.
Q Now, you would send the supporting data spreadsheet and the backup material to Mazars on an annual basis; is that right?

A If they didn't come to the office, yes, I would send it to them.

Q And let's look at Plaintiff's Exhibit 03054.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q So, Mr. McConney, this first page is an e-mail from you to Mr. Bender, dated October 23, 2014, where you tell him: "Call me when you want to go over this," and this is sending Mr. Bender the prior year's Statement of Financial Condition that's been marked up. Is that right?

A That's correct.
MR. AMER: Okay, your Honor. I'd move this into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q So, this you were sending in 2014 and the statement that you're attaching, if we can go to the second page. This was the statement for 2013 that you've marked up, correct?

A Correct.
Q And is all the handwriting in this document yours?
MR. ROBERT: Your Honor, while the witness is reviewing, you've already ruled, but, I'm going to object on the Statute of Limitations ground just to continue preserving our objections.

THE COURT: Agreed. Understood.
A Can you ask me the question one more time?
Q Sure. Is all the handwritten notations in the document yours?

A Yes.
Q If we turn to the assets page, which is page four, you've taken the prior year's statement asset sheet and you've

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer} marked it up for 2014; is that right?
A For June of '14, yes.
Q Was this the normal procedure that you followed each year that you were the one handling the preparation of valuations?

A I would say there was no normal procedure. If I had time, I would mark the statement up, I guess. If I didn't have time, I would just provide the spreadsheet to Mazars and they'd provide the updated statement.

Q If we could just go back to the second page of the document, page two. I just want to ask you about the note you've written on the upper right-hand corner that says: "DJT to get final review."

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q That's your handwriting, yes?
A Yes.
Q DJT refers to Donald J. Trump, correct?
A Correct.
Q So, you're making a notation that you understood Mr. Trump was to get final review of the Statement of Financial Condition for 2014; is that right?

A Yes.
Q Was that also the procedure that you understood was followed in each year that you had responsibility for preparing the statement, that Mr. Trump would get final review?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A I would get to the point where Allen Weisselberg and I would review the statement and then I would get an okay from Allen to let Mazars know if it was okay to finalize the statement.

I don't want to assume what happened in between the time I gave it to Allen Weisselberg and the time Allen gave me the approval.

Q My question is a little different. You testified your handwritten notation confirms your understanding that Mr. Trump was to get final review for this 2014 statement?

A Correct.
Q My question is simply whether you had the same understanding that Mr. Trump was to get final review for each financial statement that you were primarily responsible for preparing?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Did you have-- continue to have an understanding that Mr. Trump would get final review of the statements that Mr . Birney was primarily responsible for handling?

A Once Mr. Trump became President Trump, I don't know what the process was on getting approvals. I think it was just the trustees, but, again, I didn't handle that or

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer} remember that.
Q You provided copies of the statements to lenders to comply with the loan covenants, correct?

A Yes.
Q You provided a copy of Mr. Trump's personal financial statement to, specifically, Royal Bank of America; is that right?

A I don't remember. It's possible. I don't remember.
Q Let me see if I can refresh your recollection. Let's look at PX-99.

Do you recognize this letter as the letter you signed going to Royal Bank of America?

A Yes, for the June 30, 2015 Statement of Financial Condition. Yes.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this be admitted into evidence.

THE COURT: It's admitted into evidence.
MR. ROBERT: Same objection as to Statute of Limitations.

THE COURT: Okay. I'll consider that a standing objection to anything before the relevant dates in 2014 and 2016.

MS. HABBA: To make the record clear. Again, also anything that incorporates anything prior to that date, meaning the backup, et cetera. That was my prior objection.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
THE COURT: I'm overruling that because that is not the law.

MS. HABBA: No. No. I'm saying, your Honor, we actually agreed on this before. I put on the record -- I put on the record prior, and I'll reiterate it moving forward, so I don't have to object, as well, that if there's a document that references anything prior to February 2016, those items, as his objection stands, same line of questioning. I'm just putting an objection on the record.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm sorry.
MS. HABBA: Yes. It's okay.
THE COURT: Also a continuing objection on behalf of your clients.

MS. HABBA: Yes. Thank you.
THE COURT: Sorry for the misunderstanding.
Q Mr. McConney, this is the letter you sent to Christopher Drimack at Royal Bank of America relating to the seven Springs loan, correct?

A Yes.
Q You say in your letter that you are providing the June 30, 2015 Statement of Financial Condition pursuant to the promissory note on that loan, right?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q So, this was something you were sending to the bank to comply with loan obligations, correct?

A Yes.
Q Let's go ahead and mark-- or I'll share with you PX-100.

Mr. McConney, this is another letter you're sending to Mr. Drimack at Royal Bank of America attaching the June 30, 2016 Statement of Financial Condition, correct?

A That's correct.
Q That's your signature, correct, on the first page? A Yes.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I move this into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Same objection, sir.
THE COURT: Their standing objections. You don't have to keep saying them. I recognize standing objections. The Court of Appeals recognizes the standing objections. You don't even have to call them a standing objection. It's in evidence. Yes.

Q As you did the year before, Mr. McConney, you are sending to the bank, Mr. Trump's June 30, 2016 Statement of Financial Condition in order to satisfy obligations under the promissory note, correct?

A Correct.
Q And Mr. McConney, you are aware that others within the organization were provided with Mr. Trump's annual Statement of Financial Condition to disclose to entities outside the Trump Organization, correct?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Yes.
Q In-
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning. I need to break at 12:50.

Q In particular, you're aware that Michael Cohen was given a copy for one or two meetings, right?

A He was given a copy. I don't remember which year or for how many meetings.

Q Would it refresh your recollection to share with you some of your deposition testimony on the screen? If we can put it up. This is page 124, lines 9 to 25.

Do you do remember that you sat for an interview where you gave testimony under oath, correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay. If we look at line 124, 9 to 25:
"Question: Are you aware of anyone else in the Trump Organization who provided Mr. Trump's annual Statement of Financial Condition for any year to anyone outside the Trump Organization?"

You asked to hear it read again.
Then you say: "Yes."
"Question: Who is that?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
"Answer: I know Michael Cohen was given a copy for one or two meetings."

You see that.
A Yes, sir.
Q Does that refresh your recollection that it was one or two meetings?

A It does not refresh my memory, but, if it is, it was one or two meetings.

Q Your testimony was truthful when you gave it during the interview?

A I believe, so. Yes.
Q You also know that Mr. Weisselberg provided the statement to insurance companies, right?

A I believe he let them look at the statements, yes.
Q Let's put up PX-294. I'll see if I can do this in time before the break.

MR. AMER: So, your Honor, PX-294 is the DB credit memo that Mr. Kise showed during part of his opening. So, I'm going to ask it be admitted into evidence. I'm hoping there's no objection.

THE COURT: If he showed it, I'm admitting it into evidence.

MR. AMER: Thank you, your Honor.
Q Let's go ahead and turn to page 14 of this document. This was actually a page that Mr . Kise put up during his opening, and, you'll see that there are various columns of information in this memo which refer to the client reported values of various financial statements in columns that are headed DJT 6/30/2011. Donald J. Trump 6/30/2012, client reported, and then two columns over, DJT 6/30/2013, client reported.

So, what I'd like to do is go through with you, if we can confirm where some of these numbers are coming from. If we could split the screen and put up the 2011 statement, which is Plaintiff's 787 in evidence.

If we can go to page four, the assets page. You can see, Mr. McConney, that the cash and Marketable Securities figure on the assets page, the 258.9 million matches the figure for cash and Marketable Securities in the first column headed DJT 6/30/2011. You see that?

A Yes.
Q So, you would agree with me that that figure is pulled from the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition, correct?

A Yes.
Q Then if we put up the 2012 statement, which is Plaintiff's Exhibit 815 and go to page five. We're looking at the assets page. You'd agree with me that the cash and Marketable Securities amount of 169.7 million ties into the figure that's listed in the Deutsche Bank credit memo for

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

2012, client reported, right?
A Yes.
Q We'll do 2013 which is Exhibit 707 in evidence. Go to page four. You'll agree with me that the figure for cash and Marketable Securities of 339.1 million ties into that fourth column figure for DJT 6/30/2013, client reported, correct?

A Yes.
Q In the credit memo, if we could turn to the next page and leave the statement up and let's look at the top column, the top chart. You'll see that there are figures for four properties. They're referred to as four trophy properties. You see that?

I'm sorry. I'll wait for you to get there.
A Trophy properties, okay.
Q If you go to 2013 statement, you'll see that the figures for Trump Tower, Niketown, 40 Wall Street, and Trump Park Avenue all match what's in the credit memo. You see that?

A Yes.
Q So, you would agree with me that the numbers in this chart and the credit memo are pulled from the 2013 statement, correct?

A In the DJT valuation column, yes.
Q Okay. You'll see there's a figure under club facilities in the credit memo of 1656.2. Do you see that? A Yes.

Q That ties into the dollar amount for club facilities in the June 30, 2013 statement, correct? A That's correct.

MR. AMER: As the Court will recall, the credit memo relates to the OPO loan which closed in August of 2014. I think this is a good point to break, your Honor, if you gave me the ten-minute warning.

THE COURT: I'm sure everybody will be happy to break now. We'll be back at 2:15 as usual. Have a great lunch.
(Luncheon recess taken.)

\section*{Proceedings}

THE COURT: Mr. Amer, do you have a statement of some sort to make?

MR. AMER: Yes, your Honor. Just a point to raise, on the record. It concerns the defendant's application to the Appellate Division that they're going to present tomorrow morning, for a stay.

We still do not know, although we have requested multiple times, what the scope of the stay is going to be. Is it going to be a stay just of the equitable relief in your summary judgment decision, or will it be a stay of this trial? Which, obviously, you know, required tremendous resources to move forward with.

We believe that there is an obligation to have given us notice of the specific request for relief that they are going to seek, 24 -hours notice. The papers have Mr. Robert's firm name on them. We would ask that he just say, in open court, on the record, what the scope of the stay is going to be, and if he refuses to say that, then at least we have that on the record, that we can take to the Appellate Division.

THE COURT: Well, he can't say what the stay is going to be. He can say what they are requesting.

MR. AMER: That's what I'm requesting. What is the scope of the relief that they are seeking, so that we understand what the nature of the application is tomorrow morning.

MR. KISE: So -- and I may have to defer, your Honor, to the expert, the acknowledged expert on the CPLR, but as I understand it -- and I just responded to Ms. Vale over the lunch break, a few minutes ago. As I understand it, 22 NYCRR, whatever that is, 1250.4 (b) (2) requires that the party seeking relief, as provided in this subdivision, shall give reasonable notice to his or her adversary of the day and time when, and the location where -- we have got all that covered -- the application or order to show cause will be presented, and the relief, including interim relief, being requested.

So, my appellate people are telling me we have done that. We have told them we are seeking a stay.

THE COURT: Of what?
MR. KISE: Interim relief -- well, that's the thing. Until we file it, tomorrow -- hold on -- I'm not sure they're entitled to ask these questions in a trial court proceeding. It seems irregular that we are even having a conversation in a trial court proceeding over an issue that is going to go to the First Department, but we are seeking a stay pending appeal, pursuant to the notice of appeal filed on Wednesday.

I've offered to have a conversation with Ms. Vale tonight. To the extent our appellate people can communicate with them in between that time and sort out what's required and what isn't, but you know, until we file tomorrow morning -- we actually are filing tomorrow morning, and so it's possible, I don't know, it's possible we may change our mind. We may decide to seek, you know, door number one or door number two. I don't think that that's actually required, that we -- until we present our papers to the First Department. That's the Court that we are responding to. I mean, this is -- again, I'm not the expert here, but this is how it has worked in all the times I've gone up on interlocutory appeals, is you present your papers in the morning, and we go to court.

THE COURT: I disagree. They asked for the relief requested. That's the point of this notice, so they are not blindsided.

Also, beyond all this, \(I\) would just think it's a matter of common courtesy, you would just explain what you're planning to request, or are requesting.

MR. KISE: I mean will they be satisfied if I tell them -- what I'm concerned with is if I say it's A, and it winds up being \(B\) tomorrow morning, then I'm going hear a lot of static from the Attorney General.

Again, \(I\) think it's highly irregular that we are having this conversation.

THE COURT: I don't think it's irregular, at all.

\section*{Proceedings}

MS. HABBA: Your Honor, I actually have not even reviewed -- and I can say that, because I'm sitting here on trial with you. I haven't had an opportunity to review the papers, so I most certainly would like that opportunity, before we discuss anything with the AG. I'm sitting here representing certain clients, and I'm not going to allow him to represent anything that would be prejudicial either. So, can we at least agree that, once it's final -- I mean, but I don't see why we would do this, ever. I have never done this.

MR. KISE: Why don't we do this. Why don't we do this. As you know, Judge I'm a pragmatist. Why don't we do this. Why don't we let him go ahead, and I will just say, let's assume it's both, for right now; okay? In that, it's a stay of the summary judgment, and the trial.

THE COURT: But --
MR. KISE: And if it's not, then they will be over-prepared, but they won't be under-prepared. But, I can't commit, on behalf of several lawyers, several clients that haven't even spoken to, exactly what it's going to be. It's fair for \(u\) s to say that it's a stay, and if they want me to commit to, it's both, then okay, I'll do that, but I don't know that tomorrow morning -- if it winds up being less, I just don't want to hear any complaint that it's going to be less.

\section*{Proceedings}

THE COURT: Well, I assume they can express that, that they don't want to be over-prepared, in terms of getting people to the courthouse here, and all.

MR. KISE: It's the same person, Judge. It's Ms. Vale. I mean, it's the same, and we have been communicating about this. Or, our office has been.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, this is simple. We are entitled to -- the rules require 24 -hours notice. It's not notice to say, We are doing something, but we don't know what we are doing. That's not notice. If they haven't decided what they are doing yet --

MR. KISE: No.
MR. AMER: -- then they should switch it back to Tuesday morning.

THE COURT: And by the way, I'm not the Appellate Division, but if I were, I would deny your request on the ground you didn't give notice, because they didn't know what they were up against.

MR. KISE: Then let's do that, just to satisfy Mr. Amer and the Government. Again, I think it's highly irregular. We will be seeking a stay of both the summary judgment and the trial.

MR. AMER: We have our record, and --
MR. KISE: Does that satisfy you?
MR. AMER: It's not a question of satisfying me.

\section*{Proceedings}

It's a question of satisfying the rules. You have to give us 24 -hours notice. You just put it on the record, and we'll have our appellate group deal with it tomorrow morning.

THE COURT: I think we can move ahead.
MR. ROBERT: And I'm confident our notice this morning satisfies all the requirements to make a stay application before the Appellate Division. So, we can leave it at that?

THE COURT: I'm sorry. I didn't hear the start of that.

MR. ROBERT: I just wanted it to be clear that it is our position that the notice that we gave the Attorney General's Office -- including their appellate lawyers, knowing that all the trial lawyers are here in court today, including all of us -- of our intention to seek a stay tomorrow, at 10:00 tomorrow morning. So, they're aware of it.

THE COURT: Well, are they aware of it because of what's in the notice, or because of what you said two minutes ago?

MR. ROBERT: Our notice says that we are seeking a stay.

THE COURT: Well, that's clearly not sufficient.
MR. ROBERT: Well, I respectfully disagree with the Court, but you have additional notice, and if it turns out to be less, it turns out to be less.

\section*{Proceedings}

THE COURT: Okay.
MR. KISE: But you know, again, I don't want to, by stating what I stated on the record, to withdraw from the position that our notice was sufficient as given, this morning. Let me be clear on that.

THE COURT: I understand.
MR. KISE: To be clear on that. But, they are asking. They have obviously, again, engaged in what I think is a highly irregular procedure, to have a conversation about an appeal in front of the Court that we are appealing from, but at all events --

THE COURT: Well, you said that five times, and I've disagreed with you five times.

MR. KISE: I know you have.
THE COURT: Chris and I understand each other. We don't always agree, but we understand each other.

All right. Now, are we ready to recall the witness? Let's get the witness back.
(Whereupon, the witness resumed the witness stand.)

THE COURT: Let's continue.
You are still under oath. You know?
THE WITNESS: Okay.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

BY MR. AMER:
Q Welcome back.
A Thank you.
Q I would like to turn to the cash asset category in the Statement of Financial Condition, and I would like to start by showing you the Statement of Financial Condition for 2016. It's Exhibit 756. It's already in evidence.

MR. AMER: If we could pull up page three.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q You will see that the first item on the assets page is cash, marketable securities and hedge funds, in the amount of \($ 114.4\) million. Do you see that?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay.
A Yes, sir.
Q And there are notes to this statement that explain aspects of each asset category; correct?

A Yes.
Q And if we look at page six, note two is the one that discusses this asset category; cash, marketable securities, and hedge funds; right?

A Yes.
Q And it says, "Cash, marketable securities and hedge funds represents amounts held by Mr. Trump and amounts in operating entities."

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q And we can agree operating entities, as used in this note, means entities within the Trump Organization umbrella; correct?

A And then some. Yes.
Q It's all operating entities that are within the Trump Organization?

A It's the entities that are in the Trump Organization, and entities where Mr. Trump is a partner in those entities.

Q Is it intended to include entities over which Mr. Trump has no control?

A Yes.
Q And what about this language do you think would explain to a user that operating entities includes cash, marketable securities, and hedge funds within entities that Mr. Trump doesn't control?

A I'm sorry. Can you say that again?
Q Sure. What is it in this language that is highlighted on this screen that you believe discloses to a user of this financial statement that this asset category includes cash, marketable securities, and hedge funds within entities that Mr. Trump does not control?

A Well, the word operating entities is there. I don't know how individuals would interpret operating entities, but it doesn't specifically state entities that he does not control.

Q Well, it doesn't say operating entities that he has a minority interest in, either; does it?

A It doesn't state, only entities that he owns 100 percent, or that he controls.

Q So, it's your testimony that this asset category includes cash that Mr. Trump does not have control over. Is that your testimony?

A Yes.
Q And that was your intent in valuing this asset, that you were going to include cash which Mr. Trump could not control and dispense? Is that your testimony?

A Yes.
Q And so, this is not, in your view, an asset category that represents Mr. Trump's liquidity. Is that what you are telling us?

A The majority of it is his liquidity.
Q I didn't say majority.
A \(\quad \mathrm{Mm}-\mathrm{hmm}\).
Q I'm asking you, are you telling us that this asset category, in your view, is intended to represent cash, marketable securities, and hedge funds, which do not reflect Mr. Trump's liquidity?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

A I'm not sure that question makes any sense to me.
Q Okay. You have an accounting background; right?
A Yes.
Q You understand the concept of liquidity; correct?
A Yes.
Q And in order for this category to reflect Mr. Trump's liquidity, would you agree that he would need to have control over all of the assets that are in this category?

A Yes.
Q With respect to assets that he doesn't have control over, those are not his liquid assets; right?

A That's not the way we looked at it, but yes.
Q Okay. And you're telling us that it was your intent to include, within this category, assets that do not reflect Mr. Trump's liquidity, because you have just told us you are including assets held by entities in which he owns a minority stake. Is that correct?

A Yes. The same way we have included accounts payable in the same entities.

Q Why don't we pull up PX-2587, the native.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q Focusing on -- well, let me first ask you about this document. This is backup that you provided to Mazars for this asset category for 2016; right?

A Can you just scroll down to the bottom, with the total? Because I believe the answer is yes, but --

Q Okay.
MR. AMER: Scroll down to the total, for the witness.

A Just up a little bit. Up to the total of the cash.
Q We'll get there. Hang on a second.
A Okay.
Okay. I'm sorry. Could you ask the question again?
Q Yes. This is the back up for the cash, marketable securities category we were just looking at for the 2016 statement; correct?

A It's the spreadsheet that summarized the backup. Yes.
Q That's what you sent to Mazars, along with your Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet; correct?

A Correct.
Q You would consider this spreadsheet to be a business record; wouldn't you?

A Yes.
Q And if we focus on rows 11 through 16, you will see that each of those entities, 11, and then 16 through 19, all have, in parentheses, 30 percent of cash on B/S -- which I presume is balance sheet?

A That's correct.
Q Okay. And am I correct that each of these entities

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q He owns a minority percentage, correct?
A Yes.
Q He has no ability to liquidate the amounts that are in-- that are ascribed to those entities, correct?

A That's correct.
Q If we scroll down to the -- by the way, you've indicated here in the spreadsheet it's 30 percent. So, actually, if you looked at the balance sheet of the entity, you'd see the 100 percent number and you've taken 30 percent of it and put it on this balance sheet?

A Correct. The same way we reflected the payables.
Q Is it okay if we refer to this shorthand as Vornado cash?

A Fine with me.
Q Just so we're clear, Vornado cash is not cash that Mr. Trump has access to on his own, correct?

A Correct.
Q He cannot withdraw the funds from the accounts where they sit, correct?

A Correct.
Q Let's come back to -- let's go to PX-3041.
MR. AMER: PX-3041 is the defendant's response to the 202 statement and I'm going to ask if we can go to page 142 at paragraph 403 and just blow it up. If we could just do the chart and the response below.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q This is a response that was filed by you in this case, as a defendant, Mr. McConney, and you stated that it's undisputed that the values listed are those reflected in the Statement of Financial Condition and the amounts attributable to the Vornado operating entities are as stated.

MR. AMER: I don't know if your preference is for something like this, your Honor, that we admit it into evidence or because it's on NYSCEF that's sufficient?

THE COURT: Let's consider this -- deem this admitted into evidence, even though it's already on NYSCEF, which is a whole different thing.

Q So, Mr. McConney, it is agreed then that for each year from 2013 to 2021, the Vornado cash is as stated in the second column. The statement year in the first column. The second column has the Vornado cash.

The third column has the total cash reported on the statement, and, the fourth column is just math, taking the percentage of that column two represent as to column three. So, that is stipulated fact.

Let's go and let's just confirm that your answer is the same with respect to all these years, that the Vornado cash, that has been agreed to, is cash that Mr. Trump has no control over, correct?

A Correct.
Q Let's go back to PX-2587, the native. Am I correct

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
that this spreadsheet then breaks out where these funds are located in different accounts, correct?

A I'm sorry. Can you say that again?
Q Yes. The columns, for example, column D says Cash Allied Irish Bank. So, that is an account that exists, right?

A Right. That's the bank or brokerage company or whatever that holds that cash.

Q Okay. And if we could-- and, by the way, the cash, Vornado cash is -- sits in a bank account controlled by the Vornado Partnerships, right?

A Correct.
Q Can we collapse columns D through N? Mr. McConney, you list the Vornado cash in a Capital One account that you list cash for other entities that are controlled by Mr. Trump; isn't that true?

A Yes.
Q So, you've got 40 Wall Street, LLC is in the Capital One account. That's clearly something Mr. Trump controls, right?

A Yes.
Q Isn't it the case then that this document represents that the Vornado cash is in the same Capital One account that Mr. Trump's cash resides for those entities that he does control?

A It doesn't represent that it's in the same bank

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer} account. It represent it's in the same bank.
Q Do you know if the Vornado cash is all in a Capital One account?

A Based on this, I would have to make that assumption, but, without looking at my backup, I can't make that statement here.

Q So, you have multiple Capital One accounts here. You have one called cash in Column 0 . You have one called cash in Column P. You have one called OS and E in Column Q.

Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q Isn't it correct, Mr. McConney, that anyone looking at this spreadsheet would conclude that all of the cash in Column O sits in the same Capital One account?

A People can make assumptions in any way they want to. The users of the spreadsheet know that it's not one bank account.

Q It was your intent, when you created this spreadsheet, to put all of these cash amounts in Column 0 ; and, that means that accounts that Mr. Trump controls and the accounts that hold the Vornado cash are in the same column under this same Capital One account, and, you intended that to be the case; isn't that right?

A I did not intend it to be one account. This spreadsheet is not through Column V. If you keep going out,

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
it's a number of columns. At some point in time, we had to realize we couldn't keep adding columns for every single bank or brokerage company. Not account but bank or brokerage company that was involved.

If Hudson Waterfront or Vornado had their cash at Capitol One, it means that's the bank, not an account, but the bank that the money is in.

Q Mr. -
THE COURT: One second. We need to have a quick technical break of some sort.
(Brief pause.)
THE COURT: Continue.
Q Mr. McConney, if you wanted to list the five Vornado cash entities in a separate section, you'd only have to add one more column to the spreadsheet; isn't that right?

A That's correct.
Q This is the spreadsheet that you sent to Donald Bender, correct?

A Yes.
Q So, when he looks at this spreadsheet, he sees all of this cash in all of these entities, including ones that Mr. Trump controls, and the Vornado cash, in a single column labeled Cash Capitol One, correct?

A Can you start that again, because I think the beginning of the question, \(I\) don't agree with.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

MR. AMER: Can you read back?
THE COURT: Read back, please.
(Read back.)
A Yes, he sees a listing of numbers in a column that says Cash Capital One. He knows it's not in one bank account.

MR. AMER: I'll move to strike that last part of the answer.

THE COURT: He said it many times. I'm not sure -- because it's not responsive to the question.

MR. AMER: And because he's testifying about what Mr. Bender knows without having any foundation for that. It's hearsay. He can't get into Mr. Bender's mind.

MR. ROBERT: All of the questions were elicited to what Mr. Bender understood from the spreadsheet Mr. McConney sent. So, to me, it's a fair answer to a fair question.

THE COURT: Simple point is he doesn't know what Mr. Bender is going to think. So, I'll strike the last sentence or clause.

Q It wasn't a mistake, on your part, to include the Vornado cash in the same Column \(O\) as the other entity cash; that wasn't your intent, correct?

A No. My premise is based on looking at this now is

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
that's where Vornado has their cash.
Q Let me go back to my question. My question was simply that it wasn't a mistake on your part to put the Vornado cash in Column 0 ; it was your intent do so, correct?

A The preparer of this statement, I'm assuming, knew where the funds were that Vornado had. So, the intent was to put it in the column with the bank where the funds were.

Based on the way this schedule is supposed to be prepared, we had put the Vornado cash in the column where the cash was maintained at Capital One.

Q I'm just going to try, again, to see if \(I\) can get a responsive answer. It's very simple. Including the Vornado cash in Column \(O\) was not a mistake, it was something you intend to do?

MR. KISE: Objection. This has been asked and answered about a dozen times. He's given the same answer. It wasn't his intent, and, Mr. Amer wants to testify, but, the witness has already answered and said exactly why he put it where he put it. That's what he said multiple times.

THE COURT: Overruled. He hasn't answered the question yet. It's a very simple question. I can't state it any better than Mr. Amer did.

Were those numbers in Column \(O\) the way you wanted them to be or were they a mistake?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

THE WITNESS: Without looking at the backup, your Honor, knowing where Vornado has their cash, if their cash was in a different bank, it was a mistake. If it was in Capital One, we put it in the column where all the other entities had their cash at Capital One.

Without the backup and looking at the actual source document, I can't answer the question.

THE COURT: Mr. Amer, what do you want to do?
MR. AMER: One more followup.
Q So, as I understand your testimony, you're saying as long as the Vornado cash was in an account somewhere within Capital One Bank, even though it was not a Capital One Bank that Mr. Trump controlled, then this was not a mistake? This was something you intended to do?

A That's correct.
Q Let's switch now to a different asset. Let's talk about Mr. Trump's triplex.

MR. KISE: Apartment.
Q I'd like to discuss your valuation of that property. So, let's pull up the 2014 statement, PX-730, which is in evidence, and, let me first focus you on page six where it says: "Basis of presentation."

This would have been a statement that you reviewed, correct?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q It says: "The accompanying Statement of Financial Condition consists of assets and liabilities of Donald J. Trump. Assets are stated at their estimated current values. You understood, during the entire time that you were preparing the valuations from 2011 through 2016, that the valuations you were working on were intended to state the assets at their estimated current values, correct?

A Correct.
Q Let's go back to Plaintiff's 3041. The defendant's response to Plaintiff's 202.8G statement. Let's look at paragraph 31.

Again, this is something that you filed in this case, and, you do not dispute that GAAP defines estimated current value as "the amount at which the item could be exchanged between a buyer and seller, each of whom is well informed and willing and neither of whom is compelled to buy or sell."

You understood, when you were working on the valuations, that the values had to be estimated current values and that estimated current values were this definition on the screen, correct?

MR. KISE: Objection. No foundation.
THE COURT: Overruled.
A When we were preparing the Statement of Financial Condition, estimated current value, to me, has a wide range of interpretation. There are a number of definitions. We may not have listed them all here, but, this is one of them, I believe.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

THE COURT: Well, I'm sorry to interrupt. You said it's undisputed. You're not disputing the statement that's highlighted in yellow. So, what are we talking about?

MR. KISE: He didn't say that. That's a response.

MR. AMER: He filed --
THE COURT: He's a defendant.
MR. KISE: But, your Honor. So, this is one piece of the puzzle. What's undisputed is that was the definition under that one section, but, there's 20 more pieces to the puzzle after that, and, that's in our statement of facts.

They just want to ignore the rest of it. So, yes, GAAP has those words in it, but, GAAP has another paragraph that tells you how you compute estimated value.

MR. AMER: I'm concerned when we argue about objections that we end up with testimony.

MR. KISE: It's not fair --
MR. AMER: Excuse me. Let me finish. We have a witness on the stand, and, you're making a very lengthy speaking objection in the presence of the witness, and, I think that's objectionable. So, if we can just have an objection and get the Court's ruling without a whole explanation that educates the witness that is here in the room on the stand --

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

MR. KISE: I'm not trying to educate the witness. You asked me a question, your Honor, and I'm trying to explain why it says what we said. That's what you asked. If you want to do side-bar --

THE COURT: I didn't ask a question, I remember.
MR. KISE: You said it's undisputed. What is the issue and I'm explaining what the issue is.

THE COURT: I didn't ask you. I was asking the witness. In any event, you can cross-examine.

MR. KISE: Correct.
THE COURT: I don't think there was a foundation need or any explanation needed. You want to ask it again?

MR. AMER: Sure.
Q Let me back up a bit. You understand that the Statement of Financial Condition had to be GAAP compliant unless there was a specific departure from GAAP indicated, correct?

A I'm not a GAAP expert.
Q Not my question, Mr. McConney. I'm not asking you about GAAP regulations. I'm asking you a broader question,

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
which is, you understood that the Statement of Financial Condition had to be GAAP compliant, whatever that ment, they had to be GAAP compliant unless there was a departure from GAAP specifically noted; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q You agreed, in this filing, that GAAP defines estimated current value exactly as quoted here.

MR. AMER: That's a stipulated fact, your Honor, which I ask the Court to take judicial notice of.

THE COURT: Well, I'd rather he said it; but, we can get to judicial notice, if necessary. I think sometimes the questions are a little longer than they need to be.

Did you understand that, pursuant to GAAP, the definition of estimated current value is as indicated up there?

THE WITNESS: That's part of the definition. That are many ways to come up with estimated current value. If we didn't list them, I'm sorry.

Q Let me see if I can parse this. You say many ways to come up with estimated current value and I'm asking you what estimated current value is, however you come up with it, okay.

So, there's methodology and then there's the result. Did you understand that the result of whatever methodology you used had to be, at the end of the day, the amount at which the item could be exchanged between a buyer and seller, each of whom is well informed and willing and neither of whom is compelled to buy or sell?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's look at the 2012 Jeff Supporting Data and that's in evidence. We'll put it up on screen, the native.

Do you recognize this as your Jeff Supporting Data that was provided to Mazars?
A Looks like it, yes.
Q We've had testimony from Mr. Bender that this was the control version because it has PBC, provide by client, and it has the various tick marks numbers, the blue numbers. Does that sound right to you?

A That sounds right, yes.
Q Let's go to row 833. This is the section that discusses the triplex, correct?

A Line 833 and line 834, yes.
Q Okay. There's a value in \(G\) and there's a value in \(H\) and it covers -- it gives you two years, the current year and the prior year, correct?

A Can you just scroll up so I can see which is the current year and which is the prior year?

Q Sure.
A It should be at the top of these -- used to be a

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q So, if we go back, you will see that for 2011 it's \($ 80\) million, and 2012, it increases by \($ 100\) million to 180 ; correct?

A Yes, sir.
Q And let's -- and you say, underneath triplex, "Per email from Kevin Sneddon," and that's the explanation for the jump of 100 million to 180 in 2012; correct?

A Yes.
Q And you provided backup for this; correct?
A Yes.
Q So why don't we look at Plaintiff's Exhibit 1052.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q Mr. McConney, these are a series of emails between you and individuals employed at the Trump Realty -- Trump International Realty; is that right?

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I offer this into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: It's a continuing objection. I don't really care, but it's a waste.

MR. ROBERT: We still feel that we need to preserve the record, your Honor.

THE COURT: Despite what the Appellate Division said? I mean, Court of Appeals? Because --

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

MR. ROBERT: My understanding of that decision is that had to do with testimony, and the trial judge had to be given an opportunity to correct it at the trial level, to be available, and that's why we bring it up. I may be reading it incorrectly, but from my reading, it was testimony.

THE COURT: I don't want to tell you what to do. So, you can object every time.

Anyway, granted and it's in evidence, over objection.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 1052 was received in evidence.)

Q Mr. McConney, if you can turn to page two of the exhibit, I want to focus you on your email to Kathy Kaye dated September 19th, 2012. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q Am I correct that this is your effort to reach out to Ms. Kaye to get information for you to value the triplex?

A Yes.
Q And Ms. Kaye is one of the top people at Trump International Realty; correct?

A Yes.
Q And is it okay if \(I\) refer to that entity as TIR?
A Yes. That's the way I do it.
Q Okay. And TIR is an in-house real estate broker;

\section*{correct?}

A Yes.
Q And you say in your email to Ms. Kaye, "Justin told me about the apartment he is going to video on the west side. I'm trying to value DJT's triplex," and then ask you a series of questions. What building is the unit in; what's the asking price for the unit; how many square feet is the unit; correct?

A Yes.
Q You are looking for a comp for Mr. Trump's triplex; correct?

A Correct.
Q Is Justin somebody who works at TIR?
A Justin, I believe, worked for the Trump Organization. I don't think he worked for TIR.

Q And you understood he was going to video the apartment to put it up for a listing; correct?

A Yes.
Q And then the top email, Ms. Kaye emails Mr. Sneddon and copies you and says, "Kevin, please provide Jeff with the prince's details. I'm not near a computer. Thanks;" right?

A Yes.
Q And Mr. Sneddon is another top person at TIR?
A Yes.
Q Just so we are not confused by the prince's details, did you understand that that apartment that was going to be

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer} listed was owned by a Saudi prince?
A I don't know about Saudi, but I think, I have some remembrance, that it was owned by a prince, or some royalty of some sort.

Q So, it's not a typo. She's really asking for the prince's details?

A That's what I remember.
Q Okay. Then Mr. Sneddon responds and he says, and you're copied, "I already valued DJT's triplex for Alan."

You understood that to be Allen Weisselberg; right?
A Yes.
Q And he goes on to say, "Our 75 million-dollar triplex lifting is in 240 RSB."

Is that 240 Riverside Boulevard?
A Yes.
Q And that's a Trump-developed property?
A At the time, yes.
Q Okay. And he says, "Total square footage is 14 and a half thousand, including main residence, guest residence, and staff residence. Ask is 5000 -plus per foot."

Did you understand that to be per square foot?
A Yes. $5,000 per square foot.
Q So, he provided you with some of the information that you asked for; correct?

A Yes.

Q And then you ask him to send you the email he sent to Mr. Weisselberg; right?

A Yes.
Q And then he responds, "At 30,000 square feet, DJT's triplex is worth 4,000 to 6,000 per foot, or 120 million to 180 million;" right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And this is a point in time where you're still using 30,000 square feet for the valuation of Mr. Trump's triplex; right?

A I don't know if it's the point in time, or that's when we started. I don't remember exactly when we started using 30,000 square feet.

Q Okay. And this is the information that you then use to put a value on the apartment for 2012 of \($ 180\) million?

A Right.
Q It's fair to say you took the upper end of the range that Mr. Sneddon provided; correct?

A Correct.
Q Now, there are two components to the formula that you used to determine the value. One was the square footage. There's been a lot read and argued about that, but the other component is the price per square foot; correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And so here, the price per square foot that you

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer} used for the 2012 valuation was 6,000 per square foot; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And you base that off of the information you received about the listing at 240 Riverside Boulevard; right?

A Sorry. Can you say that again?
Q Sure. You're basing that off of the listing for the apartment, the comp that was at 240 Riverside Boulevard, that you were communicating with Ms. Kaye and Mr. Sneddon about; right?

A Well, I'm basing it on the email from Kevin, the 30,000 square feet, and the 4,000 to 6,000 per square foot. I think the question about the apartment for sale was the starting point, and this is, basically, where we ended up.

Q Well, Ms. Kaye's email said that the listing was going to be at 5,000 per square foot, and you picked -- and Mr. Sneddon gave you a range of 4,000 to 6,000 , so isn't it correct that that range was based on the listing price for the comp at 240 Riverside Boulevard?

A I don't know what Kevin's thought process was. It could be based on this, if you can draw that conclusion, but I don't know if that's what Kevin was basing it on.

Q Well, it's the mid point of the range that he gave you; right?

A Yeah. Mathematically, yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q And your inquiry was about that apartment, and his response was in response to your inquiry; right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And you probably talked to Mr. Weisselberg about this valuation; correct?

A We may have, at some point in time. I don't remember a specific conversation.

Q Well, do you recall that Mr. Weisselberg felt that going with the high end of the range at \($ 180 \mathrm{million}\) was appropriate, and represented the value of Mr . Trump's triplex, based on what Mr. Sneddon told you?

A Can you say that again? I was kind of --
Q Sure. Is it correct that you reviewed this with Mr. Weisselberg, and he felt going with the high end of the range \($ 180\) million, represented the value of Mr. Trump's triplex, based on what Mr. Sneddon had provided to you?

A That would be my assumption. Yes.
Q Well, I'm asking you for your best recollection. Is that fair?

A Yes.
Q And you would agree that for purposes of valuing a property for the Statement of Financial Condition in order to get to an estimated current value, that it is better to use an actual sale price, rather than an asking price? Correct?

MR. KISE: Objection. Foundation.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

THE COURT: Combination. Foundation.
MR. KISE: Foundation. He already testified he is not a G.A.A.P. expert. He has his understanding of what estimated current value is. I'll stop there.

THE COURT: Overruled.
A So, can you ask the question again, please?
MR. AMER: Your Honor, can I get a read back.
THE COURT: That's the way to do it.
Read back, please.
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the proceedings was read back by the court reporter.)

MR. ROBERT: Same objection.
THE COURT: Same ruling. Overruled.
A I don't think that's -- I think -- there are many ways to value assets in a Statement of Financial Condition.

Q Let me just go right to your testimony, from the interview. I'm going to put up page 307, line 13 to 307 -- to 308?

THE COURT: When you say interview, do you mean deposition?

MR. AMER: This is his interview under oath during our investigation. So, we don't call it a deposition. It's an investigatory interview, your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.
Q "Question: Why use an asking price, and not an actual sale?
"Answer: We asked ourselves the same thing a few years ago, and we stopped using asking prices, and did sale prices. I don't know why we used asking prices at that time, but we realized it was probably better to get an actual selling price.
"And why is that?
"Answer: Because you can ask anything you want to. Like, we can ask for 291 million for houses on Seven Springs. It doesn't mean you want to pay that. But, that's what our asking price, if you want to buy it. So, based on that theory, we thought it was a good determining factor at the time, and when we thought about it some more, we figured out, it's better to use selling prices."

That was your sworn testimony; correct?
A Yes.
Q And isn't it correct that when you are valuing a property based on comps using actual sale prices as opposed to asking prices, it's not just the better practice, it's the right way to do it?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Grounds?
MR. KISE: Again, foundation. It's the same question, the same problem. It's the same disconnect. I'm loathe, because they are going to throw their pens in the air, I'm loathe to explain it, but it's the same principle. He has already said there's multiple ways to get there. Mr. Amer is now asking if that's the right way. This is the whole point of the case, there is no one right way. So, he is mischaracterizing the evidence in the record. I'll put it that way.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

And, this witness isn't a G.A.A.P. expert, so he can't testify to what's the absolutely right way. He has already said his view, multiple times. There are many ways.

THE COURT: I think any high school student knows the right way. I'm overruling the objection.

Q I'll ask the question again. You would agree that when you are valuing a property based on comps, using actual sale prices, as opposed to asking prices, is not just the better practice, but it's the right way to do it; isn't it?

MR. KISE: Same objection.
A No.
Q You think it's okay to use asking prices when you are looking for comps to value a property at it's estimated current value? Is that your testimony?

A Yes, sir.
Q Do you know whether this comp at 240 Riverside Boulevard, the prince's apartment, sold? And for how much?

A I do not.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

MR. AMER: I would like to introduce Exhibit 3037.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I move to admit this exhibit for grounds of notice, that it was public record that the sale occurred.

THE COURT: But do we know that they knew about it? And are you arguing constructive notice?

MR. AMER: We are arguing that it was something that was in the public domain, that he could have learned about from this article.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

MR. ROBERT: Your Honor?
THE COURT: Go ahead. Sorry.
MR. ROBERT: It's a 2018 article. We are talking about 2012 valuation. Its hearsay, and we are not accepting what the New York Times says is accurate.

THE COURT: I believe that some or all of the defendants had actual notice of this. They asked about it, and were told.

But, Mr. Amer, can you resolve this issue?
MR. AMER: The question for -- so, the witness thinks it's appropriate to use asking prices. The fact that this apartment sold --
THE COURT: I think he said they are just different ways. He didn't say asking was the only way, or the correct way. He said it was one way, I think.

MS. HABBA: Thank you.
MR. AMER: He said it was an acceptable way.
THE COURT: Acceptable. That's not the way.
That's an acceptable way.
MR. AMER: I meant to convey something different.
I'm sorry.
He is taking that position now, on the stand, and the fact that it was in the public domain, that this apartment sold for \($ 30\) million --

THE COURT: Public domain doesn't do it. I think there was a lot more than public domain.

Q Do you know, Mr. McConney, whether your colleagues in TIR were aware of the sale of this apartment when it happened, many years later, at a much lower price than the asking price?

A I have no idea what they knew.
MR. AMER: We'll come back to this, your Honor.
THE COURT: Fine.
Q Let's look at the 2013 value, and let's put up the 2014 JSD, because that will give us both the 2013 value and the 2014 value; correct?

A Yes, sir.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q Two hundred million in both years, and in 2013, it's based on Kathy Kaye.

Is that an e-mail from her, August 2013?
A I'd have to look at the backup but, yes, it's an e-mail from her.

MR. AMER: Okay. Let's go ahead and mark 714.
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning, everybody.
Q This is an e-mail exchange you had with Ms. Kaye, correct?

A Yes, sir.
MR. AMER: I move this into evidence, your Honor.

MR. ROBERT: Same objection. Statute of Limitations.

THE COURT: Same ruling. Granted. It's in evidence.

Q And the top e-mail from Ms. Kaye to you is the e-mail that you're referencing in the spreadsheet for your \($ 200\) million value; is that right?

A I believe August 19, 2013 was the date on the spreadsheet. Can I look at the spreadsheet before I say yes or no?

Q Sure. Going back to 719?
A August, yes. That is the e-mail we based it on.
Q So, let's go back to the e-mail. She says at the top: "Doing the list now. As far as DJT's." Did you understand that to mean Mr. Trump's triplex?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Yes, sir.
Q "One unit just sold for over 5,000 a foot. However, another just came on the market at over 11,000 per square foot." You see that?

A Yes, sir.
Q Then she says: "Which is not necessarily indicative of the market," right?

A Yes, sir.
Q You understood that what she was saying was the asking price of over 11,000 per square foot didn't necessarily indicate what the market would actually pay for that apartment, correct?

A I took the whole, the two sentences before. "One just sold for 5,000 a foot. One just came on the market for 11,000 a square foot. It's not necessarily indicative of the market." I took both of those sentences.

Q In any event, she was telling you the information she was sharing with you was not necessarily indicative of the market, right?

A Yes.
Q Then she says: "Based on the activity in the luxury market and given how unique the apartment is, as well as tied to celebrity, I don't see how one would list below 8,000 a square foot at this point which brings us to @ 240 million." Then she says: " 200 million is a safe estimate," correct?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Yes.
Q So, you go with what she claims is a safe estimate?
A Yes.
Q We can agree that the item that she says is 11,000 per square foot is just a listing price and not an actual sale price, correct?

A I believe that to be correct, yes.
Q That's what you understood at the time, right?
A Yes.
Q She's obviously using the 30,000 square foot figure because she's saying 8,000 per square foot, right?

A Yes.
Q Do you know if she is the person at TIR who decided to list the Prince's triplex at \($ 75\) million?

A I have no idea.
Q Okay. I'm correct that this one e-mail from Ms. Kaye, that we've just reviewed, is the sole basis for your valuing the apartment in 2013 at 200 million; is that right?

A That's correct.
Q If we look at the spreadsheet again for the 2014 value, you indicate there that it's based on comps at 157. Do you see that?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q That's referring to a property on West 57th Street which is a very, very tall apartment building, correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go ahead and mark Exhibit 3044.
Q Mr. McConney, is this your backup for getting to the \($ 200\) million value for 2014 based on comps at 157?

A I believe so, yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of Limitations objection. THE COURT: Overruled. Granted. In evidence.

Q What you're doing here, Mr. McConney, is you're taking all of the units on floors 50 and above that sold in 2014 at the building 157 and you're calculating, based on those sales, a price per square foot of 6,733 ; is that right?

A Yes.
Q Then you take that number and you multiply it by 30,000 to get to the value of 201,990 which you round, for purposes of the statement value, to 200 million; is that right?

A Yes.
Q The second and third pages are printed from StreetEasy.com listing the sales; is that right?

A I believe that's correct, yes.
Q Did you consider StreetEasy.com to be a reliable

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
source for real estate apartment sales information? A Yes.

Q You relied on it, correct?
A Yes.
MR. AMER: I'm going to mark as Exhibit 3035. This, your Honor, is something we printed outlast week from the StreetEasy.com website for building 157 and I'd ask that this be admitted into evidence based on the witness's testimony that he relied on this site and considered it to be reliable.

MR. ROBERT: Objection, your Honor. The witness relied on what's already in evidence. This is just hearsay. This is something he printed out on October 1, 2023. He didn't rely on this document about 157.

MR. AMER: His testimony was that the site was reliable, not that the specific printout that he was looking at was the only thing that was reliable.

MR. ROBERT: In the year that you're questioning him about.

THE COURT: How about if we just mark it as an exhibit?

MR. ROBERT: For identification?
THE COURT: Yes, for identification.
MR. ROBERT: Thank you, sir.
THE COURT: Okay.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q Mr. McConney, you'll see that the StreetEasy.com site that you said was reliable, indicates that this building was built in 2013, correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go ahead and mark as Exhibit 3036 for identification a StreetEasy.com listing for Trump Tower, the building in which Mr. Trump's triplex is located.
Q You'll see, that according to StreetEasy.com, the site you testified was reliable, Trump Tower was built in 1983. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q Do you have any reason to disagree with either of those dates?

A No.
Q So, Trump Tower is 30 years older than 157, correct?
A Yes.
Q If you look at the second page of the exhibit, let's look at 3035, page two, you'll see there's a section that says: "Building facts."

You see that?
A Yes.
Q It says under "sales listings: 245 previous sales at 5,369 per square foot average." Do you see that?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q So, that's the average price per square foot for apartments in 157 , correct?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Ground?
MR. ROBERT: It's hearsay.
THE COURT: By the way, in one of these listings, I forgot which, the first amenity was elevator. I would hope so.

It's an out-of-court statement being introduced to prove the truth of its contents, isn't it? So, I'm not sure what exception you want to try to put this under.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, again, this is a website that the witness has, himself, relied on for his own valuations. So, I think it is appropriate based on his own testimony that this exhibit be admitted into evidence.

THE COURT: I don't think that alone does it.
Q Mr. McConney, did you look at StreetEasy.com to determine whether apartments, on average, were selling for a price per square foot in Trump Tower at a price that was anywhere equal to what apartments were selling for in a building that was built 30 years later, 157, when you decided to use 157 as a comp for Trump Tower?

A No.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

THE COURT: Last question then we'll take a break.

MR. AMER: Okay.
THE COURT: Last question or short series of questions. Lawyers do that all the time. They say one question and we get ten.

Q When you decided to use 157 as a comp for Mr. Trump's triplex in Trump Tower, did you look at any of the factors such as building amenities, age of the building, or any other type of factor when deciding whether you might need to adjust pricing up or down to make it comparable to Mr. Trump's triplex?

A Not that I remember, no.
MR. AMER: Okay. I think this is a good spot.
THE COURT: The usual ten-minute break over the course of 15 minutes.
(Recess taken.)
THE COURT: Okay. Let's pick up where we left off.

Q I have one more valuation on the triplex that would go to a different asset. So, let's put up the 2016 Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet, Exhibit 742. It's already in evidence. And row 913 is where the triplex section starts.

Again, it's the same value but goes up to 347 million for 2015 and 2016. Do you see that?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Can you scroll to where it has the June 30th dates again?

Q Sure. There they are.
A Yes. June of '15 and June of '16, yes.
Q Okay. If we go back to '13, you'll see it says: "Triplex based on comps from TIR sales office 30,000 square feet at 10,900 per square foot."

MR. AMER: By the way, I have one more demonstrative to hand out which is charts that show all the values for properties on one chart. So, this is PBS
3.1 through 3.11 .

Q So, there's a different chart for each asset and the first page is the triplex. I just put this up because it's an easy way to appreciate that the values in 2015 and 2016 are the highest values for the triplex in this 11-year period. Correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's look at Exhibit 1037.
MR. AMER: Why don't we give this to the witness. We'll put it on the screen. It's a one-page document.

Q Do you see that this is an e-mail from Naomi Muramatsu to Mr. Weisselberg which he then forwards on to you, correct?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

MR. AMER: I'd ask that this be admitted into evidence, your Honor.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in evidence.
Q Since Mr. Weisselberg's e-mail-- and, by the way, based on the date of this e-mail, this is being sent to you for purposes of preparation of the valuation for 2015 which was still happening in March of 2016, correct?

A I believe that's correct, yes.
Q Mr. Weisselberg has forwarded you this e-mail from Ms. Muramatsu. Again, she's in TIR, correct?

A I believe she was running TIR at the time.
Q Okay. She says to Mr. Weisselberg: "There are very limited number of buildings that sell premium price, especially larger units and I just looked at the closed sales data for the following building, which most likely to be the highest." She lists 15 WPW. That's Central Park west, right?

A I believe so.
Q So, 157, the building you used for comps before, correct?

A Yes.
Q 432 Park Avenue, right?
A Yes.
Q Was the instruction that was given to TIR that they should find comps for the triplex by looking at buildings with closed sales most likely to be the highest?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A I don't know what Allen's instruction to Naomi was, Ms. Muramatsu.

Q When you communicated, in prior years, to TIR, was that the marching orders to find buildings with the highest price per square foot?

A I don't remember telling that to anybody. I tried or I asked them to find comps.

Q At any rate, her e-mail to Mr. Weisselberg indicates that she was trying to find buildings that were most likely to be the highest, correct?

A Yes.
Q Then the next paragraph she says: "Highest was 9,390 per square foot, correct?

A Yes.
Q That's at 15 Central Park West only 2761 square feet for 29995, correct?

A Yes.
Q Then she says: "Highest among the larger units." So she's commenting that this unit at 15 Central Park West was a smaller unit, correct?

A Yes.
Q Then she says: "Highest among the larger unit was 9,198 per square foot at 157, Unit 90." You see that?

A Yes.
Q Then it says: " 10,923 square feet for \(100,471,453\).

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

\section*{Correct?}

A Yes.
Q Now, if we put the this next to the spreadsheet just so we can compare it. Spreadsheet is 742. You see in the spreadsheet you indicated 30,000 at \($ 10,900\) per square foot? Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q Can we agree that your price per square foot is based on the 10,923 number. Right?

A Yes.
Q And that was a mistake, wasn't it?
A Yes, it was. I picked up the square foot, not the dollar amount per square foot.

Q Right. So, you used the square footage of the apartment instead of the price per square foot, which was 9,198. Right?

A Yes.
Q We can do some court math, but, if you'll allow me to round up 9,198 to 9,200, the difference between the figure you used of 10,900 and the actual price per square foot rounded to 9,200 is 1,700 ; and, if you multiply that by 30,000 , it comes to \($ 51\) million.

Does that sound about right?
A I'll have to take your word for it.
Q 1700 times 30 is 51 and, so, this is a \($ 51\) million

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q Was it your intention at the time to choose a price per square foot that would give you the highest value for the triplex?

A We were looking to get a comp for -- so, we were looking for the price per square foot that would give us what we thought Mr. Trump's apartment was worth, compared to what was sold out there. I'm not sure that answers your question, or not.

Q It doesn't, so let me try again.
Looking at this now, and seeing that the 15 Central Park West per square foot was actually higher than the one, the price per square foot at 157, had you known that at the time, would you have picked 15 Central Park West as the comp, because you were looking to get the highest number you could for Mr. Trump's triplex?

A No. We weren't always looking for the highest price. This had 10,900 square feet, so it was closer in size to what we thought the square footage was to Mr. Trump's triplex at the time.

Q Let's turn our attention to 40 Wall Street.
MR. AMER: Let's put up the 2012 Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet. It's 793.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q If we go to row 110, that's the beginning of the section for 40 Wall Street.
A I'm sorry, could you just do me a favor and scroll up, so I know what year?

I guess its only one column, so it's only 2011.
2012. Okay. All right. So this is all 2012. Thank you. Sorry.

Q And so rows 131 to 133 provide the note that indicates how you came up with your valuation that landed at 527,200,000; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And your note says, information provided by Doug Larson at Cushman & Wakefield, Inc., which reflect cap rates of 4.23 percent and 4.39 percent for similar-sized office buildings at 14 Wall Street and 4 New York Plaza; correct?

A Yes.
Q So, let's just go over some background for this type of valuation. This valuation takes net operating income, divided by capitalization rate, to get to a building value; is that right?

A Yes.
Q And the lower the cap rate, the higher the value, because the formula uses the cap rate as the denominator; correct?

A Yes.
Q Now, Doug Larson is an appraiser with Cushman &

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Wakefield; correct?
A Yes.
Q And he is person that you indicate in the note you got information from; right?

A That's correct.
Q I'm correct that the Trump Organization had not retained Mr. Larson or Cushman to conduct an appraisal of 40 Wall Street; right?

A That's correct.
Q And the Trump Organization had not retained Mr. Larson or Cushman & Wakefield to provide you with a cap rate that was applicable for 40 Wall Street; correct?

A That's correct.
Q In this note, what you are referring to Mr. Larson having provided you with is a generic market report from Cushman & Wakefield; right?

A Yes.
Q And that generic market report is not a report that Cushman prepared specifically for the Trump Organization; right?

A That's correct.
Q That is a generic marketing report that Cushman mails out, or emails out, to a large customer base as a service that it provides; correct?

A I have no idea what they do with it.
Q At any rate, it's not anything that you paid for;
correct?
A That's correct.
MR. AMER: Let's look at Plaintiff's Exhibit 794. (Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q Mr. McConney, is this back-up material that you provided to Mr. Bender in connection with your supporting spreadsheet?

A The documents, yes. The computation in the middle, I don't think that's mine.

THE COURT: You need to talk in the microphone.
Sorry?
THE WITNESS: It's like an adding machine tape of some sort, in the middle, I don't believe I did. But, the documents are mine.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: Objection overruled. Request granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 794 was received in evidence.)
Q I would like to focus you on the second page of the exhibit.

MR. AMER: If we could put up the spreadsheet

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}
that we were looking at, lines 131 to 133, now. The Jeff Supporting spreadsheet 793.

Q And just focusing on the note in 131 to 133 , does the page from Exhibit 794 on the left appear to be the backup for your note in the spreadsheet about how you got to the 4.31 cap rate average?

A Yes.
Q You took two cap rates, one for 4 New York Plaza, one for 14 Wall Street, from the generic market report; you averaged them to come up with 4.31 ; right?

A Yes.
Q And the next two pages are the backup material. That is, 794 are pages from that generic market report; right?

A That's correct.
Q And it contains a description of the two properties you used for the average. It's the second and third properties on the list; correct?

A Yes.
Q And the cap rates are listed under the column, \(O A R\), which stance for overall rate of return; right?

A I think so. Yes.
Q At any rate --
A I use that as my cap rate.
Q Understood. That was the column that would have the cap rate that you used; right?

A That's correct.
Q And again, because the cap rate is the denominator in the equation, the lower the cap rate, the higher the property value. The higher the cap rate, the lower the property value; right?

A Yes.
Q There are a total of eight properties listed in this generic market report. The two you selected and averaged were the second and third lowest cap rates; right?

A Yes.
Q If we look at the next property after 14 Wall Street, it's 33 Maiden Lane; correct?

A Yes.
Q If we just look at the description it says, This is a Class A office building. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q And 4 New York Plaza, which is a building you selected to use, is also a Class A office property; correct?

A Yes.
Q 33 Maiden Lane has a higher cap rate of 4.74 ; right?
A Yes.
Q If you had included that in your average, it would have drove the cap rate up; right?

A The cap rate would have gone up, yes.
Q And you did not use 33 Maiden Lane; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And the next building is 199 -- sorry 195 Broadway, and that's a landmark Class A office building; correct?

A Yes.
Q And 14 Wall Street is also a landmarked Class A, but it's a Class A-minus office building; correct?

A Yes.
Q And 195 Broadway has a higher cap rate of 6.3 percent. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q If you had used that in your average, it would have driven the cap rate up; correct?

A Yes.
Q You did not include that building in your cap rate equation; correct?

A That's correct.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, this is just math, so the Court can take judicial notice of it, but I'll represent to you that if you include those additional two cap rates and you took the average from all four, the cap rate would be 4.915 percent, and it would lower the value by \($ 65\) million.

THE COURT: Well, subject to the math being correct, I'll take judicial notice of that. Yes.
MR. AMER: Thank you, your Honor.
THE COURT: It sounds about right.

\section*{Lisa Casey - Senior Court Reporter}

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

MR. AMER: Let's look at 2014 Jeff Supporting Data, Exhibit 719.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

Q And 40 Wall Street starts at row 118.
A I'm sorry, which? Looking at the 2014 column? Column H?

Q We are going to look at column \(G\) first, which is 2013. A Okay.

MR. AMER: And go to row 118.
Q That's 40 Wall Street; correct?
A Is that a question for me? Yes.
Q Yes. Okay?
A Yes.
Q And you used the same 4.31 cap rate as in the prior year that we have just discussed; right?

A Yes.
Q It's based on the same backup we just went through; correct?

A Without looking at my backup, it's just an assumption. I didn't have a note here, for some reason.

Q And if we look at column \(H\), it shows the valuation for 2014 at rows 138 to 141; right?

A Right. Can you scroll up a little bit, because there may be some notes there. I'm sorry, the page up, or I guess looking down. Right. There's the -- my notes. Okay. Sorry. Can \(I\) just read the notes now?

Q Sure.
A Okay. So the answer to your last question about 2013 was yes. We used the same, 4.31.

Q Just so the record is clear, you are now looking at rows 155 to 158, and you can confirm that it's the same description for your valuation of 2012 and 2013; right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And then rows 148 through 152 is your note for the valuation for 2014; correct?

A Correct.
Q And you used a cap rate there. Again, it's information provided by Doug Larson; right?

A Correct.
Q And it's the same type of generic market report that we have been talking about for Mr. Larson; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And the cap rate of 3.04 percent for 100 -- sorry. I just caught myself. So, you used the cap rate for 110 William Street of 4.97 percent, and then another building, 61 Broadway, was 4.46 percent. You then say, according to Doug, the spread between Class A and Class B buildings is typically 150 basis point. To be conservative, you reduced the cap rate by 75 basis points to 3.71 percent, and then you averaged that with the

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}
4.97 percent. Is that right?

A Yes.
Q And am I correct, Mr. McConney, that during the period we have been discussing, covering the 2012 to 2016 Statements of Financial Condition, while you were receiving and using these Cushman generic market reports that you were getting from Mr. Larson to calculate your cap rates, you were aware that Mr. Larson was preparing formal appraisals for 40 Wall Street for the bank that had the loan on the property; right?

A I'm not sure I knew at the time that Doug was doing those appraisals.

Q As you sit here right now, you are not sure that he was doing those appraisals?

A At that time, I know at one point in time we were -we were refinancing 40 Wall Street, I don't remember what year it was, and I know he was doing an appraisal because I was heavily involved in it. I'm not sure every single appraisal that Doug did for that period of time, I was aware of.

Q Mr. McConney, weren't you the conduit for information from Mr. Larson, for purposes of him doing his bank appraisals for 40 Wall Street?

A I remember -- again, I remember the one loan that we were doing. I don't remember all the appraisals that he was doing. I could be -- again, I don't remember being the conduit.

Q My question is very simple.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

A \(\quad \mathrm{Mm}-\mathrm{hmm}\).
Q Isn't it a fact that you, Mr. McConney, were the conduit for information on behalf of the Trump Organization to Mr. Larson in connection with his bank appraisal, bank appraisals that he was doing during the period 2012 to 2016 that we have just been discussing?

A You are saying -- I'm saying I'm not sure \(I\) was the conduit for every single appraisal.

Q And I'm not asking you if you were the conduit for every single appraisal, but you were the conduit for information for Mr. Larson for bank appraisals he was doing for 40 Wall Street. Let's leave it at that. Is that correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. AMER: Let's look at Exhibit 3047.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q These are emails -- this is an email exchange you have with Mr. Larson; correct?

A Yes, sir.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this exhibit be admitted.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: Objection overruled. Granted. It's
in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 3047 was received in evidence.)

Q Let's look at the bottom of the email. This is from Mr. Larson to you, and it's dated October 13, 2011. "Jeffrey, we have been engaged by Capital One Bank to prepare an appraisal of 40 Wall Street. Attached please find a list of information we need to prepare the appraisal."

He gives you this phone number, and tells you you can call him.
"Hope all is well, thank you, Doug;" right?
A Yes, sir.
Q So you knew, as of October 2011, that Mr. Larson was preparing an appraisal for 40 Wall for Capital One Bank which, at the time, was the bank that had the loan on 40 Wall Street; correct?

A Yes. Thank you for jogging my memory.
Q Happy to oblige.
Now, let's look at the top email, and this is from you to Mr. Larson. "Doug, a couple of quick questions. You are asking for lease abstracts for the most recent leases. How far back should I go? The last appraisal was done in August 2010."

Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q So you know, in October of 2011, he is doing -- he is currently doing an appraisal, and you also knew that he had done

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}
one the prior year; right?
A It looks that way, yes.
Q Okay.
MR. AMER: Let's look at Plaintiff's
Exhibit 3046.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q This is an email from Mr. Larson to you dated October 15, 2012; right?
A Yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: Occasion overruled. Granted. It's
in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 3046 was received in evidence.)
Q Mr. Larson says, "Jeff, we have been engaged by Capital One Bank to prepare an appraisal of the above property," which is 40 Wall Street; right?

A Yes.
Q "The following information is requested in order for us to prepare the appraisal," and he lists a bunch of information; right?

A Yes.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Q So a year later, Mr. Larson is doing another appraisal, and you are the person he contacts and tells he is doing it, and requests information; right?

A That's correct.
Q So you knew in October of 2012 that Mr. Larson was doing, now, his third appraisal for 40 Wall Street; correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go ahead and mark Exhibit 3048.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q This is an exchange, an email exchange between you and Mr. Larson in May of 2015; correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this exhibit be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: Objection overruled. Request granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, Plaintiff's Exhibit 3048 was received in evidence.)

Q The bottom email is yet another email from Mr . Larson to you, telling you he has is been engaged by Ladder Capital. That's the bank that refinanced the loan; right?

A This is the one I remember. Yes.
Q Okay.

A Yeah.
Q I'm glad to hear you remember this one, but there are three others before this one.

A Yes. I just didn't remember those at the time. This is the one \(I\) do remember.

Q Okay. And once again, he is telling you he has been engaged to do an appraisal of 40 Wall Street, and he is asking you for information; right?

A Correct.
Q You write to him in response and you say, Doug -- this is the second line.

A Okay.
Q "Doug, Steve Lafiosca, copied on this email, can help with you the inspection. Based on the appraisals you have done in the past, do you have any of the below information in your files," right?

A Yes.
Q So you are basically wondering, since he keeps coming to you year after year asking you for all this information, why he doesn't have it already, since he has been doing all these appraisals before; right?

A I just asked him if he had it, yes, and if he could use it.

Q Well, you are asking him if he had it in his files, because you were aware of all these appraisals he has been doing; right?
A Seven years ago, yes.
Q Seven years ago. We were looking at 2012. That's three years ago; right?

A No. In 2015, I knew that. That was eight years ago, from today. At that point in time, I probably knew it. I don't remember it now.

Q I understand what you are saying. So, we can agree then, having now had your recollection refreshed by looking at all these emails, that you, during the period that you were working on preparing the Statements of Financial Condition from 2012 through 2016, you were simultaneously acting as the conduit for information for Mr. Larson, so that he can prepare formal appraisals for 40 Wall Street? Right?

A Yes.
Q And while you were acting as the conduit to provide information to Mr . Larson, I'm correct that you never sought to use any of the Cushman appraised values for 40 Wall Street in the Statement of Financial Condition; correct?

A That's correct.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Q And during the period of time that you were acting as the conduit of information for Mr. Larson for his appraisals at 40 Wall Street and you were using his generic market report for your cap rate calculations, you never asked Mr. Larson if the cap rates you were selecting were appropriate. Isn't that right?

A No. I mean, it's correct. Yes.
Q During this period of time when you were acting as the conduit to provide information to Mr. Larson so that he could do his formal appraisals, you never asked Mr. Larson what cap rates he was using for any of the Cushman appraisals at 40 Wall Street; isn't that right?

A I believe that's correct, yes.
MR. AMER: Can we put back up the Jeff
Supporting Data spreadsheet at 742 , the native?
Q I want to go back to your note at row 153 that explains the basis for the cap rate. This is your note reflecting that you chose a cap rate of 3.04 percent for 100 Wall Street, correct?

A Yes.
Q You say it's based on a telephone conversation with Doug Larson. You see that?

A Yes.
Q Okay. The cap rate of 3.04 percent for 100 Wall Street was selected by you from the generic marketing report

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
you got from Cushman; is that right?
A Yes. I believe so, yes.
MR. AMER: Why don't we put up Plaintiff's Exhibit 868.

Q Mr. McConney, this is an e-mail from you to Mr.
Bender which encloses an attachment, correct?
A Correct.
Q The attachment is an excerpt from the 2015 Cushman appraisal of 40 Wall Street, right?

A Yes.
Q So, it's clear, you did have a copy of the Cushman 2015 appraisal when you forwarded this e-mail to Mr. Bender, right?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: I ask that this be admitted into evidence, your Honor.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of Limitations objection.
THE COURT: Overruled. Granted. It's in evidence.
Q Let's look at the 11 th page of the exhibit. Now, Mr . McConney, the highlighting is not anything we're putting up there. This is in the exhibit, correct?

A Yes.
Q You're sending this to Mr . Bender. Did you highlight this so he could see where you were getting the cap rate from?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A I believe so, yes.
Q Okay. Now, we do have, and this is what you sent to him, but, the appraisal itself is a much larger document, correct?

A I believe so, yes.
Q What you sent him was what you picked out of the full appraisal to share with him, correct?

A I don't remember picking out certain pages but I sent it to him.

Q Okay. You sent him only a portion of the appraisal report, right?

A Yes.
Q What you sent him was what you intended to send him? A Yes.

MR. AMER: Okay. Let's go ahead and mark the full appraisal report.

THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
MR. AMER: Just when I hand up a very large document. It's going to be a challenge.
THE COURT: I hope you can finish the document before we leave.
MR. AMER: I think we'll be okay.
Q This is starting at page eight of the document. You'll see the cover page for the appraisal.

Do you see that?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

A Yes.
Q It's the same 2015 appraisal that you sent an excerpt of to Mr. Bender, correct?

A Can I have that last exhibit back, please? Yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask Exhibit 118 be admitted into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Statute of Limitations objection.
THE COURT: Overruled. Granted. It's in evidence.
Q Let's turn to page 15 of the appraisal report.
Again, this is something you had in your file and you have looked at?

A I had or had not?
Q You had looked at it because you sent a portion of it to Mr. Bender, correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. Let's look at the cap rate that Mr. Larson used based on his professional appraisal, 4.25. Right?

A There are a number of cap rates here. It's one of them that he used, yes, that is.

Q That is a different and much higher cap rate than the one you used in the same year of 3.04 percent, correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go to -- I will represent to you another math point, your Honor, that if you use Mr.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}

Larson's cap rate of 4.25 , instead of Mr. McConney's cap rate of 3.04 , the new value is \($ 227\) million lower than the value that Mr. McConney calculated.

THE COURT: Those cap rates are really important, but, I'll take judicial notice of that, subject to checking the math.

MR. AMER: Just so you have it, the new value is 569 million which is \($ 227\) million lower than the value in the Statement of Financial Condition. Let's go to page 100 in the appraisal report.

Q Mr. McConney, this is a description of comps that is in the appraisal report; and, in fact, Mr. Larson looked at 100 Wall Street which was the basis for your choosing 3.04 percent, right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's go to page 105 and that begins the discussion of the comparables in his appraisal and he discusses 100 Wall Street. You see that? It's the very first comparable sale.

A Yes.
Q Okay. If we look at the last paragraph in this section, Mr. Larson says: "In comparison with the subject property, a downward adjustment was required for property rights conveyed. A downward adjustment was required for the size under the premise that smaller properties sell for more

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer} per square foot than larger properties."
Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, Mr. Larson a professional -- he's a professional appraiser, right?

A Yes, he is.
Q He looked at the same property that you used as the basis for your cap rate, and, he did two downward adjustments, and, he ended up choosing a cap rate that was higher than the one you chose.

He chose 4.25 percent, right?
A He chose 4.25 on that prior page you looked at. I don't know where that 4.25 came from.

Q He looked at the same property, 100 Wall Street, that was the basis for your cap rate, right?

A Yes.
Q He did two downward adjustments, correct?
A Yes.
Q You didn't share this page with Mr. Bender when you sent him the excerpts from the appraisal, did you?

A I'd have to go back and look.
Q I'll represent to you, you did not.
A I believe you.
Q Okay. So, Mr. Bender was not aware that Mr. Larson had reviewed and downwardly adjusted the very property that

\section*{J. McConney - Direct/Amer}
you used as the basis for your cap rate, correct?
MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: What's the objection?
MR. ROBERT: Before Mr. Amer talked about what Mr. Bender knew. It wasn't part of what he said. We don't know what Mr. Bender knew.

MR. AMER: I can rephrase it.
THE COURT: Sustained.
Q Mr. Bender would not have known, based on what you sent him, that Mr. Larson had looked at and downwardly adjusted the very property that you relied on for your cap rate. Isn't that fair?

A That's correct but he could have asked for the whole appraisal, also.

Q I'm just asking you based on what you sent to him. You would agree that this process of making adjustments to comp sales, in order to compare them to the subject property, is what appraisers routinely do so that the comps better reflect the value of the subject property; isn't that right?

A I don't know what appraisers do. I don't know how they make these adjustments. I see on this one. I don't know what they do as a general practical matter.

Q At no point when you were selecting cap rates from the generic market reports, did you undertake any efforts to make adjustments to the compensation so that they better reflected the value of 40 Wall Street; isn't that correct? A That's correct.

\section*{Proceedings}

MR. AMER: I'm at a good point, your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. We need to talk to the attorneys about scheduling, but I promised to Chris Kise to teach him some New York history.

Does anybody know how Maiden Lane got its name? If you ever see it, you'll see it's sort of a depression in the area. Mr. Kise, because there was a stream. Back in colonial times, young women would take their wash to the stream to wash it, and they were called maidens. That is how it got to be called Maiden Lane.

THE COURT: Now, Allison has some business to conduct.

MS. GREENFIELD: Thank you, Judge. So, I assume we're going to be continuing for with Mr. McConney tomorrow. How long do we anticipate cross? Is there going to be cross tomorrow?

MR. KISE: No.
MS. GREENFIELD: How much more direct?
MR. AMER: I'm going to say I'm half way through.

MS. GREENFIELD: Who is after Mr. McConney?
MR. SOLOMON: Mr. Weisselberg.
MS. GREENFIELD: That will be a full day, I

\section*{Proceedings}
predict.
MR. ROBERT: Tomorrow is only a half day.
MS. GREENFIELD: Do we expect Mr. Weisselberg tomorrow or Tuesday? Monday is a holiday.

MR. AMER: What \(I\) would say if \(I\) were to finish before the end of the session, it's going to be very close to the end of the session. So, we want to avoid having to inconvenience Mr . Weisselberg. We can say I'll go to whenever we stop and we'll be done.

MS. GREENFIELD: If we're beginning with Weisselberg Tuesday morning, who is after Weisselberg, if we know yet?

MR. ROBERT: They have Birney.
MR. WALLACE: The next Trump employee will be Patrick Birney but we took Mr. Kise's position to heart and are going to call Nick Haigh to appear in person rather than do a deposition while the trial is going on.

He will appear on the 11th. He has the 11th and the 12 th he leaves the country. So, our expectation is we're going to work cooperatively to get through Mr. Weisselberg, depending on when he ends. Could be Mr. Haigh or Mr. Birney but those will be the next two witnesses.

MS. GREENFIELD: We'll revisit it tomorrow before we adjourn.

THE COURT: A court officer, very well-intentioned, nice guy. They all are. One or two times that my cell phone went off, he didn't realize that. So, he tells the audience, you should turn off those cell phones. It was my fault.

Okay. We're back to Mr. McConney, right? MR. AMER: Yes.
THE COURT: Let's get the witness.
JEFF MCCONNEY, having been previously duly sworn, resumed the witness stand and continued to testify as follows:

THE COURT: Let's continue.

\section*{DIRECT EXAMINATION (cont'd)}

MR. AMER:
Q Good morning, Mr. McConney. I want to clean up one issue from yesterday and then we'll move forward.

You recall we were discussing Vornado cash and the various accounts that are listed in the spreadsheet we looked at yesterday?
A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go ahead and put that spreadsheet up. It's 2587 Native.
Q Just to recall your testimony--
MR. AMER: And can we collapse the columns that we collapsed before? I think it was \(D\) through \(N\).

\section*{cConney - Direct/Amer}

Page 688
Q I believe it was your testimony, Mr. McConney, that it was your intent to represent that the Vornado cash accounts, those accounts that referenced 30 percent were held in Capital One accounts but they were different accounts than the Capital One accounts for the various Trump-controlled cash; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q Am I correct that from time to time, the Trump Organization received distribution of Vornado cash at the discretion of the general partner for the Vornado Partnerships; is that right?

\section*{A That's correct.}

MR. AMER: If we could look at Exhibit 3106.
Your Honor, this is a bank record that was produced to us by Vornado Realty Trust in response to a investigative subpoena. I ask it be admitted in as a business record.

MR. SUAREZ: We object on the basis of Statute of Limitations. It is dated March 15, 2013.

THE COURT: Overruled. Request granted. It's in evidence.
Q You can confirm that the debit account name Hudson
Waterfront Associates IIII is one of the Vornado cash partnerships, correct?
A Correct.

1 Q It's in the spreadsheet we were looking at before, correct?

A Correct.
Q And this shows that the money being distributed by this Vornado cash account is actually coming from Bank of America, not Capital One, correct?

A That's correct.
Q Does this refresh your recollection that the Vornado cash accounts were actually held at Bank of America and not Capital One?
A This -- yes, this transfer came from Bank of America.
Q That wasn't my question. My question was whether it refreshes your recollection that all of the Vornado cash accounts were actually sitting in Bank of America, not Capital One?

A I don't know where all-- where Vornado puts all of their money. Without looking at our specific backup for that statement, I can't say all their accounts were at Bank of America. This transfer did come from Bank of America.
\(Q\) Just pick up the exhibit again. Page two is a different transfer from a different Vornado cash account. That's Hudson Waterfront Associates V, right?

A Yes, sir.
25 Q That is from Bank of America, correct?

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I would move this exhibit with the native files into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted it's in evidence.
MR. FIELDS: Objection. Statute of Limitations if the documents are from 2015.

THE COURT: Objection overruled. It's in evidence.
Q Do you see on the attachment line of this e-mail that the first attachment is named 1-Jeff Supporting Data and it's an XL file.

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q So, this was your process for providing Mr. Bender with copies of your Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet, correct?
A Yes.
Q If we pull up native one, we'll see this is, in fact, your supporting data spreadsheet which appears to be a preliminary valuation spreadsheet that you're sending to him, correct?

A I don't remember where we were in the process at this point in time.

MS. HABBA: Your Honor, I'm going to do it one time for you today and only one time. I'll object to any backup data that is before the February 2016 date that we believe, per my objection that's been standing for the

\section*{past four days.}

THE COURT: Okay. Objection duly noted. We'll call it a standing objection to anything before the magic day.

\section*{MS. HABBA: Thank you. \\ THE COURT: Overruled.}

Q Let's go ahead and go to row 117, and this is the row that starts the analysis of 40 Wall Street in this valuation that you provide to Mr. Bender in December, correct? A Yes.
Q Now, on line 125 and 126, you state: Cushman & Wakefield appraisal done June 2015 for lien refinancing with Ladder Capital, and you put a value of \($ 540\) million.

So, at this point in time, you were using the Cushman 2015 appraisal as part of the valuation, correct?

A Yes.
Q And rows 118 through 123, if I'm reading this correctly, is a calculation of an additional value of slightly over \($ 120\) million that you then add to the Cushman appraisal value of 540 to get to a valuation of 660.3 , correct?
A Yes.
Q This additional value is made up of additional income from two spaces that you indicate are new lease signings after Ladder Capital refinancing was completed; is that right? A Yes.

Q So, if I'm understanding this correctly, you are adding additional value based on additional net operating income from leases that you note were signed after the Ladder Capital refinancing, which, I take it to mean, you believe were not included within the Cushman appraisal; is that right? A Yes.
Q Because they weren't, in your understanding, part of the Cushman appraisal. It's appropriate in your view to add that net operating income in as value by then dividing that income by the 3.04 cap rate, that we've talked about before, that you got from the generic market records, correct?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q So, just to close the loop on the calculation.
You've got 2.25 million of income from a Dean & DeLuca lease.
You add that up, you divide it by 3.04, and you get the 120 million and change in additional value; is that right?

\section*{A Yes.}

MS. HABBA: Your Honor, I'm going to object and ask that counsel ask direct questions instead of testifying. This isn't cross. Just please ask and let him testify to what he did.

THE COURT: I believe your objection is that the questions are leading. Does that sound right?

MS. HABBA: Correct, your Honor. It's not only \begin{tabular}{lc}
J. McConney - Direct/Amer \\
1 & leading, it's as if he's testifying himself. \\
2 & MR. SUAREZ: And they're also compound, Judge. \\
3 & THE COURT: Sorry? \\
4 & MR. SUAREZ: Compound. \\
5 & MR. AMER: Your Honor, this is a defendant. He \\
6 & is a hostile witness. I should be able to lead. \\
7 & MS. HABBA: He's not a hostile witness. \\
8 & THE COURT: He's a defendant. \\
9 & MS. HABBA: He is. He's a defendant, but he-- \\
10 & yes, but -- your Honor, my objection-- I noted my \\ 11 & objection. I'm sure you'll overrule it, but, I would \\
12 & prefer if counsel would just ask him a direct question \\
13 & and let him testify to what he did on the backup, just as \\ 14 & he preferred that Chris not testify in any objections \\
15 & yesterday. \\
16 & THE COURT: He is a defendant. Im considering \\
17 & him a hostile witness. Objection on the ground of \\ 18 & leading is overruled. \\
19 & As for the compound question objection, yeah, \\
20 & there's a rule you shouldn't be asking compound \\
21 & questions. So, try to keep it discrete points. \\
22 & Should we have that read? \\
23 & MR. AMER: I think there is an answer, though. \\ 24 & THE COURT: I think there was, also. He \\ 25 & answered.
\end{tabular}

A Okay. Got it.
Q This chart appears on that page, correct?
A Yes.
Q You'll see under Wall Street frontage, it says:
"Dean & DeLuca 18,500 square feet contract rent 1.4 million. Contract rents per square foot 75.68 . You see that?
A Yes.
Q So, in fact, this Cushman appraisal does include the income from the Dean & DeLuca lease, right?
A I can't make that statement. I didn't track this schedule back to the appraisal. So, I can't say yes or no.

Q Did you see this chart and make note of it when you reviewed the appraisal?
A No.
Q Let's go to page 115. I'll wait for you to get

McConney - Direct/Amer
Page 696

\section*{there.}

A I'm there.
Q Second chart says: "Retail tenants." See on line 17 it says: "Dean & DeLuca." See that?

A Yes.
Q Doesn't that indicate that this appraisal includes the operating income from the Dean & DeLuca lease?
A Again, I didn't go through this appraisal and try everything out. So, I can't answer the question.

Q Well, you did a valuation on the assumption, as we just agreed, that the Cushman appraisal didn't include the Dean & DeLuca lease, right?

A That's correct.
Q This page shows that there's a reference to the Dean & DeLuca lease, right?

A There is a reference to the Dean & DeLuca lease, yes.

Q Did you make note of this chart when you were reviewing the 2015 appraisal?

A No.
Q Let's go to page 117. Let's do -- so, the bottom paragraph carrying over to the next page: "In addition to office space, the subject property is leased to four retail tenants that include Dean & DeLuca."

You see that?

1 A Yes.
\(2 \quad\) Q It goes on to say that "Dean & DeLuca leases 15,500 square feet on the grade." You see that?

A Yes.
Q So, this appraisal includes the income on the Dean & DeLuca lease, doesn't it?

A Again, I didn't go through and track all of this. I can't make the statement yes or no.

Q Okay, but, you did a valuation in 2015 that was based on the assumption that the Cushman appraisal did not include the Dean & DeLuca lease?

MR. FIELDS: Objection. Asked and answered.
THE COURT: Was it asked and answered?
MR. AMER: I'll withdraw the question.
Q You missed this reference in the Cushman appraisal; is that what you're saying?

A I'm saying -- yes.
Q Let's go to page 136. See the paragraph that says: "Market rental rate retail space? This-- "The subject property is leased to four retail tenants that include Dean & DeLuca." See that?

A Yes.
Q Did you miss that, as well?
A Yes.
Q Can we agree, Mr. McConney, that by adding the income counted the Dean & DeLuca lease income. Isn't that the practical effect of what you did in your valuation?

A Without looking at all this information and see how it tracks from point A to point B within the appraisal, I can't tell you if it's included or not.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, again, on math you can check but I will just represent that if you back out the \($ 1,406,000\) from the additional value that's then divided by the 3.04 percent cap rate.

MS. HABBA: Your Honor --
THE COURT: Let him finish.
MR. AMER: It equals 46,250,000.
MS. HABBA: Your Honor, objection. Counsel is testifying.

THE COURT: Well, again, as often in this case, there's no jury. So, there's no prejudice. I'll take judicial notice of that, subject to a careful calculation again.
Q Mr. McConney, if you want to confirm this by looking at Exhibit 868, which was your e-mail to Mr. Bender with excerpts from the 2015 Cushman appraisal, none of the four pages that we just looked at that mention the Dean & DeLuca lease from the Cushman appraisal are included in what you sent Mr. Bender, correct?

A Can you please give me those page numbers again?

Page 700
from the lease from Dean & DeLuca into your valuation that you double counted the Dean & DeLuca income in your valuation? MR. SUAREZ: Objection, your Honor. Mr. McConney is not a valuation expert. He's not offered as a valuation expert.

THE COURT: Overruled.
A Sorry. Can you ask me the question again?
Q Can we agree that by including the Dean & DeLuca lease in your additional value that you added to the 540 from the Cushman appraisal, that you, effectively, double counted the Dean & DeLuca lease income in your valuation? A Okay. I will say again that I didn't track all the information in the appraisal. So, I can't answer that question.
Q Well, I think you can answer the question, Mr. McConney. So, I'm going to ask you to please answer it. The question is: Based on what we just looked at, wouldn't you agree that by including in your additional value the Dean & DeLuca lease that you double counted the income from that lease?
A I did not track the information on this appraisal from A to B to C. I can't answer that question.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, he's not answering the question I'm asking him. It's a simple question.
Q Based on what we've just looked at, you double

Q Sure. They are page 137.
A What page of the appraisal? Sorry. 110?
Q It's not that many pages. You can just flip through it and confirm that the chart is not there?
A I understand that, but, I'm saying on the bottom of page 136 -- when I sent it to Mr. Bender, page 136 of 219 was not on the document I sent to Mr. Bender.
Q 137 is Bates number 9451 ?
A That is CW. This is New York AG. On the upper right-hand corner, you have page number page 111. That's what I'm looking for.

Q Let's do it more simply. Let's flip through the exhibit.

A I am.
Q And confirm -- okay.
MS. HABBA: Counsel, I think he has a point. If you look at the top right, Mr. Amer, if you can just give him the number.

MR. AMER: I've asked my question. Thanks. MS. HABBA: I'm just trying to help.
A Can you ask the question one more time?
Q Can you confirm that none of the four pages that reference the Dean & DeLuca lease in the Cushman appraisal were included in the excerpts you sent to Mr. Bender in Exhibit 868 ?

\section*{A Yes.}

\section*{Q Thank you. That wasn't that hard.}

Okay. Let's -- let me ask you, just, we have discussed a couple of mistakes and oversights. We talked about the 30000 -square-foot-triplex mistake; correct?

A Yes.
Q And we talked about your mistake in pulling the square footage for a comp at 157 , instead of the price per square foot. Do you recall that?

A Yes.
MR. SUAREZ: Objection, your Honor. He did not testify to having made a mistake.
THE COURT: He just said he did.
MR. SUAREZ: No. He just -- it's in his question. It wasn't in his testimony from yesterday. He is mischaracterizing the testimony from yesterday.

MR. AMER: I think yesterday he said it was a mistake. He pulled the wrong number from the email.

THE COURT: He just said he did. Or am I hearing things?
Q So, you have that second mistake, and then you have just testified that you missed seeing the Dean & DeLuca reference in the Cushman appraisal; right?

A Yes.
Q I may have missed it, but do you recall making any mistakes that caused the valuing to go down instead of up?

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

A In general, over the 20 years, or --
Q During the period that you were working on the valuations.

A Yes.
Q What mistake did you make that caused the valuation to go down?

A I recall one on the cash sheet, or the cash spreadsheet we looked at with the Vornado cash on it. One year I included Mr. Trump's foundation cash, Mr. Trump's foundation's cash on that spreadsheet. Donald Bender said I can't do that, it's not controlled by Mr. Trump, it's controlled by the foundation, so I took that off.

I believe on Trump Tower, once, we were valuing vacant space at a dollar amount, and Mr. Bender pointed out that we used a different dollar amount on a certiorari proceeding, and so we reduced the amount of my spreadsheet to the amount that he indicated on the certiorari proceeding? Can I just go back to the first mistake.

Q You said Donald Bender said you can't include cash from Mr. Trump's foundation because it's not controlled by him. Is that your testimony?
A I don't remember the exact words, but he had us -- he told me to take the cash from the foundation off that spreadsheet.

Q And he told you it was because Mr. Trump didn't control that cash; right?

Page 704
A He gave me - I believed it to be, Mr. Trump really didn't control that cash anymore.

Q But you continued to list the Vornado cash; right?
A Yes.
Q Why don't we turn to Park Avenue, Trump Park Avenue.
MR. AMER: And let's put up the 2012 Jeff
Supporting Data, which is Exhibit 793 in evidence.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
MR. AMER: Let's go to row 166.
Q Now, this shows, Mr. McConney, a value for the unsold units at Trump Park Avenue; correct?

A Yes. Well, except for the super's apartment. The super's apartment was sold.

Q And for 2011 and 2012, it's the same value. It's a little over $293 million; correct?

A Correct. Excuse me. Correct.
MR. AMER: Let's pull up Plaintiff's
Exhibit 1073. It's an email that has native files attached to it.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I won't raise objections to documents that have already been admitted over our objection. Obviously, you would not be happy with me if I did that. But, we do object to this document that's being
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}

A Correct.
Q And if we put this -- so --
MR. AMER: Withdrawn.
Q The offering plan price is roughly \($ 57\) million higher than the market value total; correct?

A Correct.
Q Now, let's go to Plaintiff's 796.
(Whereupon, a document was handed to the witness.)
Q Mr. McConney, do you recognize this as backup that you sent to Donald Bender in support of the supporting data spreadsheet?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I move this into evidence, please.

MR. SUAREZ: Objection. Statute of limitations.
THE COURT: I thought someone said you are only going to do that once.

MR. SUAREZ: No. I said I wouldn't do it for exhibits that have been moved into evidence, but they are bringing up with new witnesses.

THE COURT: All right. Duly noted. Overruled. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, the exhibit was received in
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer

unsold apartments?
A Yes.
Q And 502 Park Avenue, that's Trump Park Avenue; correct?

A Yes.
Q And there are three columns in this backup. There's Unit, which is the unit number of the apartment; is that right?
A Yes.
Q There's an offering plan price; correct?
A Yes.
Q And there's a current market value price column; correct?

A Yes.
Q We can agree that the value that you used in your supporting data spreadsheet that we were just looking at is the 293 figure from the offering plan price column; correct?

A Correct.
Q And that was what you used for both 2011 and 2012; correct?

A I believe so, yes.
Q And is this spreadsheet prepared by the TIR sales office in order to give you valuations for the unsold units?

A Yes.
Q This is information that you asked TIR to provide you for preparing your valuation of Park Avenue for the statements;
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer

evidence.)
Q Mr. McConney, looking at what you sent Mr. Bender. It appears that you sent him a column that shows the unit number and column that shows the offering plan price, but you have cut off the column that shows the market value; right?

A Yes.
Q So this was not a mistake. You intentionally removed that third column from the material you forwarded to Mr. Bender, on purpose; right?

A Yes.
Q And you removed that column because you didn't want him to see the values that were labeled, current market values; correct?
A No.
THE COURT: That was a yes or no? THE WITNESS: No.
Q The effect of your removing that column was that he didn't see it; right?
A Correct.
MR. AMER: I'm going to put up, from Exhibit 3041 -- which is the defendants' 202 response -paragraph 344, and if we can do it side by side, eventually, with the exhibit that we were just looking at.

So, let's go to paragraph 344 , which is page 126 , I believe.
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer Page 709
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q Paragraph 344, which defendants have admitted is that, "In 2013, the following 11 units were stabilized," and then you see there's a list of units; correct?

A Yes.
Q And we can agree that if a unit was rent stabilized in 2011, it was rent stabilized in 2012 and 20 - I'm sorry. If it was rent stabilized in 2013, it would have been rent stabilized in 2012 and 2011; correct?

MR. SUAREZ: Objection, your Honor. That's a legal conclusion. I don't know that Mr. McConney is a lawyer.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Mr. Amer, is there some other way that we can figure out what was rent stabilized and what wasn't?

MR. AMER: There's a paragraph above it. Why don't we use that paragraph. Defendants, in response to an assertion of the units that were rent stabilized in 2011 and 2012, asserted that the following 12 units were rent stabilized as of September 2011, and then there's a list of units. So, if we can take judicial notice of that as an admitted fact; your Honor?
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer

Page 710
THE COURT: Yes. That was admitted by this defendant; right?

MR. AMER: Yes, your Honor.
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, the response to 343, actually, is disputed.

MR. AMER: I was reading what comes after, disputed.

MR. SUAREZ: Okay.
THE COURT: All right. So 343 is disputed, but what comes after it is undisputed.

MR. AMER: It's what they assert.
THE COURT: Well -- oh, sorry. That's how those things work. That's an assertion by this defendant.

MR. AMER: Yes.
MS. HABBA: I'm sorry. Just to be clear for the record, are we putting in the entire document, or just this section? I would submit the same response, that we should be putting in the entire document, if that is what --

MR. AMER: I thought I moved the whole document into evidence.

MS. HABBA: It has been moved in? Then I have no objection.

THE COURT: Well --
MS. HABBA: The entire document.
THE COURT: - is it in evidence, the entire
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer

document?
MR. AMER: I moved it into evidence. I believe your Honor said yes.

THE COURT: Yes. It's in.
MS. HABBA: Okay. Good.
THE COURT: So, it's already in evidence.
Q Mr. McConney, you were aware that Park Avenue had these rent-stabilized units when you prepared the valuations; correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And if we just tick off, in the sponsor unit spreadsheet for 2012, these 12 units. For 4A, 4A, 6B, 7A, 7B, \(7 \mathrm{D}, 7 \mathrm{E}, 7 \mathrm{G}, 8 \mathrm{E}, 8 \mathrm{H}, 10 \mathrm{E}, 12 \mathrm{E}, 15 \mathrm{AB}\), so all of these units you knew, at the time that you were doing the valuations for this year, were rent stabilized; correct?

A Correct.
Q And you valued them without any regard to their rent-stabilized status; is that correct?

A I didn't value them. TIR valued them. But, I believe that's correct.

Q You put them into your spreadsheet that is goes to Donald Bender; is that correct?

A That's correct.
Q And the values you relied on when you put them in your spreadsheet and sent them to Donald Bender were the offering

McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer
Page 712
plan price values, knowing that these were rent-stabilized units; correct?

A Correct.
Q And you followed that same approach for every statement you reviewed; correct?

A Correct.
Q And it was intentional; correct?
A Yes.
Q And it was something you discussed with
Mr. Weisselberg; correct?
A I believe so, yes.
Q And he agreed that that was the way that you were going to do it; correct?

A Yes.
Q Let's turn to Seven Springs.
MR. AMER: I'm going to put up the 2012 Jeff
Supporting Data, 793, which is in evidence.
Q Row 669, that starts the section on Seven Springs; correct? Well, we'll get there in a second.

That's where it starts; correct?
A 669. Line 669, yes.
Q Okay. And did you understand at the time that the property was in three different localities, New Castle, North Castle and Bedford?

A Yes.

Q Row 683 indicates that there were seven mansions approved to be developed in the Bedford portion; right?

A Yes.
Q Those are valued in the spreadsheet at 23 million per mansion, times seven, for value of 161 million in each year; correct?

A In 2011 and 2012, yes.
Q And row 674 mentions a September 16, 2011 telephone call with someone named Hal Goldman; correct?

A Correct.
Q That was a call you had with Mr. Goldman; right?
A Yes.
Q He was an independent contractor that the company had hired to get through the planning and approval process for the development; correct?

A Yes.
Q And row 679 referenced a call that you had with Eric Trump on September 24, 2012; correct?

A Correct.
Q And the information about the seven mansions being approved in Bedford was information that was provided to you by Hal Goldman in 2011; right?

A Correct.
Q And it was confirmed to you by Eric Trump in 2012; correct?
J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer

Page 714
A Correct.
Q And that was conveyed to you in both of those calls; correct?

A I'm sorry. Ask you ask that question again?
Q Sure. The information from Mr. Goldman was conveyed to you in that phone call that is reflected here with him; correct?

A Correct.
Q And the information from Eric Trump was conveyed to you during the phone call with him that's reflected here; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And you were trying to value Seven Springs for the 2012 statement, and you knew Eric Trump was involved with the property, so you asked him if he could give you -- if he could give you a valuation for the statement, or provide some insight into the value; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q And Eric Trump confirmed, during the call in September of 2012, that all necessary approvals had been obtained to build the seven homes in Bedford; correct?

A Never asked him that question. So, I guess the answer is no.

Q Okay. Had you heard from Hal Goldman during the call at 2011 that all necessary approvals had been obtained to build he seven homes in Bedford?
A No.
Q Were you operating under the assumption, in doing this valuation, that the approval for the seven homes had been obtained?

A Sorry. Can you ask that again?
Q Were you operating under the assumption when doing this valuation in these two years that approvals had been obtained, all necessarily approvals had been obtained for these seven homes in Bedford?
A Looking at this now, yes.
Q And did you get that information from Mr. Goldman?
A I would have to go back and say -- and correct myself. He , yes Hal probably gave me that information.

Q And that was confirmed again by Mr. Trump, Eric Trump, in the call the later in the next year?

A I don't remember if I asked Eric that or not.
Q It's fair to say that you didn't learn anything between the 2011 valuation and the 2012 valuation that lead you to conclude differently concerning the approval necessary for those seven homes; right?

A That's correct.
Q Now, as the controller of a large company,
Mr. McConney, with a finance background, you do understand the concept of time value of money; correct?

\section*{McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Page 716
A I do not have a finance background. I have an accounting background.

Q As the controller of a large company with an accounting background, you do understand the concept of time value of money; right?

A Yes.
Q The concept is essentially that a dollar paid today is worth more than a dollar paid, say, five years from now, based on inflation; right?

A Yes. Excuse me. Yes.
Q And if you wanted to know how much the dollar that gets paid five years from now would be worth today, you apply a discount factor to determine the present value; correct?

A I'm not a finance guy, so I can't really answer that question.

Q So that concept is not something you understand?
A I understand the concept. I don't know the computation, to get to that point.

Q I'm asking you a much simpler question. As a general matter, if you want to know how much a future payment is going to be worth today, you do something called, apply a discount factor, to get to the present value. Is that something you have an understanding of?

A Not really. I know you have to discount it. I just don't know the exact computation, or where you get the \section*{percentages from.}

Q Okay. My question wasn't going beyond just the simple concept of having to discount it. So, we agree you have to discount it in order to get to present value; correct?

A Yes.
Q And the concept of discounting future income to present value, that is a very standard accounting practice; isn't it?

A It could be a standard finance practice. I never use it, really.

Q Different question. My question was whether you would agree that it's a standard accounting practice. Yes or no.

A No.
Q It's not. Okay. Am I correct that the value of \($ 161\) million for the seven homes in Bedford does not apply any discount factor to take in account how long it would take to construct the infrastructure, build the homes, and then sell the home for $35 million each?

A That's correct.
Q You didn't factor into the valuation whether the homes were going to be built today, tomorrow, or in a number of years; correct?

A Correct.
Q And if it took five years to complete the homes, and they were sold two years after that, your valuation doesn't account for that at all; correct?

Page 718
A Correct.
Q Can we agree that this \($ 161\) million attributable to these seven homes is, by necessity, going to be future income, because the homes don't exist as of the date of these valuations?

A Correct.
Q You have treated, for purposes of this valuation, the profit of \($ 23\) million per home for all seven homes as if it were realized immediately, as of June 30 in each year; correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Let's go to the 2014 Jeff Supporting Data, which is Plaintiff's Exhibit 719.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed
to the witness.)
Q And row 655, again, the section on Seven Springs -- as soon as we get there.

MR. AMER: I think we have to shift it over to the left. Great.

\section*{McConney - Direct/Amer}

Page 720
Trump on that date, September 2014, where he confirmed you should continue to value the seven mansions in Bedford for the Statement of Financial Condition, the same as you did for 2013, right?
A Yes.
Q As with the prior years, we just discussed your valuation of the seven homes did not factor in whether the homes were built today, tomorrow, or in a number of years in the future, correct?

A Correct.
MR. AMER: Let's go to Jeff Supporting Data for 2015 and let's go to row 699.
Q Now, Mr. McConney for 2014, it has the same valuation calculation for the seven mansions that we spoke about before, correct?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q And there is a reference for the June 30, 2014 value, per telephone conversation with Eric Trump, September 12, 2014, correct?
A Correct.
Q And that note reflects that you had a phone call.
That's the same phone call we just spoke about, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I noticed that there's no value for 2015 and that's per the note that says: "Conservation easement property moved to other assets." You see that?
A Yes.
Q So, if we want to find the valuation for Seven Springs for 2015, we have to go to the section of the spreadsheet that addresses other assets, correct?
A Correct.
Q Let's go to row 895. Row 895, we can see Seven Springs per easement and the value now drops down to 56 million, correct?
A Yes.
Q That's pursuant to the easement donation?
A Yes.
Q Let me ask you a few questions to get a basic understanding of a conservation easement donation. You understood, at the time, that a conservation easement donation is where the owner of the property agrees to donate rights to develop the land, and the value of those rights is then taken as a tax deduction; is that right?
A I've got a peripheral knowledge of easement. So, yes, I know the land is donated; and, yes, I know there's a charitable contribution taken on the tax returns.

Q When you say the "land is donated," isn't it that the development rights on the land are donated?
A I have a limited knowledge of it, so I don't know exactly what's donated.
J. McConney - Direct/Amer

Page 722
THE COURT: I'll take judicial notice, the land is not donated, just certain rights.
Q In order to get the tax deduction for a conservation easement donation, you need an appraisal that values the property before and after the donation.

Is that consistent with your understanding?
A I don't know that.
Q Are you aware that Seven Springs obtained an appraisal for the purpose of making the easement donation?

A Yes.
Q That's the appraisal value, the before value of the property. That is before the donation at the \($ 56\) million figure that you put in your valuation, correct?

A Correct.
Q You used the before value as opposed to the after donation value because as of the valuation date, the donation had not yet been made, correct?

A I believe that's correct, yes.
Q So, the \($ 56\) million is actually the value put on the property by the appraiser before the donation of development rights, correct?

A Before the donation, yes. I don't know what they donated.
Q So, before donating anything, the appraiser valued it as 56 million, whereas, you have been valuing it, before any \section*{donation, at 161 million, correct?}

A Correct.
Q You understood it was correct to use the before value rather than the after value because, as of this valuation date, the development rights had not yet been donated, correct?

\section*{A I believe that's correct.}

MR. AMER: If we can just put up the Seven Springs demonstrative PDX-3.9, just to look at the values.
Q So, we have the statement values and, by the way, the 161 million, just to clarify, that was just the value of the seven homes in Bedford, correct?

A Seven homes. I don't remember in which of the three areas they're located.
Q The statement values here are much higher than 161 from 2011 through 2014 because they include other parts of the property, correct?

A Correct.
Q Then the value drops to 56 million in 2015 because you now have the appraisal in your hand that gives you that as the before appraised value, correct?

A Correct.
Q So, you deemed it appropriate to use an appraised value, correct?

McConney - Direct/Amer
Page 724
1 A Yes.
2 Q And just so we're clear, the additional value in the 3 prior years come from the mansions on the property, right?

A Yes.
Q And the next year, 2016, that is now after the conservation easement donation, correct?
A Correct.
Q So, you then use 35.4 million because that's the after appraised value, correct?

A After the donation, yes.
Q So, the value of the development rights, according to the appraiser, is the difference between 56 million and 35.4 million, correct?

A I don't know. Development rights, I don't remember exactly what the difference is. I can tell you the difference is \($ 21\) million before and after the donation.
\(Q\) Okay. So, the value of the donation is the $21 million, correct?
A Correct.
Q What's being donated are the development rights, correct?
A I'll take your word for that.
Q Okay. It's not 161 million, is it?
A What isn't 161 million?
Q The value of the development rights. The appraiser
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}
\hline & Conney - Direct/Amer Page 725 \\
\hline & did not value the development rights at any amount more than \\ \hline 2 & $21 million; isn't that right? \\
\hline 3 & A That's correct. \\
\hline 4 & MR. AMER: I'm ready to move on to the golf \\
\hline 5 & clubs. I don't know where we are in terms of when we \\ \hline 6 & want to take a break. I'll keep going. I'm just going \\
\hline 7 & to a new subject. \\
\hline 8 & THE COURT: We can go until 11:30. \\
\hline 9 & MR. AMER: Okay. \\
\hline 10 & Q Let's talk about the golf club valuations. Why don't \\
\hline 11 & we go ahead and look at the 2011 Jeff Supporting Data \\
\hline 12 & spreadsheet which is Exhibit 788; and, let's go to line 264. \\
\hline 13 & This is the valuation for Briarcliff Manor, \\
\hline 14 & correct? \\
\hline 15 & A It's-- that's the line that's highlighted, yes. \\
\hline 16 & Q This is where that begins, correct? \\
\hline 17 & A That's correct. \\
\hline 18 & Q One component of the Briarcliff value, based on your \\ \hline 19 & valuation, is comprised of nonrefundable membership fees; is \\ \hline 20 & that right? \\
\hline 21 & A That's correct. \\
\hline 22 & Q And column G includes your numbers to value \\
\hline 23 & Briarcliff for 2011, right? \\
\hline 24 & A Yes. \\
\hline 25 & Q The first set of numbers, which are in rows 280 to \\ \hline
\end{tabular}

284, that reflects the value of nonrefundable memberships for 2011, right?

A Can you ask that question again?
Q Sure. Rows 280 to 284 have the value that you calculated for the nonrefundable memberships for 2011, right?

A Correct.
Q Line 266 states that there were 67 memberships available as of June 30, 2011; is that right?

A That is correct.
Q You get this information from the golf clubs. They send you back this information, right?

\section*{A Yes.}

Q Line 268, your note states: "Current membership asking price 150,000 . Getting \(150,000\). Correct?

A Yes.
Q That's also information you're getting from people who work at the golf course, correct?
A I believe that's correct, yes.
Q But when you value the memberships available for sale, as I read this, you only value 20 of the 67 memberships at 150,000 . Right?
A That's correct.
Q And you value another 47 memberships at prices ranging from \($ 175,000\) all the way up to \($ 250,000\), correct? A Correct.

Q Was the use of the higher price for memberships from 175,000 to 250,000 just your speculation as to what amount a membership might get in the future?
A There was a-- based on a conversation I had with Allen Weisselberg, who was more familiar with the golf courses, and these were his estimates.
Q It wasn't based on anything you heard from the people who worked at the golf course, right?
A I believe that's correct, yes.
Q The nonrefundable membership fees are amounts you're expecting someone to pay in the future, right?

A Yes.
Q Line 275 shows that for 2010, the prior year, there were 69 memberships, correct?
A Memberships available for sale, yes.
Q So, between 2010 and 2011, there were only two memberships that were sold, correct?
A Correct.
Q And would you agree with me that at that pace, it would take about 30 years to sell all these memberships?

A Using that pace, yes.
Q Now, when you listed the number of memberships to be sold at each price point, you did not do any estimate as to how far out it would take into the future to actually sell all those memberships; isn't that right?
J. McConney - Direct/Amer

Page 728
A That's correct.
2

Q You did not perform any discounted analysis to determine the present value of the income that you would -that the company would receive from the sale of these memberships in the future, correct?
A That's correct.
Q Let's look at the 2011 Statement of Financial Condition, which is Exhibit 787 in evidence. Let's go to page ten. This provides, under club facilities and related real estate, a description -- this club facilities and related real estate, this relates to the golf clubs, right?

A The golf clubs and Mar-a-Lago, yes.
Q There's a description that appears that says:
"Entities wholly owned by Mr. Trump have acquired certain properties for the purposes of developing"-- "for the purpose of developing them into club facilities. Several of these clubs will also contain residential units that they will sell.
The estimated current value of \(1,314,600,000\) is based on an assessment of the cash flow that is expected to be derived from club options. The sale of residential units after subtracting the estimated costs to be incurred or recent sales of properties in a similar location."

You see that? It says that?
A Yes.
Q That assessment was prepared by Mr. Trump working in
J. McConney - Direct/Amer

conjunction with his associates and outside professionals?
2 \(\quad\) A \(\quad\) Yes.

correct?
A Correct.
Q What you used is a method that includes just income from selling memberships, right?

A It's a little more than that. You had the income from the memberships. You had the sale of the mid-rise units. You had the value for the clubhouse. If you could scroll up, please.

There were receivables on membership deposits and from operations from the food, dues, whatever. There were a few other items included.

Q Let me see if I can shortcut this. You disclosed in the statement three different alternative methods for valuing clubs, correct?

A Correct.
Q We agree the third method is not relevant. You didn't use it, correct?

A Correct.
Q You used the second method based on the 31 units, right?

A Correct.
Q There is no attempt at the first method, which is cash flow from operations, and, instead, you use a different method that just includes income from selling memberships, right?

Page 732

\section*{A Correct.}

Q So, anybody reading this statement and this description would have no understanding that estimated current value includes, as a component, selling memberships, without a more complete assessment of cash flow; right?

MR. FIELDS: Objection. Speculating as to what other people reading the statement would know.
THE COURT: Do you want to phrase it slightly differently?
MR. AMER: Sure.
Q There's nothing in this paragraph containing the three alternate methods disclosed that indicates you have based the valuation on simply taking membership sales and including that in the value; right?

A Not specifically, no.
Q And an assessment of cash flow from operations would include looking at things such as payroll; right?

A Yes.
Q And taxes; right?
A Yes.
Q And repairs and upkeep and maintenance of the golf course; right?

A Yes.
Q And that's nowhere in your valuation analysis; right?
A For this property, no.
Q Let's look at how you value Briarcliff in 2012.

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Page 734
MR. AMER: And we can pull up the 2012 Jeff
Supporting Data, Plaintiff's 793, and let's go to line 258 [sic].
Q And line 287 [sic] shows your valuation of Briarcliff jumped from 68.7 million in 2011 to 99.5 million, roughly, in 2012; correct?

A Yes.
Q And that's an increase of almost $31 million; right?
A Yes.
Q And line 285 shows that your projected profit from the sale of the future residential units remained the same from the prior year; correct?

A Yes.
Q And so, all of your responses about how you calculated that would be the same for this year, correct?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q And lines 273 to 275 show very little change in additional value from 2011 to 2012, based on listed membership receivables; right?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q So, almost the entire increase, close to \($ 30\) million, is attributable to your change in methodology, to using something called fixed assets; right?

A Correct.
Q Let's look at 2013, and that's Jeff Supporting Data

708, and let's look at lines 253 to 270 ?
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
Q Mr. McConney, in 2013, for the development of the units, the value jumped from 25.1 million to 101 million and change; correct?

A Yes.
Q And you increased the value of the Briarcliff development in that amount based on a September 25th, 2013, telephone conversation with Eric Trump; correct?

A Correct.
Q And this increase was based on the sale of 71 midrise units, approved but put on hold; correct?

A Correct.
Q So the number of units increased from 31 to 71; is that right?

A I'm not too sure. If you show me the other spreadsheet with the number -- I just don't remember.

Q Okay. We don't have to go back. But at any rate, it's based on an increase in the number of units to 71; correct?

A To 71 .
Q To, T-O, 71; correct?
A Yes.
Q And your information about the number of units came from Eric Trump in that call; right?

A Yes.

Q And he also, by the way, told you that the project was put on hold; right?

A Yes.
Q But you're still accounting for the profit from those 71 midrise units that were put on hold, as if it's immediately realized as of June 30,2013 ; correct?

A Yes.
MR. AMER: Now, let's look at Exhibit 205.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)

MR. AMER: Your Honor, this is an appraisal by Cushman & Wakefield of the Briarcliff club, and I move that this be admitted me into.

MR. SUAREZ: We have an objection, both based on the statute of limitations and on hearsay.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, this was an appraisal that the Trump Organization obtained.

THE COURT: It comes in, not for the truth of its contents, but for what the Trump Organization knew or thought, or whatever information they had.

MR. AMER: It's also an admission against interests, your Honor. It's their appraisal. Their agent. They hired Cushman to do the appraisal for them, and therefore it's their appraisal.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, it was sent to Sheri

\hline 4 & it yet. Cushman is not here. \\
\hline 5 & THE COURT: Well, we haven't gotten to that part, \\
\hline 6 & yet. \\
\hline 7 & MR. AMER: Just so you know, your Honor, just so \\
\hline 8 & you are aware, Bingham McCutchen were counsel to the Trump \\ \hline 9 & Organization. Their lawyers. \\
\hline 10 & THE COURT: And that makes it an admission \\
\hline 11 & against interests? \\
\hline 12 & MR. AMER: Yes. It's a document created by their \\ \hline 13 & agent. \\
\hline 14 & THE COURT: The point of the hearsay exception \\
\hline 15 & for an admission against interests is, you won't say \\
\hline 16 & something that will hurt you. When this was drafted, put \\ \hline 17 & together, whatever you call it, it wasn't necessarily going \\
\hline 18 & to hurt them. So, I'm only letting it in to show what \\
\hline 19 & the -- and I think that's all you need, unless I'm missing \\
\hline 20 & something -- to show what the defendants knew or had access \\
\hline 21 & to. There's nothing about the appraisal itself that hurts \\
\hline 22 & them. But, you can tell me otherwise. Go ahead. Why? \\
\hline 23 & MR. AMER: Because it comes up with a value \\
\hline 24 & that's much lower than the value that they used. \\ \hline 25 & THE COURT: Well, that's my point. You want to \\ show that it's lower than the value that they used, but the fact that internally - I'm sorry. I just still don't see it, but it's in for the purpose that I think you need.

MR. AMER: Okay.
(Whereupon, the exhibit was received in evidence.)
Q 2014, the Trump Organization sought to value a potential easement over the five-acre development site. That was the site for the 71 housing units; correct?

A I have no knowledge of that.
Q Were you unaware of the appraisal?
A I knew there was an appraisal, but I don't know what it was for. I -- sorry. I knew it was for a conservation easement, but I don't know the details of the appraisal.

Q Are you aware of the value that the appraisal came to for the 71-unit development?

A I don't believe so.
Q If we turn to page two of the exhibit, this is the cover letter that the appraiser sends to Bingham McCutchen. Did you understand that they were the Trump Organization's counsel for purposes of this easement donation?

A Yes.
Q If we turn to the third page, you see it says the value of the easement donations is \(43.4-43.3\) million; correct?

A I see its value of 43.3.
Q It says market value of conservation easement; correct?

A Correct.
Q And as we discussed before, these type of appraisals, you have a before value and after value, and you subtract the two, and that's the value of the development rights being donated?

THE COURT: Subtract one from the other. You don't subtract the two.

MR. AMER: Yes. One from the other, your Honor.
Thank you.
Q Correct?
A Correct.
Q And so, the value of the development rights related to the 71 units, according to this professionally-done appraisal, is \($ 43.3\) million; correct?

A Again, I don't know what this appraisal was for, so it's hard for me to comment.

Q I thought you were aware. So, you were not aware that there was an appraisal done for an easement donation?

A I know there was easement donation. I am pretty sure I knew there was an appraisal, but I don't think I was involved in this.
Q And in 2014, according to the Jeff Supporting \section*{spreadsheet, which is Exhibit 719 --}

MR. AMER: Can we put that up?
Q You continue to value the --
A This is Westchester.
Q Yes.
A I'm sorry.
Q Yes. We need to go back to Briarcliff. Sorry.
You continue to value the Briarcliff 71 midrise units in 2014 at \($ 101\) million, even though there an appraisal that the company has that says 43.3 ; correct.
A Again, the appraisal is appraising -- I'm not too sure what it appraises. We did complete the same 101 million valuation for the 71 midrise units.

Q Well, let's look at page two of the appraisal, and let's look at the third paragraph. You will see it says the owner of the subject golf club is planning on donating a conservation easement over approximately 5 acres of the property. This is a development site entitled with 71 attached housing units. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q So, that's what this appraisal relates to; right? The 71 units that you value in your spreadsheet?

THE COURT: Hold on.
MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, again, there's no foundation. I believe the ruling from the Court was that

THE COURT: Let's pick up from that interesting issue from where we left off. I want to first make sure I understand the context of the dispute.

The Trump Organization, through agent, through a third party, commissioned appraisal. The plaintiff wants the appraisal in, both for the truth of its contents and to show notice. I already said I'm allowing to show whatever notice there is but not for the truth of its content because that's what hearsay is for. Hearsay rule.

However, if plaintiff wants to pursue this, wants to admit it for the truth of its contents, pursuant to some hearsay exception, if you say you want to do this, I'll ask both sides whether you want to submit two-page memos by, two-page memos by next week or Tuesday or something. Monday is a holiday.

MR. AMER: Let me confer with my colleagues to see if we need it for the truth of the matter asserted or notice is sufficient. If we want it for the truth of the matter asserted, we'll submit it.

THE COURT: And the other side can oppose or -when will you consult with your colleagues?

MR. AMER: Later today.
MR. SUAREZ: I don't want to keep popping up during the witness's testimony but if the witness is 1 it was not admitted for the truth of the matter asserted.

\section*{Saved by the bell. We'll address it on the way back.}

As usual, we are going to take a ten-minute break that will take 15 minutes.
(Whereupon, a recess was taken.) change, correct?
A Yes.
Q So, we're all oriented, the appraisal we were looking at, that's Exhibit 205 admitted for purposes of notice, was from the letter, cover letter to Ms. Dillon -- if you want to put it up -- is dated April 18, 2014, correct?

A Correct.
Q So, certainly, by the time you're doing your valuation for June 30, 2015, this appraisal was done, right?
A Yes.
Q You were aware there was an appraisal, correct?
A Correct.
Q And is it your testimony you didn't ask to see the appraisal?

A Yes.
Q It didn't matter to you for purposes of your valuation; is that what you're saying?

A Yes.
Q The original -- the value for 2014 was based on the note in 272, row 272 of the spreadsheet. This September 25, 2013 telephone conversation, you had with Eric Trump, correct?
A I'm sorry. I was reading something. Can you just ask that again?

Q Sure. The value in 2014, that you put on your spreadsheet, was based on a telephone conversation with Eric
\begin{tabular}{l|l|l|}
\hline J. McConney - Driect/Amer \\
1 & Page 745 \\
1 & Trump on September 25, 2013, as indicated in line 272, right? \\
2 & A & That's correct. \\
3 & Q & The value remaining the same in 2015 was based on a \\
4 & telephone conversation that you had with Eric Trump in \\
5 & November 17th - on November 17, 2015, where Eric Trump said \\
6 & to you, "leave value as is," correct? \\
7 & A \(\quad\) Correct. \\
8 & Q & So, notwithstanding the fact that there was this \\ 9 & appraisal, Eric Trump told you to leave the value as is, \\
10 & correct? \\
11 & A \(\quad\) Correct. \\
12 & Q I'd like to see if we could shorten this. So, I'll \\ 13 & just make a statement to you; and, if you're uncomfortable, we \\ 14 & can go through all of the spreadsheets; but, the spreadsheets \\
15 & for 2016, 2017, and 2018 continue to use the same $101 million \\
16 & value for the mid-rise units and all attributed to this phone \\
17 & call with Mr. Trump that you should leave the value as is. \\ 18 & Is that consistent with your recollection? \\
\hline 19 & MR. SUAREZ: We object to the grouping together \\
\hline 20 & of different years for purposes of testimony. If there's \\ 21 & a specific question about specific years in specific \\
22 & spreadsheets, that should be the question. Not lumping \\
23 & them altogether. \\
24 & THE COURT: Im allowing the lumping together. \\
25 & Objection overruled. Let's be clear. He's asking about million and change and it's attributable, in your note on line 312, to your conversation with Eric Trump, leave value as is, correct?

A Yes, but, I'd like to make the statement that between June of '16 and June of '17, Patrick Birney was taking over the Statement of Financial Condition. I don't think I was involved in the June of ' 18 statement.

Q Okay.
A So --
Q Looking at the control spreadsheet, though, that is what is being indicated as the source for keeping the value the same in 2018, correct?

A That's correct.
Q It's your phone call, right? It's your phone call with Eric Trump?

A I had the phone call back in 2015, yes.
Q Okay. I want to switch topics with respect to golf courses. It is correct that you included in your valuation of some of the golf clubs starting in 2013 a 30 percent grand premium, correct?

A Yes.
Q The inclusion of that grand premium was something that you and Allen Weisselberg decided to do, right?

A Yes.
Q At some point after adopting that 30 percent premium,

\section*{cConney - Driect/Amer}

Page 748
you changed it to a 15 percent premium, but, it was still a premium that was added to the same golf clubs, correct?

A Yes.
Q Was that change to 15 percent also something that you and Mr. Weisselberg decided to do together?

A Yes.
Q If we could pull up the 2013 statement, it's Exhibit 707 in evidence -- 708.

Exhibit 707 in evidence, the Statement of Financial Condition, if we go to page six where it says "basis of presentation."

The bottom paragraph that begins: "Pursuant to GAAP." Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q The last sentence of that paragraph says: "The goodwill attached to the Trump name has significant financial value that has not been reflected in the preparation of this financial statement."

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q That sentence is in every one of the statements under "basis of presentation" from 2011 to 2021; isn't that right?

A I can -- I believe up until 2016/2017 it was there. I really wasn't involved after that.

Q Okay. So, you can confirm that, at least from 2011 to 2016 or ' 17 , this sentence appears in the "basis of presentation" section, correct?
A Yes.
Q And every year that you were, from 2013 forward, that you were adding the 30 percent premium or the 15 percent premium, you were aware that this sentence was contained in the "basis of presentation" section of the statement, correct?
A Correct.
Q Am I correct that the Trump Organization in 2012 shifted away from valuing golf clubs based on projected income from future membership sales, like we saw with Briarcliff, and started to use something known as a fixed assets approach?
A We changed at a point in time. All the golf courses that were using that valuation method changed at the same time. I'm getting to it.

So, if the statement, the spreadsheet we were looking at before --I don't remember the years when we switched. So, if you look at Briarcliff when we switched, I can give you an answer.
Q I think it's just enough to get your confirmation that at some point you switched from using an approach that valued the sale of memberships to a fixed assets approach, correct?
A That's correct.
Q Every year that you use the fixed assets approach for

\section*{J. McConney - Driect/Amer}

Page 750
a particular golf club, you'd ask the controller at each golf club for the value of the club's fixed assets and then you'd enter that in your spreadsheet, correct?
A Correct.
Q I'd like to look at the valuation for Jupiter, and, that's a course that the Trump Organization purchased in 2013; is that right?
A It purchased it. I'm not sure -- I don't remember the exact year.
Q Let's go ahead and put up the 2013 supporting spreadsheet in native, I think it's 708 . It's in evidence.

If we go to row 462, this is the row that starts the valuation for Jupiter, correct?

\section*{A Yes.}

Q You'll see it has on line 465, value of fixed assets, correct?
A Correct.
Q So, for Jupiter, at least in 2013, you're using the fixed assets approach, right?
A Yes.
Q And am I correct that under the fixed assets approach, you included, in the purchase price of the club, that you then included, as part of the value of the fixed assets, the amount of liability associated with refundable membership deposits?

Page 752
Jupiter and the attachment is Jupiter purchase. You see that? A Yes.

MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this exhibit be admitted with the attachment.

MR. SUAREZ: We object on the basis of the Statute of limitations.

THE COURT: Overruled. It's in.
(Whereupon, said exhibit was received in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit 3055)
Q Let's pull up the attachment, which is Exhibit 3055, native one, and, you'll see it says: "Jupiter Golf Club, LLC allocation of purchase price."

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q This is the backup for calculating the purchase price for purposes of using it in the fixed assets valuation for this club, correct?

A This is the journal entry that was booked to show however the purchase price was allocated. So, it could be fixed assets, goodwill. It could be allocated to a number of places.

Q But you're using this for purposes of doing your valuation for the fixed assets basis for the Jupiter Club, correct?
25
A I'm sorry. Can you ask that question one more time?
MR. AMER: Sure. Actually, let's back up.
Q We looked at membership sales and those were nonrefundable memberships, correct?
A Correct.
Q There was something different called refundable membership deposits, right?
A At one time, yes, and, I guess, they still exist, to some extent.
Q Right. Those are deposits that members make that at some point in the future they may be entitled to get back; is that right?
A That's correct.
Q And am I correct that the refundable membership deposits are different from the nonrefundable membership fees, that those refundable membership deposits were for Jupiter included in the purchase price of the club for purposes of valuing the fixed assets number?
A Part of them, yes.
Q Let's take a look at how that worked, and I'm going to put up plaintiff's Exhibit 3055.

Mr. McConney, the first page is an e-mail. The second page is a slip sheet for the attachment that we're going to pull up in a minute, and, this is an e-mail that you sent to a gentleman by the name of Frank Lucas. It's about
        A Yes.

Q What this shows is, on line five, cash of \($ 5\) million. You see that?

A Yes.
Q That was the actual amount of money that was paid to purchase Jupiter?
A I don't remember, off the top of my head, but, I believe so.

Q Then there's a line item on line six called Member Deposit Liability Assumed, and it's over $41 million, correct?
A Correct.
Q Then there are closing costs that are included and you get a total purchase price of over \($ 46\) million, correct?

A Correct.
Q So, let me just understand what's happening here in calculating this purchase price. You have \($ 5\) million in cash and you're assuming a liability to repay to members their deposits of over \($ 41\) million and then you add closing costs and you get to the purchase price; is that right?

A That's correct.
Q So, this calculation of the purchase price, assumes that the member deposit liability will have to be repaid at face value, correct?
A Correct. Can I clarify one thing? Face value being the amount that the member gave the club, right.

Q Correct?

Page 754
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, if we could go to-- and this purchase price, by the way, including the member deposit liability at face value, is what you plug into your fixed assets calculation for the valuation of Jupiter in the statement, right?

A Can you ask that again?
Q Sure. The purchase price that we're looking at of over 46 million, is what you include for the purchase price in the fixed assets calculation for the statement, right?

\section*{A Yes.}

Q Now, let's go to the 2013 statement, which is Exhibit 707, and let's go to page 15.

And this is the description for Jupiter; right?
MR. AMER: If you just scroll down, so we can see the heading.
Q See Jupiter?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, let's look at that second paragraph.
A Wait, something -- I'm looking at Doral. Sorry.
Q That's okay. Are you there?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Second paragraph says, "One condition of membership was the contribution of a non-interest-bearing deposit that does not require repayment until certain terms are met, and then only upon the member's resignation. The fact that Mr. Trump will have the use of these funds for that period, without cost, and that the source of repayment will most likely be a replacement membership, has lead him to value this liability at zero."

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q It goes on to say, through 9/30/2013, these deposits amounted to \($ 41\) million; correct?

A Correct.
Q So if I understand what's happening here, you are

McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer
Page 756
including the value of the membership deposits as a liability that increases the purchase price of the club to the tune of \($ 41\) million; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And at the same time, you are representing, or the statement is representing, that those liabilities are being valued at zero; is that correct?

A That's correct.
Q And there is no entry on the liability side of the statement that would indicate any obligation to repay these membership deposits; is that right?

A The liability side of which statement?
Q The Statement of Financial Condition has assets and liabilities; right?

A Correct.
Q And there's no entry on the liability side on the statement that indicates any obligation to repay these membership deposits; correct?

A There's no amount reflected. That's correct. THE COURT: Let me jump in a second. I'm the one that has to understand everything.

Estimated current value, what would it sell for, basically, willing buyer, willing seller, the fixed assets approach, I think, is how much did it cost us to buy this thing and fix it up, develop it, whatever, and then the 1 assumption is, well, what you pay for it is what it's worth; is that correct?

MR. AMER: Yes, and it assumes that the liability is an obligation of the owner who buys it, so if I pay -let me see if \(I\) have a hypothetical that may clarify it. If I buy a piece of property for a million dollars, but it comes with an obligation to pay a million dollars, then it's really costing me \($ 2\) million. It's costing me the million dollars I pay to buy it, and then I have an obligation to pay another million because there's some IOU on the property, let's say. So, it costs me \($ 2\) million, but the point I'm making --

THE COURT: But you have got something that's only worth \($ 1\) million. Is that --

MR. AMER: It is, but I've indicated in the statement that I've valued the liability that I'm assuming at zero, so that's the --
Q The issue here is, you have valued the liability at face value for calculating the purchase price that you use; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And you simultaneously represent in the statement that you're valuing the liability at zero; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And with respect to the membership liability

\section*{J. McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Page 758
deposits, even if they do have to be repaid at some point in time, that's way out into the future; correct?

A Depends when the member joined, but it's sometime in the future.

Q And you don't do any discount factor analysis to figure out, for the purpose of the fixed-asset approach, what the present value is, of that liability; correct?

A Correct.
Q And you include it as though it's a hundred percent due on the date of the valuation of the statement; correct? The valuation date of the statement?

A Correct.
Q Okay.
MR. AMER: I intend to move on, unless the Court has more questions to clarify, at this point.
THE COURT: Please just move on.
MR. AMER: Thank you.
Q I want to talk about Mar-A-Lago.
MR. AMER: Let's look at the 2012 Jeff Supporting Data spreadsheet. It's Plaintiff's 93, and it starts at row 187.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed, and handed to the witness.)
Q Now, row 188 says, Value if sold to an individual. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q And that applies to both of these years, 2011 and 2012; correct?

A Correct.
Q And the entire basis of the valuation rests on the premise that Mar-A-Lago can be sold as a private residence to an individual; right?

A Yes.
Q If we put up demonstrative exhibit 3.10, this lists the value of Mar-A-Lago in each year, from 2011 to 2021. Mr. McConney, is it correct that every year, the value of Mar-A-Lago is based on the premise that the property can be sold as a private residence?

A That's correct.
Q And as of the date that you began preparing --
A Sorry.
Q Go ahead.
A The year I was involved in preparing the statement. Again, June of '16, June of '17, I'm pretty sure. But I didn't work on June of '18 forward, so.

Q So let's just clarify your testimony. Your testimony is that from every year from 2011 to 2016/2017, you were aware that the premise of the valuation was based on the fact that the property can be sold as a private residence; right?

A That's correct.

Q And you are not sure, one way or the other, what the premise was for the valuation in the years from 2018 through 2021; correct?

A Correct.
Q And as of 2011, when you were preparing the valuation for Mar-A-Lago, you were aware, were you not, that there was a deed of development rights that Mr. Trump had entered into with the National Trust for Historic Preservation?

A When the club initially opened, I know there were some documents relating to the deed. I don't know exactly what they were, but I know there was some rules you had to live by.

Q Okay. Let me be more specific, because there are a number of deeds. You were aware, as of 2011, that there was a 2002 deed of development rights with the National Trust for Historic Preservation; isn't that right?

A I know there was something with the National Trust. I don't know what the exact title.

Q Are you saying -- well, did you see the deed of development rights, prior to 2011?

A I could have seen it when we first -- the club first opened. I just don't remember that far back.

Q When you say, when the club first opened, when was that?

A I'm thinking 1995.
Q Did you see a deed of development rights around -- later than that, in the 2000s, with the National Trust for Historic Preservation?

A No.
Q Are you sure?
A I'm pretty sure.
Q Okay. And were you aware that Mr. Trump had deeded away his right to use the club for any purpose other than a social club?

MR. FIELDS: Objection. Speculation. The witness testified he didn't see the deed. How could he be aware?

THE COURT: How could he be aware? Somebody told him, maybe?

MR. FIELDS: Then objection to hearsay.
MR. AMER: I'm entitled to --
THE COURT: -- introduce it for the truth of its contents, its notice, I think.

But Mr. Amer, see if you can get us through this tangled web.

MR. AMER: I don't know what's tangled about this web, your Honor, but I'll try.
Q You are doing valuations from 2011 forward; right?
A Yes.
Q Do you have an understanding as you are doing these valuations, based on the premise that you can sell this property

\section*{McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

as a private residence, that there was -- that Mr. Trump had deeded away his rights to use the property for any purpose other than a social club? Yes or no, or were you aware?

MR. SUAREZ: Objection. It also assume facts not in evidences, mischaracterizing the trust and the deed that was referenced. It's just not the case, and there's no evidence in the record that that is the case.

MR. AMER: I honestly didn't ask him, your Honor, how he knew. I just want to know if he is aware.

THE COURT: Absolutely overruled.
A Sorry. Could you ask the question again, please?
MR. AMER: Can I get a read back, your Honor?
THE COURT: Sure.
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the proceedings was read back by the court reporter.)

THE COURT: Please answer.

\section*{A I was not aware.}

Q Now, the valuation that you prepared for Mar-A-Lago, that's largely based on comps; is that right?

A Correct.
Q Let's go ahead and look at the -- well, actually, let me see if I can do it this way. Let's go ahead and put up the -- oh, let's leave up the 2012. Sorry.

Okay. Back to where we were. You have listed comps for 2012 and 2011; correct?

A Correct.
Q Now, I notice for 2012, you have two comps and they're based on asking price; correct?

A Correct.
Q And the two comps for 2011, also based on asking price; correct?

A Correct.
Q So these are not prices that a willing buyer actually paid; right?

A I don't know what -- if these were purchased, I don't know what they were -- what the purchaser paid for these properties.

Q Right. But as of the date that you used these prices, they were asking prices and not prices for properties that had actually sold; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And I notice that what you do is, you take the asking price and you divide it by the number of acres to come up with a number per acre; correct?

A Correct.
Q And then you then multiply that value per acre by the acreage of Mar-A-Lago, on line 214; correct?
A That's correct.
Q So, if I'm understanding this correctly, the actual square footage of the house that's being put up for sale is not

\section*{McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer}

Page 764
relevant to your calculation?
A I don't -- I'm not too sure I understand that question.

Q Okay. You are taking the asking price, and you are dividing it by the acres that the property sits on, without any factoring in how large the house is; right?

A But it does include a house, or some swimming pool, cabana. It does include something. It's not just the value of the land.

Q Let me ask a different way. You are not calculating a price per square foot to do this comp; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. So, if you have two identical homes asking the identical selling price, and one is on a two-acre lot and the other is on a four-acre lot, the one on the 2 -acre lot will have a value, for your purposes, that's twice as large as the house on the four-acre lot; correct?

A Mathematically, yes. That's correct.
Q Isn't the method you are using, which is to calculate a value per acre, the method one would use to value vacant land, as opposed to a house?

MR. FIELDS: Objection. Speculation. Lack of foundation.

THE COURT: Overruled.
A Can you ask it again, please?

Q Isn't the method that you are using, where you take the asking price and divide it by the number of acres, a valuation method used for valuing and comparing vacant land, as opposed to a private residence?

A I guess you could do it that way. We took the whole selling price, including the house, and divide it by the number of acres. I guess you could use it for vacant land, but these comps included whatever was being sold.

Q And the size of the house didn't matter in your calculation, because you don't use it in the calculation; right?

A It was not used in the calculation. Correct.
Q Then, by the way, you add, if you can scroll down, you add, on line 216, a premium for completed facility of 30 percent; right?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q Did you -- so, you just take whatever number you get from the comp and you gross it out by 30 percent, because it's a completed facility; right?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q But you are valuing it as if you are selling it as a private residence; right?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q Am I correct that when you started doing the valuation for the following year, 2013, you realized that it was better to use actual sale prices, rather than asking prices? Correct?

A Somebody made that decision, yes. It was either Allen or myself.

Q Okay. So some combination of you and Mr. Weisselberg decided, in 2013, that it's better to use selling prices rather than asking prices; correct?

A At some point in time we changed, yes.
Q Let's go ahead and look at 2014 Jeff Supporting Data, Exhibit 719.

MR. AMER: And I may want you to put it up, side by side, if we can, and let's go to row 207, where the value began, where the Mar-A-Lago value begins. If you could, just lift up the one on the left.
Q So, in 2013, you have, again, two comps.
MR. AMER: I just need to see a little below.
Q You have two comps; correct?
A Can we just scroll?
Q Yes.
MR. AMER: You have to go down, more. There we go.
Q I'm sorry. Just one comp for 2013; correct?
A Can we just to be 100 percent sure, scroll over to column G? I believe that's correct. I just want to make sure. Yes. That's correct. Only one comp. (Continued on the next page.)
    3 right
    A Yes.
        Q If you scroll down on the other one, other way.
    Sorry. It's the same comp that you used the prior year, right? 1220 South Ocean, Palm Beach, correct?
        A Yes.
        Q In 2012 -- we can go up a little more so I see the price. In 2012, you're using the asking for the 2020 South Ocean, Palm Beach of \($ 74\) million?

A Yes.
Q That's the asking price and then the next year you realized that the same property sold for \($ 42\) million, correct?
A Correct.
Q In your description on line 224?
A Which? 1314?
Q On 1314.
A Yes.
Q You say actual selling price, not just selling price but actual selling price, correct?
A Correct.
Q And on line 212, you just say selling price for the other comp on line 212?
A On the same spreadsheet?
Q Same spreadsheet.

McConney - Direct/Amer
Page 768
A Yes.
Q The reason why you inserted that word "actual" is because you realized you had used the same comp the year before and you used the asking price and now it was an actual selling price, correct?

A I don't know if I realized what you said but there was a reason for it. It's the actual price, is the actual price.

Q But using the word "actual" you're kind of acknowledging you used the same comp from the year before but used the selling price?

A I'm not acknowledging the same comp from the year before. The actual comp we used is the selling price. I don't remember --

Q Was this the reason you decided it was better to use selling prices than asking prices because it dawned on you that a property that you valued with an asking price of \($ 74\) million actually ended up selling a year later for only \($ 42\) million?

A I don't remember that being the case, one way or the other.

Q By the way, I noticed in 2012 the number of acres for this property is 2.5 acres, correct?

A Correct.
Q A year later, the property is only 2.11 acres,

\section*{correct?}

A Correct.
Q So, the acreage changed?
A We'd have to look at the source documents each year.
Q The effect of changing the acreage from 2.5 to 2.11 increases the value per acre, correct?
A In 2013?
Q Yeah.
A Yes.
Q Let's go to PX-2374. Mr. McConney, is Exhibit 2374 the backup that you sent for the comps to Mr. Bender?

A Yes, I believe so. For Mar-a-Lago, I believe so, yes.

Q It shows the 1220 South Ocean Boulevard house selling for \($ 42\) million, correct?
A Yes.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, I ask that this be admitted into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It's in.
MR. SUAREZ: We only object if it's being offered for the truth of the matter asserted because it would be hearsay. The fact that, to the extent that he testified that he sent it to Mr. Bender, that's a different story.

THE COURT: Is that agreeable just for the fact

1 A Yes.
2 Q You knew about that appraisal, right?
3 A Yes.
4 Q You had a copy of that appraisal, correct?
A I believe so, yes.
Q You relied on the page we saw from this appraisal for purposes of valuing Mar-a-Lago, correct?

A Yes.
Q That was an appraisal done in contemplation of a conservation easement donation over Mar-a-Lago back in 2007, right?

A I don't know what the purpose was, off the top of my head. It says "conservation easement" here on the bottom of page 506. So, I believe that's what it was for.

MR. AMER: I'm going to ask to hand the witness Exhibit 1444.
Q Mr. McConney, this is the full appraisal of Mar-a-Lago, 169 pages. You had a copy of it, correct?

A I don't remember but it's possible.
Q Well, you attached the cover page to the backup you sent to Mr. Bender, right?

A Right.
MR. AMER: I ask that this be moved into evidence, your Honor.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, we have an objection
J. McConney - Direct/Amer

first on the basis of the Statute of Limitations. Second with the appraisals, the fact that the appraisal exists, the fact it was in the file, the fact he may have looked at it, that certainly whatever his testimony is, it is, but, we object to the appraisal to the extent it's being offered for the truth of the matter asserted within it.

There are, obviously, issues in the appraisal, limitations, whatnot. This wasn't prepared for a party in this case. It wasn't prepared by a party in this case. The appraisal company is not here. That would be the extent of our objection to the extent it's being offered for the truth of the matter asserted.

It's an out-of-court statement as well.
THE COURT: Maybe three-and-a-half-page memos.
MR. AMER: First of all, your Honor, the statement that it wasn't prepared for the Trump Organization is wrong. It's prepared for Mar-a-Lago Club, LLC.
Q That's a Trump Organization, right, Mr. McConney? A The --

THE COURT: I'll ask the witness to answer.
THE WITNESS: I don't know who goes first. The Mar-a-Lago Club LLC was owned by, ultimately, the President, yes.

MR. SUAREZ: My client is-- it's not a defendant in this case. It's not a party.
THE COURT: Okay.
MR. AMER: I'm going to do this quickly. We're stopping when, your Honor? Just so I know.

THE COURT: Fifty.
Q If we look at page two, this report says in the second sentence: "This report has been prepared for our client, Mar-a-Lago Club, LLC. The intended use was to assist and establish market value of a conservation of easement for possible donation." You see that?

\section*{A Yes.}

Q In the second paragraph, just going to go down to the middle of the paragraph, it says: "The value of the property, before considering the terms of the easement, is compared to the value of the property after considering the easement. The difference in value, if any, is the value of the easement."

It's an easement related to the development of 11 single family lots. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q To your knowledge, was there ever any approval given for the development of any single family lots on the Mar-a-Lago property?
A I have no idea.
Q Why don't you turn to page 88. There's a section of this appraisal entitled "Deed of Development Rights." "Deed of conservation easement and exhibits."

Page 774
You see that?
A Yes.

Q And the next page, the next three pages, are the deed of development that was entered into in 2002, between Donald Trump and the National Trust. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q And on page two of this deed it says that Mr. Trump is conveying his rights to develop the property for any usage other than club usage. Do you see that? That's the paragraph above the signature block. Next page, last line, above the, In witness whereof. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q You knew about this appraisal, and you had a copy of it in your possession, prior to 2011; right?

A Correct.
Q And so you had a copy of this deed of development; correct?
A Yes.
Q And notwithstanding the fact that you had, in your possession, this deed, every year from 2011 through 2016 or '17, you valued the property as if it could be sold for private residence; right?

A That's correct.
Q Now, Mr. McConney, you testified that during the period of time when you were the controller, Allen Weisselberg was your boss; correct?

A Correct.

McConney - Direct by Mr. Amer
Page 776
Q And am I correct that during the period of time when Allen Weisselberg was your boss, he asked you, on more than one occasion, to assist him in committing fraud? Isn't that right?

A No.
Q You gave testimony in the criminal trial of the Trump Organization brought by the District Attorney of New York; correct?

A Yes.
Q Isn't it the case that you testified in that trial that Mr. Weisselberg asked you, on more than one occasion, to assist him in committing tax fraud?

A Yes.
Q And at his request you helped him cheat on his tax returns; isn't that right?

A I had nothing to do preparing his tax returns.
MS. HABBA: Objection. I'm just going to ask what the relevance of this is.
MR. AMER: I think it's highly relevant, your Honor.
THE COURT: Overruled.
Q Am I correct that you assisted him in receiving tax-free personal expenses, and then backed the value of those expenses out of his salary? Right?
A That's correct.
Q And Mr. Weisselberg directed you to process a payroll check to his wife for \($ 6,000\) so that she could qualify for Social Security benefits, even though you knew she was not an employee of the Trump Organization; correct?

A I'm not too sure the dollar amount, but the rest of the statement is correct.

\section*{Q So, I'll rephrase it.}

Mr. Weisselberg directed you to process a payroll check to his wife so that she could qualify for Social Security benefits, even though you knew she was not an employee of the Trump Organization?

MR. FIELDS: Objection. Improper impeachment.
Relevance.
THE COURT: Overruled.
Q Mr. McConney, when you processed that payroll check for Mr. Weisselberg's wife, you knew it was illegal; correct?

A I did not know it was illegal.
Q You did not?
A I did not.
Q Can we put up, from Mr. McConney's testimony during the criminal trial, page 1407 , line 5.
(Whereupon, a document was displayed.)
Q "Question: Did you testify on cross examination that the purpose of this was to have her qualified for Social Security?
"Answer: Yes. Something to do with Social

Page 778

\section*{Security benefits.}
"Question: Did you think it was legal to pay her for a job she did not perform, so that she would qualify for a benefit to which she was not entitled?
"Answer: No.
"Question: So you knew that that was illegal?
"Answer: Yes. Yes. You can say that. Yes. Yes."

Four yeses. That was your sworn testimony during the criminal trial; correct?

A Yes.
Q And even though you knew that these activities that you engaged in at Mr. Weisselberg's request was illegal, you continued to engage in them; isn't that right?

A Continued in what way?
Q You kept doing it; correct?
A Yes.
Q And you engaged in this illegal conduct because Mr. Weisselberg was your boss, and you were afraid that if you refused his requests, you would probably lose your job; right? A Yes.

MR. AMER: That's all I have, your Honor?
THE COURT: I guess we'll break for the day.
Monday is a holiday, and we'll resume Tuesday at 10:00.
MR. AMER: Your Honor, because the witness is still on the stand, can we have an admonition that he not consult with his attorneys about his testimony?

THE COURT: Yes. I so direct him.
MS. GREENFIELD: Just one scheduling question,
Mr. Amer. How much more, how much longer do you think you are going to be with Mr. McConney before we move on to Mr. Weisselberg on Tuesday?

MR. AMER: Maybe I wasn't clear, but I finished my examination.

MS. GREENFIELD: Oh, sorry. I wasn't clear on that. Sorry.

MR. AMER: It seemed like a good point to end.
THE COURT: So, we are starting just with Weisselberg?

MS. FAHERTY: Unless they have cross.
MS. HABBA: Can we reserve the right - I don't think we do. Think we are going to let him go.

You know, I'm not going to cross. Just --
THE COURT: So we are starting with Weisselberg?
MS. HABBA: We are starting Weisselberg on Tuesday morning.

MS. FAHERTY: Tuesday morning, Weisselberg.
THE COURT: Tuesday at 10:00.
MR. SOLOMON: Mr. Weisselberg.
THE COURT: Have a great three-day weekend.

MS. FAHERTY: Your Honor, Colleen Faherty, on behalf of the People, and I can speak separately with counsel just to double check, but there were some corrections to the transcript that I do think require us to put on the record, because I don't think we can back-date the corrections to exhibits as they are contained in the record, so I'll speak with counsel, and I can even just submit it in a letter to the Court, if that works.

What is your preference?
THE COURT: Sure. My preference is whatever your preference is. Whatever you can work out with the other side. How long would it take if we did it right now?

MS. FAHERTY: I have an email right now that I can read from that identifies the corrections, and then if counsel has an issue, we can respond.

THE COURT: All right. Let's do it.
MS. FAHERTY: Okay. So at the trial transcript, at page 119, lines 11 through 12, Plaintiff's Exhibit 75 was admitted, and is currently in the record as PX75. It needs to be corrected to 785.

THE COURT: Any objection or --
MS. FAHERTY: Typographic.
MR. SUAREZ: No.
MS. HABBA: No objection.
MS. FAHERTY: Thank you. The second is

1 Plaintiff's Exhibit 788 was admitted into evidence, but identified on the record by Bates number as Mazars-NYAG-00003154. The exhibit number needs to be added. It is from the trial transcript at 157 , line's 2 through 11, and so the exhibit number that we would add to the record is Plaintiff's Exhibit 788. MS. HABBA: No objection.

MS. FAHERTY: Thank you, Ms. Habba.
The third issue, your Honor, is Plaintiffs
MS. FAHERTY: Thank you, Ms. Habba.
The third issue, your Honor, is Plaintiffs
Exhibit 791 was admitted into evidence on October 3rd, but the exhibit number is not in the record. Plaintiff's Exhibit 791 needs to be added. That's at the trial transcript at 191, lines 5 through 18. It was admitted into evidence, but the number was not -MS. HABBA: No objection.

MS. FAHERTY: Your Honor, I have two more, apparently. Trial transcript at 471, 19 through 472, 11, Plaintiff's Exhibit 1354 was admitted into evidence on October 4, but the exhibit number was not on the record. So, Plaintiff's Exhibit 1354 needs to be added, please.

MS. HABBA: No objection.
MS. FAHERTY: And the last one is at trial transcript page 477, lines 10 through 11, Plaintiff's Exhibit 1501 was admitted on October 4, but was identified on the record, or in the record, as Plaintiff's Exhibit 50101 and it just needs to be corrected to say Plaintiff's Exhibit 1501.

```

MS. HABBA: No objection.
I just want to make the record clear and state that obviously I have no objection to these administerial changes, but if we had any prior to objections to the exhibits themselves, that they still stand.
MS. FAHERTY: Thank you, your Honor.
Okay. Now, have a good three-day weekend.

*     *         *             *                 *

(Whereupon, the proceedings were adjourned to Tuesday, October 10, 2023 at 10:00 a.m.)
MS. HABBA: No objection.

A I'm not familiar with the -- with the way ownership of properties is handled. The legal department of the organization, they have all that information. I don't recall exactly the ownership structure.
Q So you are a trustee of the trust, but you don't know the legal ownership structure of the assets of the trust?
A That's correct.
Q During your time as a trustee, what work, if any, did you do on behalf or for the benefit of the trust?

A I continued my daily routine that I had all the years that I was the CFO. If there came a point in time where Eric Trump needed to discuss something with me or something he was thinking about, we would sit down and go over it, bounce some ideas back and forth; but other than that, my routine really hadn't changed.
Q So when you became - is it your testimony, sir, that when you became a trustee, your routine, your daily routine hadn't really changed?

A No, it hadn't really changed.
Q Do you currently work for the Trump Organization, sir?
A I do not.
Q When did that employment relationship end?
A As I mentioned before, so many things have happened over the last number of years with me and my family and it's taken its toll, I don't recall exact dates. If you have something you can show me to refresh my memory again, that would be helpful.
Q Sure. I will in a moment, but I would like to know do you have an understanding as to why the employment relationship ended?

A I assume when I was convicted of felony. I guess at that point.

Q What is the basis for your understanding that was the reason for the termination of your employment relationship?

A I don't -- I don't have a basis for it.
Q Did you execute a severance agreement, sir?
A I did.
MR. SOLOMON: Can we please mark for identification PX 01751.
Q Let me know when you have had an opportunity to review the document, sir.
(Witness reviewing document.)
MR. SOLOMON: Your Honor, while the witness is reviewing that document, we would move PX 1016 into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 1016.)
A I am not going to read the entire document, but I'm familiar with the document.

Q Does that appear to be your severance agreement or separation agreement, sir?

A Yes.
Q Can you turn to page 7 of 8, on the bottom, if you see the number?

A Yes.
Q Is that your signature?
A It is.
Q Did you sign it on or about January 9, 2023?
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize the signature on behalf of the Trump Corporation?
A I'm trying to figure it out. It looks like Eric's or Eric Trump.

MR. SOLOMON: Your Honor, the People offer PX 01751 in evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 01751.)
Q Mr. Weisselberg, if you perform your obligations under the separation agreement, how much money will you receive?

A \($ 2\) million.
Q That's payable over two years, correct?
A Correct.

A Yes. \\
Q And it was on the Statement of Financial Condition as of June 2012, correct? \\
A Yes. \\
Q In fact, the triplex is included in every Statement of \\ Financial Condition between at least 2011 and your departure from the Trump Organization, correct? \\
A I mean, I could ask to see a statement to look at it, but -- \\
Q Is it your understanding that it is one of the assets reflected on the Statement of Financial Condition, sir? \\
A Yes. Yes. \\
Q In 2012, the value of the triplex was determined by \\ multiplying the number of the square feet of the apartment by a \\ price per square foot; is that correct? \\
A Correct. \\
Q In fact, multiplying the square footage by a price per \\

In 2012, an assumption was made as to the number of square feet for the triplex, right? \\

A Yes. \\

Q Wasn't the comps used to determine the square foot? \\
A I don't recall that. That's a question Jeffrey \\
McConney would have to answer. I don't have the work papers. \\
If you would like to show me his work papers, I would be happy to look at it. \\

Q Do you see that this was executed October 11, 1994 by the residential board of Trump Tower Condominium, right?

A Correct.
Q Let's look at the consent now, the 20th page of this exhibit.

MR. SOLOMON: Scroll down.
Q There is a consent to the first declaration. Do you see that document in front of you, sir? You can take a look at the 20th page of the exhibit.
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize the signature?

A Donald J. Trump.
Q That was executed in or about October of 1994, correct?
A Right.
Q So as far as back as October 1, 1994, Mr. Trump executed a consent to the first amendment to the declaration of the condominium that reflected the triplex was 10996.39 square feet, correct?
A Correct.
Q Notwithstanding the fact that this goes back to 1994, you are aware, sir, that in 2012, 2013, 2014, the triplex is identified as 30,000 square feet on the Statements of Financial Condition, right?
A No. That's where I was trying to explain before. These -- the triplex was part of the other assets of Mr.
Trump's including other things that he owned, airplane, whatever, and they were all lumped together in one number. I never focused on that number when renewing Mr. McConney's draft or the Mazars draft of the financial statement. I wasn't aware at that time of the -- I didn't go through the details of that apartment. I was looking at -- what I was looking at is Statement of Financial Condition. There were much, much larger items on there that I was more concerned about, things like commercial buildings or golf courses and things of that nature that I was focused on.

The apartment itself, relatively speaking when you look at the value of that apartment relative to his net worth is non-material. It is not a material adverse type change. The number of 200 million or whatever difference may have been in dollars, that in and itself is a large number; but when you compare it to the net worth of the statement itself, 6 billion, it is less than one percent or about one percent.

We were always taught -- our accounting firm always told us if it is less than five percent, five percent or less, that's considered non-material. So I didn't have a reason to focus on this apartment at that time.

Q Did you understand that?
Yes. Yes.
Q If you look at the fifth paragraph on the first page, dffur

A Yes.
Q You understood, sir, didn't you, that a compilation as compared to a review or an audit was the lowest level of independent confirmation by the outside accountants of the nformation provided by the Trump Organization, right?

Q Do you know who made the decision to have only a compilation instead of a review or audit done for the 2011 tatement of Financial Condition?
A I don't.
Q Do you know who made the decision to have only a compilation done for any of the statements of financial ondition of Donald J. Trump instead of a review or an audit?

Q We'll come back later to how the Statement of Financial Condition itself is prepared, but once that's done, can we please look at PX 786 which \(I\) believe is already in evidence. correct?

Yes.

Q Is this what we were referring to -- you were

A Yes.
Q So by this letter, it is your understanding the Trump Organization was making certain representations to WeiserMazars, right?
A Correct.
Q Did you understand that WeiserMazars was relying on those representations in issuing the June 30, 2011 Statement of inancial Condition?
A Yes.
Q You also understood, sir, didn't you, that WeiserMazars would not have issued the June 30, 2011 Statement of Financial Condition without this rep letter, right?
A Correct.
Q Let's look at the substance of this. In the first two paragraphs, you use the word "we." You see that?

Q Do you intend by using "we" to refer to the Trump Organization?

Yes
presented in the statement was provided to you by members of \(\mathbf{M r}\).
Trump's accounting department. Is that an accurate statement?
A Yes
goes on and you, referring to WeiserMazars, have preparing the statement. Was that an accurate statement?

A Correct.
Q Next paragraph continues, the statement referred to above is fairly presented in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Is that reference to GAAP?
A Yes.
Q You told us earlier you were not familiar with the components of GAAP, didn't you?

19 Q Did you use a different definition for estimated current value in your representation letter?

A That's one method. \\
Q Okay. And the method used to value an asset was \\

A Not every year. It could have been a change in methodology for one reason or another and -- yes. \\
Q When there was a change in methodology was that change in methodology disclosed in the SOFC? \\
A It was disclosed in the work papers that was provided to Mazars, if I remember correctly. I haven't been at the company for a couple years. The spreadsheets that provided by Mr. McConney were comparative. I could be wrong, but if there was a change, he may have noted it. That's something you'd have to -- sorry -- that's something you would have to go back and look at the documents of the spreadsheet or wait for Mr. McConney. I don't know if he disclosed it. Q Is that one of the things you're aware that he did? \\
A He may have. I don't recall. \\
Q Do you have any understanding how the first step in creating the next year's SOFC is undertaken? \\
A From what I remember the way it was done we have some young ladies in our office who begin to gather data that Jeff would need to do the SOFC; cash balances, mortgage balances. I mentioned that before. I believe that next step Jeff would probably contact appraisers or brokers to try to ascertain from them some reports that might have on it some comps, cap rate, things that he can use as source material to be able to value \\

That wasn't my question. I asked if it was disclosed in the Statement of Financial Conditions, not in the work papers to Mazars, not in conversations you might have had with someone. Was it disclosed in the Statement of Financial Conditions. It's a yes-or-no question. \\

Q We marked PX 3116 for identification. It is a cover e-mail and a letter that you were attaching. Do you see that? \\
A Yes. \\
Q Is that an e-mail that you sent to E. Carlyle at \\ Forbes? \\
A Yes. \\
Q So actually -- \\

THE COURT: I don't think you were asked that. \\
THE WITNESS: The answer is yes, it is my e-mail. \\
THE COURT: It is your e-mail. That's all we need to know. \\
Q The second page, you attach a letter that you had received from Steven M. Ekovich. Do you see that? \\
A Yes. \\
Q Do you recall receiving that letter from Mr. Ekovich in or about July of 2013? \\
A I remember it now. I just don't recall -- it was ten years ago. I don't recall. \\
Q Do you recall receiving some communication from Mr. \\ appropriate gross review multiplier would have been for assets in the Trump golf portfolio? \\

A Yes. That was his undertaking of what he felt it should be. \\
MR. SOLOMON: We offer PX 3116 in evidence. \\

Q Your earlier letter was addressed directly to you?
A Yes, because the person I asked to help me on this told him to send it to me.

Q So you took this person's word? You took this person's advice or comment that this person was a top golf course advisor on buying and selling courses? You accepted that as true?
A I did.
Q Okay. And then you conveyed it on to Forbes, right?
A Correct.
Q And was that because you wanted Forbes to value the Trump Organization's golf courses in a particular methodology?
A I don't -- I don't remember why I gave it to them. I don't -- I don't know the context of the conversation we had with Ms. Carlyle, what her questions were. It is sort of being taken out of context.
Q I'm not trying to take it out of context.
A Not this. Not this, why I gave her this letter.
That's the point. I'm not quite putting together with giving her the letter as to what was she asking and why did I give it to her.

Q Did you tell Mr. McConney that this was a method that he should use to value the Trump Organization's golf courses?

A I don't recall. I don't recall.
Q Do you know if the Trump Organization ever used this method to value its golf courses?

A Again, I don't recall.

you ever give it to Mr. McConney?
A I don't recall. I may have. I just don't remember.
You're going back a long time ago. I just don't recall.
Q Understood. So did you ever provide it to Mazars?
A I dealt very little with Mazars on these statements.
Everything went through Jeffrey McConney, so if I gave it to him, hopefully he would have given it to them or maybe not; but I don't recall giving it to Jeffrey McConney sitting here today.

Q But personally, you never gave it to Mazars, right?
A Not that I can remember, no.
Q Did you also send -- withdrawn.
I believe you indicated earlier that you sent comps to Mr. McConney?

A I sent comps.
Q Or you provided comps to Mr. McConney?
A No, I didn't. Mr. McConney would contact third parties, appraisers and request from them these reports that would give him the comps, cap rates and any other material that might be helpful in determining valuation.

Q Did you give comps to Mr. Birney?
A Again, this was -- all the work that was done to get valuations was all done by Jeffrey McConney, by himself for a while and then with Patrick Birney subsequently.

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 3144.)
Q Let's go back to the process for creating the Statements of Financial Condition in any given year, if we can.
Just so we're clear, between 2011 and your departure from the Trump Organization, did you perform any valuations for any of the assets on the Statements of Financial Condition?

A When you saw my personally.
Q Yes?
A I don't recall doing anything like that.
Q Do you recall testifying at one of the investigatory sessions we had "I certainly a.m. not one to value a property. I have no idea what properties are worth?

A I would rely on experts to do that.
Q But do you recall that's something you had said at one of the motions?
A I either do -- I don't recall it but certainly possible.
Q You're not disputing it, correct?
A I'm not disputing it.
Q Is it still your position, sir, that you have no idea what properties are worth?

A I have no idea -- no. I personally -- if I looked at a building, I couldn't tell you what it's worth. I would have to go to an expert to help me to do that.
THE COURT: Move the microphone closer. You might --

THE WITNESS: Yeah. Yeah.
THE COURT: They are really quirky microphones.
You could be right there and you have to talk right into it. THE WITNESS: Second time.
Q Was it your testimony earlier today that between roughly 2011 and your departure, you were involved in reviewing the notes to the Statements of Financial Condition before they were finalized?

A The notes -- the notes, yes, which describe our properties, discuss any liabilities that are associated with the properties, things of that nature. Those notes is what I'm referring to.

Q Was that because you understood that Mr. Trump wanted the assets described in the best possible light?

A Yeah. Well -- yeah, he has his own way of writing. I might use a word that is -- he may use a different word than I might use, but it is his statement, so I gave him the opportunity to correct a word here or there that he didn't like. By the way, a lot of these notes were written by the Mazars firm. I would come back and alter it a little bit and then the final draft came out and I would give it to Mr. Trump to review. He might say don't use the word "beautiful." Use the words

"magnificent" or something like that because it was not just a Statement of Financial Condition, but it was also a way of telling anybody who read it how our properties are, not typical properties, premier properties, and he wanted to be in that vein because you put a lot of effort and money over the years into making these properties exactly that.
Q Do I understand correctly then for each year from 2011 and your departure, before the Statement of Financial Condition was finalized, you would give it to Mr. Trump?

A Yes.
Q And did you understand that he would re- --
A No. No. Well, well, once he became president --
Q Certainly. I'll rephrase my question.
Between 2011 and when Mr. Trump became president, did you give him a Statement of Financial Condition prior to the time it was finalized?

A Yes, I did.
Q Did he have an opportunity to review it?
A Yes.
Q To your knowledge, did he review it?
A Again, once I gave it to him and I left his office, what he did with it, I wouldn't know.
Q Did you ever receive comments on a Statement of Financial Condition from Mr. Trump before he became president? A Periodically.

Q Once Mr. Trump became president, to whom, if anyone, did you give the Statement of Financial Condition for review before it was finalized?

A I don't remember. I was -- I don't remember whether I gave it to Eric Trump and/or Donald Trump. I just don't recall. I may have. I just don't remember.

Q When you say Donald Trump, you mean Donald Trump, Jr.? A Yes.
3 A Yes. additional comments to the SOFC?
A Are you talking about the years blend in one after the other? I don't remember if he said those words to me exactly as you're putting them.

Q That's why I asked in form or substance.
You had an understanding at some point in time between 2011 when he became president that he was okay with the SOFCs; right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Prior to gaining that understanding that he was okay with the SOFC, did you ever send it to Mazars between 2011 and when Mr. Trump became president as a final version before Mr. Trump signed off on it?

A Not that I can remember, no.
Q Let's talk about Seven Springs.
Are you familiar with the property known as Seven Springs located in the towns of Bedford, New Castle and North Castle, New York?

A As one of our assets, I was there once many, many, many years ago to tour the place, but that's probably the extent and we have -- yes, that's pretty much the extent.
Q So you are familiar with it?
A I am familiar with it -- I realize that. I'm sorry.
Q I didn't want to cut you off, sir.
A No. No, l'm sorry.
THE COURT: I guess "familiar" could be interpreted different ways. I think Mr. Weisselberg was partly saying to be familiar with it you have to be there, but I think
Mr. Solomon's meaning was just did you know if it exists. THE WITNESS: I understand that now.
THE COURT: So you know it exists and you know you were there a long time ago?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE COURT: Just give me one second. (Whereupon, there is a pause in the proceedings.) THE COURT: Thanks. Go ahead.

\section*{CONTINUED DIRECT EXAMINATION}

BY MR. SOLOMON:
Q Seven Springs is one of properties that appears as an asset on the Statements of Financial Condition; correct?

A Correct.
MR. SOLOMON: Can we pull up the 2014 SOFC, PX 730 ?
Q Do you recognize this document, sir?
A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?

Weisselberg - Peititioner - direct (Solomon)
Page 902
A Statement of Financial Condition of Donald Trump dated June 30, 2014.

MR. SOLOMON: Could we please turn to page 20 of 26 on the exhibit?
Q Do you see across the bottom, "mansion at Seven Springs." Do you see that?
A Yes.
\(Q\) "The property is zoned for nine luxurious homes. It has been valued at \($ 291\) million based on an assessment made by Mr. Trump in conjunction with his associates of the projected net cash flow which he would derive as those units are constructed and sold and the estimated fair value of the existing mansion and other buildings." Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q Now, in doing this calculation to get to \($ 291\) million was any discount to the cash flow applied to account for the time it would take to obtain all necessary approvals, build the homes and then sell the homes?

A I don't know. I don't know.
Q Do you know if a -- have you ever heard the term "present value of money?"
A I've heard that. I've heard that term.
Q Are you familiar with it?
A To a degree.
Q You understand that \($ 10\) ten years from now is not the
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}

\hline \begin{tabular}{l} same as \($ 10\) today; right? \\
A Yes, and I believe these financial statements were what we felt the property was worth on that date we did the financial statements. \\
Q So but as you sit here today, you don't know if any discount of present value was applied to the \($ 291\) million projected net cash flow, do you? \\
A No, I don't. \\
Q Now, beyond just Seven Springs do you know if for any of the valuations on any Statement of Financial Condition between 2011 and your departure there was an application to determine the present value of a future income stream? \\
A I don't know whether that was done or not. I didn't work on the calculations, but I believe that the values were based on what we felt we could settle for on that date, on the date of the financial statement. That was valued -- for example, if you take a building, a commercial building, you have leases in place and we took the current values of those leases that day and did our -- and went from there. That became our NOI with the cap rate. In ten years later those leases that were \($ 20,000\) square foot, could be \($ 90\) a square foot. So we didn't work with that \($ 90\). We worked with \($ 20\) as of today to come up with our NOI. \\
Q Is that what you understand this cap to present value mean?
\end{tabular} & \begin{tabular}{l}
1 Trump Organization was thinking about putting a golf course there; right? Do you recall that? \\
A There was discussion about that, yes. \\
Q But you couldn't get the proper zoning for that; right? \\
A Correct. \\
Q So you had to give that up? \\
A I believe so. \\
Q Okay. So then it became a concept of building mansions \\ on the property; right? \\
A Correct. \\
Q So on the day of this financial statement as of June 30, 2014 ? \\
A Okay. \\
Q Okay. The value of the development rights for this property was not discounted to present value, was it? \\
A The -- can I answer it other than yes or no? \\
Q Can you answer it yes or no? \\
THE COURT: Seems like a yes-or-no question. \\
A Well, the question is when the zoning is arrived at or was obtained or when the zones were built assuming you weren't just selling land. This could be your land sales, nine -- it has -- it's zoned for nines homes. Doesn't mean we're going to build the homes. We could sell the land that day for those numbers. They could go out and get their zoning. \\
Q Did you think you could sell the land that day for
\end{tabular} \\
\hline \begin{tabular}{l}
A. Weisselberg - Petitioner - direct (Solomon) \\
A Yes, we were using the values as of that date. \\
Q That's a snapshot, sir, of the valuation, isn't it? \\
A I don't know how you describe -- \\
Q You didn't assume that ten years of rent you had it on \\ the day of the valuation, did it -- did you? \\
A No. The way the valuation -- sorry. \\
Q Yes-or-no question. \\
A Finish the question. \\
Q You didn't assume you had all that money on day one; right? \\
A We weren't -- \\
Q Yes or no? For the lease, the lease you just \\ described, did you assume that you had the ten years of rent \\ payments on June 30th of any given year? \\
A And that's what -- why we consider it. We didn't have it. \\
Q You didn't have it, so you didn't consider it? \\
A Correct. \\
Q So let's talk about projects under development. That's \\ a category in the financial statements; right? \\
A Correct. \\
Q Mentioned at Seven Springs, that's a project under development for a period of time; right? \\
24 A Correct. \\
25 Q In fact, at one point in time ten, 20 years ago, the \($ 291\) million? \\

A I didn't have a backup to those numbers. I don't know the answer to that question. \\
Q Is that how you read that, though? \\
A I read that the property is zoned for nine luxurious homes. It has been valued on this date. When -- \\
Q Based on? \\
A -- in conjunction with his associates based on projected cash flow. \\
Q Projected net cash flow? \\
A Correct. \\
Q That's not a dollar you have on June 30, 2014; right, projected? Is that right? \\
A Yes. Projection could have been in a week later. It's a possibility he could have -- \\
Q Nine luxurious homes build, get zoning for them, build them and sell them a day later. Yes or no, sir? Is that what your testimony is? \\
A I'm trying to read the question -- I mean, I'm trying to read the paragraph. \\
Q Go ahead. \\
A The property is zoned for nine luxurious homes. It doesn't mean the homes are being sold for 291 million. I don't see that. \\ 25 Q I'm not saying the homes are being sold for 291, sir.

1 A Is Wells Fargo the servicer of -- I want to give you an answer that I think will help you. The servicer, Wells Fargo, I don't know what loan they're servicing and every servicer requires different things to be sent to them. The loan documents say that as well. If a loan document said just send us a summary, then we complied with that covenant in the mortgage. If it says send us the Statement of Financial Condition, they would have gotten that.

Evidently, this loan indicated that they wanted a summary of a net worth, not the Statement of Financial Condition. Without seeing the document, I'm doing this purely from logic and memory, so if you had the loan document here and you could point me to what the covenant indicated, I would be able to answer the question better for you.

Q I think we can do it even faster without having you go through all the loan documents. You were sending this to Wells Fargo to comply with what you believed to be the obligations under the loan agreements, right?

A Correct.
Q If you look at pages 44 and 45, similarly same date, being sent to Wells Fargo again, correct?

A Yes.

A I do, and that's very helpful because each one of those loans, each one of those loans are, I believe, Ladder Capital and they required a summary of Mr. Trump's net worth. So, therefore, based upon what I believed to be the covenant, we provided the summary and not the Statement of Financial Condition with the notes.
Q And did you believe you were required to provide this information to comply with the obligations under the loan agreements?

A That's correct.

A Not that I can remember. When she was there we talked about a specific year. If it was a yes-or-no answer, it doesn't fit into the category. I'm sorry.

I don't mean to be disrespectful to the Court, but if he's talking about 2019 did I have an appraisal in 2018 or 2019, I don't think we did. If we're going back to an earlier year, maybe we're discussing 2019 right now. Are you referring to a different time period?
Q I'm asking from 2011 to your departure.
A Did we ever have an appraisal? We may have an appraisal a year after it was issued, possibly. Banks don't have to give it to you; it's their property. They -- we pay for it, but it belongs to them.

Whereupon, the transcript continues on the following page....

Q Let's talk about Mar-A-Lago for a moment. Are you aware of any deed restrictions relating to the Mar-A-Lago property?
A I'm not familiar with the deed regarding Mar-A-Lago. It happened many, many years ago. I don't -- I don't recall reading the deed. I may have had it in my file -- in my office. I never even looked at it. It's more a legal document that the lawyers in our office might have, but I never del- -- I never really delved into it, no.

Q Do you know if Mr. McConney was aware of any deed restrictions relating to Mar-A-Lago?

A I don't know if he did or did not. I don't know.
Q Do you know if Mr. McConney considered any deed restrictions with respect to Mar-A-Lago when determining the value of the property for the Statements of Financial Condition?

A I don't know.
Q But you testified earlier you relied upon Mr. McConney?
A I did.
Q For the Statements of Financial Condition, correct?
A Correct.
Q I'm going to go back to the Statements of Financial Condition for a moment. Once you became a trustee and Mr. Trump became president, who, if anyone, had final signoff authority for the SOFC's?

A Good question.

Q Thank you.
A You're more than welcome. I don't recall how -- I think once the statement was complied, whether we went to Eric Trump and just showed it to him, I just don't remember what happened. It was a lot going on because the company changed how we do business because of Donald not being there. It was easier for me to walk into his office. I don't recall whether anyone had a final signoff on the documents. I don't recall.

Q At some point before you sent it to Mazars, you had to have a comfort level that it was complete and accurate, right?
A That it was -- yes.
Q And who made the final call that it was complete and accurate?

A I don't remember. I don't remember when we -- whether Jeff went down to Eric and spoke to him or not. I just don't remember.

Q Donald Trump, Jr. was also a trustee, correct?
A Correct.
Q For the statement of financial condition after Mr.
Trump became president, those were statements that were done by the trustees; is that correct?

A Statements done by the trustees?

A No. I'm not a valuation person. I relied upon the people that I relied upon in the prior 25 years.

Q I believe you told me earlier Donald Trump, Jr. was also trustee at this point in time?
A Yes.
Q What, if anything, did he do, to your knowledge, to determine the estimated current value?
A I don't believe he did anything. It was -- it was done by the same people that did it for 25 years.
\(Q\) And those are people you relied upon?
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
A Yes.
Q Did Donald J. Trump have any familiarity with these people, to your knowledge?

A People meaning --
Q Meaning the ones you relied upon.
A Jeffrey McConney and Patrick Birney?
Q Yes.
A Yes.
Q Do you know if he relied upon the same people you relied upon?

A I believe he did, yes.
Q Are those the associates that are referred to in this description in the notes?

A Along with others that may have worked with Jeff and Patrick. There were people that got other information as I mentioned earlier this morning. Different parts of the statements were done by different people, so not just Jeff and Patrick, but it could have been some other people that submit information that Jeff and Patrick needed in order to finish the statement such as cash balances and things of that nature.

Q Did you discuss the Statement of Financial Condition before it was finalized with Donald Trump, Jr. for the years when you were both trustees?

A I don't remember. I don't remember.
Q Do you know if Mr. McConney or anyone in his direction ever explained to Donald Trump, Jr. during the years he was a trustee how the values were calculated on the Statement of Financial Condition?

A That is something you would have to ask him if he did it. I don't know.

Q Was it -- was that explanation ever given or description ever given in your presence?

A Not in my presence, no.
Q Did you tell Donald Trump, Jr. during the time you were both trustees how the values were calculated?

A Not that I can remember.
Q Do you know if Mr. McConney ever provided a copy of his supporting data spreadsheet to Donald Trump, Jr. when Mr. Trump was a trustee?

Senior Court Reporters

THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Part 37 is now in session. The Honorable Judge Arthur Engoron presiding.

Make sure all cell phones are silent. Laptops and cell phones will be permitted, but only to members of the press. There is absolutely no recording or photography of any kind allowed in the courtroom. Now be seated and come to order.

THE COURT: Tommy, do you want some hot tea after that?

Thanks for being here. Of course I don't read the papers and go online and look to read about this case, but there is some issue that keeps coming up: there is no jury. It's not just because we need a box for the screen there. As the lawyers know and the lay people may not, there is law and then there is equity.

In law, generally legal cases are about money damages; equitable cases are about injunctive relief, telling someone you can and can't do something. And here's how it's determined whether there is a jury or not. When -either side, any party can file a Note of Issue saying that disclosure is finished and the case is basically ready for trial, the person who files that Note of Issue checks off a box, says they want a jury trial or they don't want a jury trial. That's assumed to be the case, but the other side has I think it's 15 days or so to object and say no, we

\section*{in federal practice.}

MS. HABBA: Thank you. And we did discuss it on March 3rd and we discussed this exact topic, but thank you, Your Honor. I appreciate it.

THE COURT: Sure. We're all learning.
MS. HABBA: Yes.
THE COURT: Okay. I understand that there is an attorney that would like to address the Court and everyone else about the next witness?

MR. ZENSKY: David Zensky for the record.
I'll be brief. Good morning, Justice Engoron.
David Zensky of Akin Gump Straus Hauer & Feld, and we are counsel for Deutsche Bank.

As the Court knows, today's witness is being called to testify about events that occurred while employed at Deutsche Bank in the credit risk management area. I appeared in court today for the limited and almost certainly unnecessary purpose of protecting against the disclosure of Deutsche Bank's -- information protected by Deutsche Bank's attorney/client or work product privileges and/or to prevent the disclosure of information that is confidential, supervisory information which the bank is obligated to keep secret under federal and state regulations.

I've consulted with counsel for all parties and no one has an objection to being heard on an issue should it arise, but no one believes that such an issue will arise, so I'd simply ask the Court for permission to be recognized of need be.

THE COURT: Okay. How should we do this logistically? Do you want to sit towards the front and raise your hand if there is an issue?

MR. ZENSKY: Whatever suits the Court. I'm happy to sit where I was. Again, it's unlikely to occur, but whatever the Court believes is appropriate.

THE COURT: Well, you can be on the 30 -yard line and the 50 -yard line. Why don't you sit in the front bench, if that's okay?

MR. ZENSKY: Okay, that's fine. I do likely like the 50 -yard line, though.

THE COURT: That's what I say.
MR. ZENSKY: Thank you, Your Honor. I appreciate it.

THE COURT: Plaintiff, are you ready to call your next witness?

MR. WALLACE: Certainly. The next witness People call is Nicholas Haigh.

THE COURT: I control a lot but not the music coming from the plaza out there.

THE COURT OFFICER: Witness entering.
(Whereupon, the witness enters the courtroom and approaches the witness stand.)
THE COURT OFFICER: Please raise your right hand.
Do you solemnly swear or affirm that any testimony you give will be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?

THE WITNESS: Yes, I do.
THE COURT OFFICER: Please have a seat.
State your name and either business or home address on the record.

THE WITNESS: My full name is James Nicholas Haigh. My home address is 712 Seney Avenue, Mamaroneck, New York, and I am currently retired.

THE COURT: And I'll ask the witness to speak loudly, slowly, clearly. And these microphones are very particular; you have to be really close to them.

\section*{THE WITNESS: I apologize.}

THE COURT: Please proceed, Mr. Wallace.
DIRECT EXAMINATION
BY MR. WALLACE:
Q Good morning, Mr. Haigh. I believe we met at your deposition, but my name is Kevin Wallace. I'm an attorney with the New York Attorney General's Office.

Just at the start, can you describe your educational background for the Court?
A Yes. So I grew up in Brittain high school. I went to

Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)
Page 978
university or college at the University of Manchester between 1975 and 1978. Then I trained as a chartered surveyor and qualified as a chartered surveyor I think in about 1981.

Q And what does it mean to be a chartered surveyor?
A It's a professional qualification in the UK and some of the other commonwealth countries around real estate.
Q Okay. And what kind of tasks with someone who is a chartered surveyor undertake in relation to real estate?
A So I was a general practice chartered surveyor. So we did all sorts of things from landlord and tenant negotiation, acquisition of real estate, purchase, looking at appraisals, doing appraisals or valuations that they tend to be called over there.

I worked for a government, local government for awhile and -- actually, no. It's for the national government but in a local area. And for one of the utility companies and then I worked for an investment fund running a pension fund, acquiring real estate assets for their pension fund. And then I moved to a U.S. bank and gave advice to some of their clients in real estate in Europe -- in the UK.

Q I believe you just stated that you're currently retired; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q What was your prior job before you retired?
A The previous four years I have worked for Bank of America as a -- what they called a credit officer, but I was making loans to private clients and their private clients' business.
    Q And what sort of work would you do as a credit officer at Bank of America?
    A -- Bank of America.
    It involved talking with clients about the bank's various credit products; it involved looking at clients' financial positions to assess whether they qualified and were suitable for those credit products; it involved negotiating with the bank's internal risk approval people and underwriters around how to underwrite a client document and their financial position, negotiate loan terms, if necessary, and so that was mostly what it was.
    Q I believe you said working -- sorry. Underwrite loans and helping work through them documenting their financial position. Could you just describe what that entails?
    A Bank of America had an underwriting process where it would analyze the financial condition of its potential and actual borrowers and it involved looking at the client's financial information capturing that in a very standardized way and analyzing that information to then use all that information in order to derive a risk rated score for its client's probability default.
    Q And that would help govern the terms of the loan they
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)
Page 980
    might be eligible for and able to obtain?
    A Yes, so that would -- indeed it would perfect all of those matters.
    Q So before you began at Bank of America what was the position you held prior to that?
    A So immediately prior to that I was employed on a part-time basis by a consulting firm who provided services to Deutsche Bank and I was working for that firm part time for about four months or three and a half months within Deutsche Bank's private wealth management business line -- not business line but with supporting their group.
    Q Just so l'm understanding that the consulting firm you were doing work for you in the process of providing consulting services to the Deutsche Bank private wealth management group; am I understanding that correctly?
    A Correct.
    Q And so before that consulting position what position did you hold?
    A So prior to that I had been the risk officer for the head of risk for Deutsche Bank's risk group covering their private wealth management business.
    Q And what was your title in that position?
    A I was a managing director of the bank.
    Q And how long did you hold that role?
    A I held that role from mid 2008 until the end of 2018.

1 Q And was mid 2018 the time you left Deutsche Bank?
2 A End of 2018 I was -- I left Deutsche bank.
3 Q And why did you leave Deutsche Bank in the end of 2018?
4 A My -- my employment was terminated.
5 Q Do you know why it was terminated?
6 A I believe it was for cutting -- cost cutting reasons.
7 Q Were you told anything about the reason in particular, 8 though?

A No other than just generally the cost cutting 10 environment that the bank was in.
Q At the time of your departure from Deutsche Bank how long had you been working with the company?

A So I had been working for Deutsche Bank or for Banker's
14 Trust which Deutsche Bank bought. I joined banker's Trust I 15 think in 1990 and I had taken one year off but apart from that 16 one year off the whole rest of the time I've been working for 17 either Banker's Trust until 1999 and then Deutsche Bank until 2018.

Q So going back to your role at credit risk management. If I could just focus on the period from 2011 through mid 2018, what were your responsibilities as the head of credit risk management?
A So I was the head of credit risk management covering 24 the private wealth management business under whatever name it was going by at the time and I ran a relatively small team of
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 982
1 people. Our job was to do the policy work and the credit
2 approval work around any credit exposures that the credit wealth
3 management group was taking.
Q You mentioned the private wealth management business. What is that business? Could you describe it for us?

A It's the division of Deutsche Bank that was serving high net worth individuals and providing various products to them, including credit products.

Q And so you mentioned it was your job to examine the credit exposure. Could you just describe for us the sort of -what are you doing when you're looking at that exposure?
A So in very broad terms we're assessing the risk profile of a client in order to come up with an accurate risk rating, risk assessment of that client and also we are looking at the entire proposal for that -- the entire credit proposal to make sure it fits within the desired risk profile of the bank.
Q And so are you approving the credit decisions?
A Yes. We have the final -- the final approval on all credit decisions for those clients.

Q So I'd just like to go through a few of those. How would you go about assessing the risk profile of the client?
A We based our assessment of the risk profile of the client on their financial position, so we would look at the financial data that we had on the client typically from some sort of statement of financial condition, supplement it with things such as validated and verified statements of -- from banks, from brokerage accounts. So we'd capture information about their financial position in a spreadsheet format and that information would then be used in our risk rating methodology to assess certain characteristics of that borrower -- financial characteristics mostly, but some other characteristics as well -- to assess those characteristics and that -- that was a mathematical model that generated a risk score that mapped to a probability default for that borrower.

Q And the - that probability default that would generate what kind of loan the customer would be able to obtain from the bank?

A Not specifically the type of loan that a client could obtain, but it would inform whether we were willing to do a loan at all and it would have an impact on the size of loan we were willing to do for that client and also the terms of the loan that we were willing to do for that client.
Q Okay. I believe you also mentioned that you prepared a proposal for credit. Is that similar to the type of terms that might be available to the customer?

A So the bank would have a credit memorandum and that memorandum would endeavor to capture all the relevant information that you need to make a decision about that credit. So it would cover things from short summary of who the client is, why they want the money, what the terms are of the transaction and then it would also summarize their financial condition and attach to that credit memorandum would be our assessment of the risk rating of the client.

Q And so that memorandum would spell out the terms of proposed transactions?
A Yes, yes.
Q And what are some of the factors in how a transaction would be structured that would affect the credit assessment that you and your team were making?

A I'm pausing because it's kind of a broad question.
There are -- I mean, many factors could affect it. So the first sort of given would be that the client was a client of the private wealth management business under their profile fitted what the bank wanted to do.

And secondly, would be the question of does the credit they want fit what the bank is comfortable in doing. So is it, for example, a real estate loan we're comfortable with.

And then maybe other client-specific factors driven by their financial condition or reputational matters or other matters that might gather the specific terms of the transaction.
Q You mentioned that one example of a loan that might be a real estate loan. Would those loans include, for example, collateral, those things might be apart of the assessment obtained?
A Yes, many of our loans have collateral.

Q And how would that affect the credit analysis that your team is performing at a high level?
A So we would -- part of the analysis would include an analysis of the collateral. So what's it worth today? And do we like it in the sense of is it good collateral that will sustain its value in the future.
Q And what would constitute good collateral that would sustain its value in the future?
A I mean, there were a number of different types of collateral a bank frequently took; commercial real estate, residential real estate, fine art, marketable securities, airplanes.
Q And how would you assess the -- what's good collateral versus some other kind of collateral?
A Well, in general terms -- in general terms, the point of collateral is to have a legal entitlement over an asset that if the loan defaults the bank can obtain title to that asset and effectively sell it one way or another. So that really drives what's good collateral and that is is there a market for that asset? Can it be sold? Are there any legal impediments? Can we deal with those and what's likely to happen to the value of the asset between the day when we make the loan and at some point in the future when we might need to take that asset and sell it.
Q And so how easy it is to take that asset and sell it is
. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)
Page 986
what would make one piece of collateral superior to another one is that the --

A That's part of --
MR. ROBERT: Objection. Leading.
THE COURT: Sustained. Stricken.
Q So how would the factors you were discussing affect your view as to whether or not collateral is good?
A So first of all, I think I mentioned whether we could sell the collateral so that do -- you know, is there a deep market for that type of collateral? Do many people buy it or is it a specialist type of collateral, which only a few people would buy and it might have a much thinner market.

Secondly is a question of the volatility of the value of that collateral. Some types of collateral go up and down in value more than others and that would be a -- of importance to us.

Q So going back to your time in your credit risk at Deutsche Bank could you walk us through what the process was for how a client would obtain a loan through the private wealth management group?

A Sure. So the client would have a marketing officer called a relationship manager within the private wealth management business. They would interface with the client. Within the private wealth management business there was also a group of product specialists that we called lending officers and their focus was on loans. So when a client wanted a loan, a relationship manager would interface would speak with the lending officer about what kind of loan the bank normally does and when they realize it was business to be done that there was a loan a bank would do, the lending officer was comfortable, it would fit into their portfolio of assets, they would document the proposed terms of the loan in a credit memorandum and that would come to my team for final approval. There may have been a bit of an iterative process prior to that where the lending officer spoke with members of my team about specific aspects of the transaction so that they would want to know that we at risk management were comfortable with those specific issues. But the memo would be prepared, it would come to my team for approval and then if we'd signed off on it, the loan would then move to be documented and finally being booked by the bank.

Whereupon, the transcript continues on the next page....

Q You mentioned that lending officers would make the decision as to whether the loan fitted with their portfolio aspects. What is entailed in that analysis? What are they looking at when they're making a loan?
A Well, a lending -- I mean, the lending group is part of a business line that they're there to make money. They have a whole a number of products that they typically -- typically that's sold, if you like; loans, let's say for example, commercial real estate loans or residential real estate loans. So they had a number of products that they would typically sell and they wanted to make sure that they were taking the right risk profile for that business because they would carry any losses and they wanted to make sure that they were appropriately profitable because their business line was charged for the capital that they were using.

Q And a loss would be that if a loan doesn't pay, the loss would be on their books?

A Yes. MR. ROBERT: Objection. THE COURT: Sustained.
Q So whose books would the loss go on?
A So the profit and the loss account belonged to the business line. In this case, private wealth management.

Q So in the process, you were describing your group, the credit risk group, would be the last one to sign off on the \section*{proposal; is that correct?}

A Yes.
Q Did credit risk management need to sign off on the final loan terms before a loan could be originated?
MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Sustained.
Q Did you have --
THE COURT: Let me just mention this whole objection/sustained. You can't ask leading questions, "leading," questions that suggest an answer. There is an exception for introductory material, but now we are getting into the weeds. You can basically ask him how does it all work or how does this particular thing work or that particular thing. You can't put words in his moth and then say is that the way it works.
Q So what did your group need to do before a loan could be originated?

A So my group needed to sign off on the credit memorandum that I mentioned earlier. So we needed to be comfortable with the terms that were contained in the credit memorandum, so we were willing to sign off and approve it. And without our approval, the loan operations area would not book any loan and typically the credit memorandum would be sent to our legal counsel, external legal counsel who were documenting any loan. Q And who within the credit risk group would do that, provide authorization?

A There are a number of credit officers in my group and each one had different levels of credit authority delegated to it by the bank's chief risk officer. It was a process of delegating credit authority. There were limits on that credit authority that reflected the size of the loan and the risk rating of the counterparty.
\(Q\) And so did you have credit authority?
A I did.
Q And what was the level of your credit authority?
A Well, it varied depending on how risky the client was, so for the least risky client, I seem to remember it was 500 million euro, but that fell rapidly when you -- when we got down to clients who were non-investment grade and I think the low investment grade was more like 15 million euro. I don't remember precisely.

Q Mr. Haigh we're going to hand you a document that has been marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 293.

Mr. Haigh, would you just take a moment to familiarize yourself with this exhibit.
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is it?
A This is a credit memorandum for the transaction covering golf course resort hotel in Miami.
Q And if we just look at the top corner here under beneficial owner, it says Donald J. Trump. Do you recognize him as the -- what is his role in that transaction?

A So he is the beneficial owner of the legal vehicle that owned golf course, so resort. And he was also a guarantor, a personal guarantor on the transaction.

MR. WALLACE: If we could just turn quickly to page five.
Q Do you recognize your signature on the far right-hand page here?

A Yes, that's my signature.
Q What is indicated by your signature there?
A My approval of the transaction terms contained in the memorandum.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we'd ask that this document be entered into evidence.

MR. ROBERT:
THE COURT: Overruled. I will consider it a standing objection. Overruled. Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 293.)
Q Is there any significance to your signature being on the far right?
N. HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. WALLACE)

Page 992
1 A I think the convention of Deutsche Bank was to arrange the business on the left, credit officers on the right, and then I think in the States, we went from left to right in terms of seniority, but that wasn't written down anywhere that it had to be done that way.

Q So you were the most senior credit officer signing this document?

A That's correct.
Q And does that mean you are the credit officer approving this document?

A Well, Sean Harrigan is the other risk management officer and we together were able to approve the document.

Q If we go back to the first page, I just would like to walk through some of the top. Can we see it says PWM regional and there is a checkmark there. What's indicated by that notation?
A I think it means that it needed to be approved the PWM regional level wherein the United States.

Q And that was -- is that the region you were working in?

A Yes, I was in the United States. Yes.
Q Down below, there is a checkbox next to new request. What's indicated by that?
A A new credit request. We didn't already have a credit for this -- for this borrower.

Q And is that based on the borrower or the loan that's being paid?

\section*{A You know,}
 10 acceptable to the lender end bracket]." What does that indicate?

A So it stood for "to be decided." Then in parenthesis, special purpose vehicle acceptable to the lender.
Q Is there a reason there is not a specific borrower designated yet?
A I think the reason would be that either we did not know 17 the specific legal name of the legal vehicle that it would be or 18 maybe that vehicle still needed to be set up and yet didn't exist.

A Yes, we did.
23 Q If we go back to the box that has Donald Trump as the 24 beneficial owner at the top, there is a line or two below, it 25 says, "REL manager. It states, "Vrablic/Scalzi." What is indicated by this line?
N. HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. WALLACE)

Page 994
A It stands for relationship manager and the chief relationship manager for this relationship was Rosemary Vrablic and her partner is Dominick Scalzi.

Q And I think you described it at a general level, but what role did they play in this transaction?

A They were responsible for handling communications with the client, providing services to the client of all the services that the bank offered.

Q If we go two lines below, which states AC manager, the name Sullivan after it, what's indicated on this line?
A I think it stands for account manager. Tom Sullivan was the lending -- the senior lending officer from the business line on this relationship.
Q And you described it at a high level. What role did Mr. Sullivan play in this transaction?
A So his group was responsible -- it was their credit portfolio. He was responsible for making sure that they made loans on terms that they were comfortable with.

Q And you had mentioned, I think, that it went on -- the profit and loss went on someone's balance sheet.

Is Mr. Sullivan then the person that had the profit and loss on his balance sheet?

A He wasn't the head of that group, but he was part of that group.

MR. ROBERT: Objection. Objection to leading, your Honor.

THE COURT: Can you rephrase the question, so it is not leading.

MR. WALLACE: Sure, your Honor.
Q Was there anything significant -- I'll just withdraw the question.

The next line states "supporting" and lists the name
Stafford. What role -- what is that identifying? Or actually, can I just clarify on the document? Is it supporting lenders and there are two names? Is that how this should be read?

A That's right.
Q So the line states "supporting lenders." It says
Stafford/Schroeder. What's indicated by that line?
A Those two officers worked for Tom Sullivan and they were part of the lending group. They were lending officers within the bank.

MR. WALLACE: If we could scroll down on this document a little bit.
Q The box here states collateral. The first paragraph reads, "A first mortgage lien and a first priority security interest in the Doral Golf Resort and Spa located in Miami, Florida, (the resort), including the borrower's fee, simple estate, all personal property, leases, rents, revenue, operating accounts, reserves and all other related assets."

\section*{N. HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. WALLACE)}

Page 996
What's being indicated in this section here?
A So it's right at the start of this credit memo. It is giving us an idea of the collateral that will be provided for the loan.
Q If we look at the next paragraph in the middle, there is a sentence that begins, "Based on the \($ 150\) million cost, our initial LTV will be 83.3 percent. However, borrowing under the facility will be equal to the lesser of; \(i, 125\) million; and \(i i\), up to 85 percent of the appraised value subject to the satisfactory review of DB's Valuation Services Group. I'll stop right there. Just ask you to identify what's meant by a few words. What's LTV?

A LTV means loan to value.
Q So I think loan is the value of what?
A The \($ 150\) million. So 83.3 percent, our loan would be a loan up to \($ 125\) million would be 83.3 percent of \($ 150\) million.

Q And where it says "the facility," what is that referring to?
A The credit facility.
Q And so ii states that it is subject to the appraised value -- actually, let me rephrase that. Up to 85 percent of the appraised value subject to the satisfactory review of DB's Valuation Group Services. Why is there a requirement to obtain an appraised value?
A This is a loan collateralized with commercial real estate, so there is a requirement from the bank to get an appraisal -- an independent appraisal on behalf of the bank of the value of the collateral real estate.
Q So because the real estate is the collateral for this loan, the bank has an obligation to get an appraisal? Am I stating that correctly?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: We are getting to the point of the witness says something and the attorney is asking is that what you were meaning.

MR. ROBERT: He's trying to clarify it, so Mr. Wallace is testifying. This witness is certainly capable of answering questions.

THE COURT: Mr. Wallace, is there another way around this?

MR. WALLACE: I think it was an appropriate clarifying question. I did not suggest what the answer would be to the witness.

THE COURT: Well, you suggested what you think he was really trying to say, right or something that like a simplified version of that.
Q So why is the appraisal necessary? Could you, please, restate that?

A All loans secured on real estate require an independent appraisal commissioned by the bank.
N. HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. WALLACE)

Page 998
Q And are appraisals required on loans that are not secured by real estate?
A For loans that are not secured by real estate, appraisals are not required by regulation in all cases; but sometimes by bank policy, they are required.
Q Go to the bottom of this section, it states, that "the facility will also be supported by a full and unconditional guarantee provided by DJT of little one, principal and interest due under the facility; and two, operating shortfalls of the resort. It being understood that borrower shall be permitted to utilize all revenues from the resort to operate the resort to reduce the amount of such shortfall."

First, who is DJT has referenced there?
A Donald Trump.
Q Can you explain for me what Mr. Trump is guaranteeing here?
A He's guaranteeing that he will repay our loan, all the monies due under the loan under Roman one; and under Roman two, he's also guaranteeing that if the resort is not -- is losing money, he will pay the cost of that shortfall.
Q If you look at the sentence just below, it states, "for collateral monitoring purposes, the facility is being underwritten as other secured." What does that mean?
A It's a categorization of a type of collateral that we 5 have.
\(1 \quad Q\) And what does it mean that it is other secured? 2 A So it means that it is secured in that we have collateral and the other box is because -- or the other descriptor is because the type of collateral didn't fit cleanly into the typical types of collateral that the bank took.
Q Mr. Haigh, when you say the bank, are you talking about your group or Deutsche Bank writ large?
A I'm talking about the private wealth management business.
Q Why isn't the Doral Golf Resort & Spa collateral that the bank typically took?
A Although the collateral was commercial real estate in the largest sense of those words, the specific use of the collateral as a golf resort and spa is a specialist use that was not a typical type of collateral that the wealth management group took for its loans.
Q And did that fact have any impact on how you analyzed this potential credit?
A Yes, it's relevant to how -- to the analysis of the credit.
Q And how would it be relevant?
A It's relevant because it affects the ability of the bank in extremis to sell the collateral. A golf course, golf resorts are relatively uncommon compared to other types of commercial real estate and the number of buyers for those resorts is more limited, and so it would most likely be harder for the bank to sell should it have to foreclose on the collateral.

\section*{N. HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. WALLACE)}

Q You mentioned earlier, you said something about the bank acting in extremis. What did you mean by that?
A I meant by -- in extremis, I meant should the bank face a default where it had to try and foreclose or in some other way take ownership of collateral.

MR. WALLACE: We can take down this segment, but if we could flip to the third page.
Q There is a box up top that states, "repayment sources, key risks and mitigants." It lists a primary source of repayment, a secondary source of repayment and a tertiary source of repayment.

I would like to direct your attention to this section, tertiary source of repayment. It says, "full and unconditional guarantee of DJT which eliminates any shortfall associated with operating and liquidating collateral."

What does it mean that the guarantee was a tertiary source of repayment?
A So when a bank is making a loan or Deutsche Bank is going to make a loan, it wanted to identify the likely ways it was going to get repaid and the third one, the tertiary one in this case, was a way of the bank getting repaid that they are not relying on the collateral itself as the source of that repayment.

A No.
Q Is the fact that a tertiary source of repayment, does that mean it is less important than the other source of repayment that's listed?
A No, it is not less important.
Q If we look down at the next box, it states, "recommendation" and it reads, "The facility is being recommended for approval based on financial strength of the guarantor. The financial profile of the guarantor includes on an adjusted basis, 135 million in unencumbered liquidity, 2.4 billion in net worth and approximately 48 million in adjusted recurring net cash flow."

Is there any significance to this being a first basis for approval in this segment?
A I think that indicates that it is significant -- those are significant facts in the analysis of the risk.
Q The next item listed, it states, "Nature of the guarantee. The nature of the guarantee which includes both principal and interest along with operating expenses of the resort."

What was it about the nature of the guarantee that made it a basis for recommending the loan?

Page 1002
A The guarantee ensured that we had a legal obligation from an individual with the financial wherewithal to repay us if necessary.

Q If you could turn to page five of this document and go to the section entitled, "financial analysis." It's below your signature. At a high level, can you tell me what is reflected in this segment of the report?
A So this section of the report is a summary of the client's financial profile. It is broken down on this table by the kind of assets, the kind of liabilities that they have, and it's got some key ratios from our risk management around cash flow, leverage, liquidity.
\(1 \quad\) Q So where are those key ratios reflected on here just so I'm looking in the right place?

A Towards the bottom of the table, the bottom four rows and the heading immediately above it.

Q So it's the -- on this section, "key ratios on secured lending guidelines?"

A That's correct.
Q And why are those key ratios for the bank?
A Those are key ratios because they are ratios that we commonly use to measure and compare one client financial profiling against another and our documents and the lending guidelines would refer to those key ratios and then assessment of whether or not a client met or -- met somewhat all of those key ratios.

Q Go back to the top of this section. It states:
"Guarantor's function summary. Although facility is being extended to an SPV for the purposes of financing the purchase of the resort, the credit exposure is being recommended primarily based on the financial profile of the guarantor."

Why is the financial profile of the guarantor the primary basis for recommending this loan?
A The wealth management business at Deutsche Bank would not make loans secured just on collateral without a strong financial guarantee or personal guarantee from a financially strong person. Given that this was unusual collateral as a golf
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1004
resort and spa, we would not really want to have to foreclose on that collateral and so we would most likely first look to the guarantor to remedy any default -- payment default on the loan.

THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
MR. WALLACE: Thank you, Your Honor.
Q If we look at the next part of that paragraph it states: "As part of this underwriting we have met with several members of the family office to conduct due diligence on the client reported financial information as prepared by WeiserMazars, an independent public accounting firm."

I'll pause there just for a moment to say what is the family office that's being referred to here?

A I don't know specifically. I think it's referring to people that work for Mr. Trump in handling his personal -personal matters.

Q Do you know who -- it says that "we have met with the office and conducted underwriting." Who is the "we" that have been doing the due diligence?

A So this memo was prepared by lending officers. I imagine in this case it would have been Tom Sullivan and Kirk Stafford and Emily Schroeder who are the lending officers on this transaction. I'm not sure whether all of them met with the family office or whether it was just some of those people.
Q And are you familiar with what due diligence they did that's being described in this memo?

A Not in detail.
Q We'll look at the next sentence. It states:
"Based on results of this due diligence, we have made certain assumptions that have resulted in adjustments to reported values."

What is the nature of the adjustments that they are making to the reported values?

A So the DB adjusted numbers on the right hand column of that table and they are marking down asset values, not liabilities but asset values in various different asset categories.
Q And do you have an understanding what the basis was for marking down those asset values?

A So the reason for marking down the asset values is that the bank wants to be comfortable that in a -- in a stressed scenario with a client the individual is under financial pressure, asset values have fallen, the bank wants to know that it can still have a strong guarantor as its potential source of employment. Specifically how they did it in each specific case, I think I'd have to read further into the credit memo to determine.

Q If we look at the last sentence in this first paragraph, it states:
"Details on such adjustments are included in the analysis that follows. Additional details are included in the guarantor's financial statements which is attached at exhibits" -- I think that's Roman Numeral II.

5 A Yes, I did.
Q Mr. Haigh, you've been handed a document that has been designated Plaintiff's Exhibit 330. I will just note that at the bottom it has a Deutsche Bank production number, DB-NYAG 011946 . Do you recognize this document?

\section*{A Yes.}

Q And what is it?
A
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I would ask that this be entered into evidence.

MR. ROBERT
THE COURT: Overruled. Granted. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, the item previously referred to is received and marked Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 330 in evidence.)
Q Mr. Haigh, is this the document you would have reviewed in connection with the credit report we were just looking at?

A Yes.
Q Do you recall what you were looking for when you reviewed this report?

\section*{term "estimated current values?"}

A My understanding of that term would be that it is estimated in the sense of they don't necessarily have appraisals or market evidence for the value of all of those assets, but it's estimating what they're worth as of the date of the financial statement, June 30, 2011.

Q Just to look at the next paragraph below. It states:
"Such valuation methods include but are not limited to the use of appraisals, capitalization of anticipated earnings, recent sales and offers, and estimates of current values as determined by Mr. Trump in conjunction with his associates and in some instances, outside professionals."

I just want to direct your attention to the list where it states "use of appraisals, capitalization of anticipated earnings, recent sales and offers and estimates of current values as determined by Mr. Trump."

Are you familiar with those valuation techniques for the assets that are listed on Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?

A So getting appraisals by independent appraisals is a common valuation appraisal method. Capitalizing anticipated earnings is offered on a lot of the methods that goes into developing an appraisal. It has also comparisons with recent sales and potentially offers for assets.

The piece about the estimates of current values as determined by Mr. Trump, to some extent I'm familiar with in the sense that whenever a statement is made that is not prepared by auditors it contains estimates of value, they're informed by the management typically and so that's not uncommon to see something of that sort in a cover letter.

THE COURT: All right. Let's take a 15 -minute break in ten minutes - no, it's the opposite. We're taking a ten-minute break in 15 minutes. See you all at a quarter of.
(Whereupon, there is a recess in the proceedings.)
THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Part 37 is back in session. Be seated and come to order.

THE COURT: Notice it always feels like it's only ten minutes, but it really was 15 minutes.

THE COURT OFFICER: Witness entering.
(Whereupon, the witness enters the courtroom and approaches the witness stand.)

THE COURT: Let's continue.

\section*{CONTINUED DIRECT EXAMINATION}

\section*{BY MR. WALLACE:}

Q Mr. Haigh, when we broke we were talking about your review of Donald J. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition. I just want to know when you reviewed that statement did you make any assumptions as to the accuracy of the representations it contained?

A I assumed that the representations of value of the assets and liabilities were broadly accurate.

MR. WALLACE: If we could go back to Plaintiff's Exhibit 293. If we could go back to page six again.
\(Q\) If we zoom at the top, this is the continuation of the financial analysis. I just want to highlight for you this segment, which says: "Real estate net equity."
"The following table summarizes the guarantor's total real estate portfolio as of \(6 / 31 / 11\), which reflects the guarantor's four fully owned trophy properties, the portfolio of ten wholly-owned club facilities, other major property interests, and properties currently under development."

I'll just pause there. I assume \(6 / 31\) is a typographical error. June didn't have 31 days in \(2011 ?\)

A I think if my memory serves me correctly --
THE COURT: I'll take judicial notice that June has 30 days, not 31 .
Q Do you have an understanding of -- well, first of all, what is meant by the term "trophy properties?"

A That was a phrase that was used within private wealth management lending group and credit risk management to identify four significantly sized assets that we believed we could get a better understanding by ourselves of their potential market value.
Q So the term "trophy properties" is specific to this

\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}

\hline
\end{tabular}
\(1 \quad Q\) Look at the next line, the post renovation period. I think the explanation of that is implied by your description of what the renovation period was.

What was the post renovation period?
A So post renovation period is that period after the renovations have been completed or largely completed. At which point, the bank anticipates that the income from the real estate would be higher than previously.

Q So why is there a difference between the renovation period rate and the post renovation period rate?

MR. WALLACE: If we can just back out of this for a moment and just look at the whole page.
Q This section is headed "facility details." Is there an interaction between each of those terms and your decision on whether or not to approve this loan?

MR. KISE: Objection, interaction.
THE COURT: As to the wording interaction?
MR. KISE: I'm not sure I even understand the question.

MR. WALLACE: The question is whether the witness understands.

THE COURT: Right. I was going to say.
I am going to ask the witness do you understand the question enough to answer it or no?

Page 1020
THE WITNESS: I believe so.
THE COURT: Okay. Overruled.
A So the contractual terms of the loan in the broadest sense that are captured on this page, they are part of the risk profile of that loan facility, and so they are part of -- those are the items that I am approving with my approval, so it is important to understand what those terms are.

THE COURT: Did that answer the question?
MR. WALLACE: I was going to try and rephrase it a little.

MR. KISE: I'm not sure it did.
THE COURT: You deem that withdrawn, stricken and try again?

MR. WALLACE: Maybe I'll use it later. Can we keep it on the record? I'm happy -- we can withdraw it. I will rephrase the question. I would be happy for it to be withdrawn.

THE COURT: Then the answer is stricken.
Q Does the existence of the guarantee have any impact on the interest rate in these terms?
A Yes, it does.
Q And what is the nature of the impact of the guarantee on the interest rate terms?

A So there is a given that there will be a guarantee in the first place because wealth management did not do business without personal guarantees. In addition, the strength under which that guarantee will be reflected in the pricing of the loan, the spread to the bank in other words. Also, in the terms of the loan including its size.

Q When you said spread and pricing, that's the 2.5 percent over -- we were talking about 2.25 ?

A The spread is at 2.25 percent number.
MR. WALLACE: If we could just turn to page 11 of this document.
Q If we take a look at the box at the top of the page, it is entitled "covenants." Were these covenants relevant to your decision to approve the loan?
A Yes.
Q What is the significance of the covenants to your decision to approve the loan?
A Loan covenants inside the loan documentation provide protection to the bank against deterioration in either the real estate itself or in the guarantor's financial position.
Q If we look at the top under the heading "guarantor," it states -- there's two for guarantor. First one states, "business financial statement, guarantor to provide a financial statement annually dated within 90 days of \(12 / 31\)." The next segment for guarantor states "personal financial statement."

I just want to understand, is there a difference

HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. SOLOMON)
between a business financial statement and a personal financial statement listed here?

A I think in this case, the business financial statement was an illusion to the financial statements of the legal entity that would be on the loan and the personal financial statement is Donald Trump's entire personal financial statement.

Q Looking at the second bullet, then it states, "guarantor, personal financial statement. Guarantor to provide a financial statement annually dated within 90 days of \(12 / 31\)."

Why did the guarantor have to provide an annual financial statement?

A The bank wants to be sure that the client's financial strength is being maintained and also the bank wants to be able to test its covenants periodically.
Q So I'll just read into the record the next point below that. It says, "compliance certificate, guarantor to provide a compliance certificate annually dated within 90 days of \(12 / 31\) and lender will have right to confirm required liquidity through review of account statements at the offices of the guarantor."

Is that what you were referring to in being able to test?
A Yes, that's how the bank would test its covenants. That's how it would get the information to test its covenants, but to be clear, the compliance statement is a statement by the client that they are in compliance with all of those financial covenants. The bank would use the financial information that they provided to test itself to try and ensure that the client is in compliance with those covenants.
Q Okay. So the -- there's a requirement that the guarantor make a certification, but then there is a requirement to provide information that the bank can use to confirm the accuracy of the certification? Am I understanding that correctly?

A That is correct.
Q If we look down at the financial covenants, it states -- and this is during renovation period -- "required only until post renovation period begins. Liquidity, guarantor shall maintain unencumbered liquidity at all times (defined as unrestricted cash or marketable securities convertible to cash within five business days that is not pledged to support any obligation of at least 50 million with at least 20 million to be maintained with the lender.) This cash will not be pledged as collateral."

Why did the guarantor have to maintain unencumbered liquidity of \($ 50\) million during the renovation period?
A The liquidity covenant would be the loan documents was intended to ensure that the client always had sufficient cash on hand to meet the obligations under this loan in terms of ongoing interest or potential pay-downs or partial pay-downs of the loan principal.

\section*{AIGH - DIRECT (MR. SOLOMON)}

Q If you look two lists down, it states, "net worth guarantor shall maintain a minimum net worth of 2.5 billion excluding any value related to the guarantor's brand value (as such minimum net worth is reflected in guarantor's Statement of Financial Condition prepared by guarantor in substantially the form prepared by guarantor as of the date of this term sheet, a copy of which will be delivered to lender.)"

So why is the bank requiring the guarantor to maintain a minimum net worth of \($ 2.5\) billion?
A In order to ensure that the financial guarantor remained strong with enough wherewithal to repay our loan should we need to be repaid.

Q That net worth is to be used to determine by guarantor Statement of Financial Condition; is that correct?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Sustained.
Q How is that \($ 2.5\) million net worth to be established?
A The loan documents --
MR. KISE: Objection, foundation.
THE COURT: Excuse me?
MR. KISE: Objection, foundation. I don't know that this witness knows.

MR. WALLACE: At some point, he is reading the document. He said he prepared the document.

MR. KISE: He did not say he prepared the document.

Let's be clear.

18 Q Did you have to understand the terms that are being laid out in this credit report in order to undertake your responsibility to approve the loan?
A Yes, I needed to understand those terms.
Q Did you have any input in the decision to set a minimum net worth of \($ 2.5\) billion?

A Yes.
Q Why did you determine to set -- what was your role in \section*{HAIGH - DIRECT (MR. SOLOMON)}

helping to determine the \($ 2.5\) billion number?
A As part of a credit risk management team, the ultimate signer, I need to be comfortable with the terms of the loan including the covenants to protect the bank. That \($ 2.5\) billion minimum net worth was one of those covenants and it was set in order to make sure that the bank would be fully protected under adverse market conditions.
 of the credit exposure the bank is undertaking, and the other of which is the client's starting point, their initial net worth because the bank would want to set a covenant at a level that allowed for the client's assets to fall in value somewhat, but would still be triggered should that their assets fall substantially such that their financial risk profile would be changing.
Q Just to clarify, if we look under the next header, "post renovation period," it says, 'in lieu of renovation period covenants." The liquidity requirement is not -- does not appear in that section; is that correct?
A I don't -- I don't see on this page.
MR. WALLACE: Scroll down, so we can see the whole states, "events of default and cure periods". It states just at the top, "usual and customary for facilities of this size, type and purpose, including but not limited to A , payment default. B , breach of representation and warranties. C , violation of covenants."

What would a payment default consist of?
A A payment default would be a failure to make some payment due to the bank lender's loan documentation on time.

Q And what would a breach of representation or warranties consist of?
A It would be literally a breach of the representations of warranties that are made in the loan documents at the time they are signed.
Q And what would a violation of covenants consist of?
25 A It would be a failure with regard to those financial covenants to maintain the ratios or numbers that are set out in those covenants.

Q So does it only relate to the financial covenants?
A No, it would relate to any covenant. So a loan has many, many covenants not all financial and it would cover all the covenants of a loan.

Q What would happen on a loan in the event of a default?
A If there is a default on a loan, a default on a loan covenant, the -- so if there is a default on the loan covenant, there's been a breach of the - it is a contractual arrangement between the bank and the borrower. The bank has various remedies for that which it can pursue like waiving the breach, which it might do for an inconsequential breach; negotiating some variation of the terms of the loan, or potentially accelerating the loan and ask for repayment.

MR. WALLACE: I think we can put that document aside for now.
Q Mr. Haigh, you've been handed a document that has been marked as Plaintiff's Exhibit 291. Could you just take a moment to review this document.
(Witness reviewing document.)
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.

A It is a new loan asset for the bank.
Q And do you remember generally the terms of this loan or the -- let me -- may I withdraw that question, your Honor? THE COURT: Withdrawn.
Q Can you describe for us generally what is the nature of the loan that's reflected in this credit report?

A It's a credit facility secured on commercial real estate.

Q And at a high level, would the review or analysis that you and your team conducted be the same for this credit facility as the one we were just looking at?

A Yes, it would.
Q If we could turn to -- if you look at the bottom of this box, it states, 'the facilities will also be further supported by a full and unconditional guarantee provided by DJT of little I, principal and interest due under the facility. And two, operating shortfalls of the collateral property as defined herein."

Does this guarantee operate in the same manner as the guarantee that we saw on the earlier loan document, on the earlier report that you were testifying about?

A Yes.
MR. WALLACE: If we can go to page five of this \section*{document.}

2 Q If we go down to the section marked "recommendation," I 3 will first ask who is making the recommendation that's contained in this box?
A The lending officers that prepared the memo.
6 Q And who is the recommendation to?
7 A Credit risk management, my team.
Q If we look at the top of this segment, it states, "the facility is being recommended for approval based on quality of 10 the collateral and LTV. The property is in the form of a luxury
11 hotel and condominium building located in Chicago based on 12 recent as is values provided in appraisals as discussed herein 13 and performed for purposes of underlying needs of the 14 facilities. The residential component is valued at 113 million
15
16
17

Page 1032
regulation, the bank was required to obtain appraisals on real estate.
Q If we look at the next bullet point, it states,
"financial strength of the guarantor, the financial profile of the guarantor includes on an adjusted basis 146 million in unencumbered liquidity, 2.4 billion in net worth, and approximately 13 million in adjusted excess recurring net cash flow."

Why was the financial strength of the guarantor one of the grounds for recommending this loan?
A Because having a guarantee was a requirement for private wealth manager to do business and having a strong financial guarantor was a requirement for this transaction.
Q I guess does that have any implication for the third bullet point we are seeing here, the nature of the guarantee? Let me rephrase that question.

What was the relevance and nature of the guarantee to the recommendation to approve this loan?
A It reflects -- the nature of the guarantee reflects the 20 fact that we had a full guarantee with no limitations on that 21 guarantee.
22 Q If we could turn to page seven of this document. There 23 is a segment again that's headed "financial analysis, guarantor.
24 You see at the top, it states, "guarantors-financial statements.
25 Although facilities are secured by the collateral, given its

1 unique nature, the credit exposure is being recommended based on the financial profile of the guarantor."

Do you have an understanding what is meant by the unique nature of the collateral?

A So unique is probably a bit of a hyperbole because it is unusual for the private wealth management business to have hotels as collateral and it is unique for private wealth management business to have a condo inventory as collateral, unsold condo units.

Q If we look at the table, we see that there's financial summary segment. One row -- sorry. One column states, "DJT 6/30/2011 client reported. Next column states "DJT, 6/30/2011 DB adjusted." Next column states, "DJT 6/30/12 client reported." And the final column states, DJT 6/30/2012 DB adjusted."

First question, why are the years 2011 and 2012 both broken out in this chart?
A We had financial information of two years at least and the aim was to show or to identify whether there's any trend in changes between -- from one year to the other.
Q We see that both the 2011 and 2012 years, there are DJT adjusted numbers. Did the adjustment process that's reflected in this table operate in the same way as the adjustment process we saw on the prior exhibit?

A Yes, it did.

MR. WALLACE: If we could just scroll down to -- actually, page -- can you show side by side page eight of this exhibit and page six of PX 293. Just zoom in on the table, please.
Q So if we look at the two tables, it would appear that for 2011 and for 2012, the valuations and the analysis for three of the Niketown, 40 Wall, and Trump Park Avenue remain the same. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q But for Trump Towers, there's a change. Do you see that?
A Yes, I do see that.
Q And if we can just pull up exhibit -- we can drop it now for 291, please, and just go down to the section on Trump Tower. That's on page eight. So there's another line segment that states -- underlying section that states, "the loan is non-recourse." I'm going to focus on the sentence that's after that.
"The loan is non-recourse and matures in 2022." It says, "a recent appraisal performed in conjunction with the refinance valued the property at \(\mathbf{4 8 0}\) million resulting in a roughly 21 percent of LTV. Although, we did not adjust for the additional liquidity distributed to the guarantor, we are adjusting the property value to reflect the recent appraisal and new debt."
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}
\hline \begin{tabular}{l}
Page 1035 \\
Can I ask so why did Deutsche Bank incorporate this new appraisal into its analysis? \\
A \(\square\) \\ felt that it had an independent view on the value of that asset. \\
Q \(\qquad\) \\
A Correct. \\
Q Mr. Haigh, you've been handed a document that's been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 470. Can you take a moment to familiarize yourself with this document. \\
A Okay. \\
Q Do you recognize this document? \\
A Yes. \\
Q And what is it? \\
A It's a memo prepared by my colleague Sean Harrigan, amended by me, addressed to my boss, Thomas Eggenschweiler. (Continued on the next page.)
\end{tabular} & \begin{tabular}{l}
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace) \\ their -- decided their credits. \\
Q The first sentence in this segment states: \\
"CIB terms for the condos" and continues -- before we \\ go there, I would just ask what is CIB? \\
A Stands for commercial and investment bank. They had a \\ commercial real estate lending group that would make loans on commercial real estate. \\
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning. \\
Q And that is separate and apart from your private wealth management group? \\
A That is a different business line and a different profit and loss line. \\
Q Memo states: \\
"CIB terms for the condos for the lesser of 75 MIO or \\ 55 percent LTV; two year (one year extension option required \\ amortization and reserve account on a nonrecourse basis at \(L\) \\ plus 800 BP CIB as indicated to PWM if they are comfortable with this LTV given (i) their long history with the property and (ii) the momentum in condo sales that has been demonstrated for the last two years." \\
Just ask you to define some of the terms that are contained in there. What is L plus 800 BP ? \\
A Stands for LIBOR plus 800 basis points and there are 100 basis points and one percent, so that means LIBOR plus eight \\ 25 percent.
\end{tabular} \\
\hline \begin{tabular}{l}
```

N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)
Q And just to clarify for the record, the memos andNone

```
\end{tabular} & \begin{tabular}{l}
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace) \\
Q And why are you discussing the CIB terms? \\
A Two business divisions at Deutsche Bank were making \\ proposals on the same potential loan and as -- we wanted to be \\ sure that they made sense with regard to each other so the bank didn't look foolish in front of the client with two completely different sets of term sheets that bore no relation to each other. \\
Q And why is nonrecourse basis involved here? \\
A The commercial and investment bank business covered real estate. It would not normally take full recourse to an individual. Their principal source of repayment would be the real estate itself and only the real estate, although there may be some small guarantees around certain behaviors and the pricing reflects that risk profile that they were taking on. \\
Q And if we look at the next paragraph, it states: \\
"PWM is proposing terms on a full recourse facility to \\ provide up to the same level of proceeds as CIB with the same two-year term for pricing in the range of L plus four percent. \\
19 The spread differential is based on a full guarantee of Donald \\ 20 Trump. See credits below." \\
21 So you said that the bank didn't want to look foolish in front of the client and was comparing terms? \\
A Correct. \\
Q And so this is the comparison that you're making between the two divisions of the bank?
\end{tabular} \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

A That's correct. The difference between a nonrecourse facility and a full recourse facility and their different pricing.
Q And by pricing that would be the difference between LIBOR plus 800 and LIBOR plus four percent?

A That's correct, the spread over LIBOR.
Q And so the difference between LIBOR plus eight percent and LIBOR plus five percent is based on full guarantee of Donald J. Trump?

A Yes.
Q I'm going to correct the record. I apparently read it incorrectly.

So the difference between LIBOR plus 800 basis points and LIBOR plus four percent is based on the full guarantee of Donald J. Trump. Is that what's reflected in this memo?

A That math is correct and that is the understanding of why there is a difference in price.

THE COURT: Several of us caught you on that one.
MR. WALLACE: I'm glad I have all of you here to be
--
Your Honor, I'm going to move on to a new year and a new loan. I don't know if you want to take our break now. THE COURT: Up to you. You have five minutes. MR. WALLACE: Sure. Why don't we at least introduce the document.
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1040
THE COURT: You know what, on second thought, let's all have a nice long lunch. See you at 2:15.

THE COURT OFFICER: Everyone remain seated. (Whereupon, there is a luncheon recess in the proceedings.)

\section*{AFTERNOON SESSION}

THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Part 37 is back in session. The Honorable Judge Arthur Engoron presiding. Please be seated and come to order.

THE COURT: Let's get the witness back.
THE COURT OFFICER: Witness entering.
(The witness enters the courtroom and approaches the witness stand.)

THE COURT: I'll remind the witness that he's still under oath as I remind all witnesses during lunch breaks. And let's proceed or continue.

\section*{CONTINUED DIRECT EXAMINATION}

\section*{BY MR. WALLACE:}

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Haigh. I just wanted to cover something I missed concerning Exhibit 293, it's the 2011 credit report. If we could go to page six and look at the bottom.

At the bottom here there is a segment that reads:
"Properties under Development."
It states: "Consists primarily of the property known as The Mansion at Seven Springs in Bedford, New York, which 1

A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is this?
A It's a credit report covering a new transaction and the renewal of the existing transactions and an increase on the third transaction all captured in one credit report for this group, this relationship.

MR. WALLACE: I'm sorry to interrupt you. If we can just turn quickly to the page 11 of this document.
Q I can show you on the screen, Mr. Haigh.
Is that your signature on the far right of the screen?
A Yes, it is.
Q And what is indicated by your signature on this document?

A My approval of the terms in the document.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, we would ask that this exhibit be moved into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Objection. Statute of limitations. THE COURT: Overruled. Granted. It's in evidence. (Whereupon, the item previously referred to is received and marked Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 293 in evidence.)
Q While we're here we have the signature of
\begin{tabular}{|l|l|}
\hline N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace) \\
1 & Mr. Eggenschweiler. Have I pronounced it correctly? \\
2 & Why is he signing this report? \\
3 & A \(\quad\) The combined exposure to the group was above my \\
4 & authority level given the rating of the facilities. \\
5 & \(\quad\) MR. WALLACE: Okay. If we can go back to the first \\
6 & page? \\
7 & Q There is a box towards the top entitled, "Reason for \\
8 & Presentation." Is this what you were referring to when you were \\ 9 & describing the purpose of this credit report? \\
10 & A Yes. \\
11 & Q So the first Item A states: "Annual review of Trump \\
12 & Endeavor 12 LLC loan facility." Says "request to change annual \\ 13 & review date to 4/30/15." \\
14 & What is encompassed in an annual review of the Trump \\
15 & Endeavor 12 LLC facility? \\
16 & A We do an annual review of every loan facility that we \\ 17 & have to see whether anything has changed. We refresh the \\ 18 & financial information, we look at the operating performance of \\ 19 & the collateral and there is a request here to change the date I \\
20 & think for administrative reasons to make it more convenient \\
21 & along with the other facilities that existed for this group. \\
22 & Q And so I think you referred to the -- what's being \\ 23 & reviewed as part of the annual review? \\
24 & A We're reviewing the credit exposure that we have, so \\
25 & has it performed in accordance with the terms of its \\
\hline
\end{tabular}
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1044
documentation.
Q And what information are you using to make that review?
A We're using updated financial information on the guarantor, we're using updated financial information provided by the borrower, the owner of the collateral as to performance of their business.

Q The next Item B states: "Increase in annual review of 401 North Wabash Ventura LLC loan facility request to increase Tranche B facility by 54 million to a maximum of 73 million with a new maturity date of ten years from closing of the extension" and also a request to change the annual review date.

What are you looking at when you're looking at an increase and an annual review for the 401 North Wabash Venture loan facility?

A So this is an increased loan exposure which requires us to re-underwrite all of the factors that went into the original credit, both the lateral and the guarantor, locate all of those factors to see that it supports a new role that's gone up to \($ 73\) million.

Q And does the analysis you would conduct for an extension the same as the analysis we discussed for the prior two credit reports that we looked at?
A Yes.
Q If we look at Item C it states: "Approval of a new \(25 $ 170\) million first mortgage facility to the borrower Trump Old

Post Office LLC to be used for the development of the Old Post Office property in Washington, D.C."

Is this approval process the same as the approval process we saw on the earlier two statements of the Financial Condition?

A Yes, with the added caveat that we needed a higher level of approval authority within credit risk management to approve the transaction.
Q If we could look down below a little bit of the page. There is a box entitled -- it's this box on the left that says "currency" at the top. There is a series of boxes "new limit usage previous limit." The column on the left says "Loan A Tranche A, new limit, 106 million."

Below that, "Loan A, Tranche B, 19 million."
"Loan B, 73 million."
"Loan C, 170 million."
"Loan C, swap threshold amount, 10.25."
"Related exposure, blank."
And then it says "total exposure, 378.25."
What is indicated in this portion of the chart?
A Those are the credit exposures that Deutsche Bank was taking on each of those facilities.
Q And Loan C, does that conform to Item \(C\) that we were looking at, the new loan for the Trump Old Post Office building?

A I believe so, yes.

Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)
Page 1046
Q So the total exposure is listed at 378 . I'm going to assume that's million?
A Correct.
Q Is that the credit limit that required
Mr. Eggenschweiler to also sign off on the credit report?
A Yes, Eggenschweiler.
Q And why does he need to sign off at that document level?

A Because my credit authority was governed by the size of the overall relationship and also by the rating of the weakest facility in that overall relationship which in this case was a triple \(B\) rating which is in the section just above where you're looking at on the screen.
Q So if we could scroll down a little bit.
A Yes, there you go. Says "FPD, dBBB" at the top.
Q I'm just going to point to it. Is this the segment you were talking about?
A That is the correct segment, yes.
Q So I'll just -- this is the segment under the heading "risk rating current." It states: "Loan A, Tranche A, CPD, IA, FPD." And then it says "dBBB." That's the rating we're talking about?

A That's correct.
Q Do you recall the purpose of this new facility?
A Yes.

Page 1047
Q And what was that purpose?
A It was to provide financing for a substantial renovation of this Old Post Office building, which was going to be converted into a hotel.
Q If we could turn to page nine of this document and pull up the box that says "guaranty."

I'll just state this for the record. It states:
"Guarantee. Donald J. Trump, will provide a full and unconditional guarantee of (i), principal and interest due under the facility; (ii), swap brokerage costs; three, operating shortfalls of the property until the end of the shortfall coverage period; and four, a completion guarantee, guaranteeing the lien-free completion of the project acceptable to the lender as evidenced, by among other things, one or more temporary or final certificates of occupancy or their equivalent, architect, certificate and appropriate lien waivers, each responsibly acceptable to the lender."

So similar to the loans we looked at before this loan is also supported by a guarantee by Mr. Trump; is that correct?
A That is correct.
Q And did this guarantee operate similar to the guarantees we were looking at earlier for Doral and for the Chicago property?
A Yes, it does.
Q If we look at the box that was just below that it
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

states: "Guarantor covenants. During the redevelopment period the guarantor shall maintain unencumbered liquidity at all times of at least \($ 50\) million with at least 20 million to be maintained with the lender."

Why did the guarantor have to maintain unencumbered liquidity of \($ 50\) million?

A The bank wanted to know -- to be covenanted to have that protection that the client would always have a substantial amount of cash on hand, that he could use to either meet the obligations under the bank's loan or potentially pay down the loan.

Q And how would that liquidity be demonstrated?
A Well, the 20 million that was to be held with the bank would be clearly visible to the bank at all times because we would have access to seeing that in the bank systems. The balance will be demonstrated through proving brokerage accounts or bank account statements that showed where that cash or those securities were held.

Q Anything else that can be used to demonstrate the liquidity?

A No, from recollection it was cash and securities that are convertible to cash within five days.

Q If we look down below it states:
"At all times during the term of the facility, guarantor shall maintain a minimum net worth of 2.5 billion
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1049
excluding the value related to guarantor's brand value."
Why was the guarantor required to maintain a minimum net worth of 2.5 billion?

A The bank wanted to be sure that in an adverse market scenario the client would always have enough financial resources to be able to pay off our loan.
\(Q\) Q

Q And just to confirm, the guarantor here is Donald J. Trump?

A Yes.
MR. WALLACE: If we could turn to page 14.
Q If you look at the top again. It states -- there is a header at the top.

And just to confirm, DJT, who is that referring to?
A Donald Trump.
Q And what is indicated by \(6 / 30\) FYE?
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1050
A So the financial yearend, FYE, is June 30th.
2 Q And go back to the first page. I'll represent to you 3 the date of this credit report is May 2, 2014. Would that explain why this note was included?

A This memo is 11 months after the last financial yearend for which we already had financial statements.
 9 unique nature of the credit apart from anything we've discussed?

Q If we look down at the next section it states:
"Guarantor's financial summary."
"Although all three facilities are secured by collateral given the unique nature of these credits, the credit exposure is being recommended based upon the financial profile of the guarantor."

I asked a similar question before, but what was the normally do loans that involved substantial reconstruction on its collateral.
Q This section continues: "As part of this underwriting we have met with several members of the family's office to update our due diligence on client reported financial information as prepared by WeiserMazars, an independent public accounting firm with the due diligence process described here having been conducted in the same manner as the due diligence for the earlier reports that we reviewed."
A Yes.
Q States: "Next based on the results of this due diligence we have made certain assumptions that have resulted in adjustments to reported values. Details on such adjustments are included in the analysis that follows."

What you see there is a table similar to what we've seen in the similar reports. Did the adjustment process operate in the same way for this credit report as it did on the earlier credit reports that we were looking at?
A Yes.
Q The last sentence states: "Additional details are included in the guarantor's financial statements, which are attached as Exhibit 5."

Do you recall if you reviewed the financial statements in connection with this extension of credit?
A I can't recall whether I reviewed them on this specific
N. Haigh - Petitioner - direct (Wallace)

Page 1052
extension of credit. I will be surprised if I hadn't, but I can't physically remember or accurately remember picking the pieces of paper and looking at them.
Q Okay. Again, we see that the financial summary table refers to DJT, 6/30/2011; DJT, 6/30/2012. Both say "client reported."

Next column states: "DJT, \(6 / 30 / 120\) to be adjusted."
Next column: "6/30/2013, client reported."
Final column: "DJT, 6/30/2013 DB adjusted."
Why is the bank looking as numbers for each of these years, 2011 through 2013?
A It's trying to identify any trends in the change of values reported.

Q And what was looking for trends and change of value have -- how would that have been used by the bank in its review of this credit?
A It's a fairly standard banking process to look at history of financial performance over the previous few years and it's used to identify what's changing and then try and figure out why.
Q And so that would influence your assessment of whether or not to approve this credit -- this credit extension?
A Yes.
Q If we can just flip back to page two of this document and focus on this table at the bottom the header for this is compliance for that covenant or whether we wanted to waive it or amend the documentation or potentially default the transaction.

Q So by signing off on this credit report does this reflect the determination by you that each of the loan covenants had been met?

A So this report is prepared by the lending group. I personally had not checked that those loan covenants had all been met. I was relying on their statement here that we were in compliance and I was then - my approval was conditioned on that fact being correct and accurate.

Q Understood.
Mr. Haigh, you've been hand a document that's been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 298. Just take a moment to look through this document.

A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is it?
A It's an annual review credit memoranda.
Transcript continues on the following page....

1 Q If we look at the top, it says the date is July 20, 2015; is that right?

A Correct.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I would ask that this document be entered into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: Objection. Statute of limitations.
THE COURT: Overruled. It's in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 298.)
Q If I could direct you to page seven of this document. We will pull it up on the screen.

Before the language lessons, we were looking at this section of the 2015 credit report. Do you recognize the signature on the right-hand side of the screen?

A Yes, that's my signature.
Q And what is indicated by your signature?
A Approval of this annual credit review.
Q If you can take a look up I think at the top page one. At the top, it says, "purpose of presentation A, annual review of Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C. loan review; annual review of 401
North Wabash Venture, L.L.C. and C, annual review of Trump Old Post Office.

Do I understand this credit report is covering annual review for all three loans?

A Yes.
N. HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)

Page 1056

Q Would the annual review process for this year 2015 and for these three properties operate the same as the annual review process we discussed previously?
A Yes.
Q If you can go down to page two. Again, there is a segment marked covenants and checkbox is showing whether or not they are in compliance. What role did this information play in annual review of the three loan facilities?
A It documented the client's status with regard to those covenants.

Q And do you know what the source of information would be for the information contained in this chart?
A It would be the latest information provided by the client. It would be reviewed for compliance with the covenants.

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I apparently have neglected to ask that Exhibit 298 be moved into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. They are in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 298.)
Q If you can go down to page ten just briefly for a moment.

MR. ROBERT: I will keep my standing objection on that.

THE COURT: I was waiting for that.
MR. ROBERT: I knew you were.

Page 1057

1 Q If we look down at the bottom of page ten under the heading "liquidity," this section states,

From this information, do you have an understanding of what the source was for the information on Mr. Trump's liquidity?

A Yes.
Q And what was the source of this year for his liquidity information?
A Source would be combination of what was on his personal financial certificate or statement which would have been validated or verified to some extent by looking at the actual brokerage accounts or bank accounts showing that actual liquidity in existence.

Q Do you know if that verification actually happened in this year?
A So I did not do that myself. It was done by lending officers, so -- but if they say that they -- I rely on my lending officers to do their job and to tell me the truth.

Q But this doesn't -- this language doesn't refer to any

\section*{HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)}

Page 1058
additional due diligence performed by the lending officers who prepared the report?

MR. ROBERT: Objection.
THE COURT: Well, it is leading. Rephrase it. If it doesn't, not doesn't it.
Q Does -- is there any reference to lending officers actually checking the level of funds in this report?

A I don't see a specific reference to that. It was part of the private wealth management businesses standard operating process to validate liquidity.

MR. WALLACE: If we could move on to page ten, please.
Q Again, this section says guarantor's financial summary. Although all three facilities are secured by collateral, given the unique nature of these credits, the credit exposure is being recommended based on the financial profile of the guarantor.

What does that mean in the context of annual review that the credit exposure is being recommended based on the financial profile of the guarantor?
A It means that the guarantor continues to have a substantial financial strengths and that our loans are good quality loans based on that personal guaranty that we have from him.

And so does that necessitate any action by the bank or --

\section*{A No.}

2 Q Again, if we look at the top row, it says, "financial summary." You see reporting for 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, both client reported and adjusted.

Why is Deutsche Bank looking at Mr. Trump's financial condition from 2011 through 2014 in this report?

A Looking to see if there is any trend that is identifiable.
Q And this information about any trend that might be identifiable is something that the bank is using in its analysis of -- in the annual review process?
A Potentially if the bank identified a trend, if it was either worrying or improving, that would be a call-out in the write up.

Q Mr. Haigh, you've been handed a document that has been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 300. If you can just take a moment to familiarize yourself with this document.
(Witness reviewing document.)
A Yes, I see it.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is this document?
A It is another annual review this time for 2016.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I would ask that Exhibit 300 be moved into evidence.

\section*{N. HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)}

Page 1060

17 Q Who is Mr. Joseph?
18 A He was the chief credit officer of the U.S. entities of 19 Deutsche Bank.
20 Q And you're copied on this e-mail, but underneath it 21 says, Mr. Allegre writes: "Dear Joern, following up on our 22 conversation Tuesday, please find attached the annual review for 23 Mr. Trump, the credit report has been approved by Thomas 24 Eggenschweiler by e-mail (see attached) and me. In Nick's
25 absence, would you please review and provide local A-1 authority
THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 300.)
Q We'll walk through some of this in just a moment. If we could flip to page 9 of 27 . At the bottom, your signature is missing from this document.

Do you have a recollection of why you didn't sign this document?
A No specific recollection. It is possible I was on vacation at the time.
Q Okay. If you turn to page 13 and we look, there is an e-mail from Gaston Allegre to -- is it Joern Joseph?
A Yes, Joern Joseph.
Q Who is Mr. Allegre?
A Gaston Allegre was a credit officer that worked for me on my team.

1 approval".
2

A Yes. this chart?

Does this refresh your recollection as to why you didn't sign this particular credit report?
A Well, it appears that I was absent, so I guess -- again, I'm guessing vacation.
Q And obtaining approval from Mr. Joseph was another means of approving the credit report?

Q Just to confirm, this document was approved by Deutsche Bank in the credit report? Is that fair to say?
A I believe so. I believe there was an e-mail confirmation from Joern Joseph and Thomas Eggenschweiler that they supported the -- this document.
Q If we go to page two of this document, you see at the bottom of this page, again, there is another table reporting the nature of the loan covenants and compliance.

What was the basis for the information reflected in
A The information would have started with the client, would have come from the client and then would have been analyzed by the support group within private wealth management. Q If you could go down to page 15 . If we look again, it is a summary chart. I ask was the adjustment process, the haircut process in this year the same as the process we've described in the prior years?
N. HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)

Page 1062
A Yes.
Q If we look here, we see that this covers the year 2011 through 2015. Again, why is Deutsche Bank looking at the performance across all of those years?

A We're looking to see for trends in the change in value of assets or liabilities.
Q And was the change in trends relevant to the -- to your review of this credit report?
A Yes.
Q We can go back to page three. There is a heading "guarantee type." This section states, "Guarantee level analysis is based on a 32.7 LTV. The guarantor has requested to retain a 10 percent guarantee level although terms of the previously approved tranche A note allow for no personal guarantee if the LTV is below 35 percent. As outlined below, the guarantee level at or below 35 percent LTV was originally contemplated to be zero percent at which time pricing was scheduled to increase to L plus 2.00 percent retaining a 10 percent guarantee level clearly strengthens the credit."

Can you explain to us what is happening with the guarantee? What's happened with the guarantor's request to remain at ten percent guarantee level?

A This particular facility had a step-down feature under which as the loan to value of our loan gotten lower and lower, so in turn, the amount of our principal plus interest that was guaranteed stepped down. And the 35 percent loan to value, we were willing to allow there to be no personal guarantee whatsoever. But in fact, as a consequence of that, the pricing would have increased, the spread, the L plus 2.00 number. Instead, the client -- his people said to us we would prefer to keep it 10 percent and take advantage of the lower pricing that goes along with the 10 percent guarantee.

Q Thank you.
You've been handed a document that has been marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 3137. Can you take a moment to familiarize yourself with this?
(Witness reviewing document.)
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is this document?
A It is an annual review of all three credit facilities the bank had with Donald Trump.

Q And is that indicated by the box marked "reasons for presentation?"

A That together with the checked box at the top left which says "review."

MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I would ask that
Plaintiff's Exhibit 3137 be entered into evidence.
THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.

\section*{N. HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)}

Page 1064
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit 3137.)
Q If we could flip to page ten, at the bottom, do you recognize the signature on the right-hand side of the screen?
A Yes, that's my signature.
Q What is indicated by your signature?
A That I approved the annual review.
Q Can you explain what's meant as the notation I will read as "for DBTCA as regional head WM risk"?
A So I was signing -- I was being clear that I was signing on behalf of Deutsche Bank Trust Company Americas as the regional head of the wealth management risk group effectively meant that my signature was sufficient for that -- for the approval of this annual review.

Q If we could turn to page eight of this document, focus on the section that states "recommendation." It says, Doral facility; B, Chicago facility; C, OPO. Underneath that, it states, "all facilities financial strength of the guarantor, the financial profile of the guarantor includes a stated net worth of 5.7 billion which remains well above his \($ 2.5\) billion minimum requirement even on an adjusted basis. Guarantor maintains a strong liquidity position, \($ 114\) million in unencumbered liquidity. A decrease of \($ 60\) million from the prior year due to political campaign costs."

1

Q And once again, we see that there is information contained here about Donald J. Trump financial condition. I should say his financial summary from 2011 through 2016.

Why, again, is the bank looking at his financial profile from 2011 to 2016 ?
A Again, it is to enable trends to be identified.
Q And being able to identify trends was relevant to your analysis of the credit report?

A Yes.
Q And was that relevant to your ultimate approval of this credit report for this year?

A Yes.
Q Mr. Haigh, you've been handed a document that's been marked Plaintiffs Exhibit 302. Take a moment to look through the document.
(Witness reviewing document.)
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is this document?
A It's an annual review this time for July 2018 for three credit exposures we had with Donald Trump.
Q If we could turn to page ten of this. Do you recognize the signature on the far right-hand side of the screen?
A That's my signature.
\(1 \quad Q \quad\) What is indicated by your signature on this document?
2 A Approval of the annual review.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, I would ask that
Plaintiff's Exhibit 302 be entered into evidence.
THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as People's Exhibit 302.)
Q Mr. Haigh, was the process for this annual review the same as the prior annual reviews we have been discussing this afternoon?

A Yes.
Q If we could turn to page eight.
MR. KISE: For the record, I think the signature is on page nine. I saw it came up at ten.

THE COURT: Anybody object to his signature being on page nine? I hereby deem it to be page nine. Ten-minute warning.
Q Mr. Haigh, we see another chart showing the analysis of financial analysis. Was the process conducted in this financial analysis the same as we discussed for prior years?
A Yes.
Q Again, we see that the analysis contains the financial summary for Mr. Trump stretching from 2011 to what I believe is 2017. It looks like it is kind of cut off at this point, maybe 2018.
N. HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)

8 Q And was it relevant to your signing off on this credit report?

A Yes.
MR. WALLACE: I'll try to finish at the same time that we are breaking. So we're close.
Q Mr. Haigh, I handed you a document that's been marked as Plaintiffs Exhibit 466. If you could take a moment to look through this document.
(Witness reviewing document.)
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What is it?
A It's a set of e-mails, an e-mail chain between myself and Marzio Hug who was the senior credit officer in London.

Q Who is the senior credit officer?
A He was the senior credit officer in London. He was Thomas Eggenschweiler's boss at the time.

HAIGH - DIRECT ( MR. SOLOMON)
Page 1070
A Yes.
Q It states at the top, "Dear Donald. You have asked Deutsche Bank to provide a letter in connection with your bid for the acquisition of the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League and in connection therewith, you provided Deutsche Bank with a recent certification of your financial statement which includes liquidity and asset value. A copy of the letter is attached hereto as Exhibit A (the DB letter)."

If we go back to your cover e-mail, why did you want an acknowledgment from Mr. Trump that this was not a commitment?

A Deutsche Bank was not prepared or willing to increase its credit exposure to Mr. Trump at that time.

Q And so do you have an understanding of what the purpose was of writing the letter to Morgan Stanley?

A Morgan Stanley were looking for some kind of confirmation that Mr. Trump would be able to perform under any purchase agreement that he had to buy the Buffalo Bills.

Q If we look at the last paragraph of your e-mail, it states, "We got a certification of his financial status which documents the liquidity that was shown to us through statements, addresses, changes in his assets, liabilities and leverage ratio."

Just go to the last page in this document. Is this document the certification that you are referring to in your e-mail?

\section*{A Yes.}

2 Q Do you know who Jeffrey McConney is?
A No.
4 Q It states at the top, "I, Jeffrey McConney, controller, do hereby certify to Deutsche Bank the accuracy of the following with respect to Mr. Donald J. Trump (DT). DT's current liquidity excluding any encumbered liquid assets, but including cash on hand as of June 30,2014 is approximately \($ 310\) million."

Why did Deutsche Bank want this certification as to his liquidity?
A We had loan agreements with Mr. Trump that had covenants requiring him to maintain liquidity and we wanted him to certify that he would be in compliance with those covenants.

Q Do you know if Deutsche Bank did any independent testing to confirm the 310 million number recommended here by Mr. McConney?

A I do not know whether we did.
Q Item B states, "There have been no material decrease (in excess of ten percent) in the aggregate value of his illiquid assets since the financials were reported to Deutsche Bank as of June 30, 2013 that were certified by DT on October 30, 2013.
Why did Deutsche Bank want this certification from Mr. Trump?

A Again, to be comforted, to receive confirmation that independent procedures to verify this representation in paragraph D from the Trump Organization?

A Not to my knowledge.
MR. WALLACE: Your Honor, at this time, we have nothing further of Mr. Haigh.

THE COURT: Nothing further at this time. Okay. Perfect break time.

After the break, you'll cross-examine? Okay. See you in 15 minutes.
(Witness excused.)
(Whereupon, a recess was taken.)

there was no material change in his net worth and attesting to the value of the illiquid assets would be part of how the bank would be comfortable with that.
Q Did Deutsche Bank take any independent procedures to verify the accuracy of the representation contained in paragraph B?
A No, not that I am aware of.
Q Same question. Why did Deutsche Bank want this representation as to any material decrease or -- why did Deutsche Bank want this representation \(C\) as to whether or not there were any material increase in excess of five percent in liabilities?
A Again, it is a component of his net worth.
Q And, to your knowledge, did Deutsche Bank undertake any independent procedures to confirm the accuracy of the representation contained in paragraph C?
A I have no knowledge of us doing -- Deutsche Bank doing that.
Q For paragraph D, it states, "The ratio of total assets to total liabilities remains greater than 15X."

What -- could you explain what is meant by the ratio of assets to liabilities?
A If one divides the total asset values by the total liabilities, you would end up with a number that's more than 15.
Q To your knowledge, did Deutsche Bank undertake any

MR. SUAREZ: Yes, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Proceed.

\section*{CROSS EXAMINATION}

\section*{BY MR. SUAREZ:}

Q Mr. Haigh, good afternoon.
A Good afternoon.
Q I'm Jesus Suarez. We met a number of months ago at your deposition.

A Yes.
Q It's very nice to see you.
Mr. Haigh, you would agree with me that banks make money by lending money; correct?

A That's one way of making one.
Q And a goal of credit risk management is to make good risk decisions; correct?

A Yes.
Q And in doing so in analyzing risk, credit risk management considers a number of factors; correct?

analysis.
2 Q And is the long-term appreciation of the collateral 1083 (her

THE COURT: I'm not sure -- are you objecting or in the section "Recommendation," says, "The facility is being recommended for approval based on" and then it lists the basis for approval; correct?

Page 1086

A Yes, it lists those four bullet points.
Q And those are the grounds upon which approval of the transaction is being recommended?

A Yes. I mean, those are a summary, if you'd like, of the key points in favor of doing this transaction.

Q These are the important ones?
A From the point of view of the lending officer who wrote the memo, yes.

Q When it describes the financial strength of the guarantor, you would agree with me that the financial profile of the guarantor it says there "includes, on an adjusted basis, 135 million in unencumbered liquidity;" correct?

A Correct.
Q 2.4 billion in net worth; correct?
A Correct.
Q And approximately 48 million in adjusted recurring net cash flow; correct?

A Correct.
THE COURT: I just want to make sure because the wording was a little strange. You're just asking him if that's what it says; right?

MR. SUAREZ: Correct. In building on the fact that this was a key point in their decision ultimately to support the transaction.
Q And I just want to confirm that those are the numbers that the bank based its recommendation for approving the transaction?
A Those are -- okay. Those are numbers after the bank had made adjustments, I think. I'm not sure about the 2.4 billion net worth. I'd have to read the memo again because we say adjusted liquidity of 135 million, but with the financial profile like that it was a recommendation to support this transaction.

Q And that was the financial profile that the bank determined reflected the financial strength of the guarantor; correct?
A Yes.
Q So I just want to draw your attention it was the adjusted basis that formed the basis of the recommendation, the adjusted basis of 135 million in unencumbered liquidity, 2.4 billion in net worth and 48 million in adjusted recurring net cash flow?

A I mean, I see that language. I need to read through the memorandum itself to see whether the 2.4 billion in net worth is also adjusted, but I see the language there is just the position of the covenant, so.
Q Let's take a look at the next page of the document.

18 Q So that's the number ported over the basis for the 19 recommendation?
20 A Correct.
21 Q And in fact, if we scroll down to the section on 22 liquidity it would tell you why Deutsche Bank made that 23 adjustment; correct? And we can walk through it. Do you see
Do you see here where in the middle of the page it lists financial analysis and the second column reflects the client reported financial summary? And the second column includes the DB adjusted column for the year ending 6/30/2011?
A Yes, I see that.
Q The second column would reflect what the client reported from the bank; correct?
A Yes.
Q And the second column being Deutsche Bank's adjusted --
THE COURT: That's the third column.
Q The third column?
A That's after Deutsche Bank had made adjustments.
Q After Deutsche Bank had made adjustments.
And in the first instance you've got cash marketable securities reported at 258.9 million and Deutsche Bank adjusted that to 135.8 million?
A I see that. where it says "liquidity?"
A Ido, yes.

Page 1089

Q "On December 20, 2011, a structured lending team of Dave Williams and Emily Schroeder visited the offices of the guarantor and reviewed bank and brokerage statements that confirmed 178 million in cash balances and 51.8 million marketable securities, totaling 229.9 million held in the name of the guarantor. In addition, they also reviewed statements for operating companies that were wholly owned by the guarantor which evidenced another 29 million cash and marketable securities." Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Are you aware that Dave Williams and Emily Schroeder visited the client's offices?
A That's what he claims I assume they did.
Q You assume they did you assume.
They had the opportunity to ask questions?
A Correct.
Q Review documents?
A Yes.
Q And then report back in the credit memo their findings?
A Yes.
Q And if you go on to the next paragraph, it says, "The guarantor's personal liquidity is primarily" -- excuse me -"has been primarily generated through ongoing distributions from his diversified portfolio of operating companies which is highlighted in more detail in the cash flow section below."

Haigh - Petitioner - cross (Suarez)
Page 1090
Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q "Such distributions include cash distributions from the guarantor's portfolio of premier private clubs, which generated these distributions through operating profit along with the collection of membership deposits."

And we'll have to scroll two more pages over because this page repeats. And the memorandum it keeps going up here. This is the part I really wanted to draw your attention to, and it says:
"In accordance with industry standards, premier golf clubs require new members to post a non-interest bearing 30 -year deposit as part of their membership requirement. Terms of the deposit agreement include that such deposits are nonrefundable for 30 years without condition, after which the member may request the refund for such deposits, often contingent on being replaced by at least one new member.

As of June 30, 2011, the total life-to-date balance of such deposits collected across the ten clubs owned by the guarantor was \($ 188\) million. Given the lack of any conditional rights by member, such" -- "by the member," excuse me, "such deposits are not recorded on the operating books of the club as a liability. The guarantor has indicated that they have received tax opinions supporting the treatment of such deposits and are not required to be included as part of the taxable

1 Q They're folks whose job includes not only providing I think what's been described as sanity checks on real estate numbers?
A Most of the time their job is reviewing actual appraisals, criticizing those appraisals, signing off on the end product at the end of the day. This was more of I think the phrase we used might have been a sanity check on the numbers. Transcript continues on the following page....

2 Q In fact, there is an indication there of property level 3 debt, right?

A Yes.
5 Q The property level debt would be debt from other banks 6 that attached to the respective properties?
7 A Yes.
8 Q You would understand that, right?
9 A We would be relying on information the client had reported to us that this debt existed.

Q And the total outcome of the valuation of these four trophy properties was that the client reported number of \(1,590,000,000\) was reduced to \(1,221,100--\) excuse me was reduced to \(1,221,500,000\).

A Correct.
Q Which produced net equity from 1.326 .4 million to 957.9 million?

A That's also correct.
Q In order to adjust the valuation, so that from the bank's perspective it had a valuation that appears here, you consulted with the folks at Deutsche Bank evaluation?

A On those four assets.
Q I believe that that's reflected lower in this document under the four trophy properties. It is goes through for these four assets how the values were adjusted, correct?

\section*{N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)}

Q It was Deutsche Bank's opinion of what the value of those assets should be, correct?
A It was Deutsche Bank's opinion of what the value of those assets might be.

Q Might be because, of course, we understand there could be a broad range of outcomes when you value an asset?

A Also, we didn't have -- we, the bank, including its valuation services group, hadn't done all the due diligence that one would do in order to form an opinion of value in the sense of the opinion of value you see in an appraisal.

Q And, of course, I understand an opinion of value in the valuation world has a very specific definition.
A Correct. Right.
Q You, sir, are a surveyor?
A Yes.
Q Which I understand across the pond in the United Kingdom is very similar to our appraiser?

A Correct.
Q In fact, a RICS surveyor; is that correct?
A That's the institution that certifies.
Q The Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors?
A Correct.
Q And here, each one of these properties that was evaluated, the trophy assets was not pledged as collateral to the bank, correct?
N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)

Page 1098
1 A Correct.
2 Q Specifically with respect to Trump Tower, Deutsche Bank
3 Valuation Services Group suggested a more appropriate -- what it
4 believed a more appropriate cap rate in order to reach a value,
5 correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q That formed the basis of Deutsche Bank's adjustment?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And in the Niketown, I don't believe the particular methodology was reported on the credit memo, but the result was that based on these reports square footage, Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group indicated an adjusted value of 197; is that correct?
A That's what's in the credit report. Like you, I'm not exactly sure how they reached that conclusion.

Q But that ended up being the value that was listed as a DB adjusted value?

A Yes.
Q Then 40 Wall Street, the Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group looked at that property and determined that a six percent aggregate was appropriate for purposes of adjusted value, correct?

A Correct.
Q Based on that, it reduced the value of the property for purposes of Deutsche Bank's consideration to 1 --

A Doesn't say on there.
2 Q Doesn't say it here, but if you look back up on the chart, it says it on the chart. It reduced to 438 billion which that was an equity of 278 million for purposes of the adjusted net equity, correct?

A That's correct.
Q Again, the same adjustment took place with respect to the Trump Park Avenue; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q And in the Trump Park Avenue, there were discussions with Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group that aren't disclosed here, but there were all of those discussions. There was a 35 percent haircut taken on the value?

A That's correct.
Q And in this instance, it appears from reading the credit report that Deutsche Bank had an opportunity to review the asset with the Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group and apply an appropriate amount of a reduction?

A As I said before, this was not a full appraisal. It was not based on due diligence, presuming it was based on information provided by the client on the size of the real estate, the leases and the rents.

Q But for Deutsche Bank's purposes, that was the number that you used?

A Yes.

Page 1100
Q Let's back out of here. Zoom back into the club facilities. In the chart under real estate, you see a similar reduction was taken from the client report value of \(1,315,000,000\).
A Looks to me the bank took a 50 percent reduction in the value and did not consult with the Valuation Services Group over that.

Q That's because the club facilities I believe I heard you earlier testify were hard to value?

A I believe they are harder to value than of those other four assets that were individually looked at.

Q And in a -- I think -- in extremis values produced could be very different, correct?
A So in a -- in a loose stream market, whether it is a extreme market, the value could be generated from his club facilities to be very different from the value that he was carrying them at as the value there.
Q For that reason, the values were just halved?
A Yes.
Q They were ball-parked?
A Ball-parked, indeed.
Q And the bank ballpark, those at having an estimate
23 of -- an estimated net equity to did he 633 million, correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And in fact, they did something similar with the

Page 1101

1 properties under development 273.2 million and because
2 properties under development may yield very different sale, the 3 bank ball-parked it and said we are just going to consider 75 percent for the value of the net worth?
A 75 percent haircut which is a 25 percent of their value considered.
Q So you chopped off 75 percent of what the client reported about?
A That's correct.
Q That's what went into the DB adjusted net equity?
A Correct.
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
Q And this was with respect to the real estate, how the client reported a valuation of \(3,299.4\) million was reduced to 2,040.4 million and after subtraction resulted in an adjusted net equity of \(1,737.9\) million?
A That's the math, yes.
Q Then this is the number, the DB adjusted net equity of the real estate level that then carries over to the financial analysis on page four. Then produces the client reported value for real estate net equity to the DB adjusted value for real estate net equity, correct?

A Correct.
Q And in fact, the bank undertook a similar process of reaching its own judgment on the different asset value categories for partnerships and joint ventures, correct?

A Yes, it looks like a ballpark 50 percent reduction.
Q The bank reduced partnerships and joint ventures from 720 million to 360 million, correct?
A Correct.
Q And real estate licensing was reduced from 89.3 to 44.6?

A Correct.
Q Other assets were reduced from 199.2 to 99.6 , correct?
A Correct.
Q And after having the opportunity to consider the client reported assets, the bank reached a judgment for DB adjusted. Those assets would be reflected at a value of \($ 2,377,900,000\), correct?
A Correct.
Q Ultimately, that math after the subtraction of other liabilities results in a net worth of \(2,365,800,000\) as adjusted by Deutsche Bank?
A Yes.
Q This amount, it was that Deutsche Bank adjusted net worth, not the client reported net worth, that formed the basis of the statement in page three?
A Which was --

THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Part 37 is now in session. The Honorable Judge Arthur Engoron presiding. Make sure all cellphones are on silent. Laptops and cellphones will be permitted, but only to members of the press. There's absolutely no recording or photography of any kind allowed in the courtroom. Now, please be seated and come to order. \\
THE COURT: Tommy, you're getting better and better at that. \\
Okay. Supposedly, the witnesses are going to be brought earlier, so we have less time to wait. Can we get Mr. Haigh? \\
Counselors, anything to say, housekeeping? \\
MR. WALLACE: Plaintiff is prepared to continue. \\
THE COURT: Please. \\
MR. SUAREZ: Thank you. \\
THE COURT: For those of you who weren't here yesterday or didn't hear about it, we are resuming the cross-examination of Mr. Haigh formerly of Deutsche Bank. THE COURT OFFICER: Witness entering. \\
THE COURT: I will remind the witness as I always do that he is still under oath. \\
Mr. Suarez, would you like to continue? \\
MR. SUAREZ: Thank you, your Honor.

N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ) \\
CROSS-EXAMINATION. \\
BY MR. SUAREZ: (CONT'D) \\
Q Mr. Haigh, good morning. \\
A Good morning. \\
Q Turning back yesterday to Plaintiff's 293, we were \\ reviewing on page three the basis for recommendation of the \\ Doral facility and I just wanted to close the loop on something here. \\
When we talk about the financial strength of the \\ guarantor being based on the 48 million in part, the 48 million \\ in adjusted recurring cash flow, do you see that number there? \\
A Yes. \\
Q I wanted to make sure that that tied out to the 48 \\ million in recurring net cash flow on page seven of this \\ document which reflects in the second column the DB adjusted value for recurring net cash flow of 48.8 million, correct? \\
A That's correct. \\
Q And with respect to the expected enhanced value due to \\ CapEx, again mentioned on page three of this document, as a basis for recommending the facility? \\
A So I see that. \\
Q The second sentence, "As DJT expects to invest \\ approximately 50 million on capital improvements, it is expected that the value of our collateral will increase significantly \\ 25 over the term of the facility." Do you see that?
\end{tabular} \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

Page 1112

\section*{A I see that.}

Q Again, on page nine of this document, that reflects the project overview in the third line of the second paragraph, "Upon acquisition, the guarantor intends to invest an additional 50 million to renovate and reposition the record to its previous world class standard."

Do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q And that's the basis of the statement on page three that the recommendation was made in part based on the anticipated investment by the guarantor into the property?

A I see that, yes.
Q And in fact, the guarantor ultimately invested more than the \($ 50\) million in the property?
A I don't recall how much he ultimately vested.
Q Okay. We can get to that. Turning to Plaintiff's Exhibit 291, this is another document that you reviewed yesterday in your testimony, Mr. Haigh. And I believe it's the originating memo for the facility on the Trump Chicago the 401 North Wabash?
A Yes, that's correct.
Q The borrower in this transaction was an entity called 401 North Kabash Venture, L.L.C. correct?
A Correct.
25 Q The lender was Deutsche Bank Trust Company America, \section*{N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)}

Page 1113

\section*{correct?}

A Correct.
Q And the guarantor is Donald J. Trump, correct?
A Yes.
Q Eric Trump is not a party to this loan agreement, correct?
A That's correct.
Q Neither is Donald J. Trump, Jr. correct?
A That is correct.
Q Let me say that better. Donald Trump, Jr. is not a party to this loan agreement; is that correct?

A That is correct.
Q DJT Holdings, L.L.C. is not a party to this loan agreement, correct?

A So I'd have to look at the loan documentation itself to see who the ultimate parties ended up being. It is possible there were some changes between this approval and the final set of entities that signed the loan documentation.

Q At the time of the approval, there were no other parties to the agreement other than the Deutsche Bank trust company as the lender, Donald J. Trump as the guarantor and 401 North Wabash?
A That was certainly the intention at the time this memorandum was approved.
25 Q DJT Holdings Managing Member, L.L.C. was not a party to N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)

Page 1114
1 this agreement?

2

A Like I said, I would have to look at the actual loan documents to see what entities became a party to the agreement.
Q Was the Trump Organization Inc. a party to this loan agreement?
A As I said, I'd have to look at the loan documentation.
Q As part of the underwriting reflected in the credit report, the Trump Organization Inc. was not a party to the transaction, correct?
A That's correct. Per the credit report, the Trump Organization was -- as an entity was not one of the either the borrower or the guarantor.
Q And pursuant to this credit report at least, DJT
Holdings, L.L.C. was neither the borrower or the guarantor?
A I agree with you, yes.
Q The same for DJT Managing, L.L.C.?
A It is not in the credit report.
Q The same for the Trump Organization, L.L.C.?
A It is not on the credit report.
Q The same for 40 Wall Street, L.L.C.?
A It is not on the credit report.
THE COURT: Mr. Suarez, why don't you just ask if there are any other parties instead of asking ten different entities whether they are a party? Wouldn't that work?

MR. SUAREZ: I think the first one, if I may, Your Honor, may take me a little bit longer and then on the following ones, I have a script to cut it down.

THE COURT: I also suggest, again, not to ask negative questions. He didn't do it, did he, and then you don't know whether yes or no. Just did he do it? No. Okay.
Q Per the credit report, Trump Endeavor, 12, L.L.C was not a party to this loan agreement?
A Per the credit report, it is not a party.
Q Trump Old Post Office is not a party to this transaction, correct?
A Per the credit report, it is not a party to this transaction.
Q Okay. The 401 North Wabash transaction, which we referred to as the Chicago transaction, had two components, correct?
A Yes.
Q Facility A, we can scroll down. The collateral for facility A was a first mortgage lien and a first priority security interest in the residential component of the building known as the Trump Chicago?
A Yes.
Q And that included residential condominium units that were not sold, correct?
A That's correct.

analysis at page ten of this report, correct?
A There it is. 13.4 million on page ten.
Q 13.4 million which was the DB adjusted net excess cash flow, correct?
A That's correct.
Q Going back to page five, another factor for supporting the facility was the operator's experience in operating this property type, correct?
A That is correct.
Q And that's a reference to Mr. Trump, correct?
A Yes.
Q It says that he's a well-known and experienced operator of properties of this type, correct?
A That is correct.
Q Then again, another factor was increasing Deutsche Bank's relationship with Mr. Trump and his affiliates, correct?

A Yes.
Q In page seven, I'd like to draw your attention to, again, analysis of the guarantor's balance sheet and below it, it states that on October 19, 2012, Tom Sullivan and Emily Schroeder visited the offices of the guarantor, correct?

A Correct.
Q You were not present at that meeting, correct?
A I was not present at that meeting.
Q But you are aware that based on the result of that meeting, DB made certain adjustments to the resulted -- excuse m-e. To the reported values on the credit report, correct?

Page 1121
A Yes.
Q Then turning over to page eight, we again see a valuation of the four trophy properties that included the Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group analysis that we discussed yesterday, correct?

A Correct.
Q And Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group performed the same type of analysis for these properties as that which we discussed yesterday, correct?
A I believe so.
Q That is what's reflected in this document, correct?
A Yes.
Q And you signed this document, correct?
A Idid.
Q Page ten of this document, there are certain key ratios that are discussed here at the bottom and it states, "To demonstrate the strength of the guarantor, we have applied the unsecured lending guidelines assuming repayment of the obligation by the guarantor using DB adjusted balances to both the balance sheet and the net cash flow," correct?
A That's correct.
Q That means that when the key ratios were computed, the inputs that were put in were the DB adjusted values, correct?

Page 1120 N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)
Page 1122
1 A Correct. The DB adjusted values were the inputs.
2 Q Turning over to Plaintiff's Exhibit 290, this is the 32013 credit report, correct?
4 A Yes, it is.
5 Q A document that you signed, correct?
6 A Yes, I believe so.
7 Q And the reason for this document was to modify the 8 Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C. loan facility, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Proven interest rate swap?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Review the Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C. loan facility?
13 A Annual review, that's correct.
14 Annual review and to request a change of the annual 5 review date to July 30, 2014, correct?

A Yes.
Q And at this time, Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C. had been substituted as the borrower in the Doral transaction, correct?

A I believe so, yes.
Q I should say by this time. When we reviewed it in 2011, it said to be determined?

A Right.
Q And by now, we know that the borrower in the Doral transaction was Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C., correct?

A That is the actual legal entity.

Q So with respect to the Doral transaction, you would 2 agree with me that the borrower was Trump Endeavor 12, L.L.C.?
3 A That was the borrower, yes.
4 Q And the lender was Deutsche Bank Trust Company 5 Americas?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And the guarantor was Donald J. Trump?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And no other party was a borrower, a guarantor or a 10 lender?

17 A Most likely, yes.
18 Q This credit report dated July 24, 2013, you would agree 19 with me, reflects that the Doral loan was performing?
20 A Yes, I believe so. Yes.
21 Q There were no missed payments correct?
22 A Not to my recollection.
23 Q No late payments?
24 A Not to my recollection.
25 Q That's something you would expect to see in the credit

Q Correct. With Mr. Trump later President Trump? \\
A Yeah. \\
Q And one of those metrics that was important to the bank \\

Q And with respect to the Doral loan as a result in the change of the guaranty level from 100 percent to ten percent, the net worth covenant on the Doral loan is now \($ 250\) million; correct?
A Sorry. Would you repeat the question?
Q Yes. As a result of the approval of the reduction in the personal guaranty level from 100 percent to ten percent based on the most recent appraised value in overall loan to value percentage, the net worth covenant on the Doral loan is now \($ 250\) million; is that correct?

A We're not changing the net worth level by making that amendment. We're changing the amount of the guaranty that would -- that would cover us.
Q Correct, but if we go back to the stepdowns that we went through earlier?
A Okay. That's what you're referring to?
Q That's what I'm referring to.
A Then --
Q And we can pull it up again, if you'd like?

\section*{N. Haigh - Plaintiff - cross (Suarez)}

Page 1149
A I'll agree that that's the case, yes.
2 Q But you would agree that once the stepdown to a ten percent guaranty level was approved the net worth covenant followed with it and went down to 250 million; correct?
A Yes.
Q And then I'd also like to draw your attention in this document to the "assets under management" in page two of this document. Do you see where it says "assets under management?" And it reflects now again that the relationship between President Trump and Deutsche Bank continues to grow.
Donald J. Trump, President Trump, has 31.295 million in cash deposits; correct?

A Yes.
Q And entities associated with him have now deposited over 86.49 million in cash deposits; correct?
A Yes.
Q So all in all, President Trump and entities associated with him at this point have deposited over \($ 100\) million in Deutsche Bank; correct?
A Yes.
Q And those are assets under management by the private wealth group; correct?
A Those are deposits at Deutsche Bank, yes.
Q Which the credit report reflects as assets under management; correct?

A They're reflected in that section that says "assets under management," yes.

Q Going back to page one of Plaintiff's Exhibit 2960.
We see the market value of the Doral Golf Resort & Spa has increased to 366 million based on a Cushman & Wakefield appraisal dated July 29, 2015; correct?
A Yes.
Q And that would be an appraisal that Deutsche Bank ordered for its own purposes; correct?

A I'm not sure that it did. I think there is a note in here that says Deutsche Bank did not order that appraisal for some purposes in the italics above this section.

Q But it would have been an appraisal that Deutsche Bank received; correct?

A I imagine Deutsche Bank did actually receive that appraisal.

Transcript continues on the following page.....

Q It would have been --
MR. SUAREZ: I withdraw the question.
Q And the result of the appraisal, the loan to value was reduced to 34 percent, correct?
A Yes.
THE COURT: Ten-minute warning.
Q If we turn to page three of this document, we see in the recommendations, "approval based on "and then at the bottom, "equity injection of the guarantor" and it says, "the estimated equity injection was nearly \($ 250\) million or a three-year construction period," correct?
A Correct.
Q And "expected enhanced value due to CapEx," correct?
A Yes.
Q And that second sentence says, "As noted, DJT has invested nearly 250 million on capitol improvements since 2012 and the result has been an increase in collateral value to \($ 366\) million," correct?
A Yes.
Q And this again proved correct the 2011 credit memo that said that the asset value of the collateral was expected to increase based on the investment by the guarantor, correct? A Yes.

MR. SUAREZ: Your Honor, I'm ready to move to a new exhibit. I can start that exhibit or we can take the break.

11 Q And with respect to the Trump International Hotel &

23 Q With a loan value of 45 million, correct?
THE COURT: Maybe the " D " stands for department.
Q And here, it says, "LW hospitality advisors appraisal dated March 25, 2016 ordered and reviewed by CRM READ, Phil Ribolow," correct?
A That's correct.
Q That would be Deutsche Bank Credit Risk Management?
A That's the new name, what was previously called the Valuation Services Group.
Q So Valuation Services Group is now operating as CRM READ?

A That's correct.

Tower Chicago, 401 North Wabash, the market value is identified as 133 million which is a value consistent as per guidance from CRM -- how do you pronounce that acronym, READ?
A Just as good as any.
Q From the new Deutsche Bank Valuation Services Group, Phil Ribolow as of July 2016, correct?
A That's correct. I think it stands for real estate advisory something, but I don't remember what the D stood for.
Q Understood. That marks the value at 3 -- loan to value at 34 percent?
A Correct.

Is that possible?
property twice over the last 12 months," correct?

\section*{A Correct.}

Q Those would be the lending and banking teams of the Deutsche Bank management group?

A Yes.
Q And they are the individuals that would have prepared this document which you approved, correct?

A That's right.
Q And in 2016, the basis for recommendation of the annual report again reflects that construction -- on page three, "That construction/redevelopment of the Doral Resort in Florida has been completed with a substantial increase in property value, \($ 382\) million corroborated by a bank ordered appraisal dated 25 March 2016 resulting in a 32.7 percent LTV", correct?

Page 1155

1 A Yes.
2 Q And then the last paragraph states that the
3 relationship has been reviewed and supported from a management
4 board perspective in connection with the guarantor's candidacy for president of the United States. Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Who is the management board?
A I'm not exactly sure who was on it. It says senior -- Deutsche Bank had a management board of executives who took care of very high level decisions.

Q Suffice it to say that the relationship with President Trump and companies associated with him was reviewed at the highest levels of management of Deutsche Bank Trust Company?

A Yes, because Mr. Trump was at the time a candidate for the presidency, it had been escalated to a fairly senior level.

Q Okay. And moving on to page seven of this document, you have the basis for approval of the annual review for the three facilities. And again, I just want to confirm as we did in prior years that the financial profile of the guarantor on an adjusted basis means the DB adjusted values for the guarantor's net worth of 2.8 million?

A Yes.
Q That checkmark, that's your handwriting, Mr. Haigh?
A I think those checkmarks are more likely to be Mr.
Allegra's handwriting if he signed it.
\begin{tabular}{|cc|}

\section*{THE COURT: Just like I said.} (Witness resumes the stand.)
THE COURT: Okay. Let's continue.
Q Mr. Haigh, picking up on where we left off, the basis for recommendation in the 2016 credit report again reflects the operating experience of the guarantor; in this case, President Trump? Well, not yet President Trump, but Mr. Trump, "Extensive experience in operating private golf and country clubs."

Again, it reflects that the overall equity position in various commercial real estate interests was adjusted to 2.195 on an adjusted basis. That's a DB's adjustment to the commercial real estate interest, correct?
A Yes, that 2.195 million number is the DB adjusted one.
Q And then again, we can see in page 15 of the credit report the various adjustments that are made to the guarantor's holdings, correct?
A Yes.
Q And in page 16, we see that the Valuation Services Group, which is still referred to as DBVSG here, also provided input into the trophy properties, correct?
A Yes.
Q And page 18, we can see that the key ratios again are computed based on the DB adjusted balances to both the balance sheet and the net cash flow, correct?
A Yes, I believe so.

Q That is what the credit report reflects, correct?
A Yes.
Q Turning to PX 3137, we have here the 2017 credit report, correct?
A Correct.
Q And by July 20, 2017, the guarantor Donald J. Trump is the president of the United States, correct?
A That's right.
Q And this credit report reflects that with respect to all three loan facilities, Doral, Chicago and the Old Post Office in Washington, D.C., the loans are performing, correct?
A That's correct.
Q The credit report does not note missed payments, correct?

A Doesn't note any missed payments that I'm aware of.
Q And it doesn't note any late payments?
A Similarly, I don't see any reference to late payments.
Q And with respect to the bank's collateral on page two for the Trump Old Post Office, the credit report states, "That additional commentary can be referenced in the appraisal, but the general conclusion is that the hotel, now operational for a few months, has already become one of the most elite hospitality establishments in Washington, D.C., correct?
A That's what it states, yes.
Q And at this point, we see that the hotel is also open . HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)
Page 1159

\section*{for business, correct?}

A Yes.
Q And that the loan has performed how the bank anticipated it to, correct?

A That's correct.
Q In page eight, we see again, "The financial strength of the guarantor reflecting a stated net worth of 5.7 billion which is well above the net worth requirement even on an adjusted basis," correct?

A Yes.
Q And that reference to adjusted basis is the reference that Deutsche Bank's adjusted basis of the guarantor's net worth, correct?
A Yes, it is.
Q And moving on to page nine, we again see that "The relationship continues to be monitored at the highest levels of senior management within the firm and any issues arising from the guarantor's status as president of the United States are immediately addressed, taken to the appropriate reputational risk committee and discussed with appropriate legal counsel." Do you see that?

A I see that.
Q Would you agree with me that the relationship with now President Trump and the three loan transactions associated with him are being monitored by the bank at their highest levels?

\section*{N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)}

Page 1160

A Certainly the highest levels of senior management were aware of the facilities in general terms. Monitoring in the sense of specifically monitoring the terms of this loan agreement, that did not happen. That continued to be managed by private wealth management.
Q That continued -- and you continued to be the head of credit risk management at private wealth management?
A In the Americas, yes.
Q In the Americas?
A Yes.
Q And that was the group that was responsible for those three loan transactions, correct?

A Yes.
Q And the commentary here in the credit report that you signed, I believe, was all positive, correct?
A Sorry. I didn't hear.
Q The commentary was positive?
A Positive? Yes.
Q And you would agree with me that again in page 12, the trophy properties reflect the bank's own analysis including with input with what is still referred to as the Deutsche Bank
Valuation Services Group as to those specific asset values, correct?
A That's correct. I'm not sure as of which date they consulted with that group, but that's what it says.

Page 1161

\section*{N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. SUAREZ)}

Q And the key ratios that are applied to test the loans are again on page 14. Those key ratios are again --

A Sorry. Can you highlight which --
Q Sure. See where it says "key ratios"?
A Yes.
Q They are again utilized using Deutsche Bank's adjusted balances as to both the balance sheet and the net cash flow, correct?
A That's correct.
Q Deutsche Bank used its own numbers to perform the key ratio analysis?

A Yes, Deutsche Bank used its adjusted numbers to perform -- calculate those ratios.

Q And moving on to Plaintiff's Exhibit 302, this was the last year that you participated in the credit review of the -- three Trump-related loans, correct?

A That's correct.
Q The relationship now with President Trump?
A Correct.
Q Moving on to the Old Post Office facility on page two again, we see at the top that, "The LTV has come down based on a January 1, 2017 appraisal that was ordered and reviewed and approved by CRM READ Phil Ribolow," correct?

A Yes.
25 Q And we again see in the basis for recommendation on

Page 1163

\section*{DBVSG, correct?}

A That's what it states.
Q Again on page 12, we see that, "The key ratios applied by Deutsche Bank to the guarantee are applied using Deutsche Bank's own adjusted balances to both the guarantor's balance sheet and net cash flow," correct?

A That's correct.
MR. SUAREZ: I have no further questions on cross for this witness.

THE COURT: Mr. Robert, would you like to go next?
MR. ROBERT: I will, and I will be exceedingly brief.

May I proceed, sir.
THE COURT: You may proceed.

\section*{CROSS-EXAMINATION.}

BY MR. ROBERT:
Q Good afternoon, Mr. Haigh. I know you are a very precise man. That's why I checked. We are two minutes into the afternoon. I just have a few questions for you this afternoon.

The first one is something that is very important to my client Donald Trump, Jr., so I want to bring it to your attention.

MR. ROBERT: If we could pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 290, which is the 2013 credit report.
Q Mr. Haigh you remember being asked some questions about 25 Q So would you agree with me that it is a fair statement

N. HAIGH - CROSS (MR. ROBERT)

\section*{Condition}

MR. ROBERT: And if you can enlarge the second full paragraph, please, Nate.
Q Yesterday when Mr. Wallace was questioning you, Mr.
Haigh, he took you up to the line where it says, "outside professionals." Do you see that, sir?

A Yes.
Q Would you, please, read into the record what the rest of that paragraph says on page four of the Statement of Financial Condition?

MR. WALLACE: Objection. These aren't his words. I don't know why the witness would read it into the record as opposed to counsel.

MR. ROBERT: Okay. No problem. Withdrawn. I will do it the easier way.

THE COURT: Withdrawn.
Q So when you and your staff were reviewing it, the language was "Considerable judgment is necessary to interpret the market data and develop the related estimates of current value. Accordingly, the estimates presented herein are not necessarily indicative of the amounts that could be realized upon the disposition of the assets or payment of the related liabilities. The use of different market assumptions and/or estimation methodologies may have a material effect on the estimated current value amounts." Do you see that, Mr. Haigh?

Page 1167

\section*{A Ido.}

Q And that's the language that's contained in the 2011
Statement of Financial Condition that you spoke of yesterday that you reviewed in general terms correct, sir?

A Correct.
Q Okay. Throughout the course of the testimony over the last day and-a-half and even in response to Your Honor's questions, we can agree, sir, that under the loans with Deutsche Bank, every obligation under the loans was met, correct, as far as you know?

MR. WALLACE: Objection.
THE COURT: Well, it is as far as he knows.
MR. ROBERT: As far as he knows. The witness was very careful to say it was only based on his knowledge and I don't want him to go beyond that. It is what Mr. Haigh knows as the chief risk officer at the bank at the time.

THE COURT: So overruled.
A So far as I recall, the loans were performing.
Q And all the expectations that were required of the borrower were met, as far as you know?

A So far as I know, yes.
Q Okay. And we've already spoken -- Your Honor was clear about it. I'm going to be very brief. There were no late payments that you are aware of, correct?

A I'm not aware of any late payments.

MR. KISE: That's certainly not the standard that applied to other witnesses, Your Honor. The other day you insisted that other witnesses responded to the government's questions with yes-or-no answers. That was a yes-or-no question. And respectfully, Your Honor, I think it's a different standard. \\
THE COURT: I respectfully disagree that I'm applying a different standard. Look, I've been doing this job for 20 years now. If a question can be answered yes or no without an explanation, then do that, but sometimes an explanation is necessary, but we understand each other. \\

MR. ROBERT: Thank you, Your Honor. I have no further questions. \\
THE COURT: Thank you. \\
And any redirect by the plaintiff? \\
MR. WALLACE: Mr. Haigh, I'll try to be brief. \\
REDIRECT EXAMINATION \\
BY MR. WALLACE: \\
Q Is whether or not a loan gets repaid the same question as whether or not the bank has accurately rated the risk in a loan? \\
A No. \\
Q What is the difference? \\
A So getting repaid is just one element of what the \\ bank's trying to achieve. The risk rating goes to assessing the risk and from that we set aside capital to reserve it against \\ the loan -- potential loan losses and the amount of capital that we set aside is driven by the risk rating and by the collateral. And in order to get a fair return on our capital, in other words, charge the right interest rate, we have to have the correct risk rating. So just getting repaid on the principal doesn't address at all whether we got properly recompensed for the risk we were taking.

MR. SOLOMON: Could we please mark PX 1293 native for identification?
Q Sir, looking at the document on the screen entitled "Corporate Operating Financial Summary 2015," does that refresh your recollection as to what was attached to the cover e-mail we were just talking about?
A Yes. That's what I thought was in there, yes.
Q So is this the shell you were referring to?
A No, this is not a shell. A shell would have no numbers on it. It's what you showed me initially. This is no longer a shell. This is now numbers being put into that shell.
Q And that is based on the performance of the various entities under the Trump Organization umbrella; correct?
A I don't know all the sources how Mr. Birney got all his numbers together. I assume it's a combination of things.
Q Was that your -- was that your understanding of what it was intended to show?
A Yes. The -- I have a question, if you don't mind.

THE COURT: Well, I often tell witnesses you're there to answer questions, not ask them, but.

THE WITNESS: I understand.

Q Mr. Weisselberg, I will take all the assistance you're willing to offer.

THE COURT: I think he said he has a question.
A No. Was this given historically or prospectively, this statement? I don't know the dates.

MR. SOLOMON: Scroll down.
Q Does it help you to look at the totals of the bottom line to see if those were historical results or projected future results?

A No.
Q Maybe I can do this another way. Look at the cover e-mail for a moment, please. It should be in front of you. Oh, did we take that back?

A Yes.
Q PX 1293.
A Based upon the date of \(2 / 25 / 16\), I would -- thank you.

together this information, do you?
A It's a possibility one of the three children may have asked me to do it then I in tum may have asked Mr. Birney to do it. I just don't recall which child it was.
Q To your knowledge when all of the communications between or were from any of the three adult children, did Mr. Birney have to go through you?

A Not necessarily.
Q They could have spoken to him directly?
A They could have, yes.
Q Do you have any understanding as to why Mr. Birney was leaving a copy on Jeff's desk?

A Just for information purposes to have in case somebody asked him a question.

Q Do you understand or did you understand at the time that the purpose of this creating and distributing the Trump Organization Operating Financial Summary 2015 to the adult children was an effort to keep them informed of the performance of the business?

A That sounds about right. I would agree with that.
Q Were you at anytime either requested or directed to keep them advised of the information contained on that spreadsheet we just saw?

A I don't believe I was -- it was more of a request to do 25 this as opposed to a direction. Maybe they mean the same thing,

Q My question is --
A Yes, I don't want to mince words. It's a chance because they were just getting involved in running the business as Mr. Trump had now become president. They wanted to be knowledgeable about the running of the business.

So 2016, he was in the process of running for president and they wanted to get up to speed on how the business was operating.
Q Okay. The third page of PX 1293 after the slip page, which says "document provided natively."
A Yes.
Q Let's take a look at that. It was produced to us I will tell you in this format.

Is this document part of the first two pages or is it a separate document, to your knowledge?
A I don't remember. It's -- I don't remember if it was separate or part and parcel of the original package.

Q Okay. Do you recall in or about February of 2016 forwarding on this summary information to Donald J. Trump, Jr., Ivanka Trump and Eric Trump?
A I imagine I did.
Q Yet you have no reason to doubt that this is what you did at that time?
A Correct. to provide a copy to the insurers to take with them; correct?

A I was only told to when I was given direction to meet with them. No one asked me to give it to them, take with them. So I just on my own decided here it is, you can read it, look at it. If they wanted a copy, I certainly would have had them sign an NDA and probably given it to them if they asked. But year after year they were satisfied coming in, sitting there, taking their time for the entire day reviewing it.

Q To your knowledge did any of the insurers or sureties ever ask to take a copy of the financial statement with them?

A Not that I can remember.
Q To your knowledge were the insurers or sureties required to sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement before being provided access to the then-current Statement of Financial Q Sir, PX 1112 for identification has been put in front of you. Do you recognize it?

A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?
A An e-mail to Eric Trump suggesting to him that if we are going to pay off the loan, to do it subject post June 30th.
Q In order to keep his cash balance as high as possible, right?
A Right.
MR. SOLOMON: The People offer PX 1112 in evidence.
MR. ROBERT: Statute of limitations objection.
THE COURT: Overruled. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as Plaintiffs Exhibit 1112.)
Q In each year, the efforts to start preparing the Statement of Financial Condition occurred after June 30th; is that right?
A Correct.
Q So here, we have a situation back in April even before the people in the Trump Organization are starting any work on the Statement of Financial Condition for that year where you're trying to accommodate the cash balance position for the statement that's coming up, right?
A Correct.
Q Mr. Weisselberg, I would like to talk to you about the

Page 1193
A. WEISSELBERG - DIRECT(MR. SOLOMON) crimes to which you pled guilty on August 18, 2022. Do you recall you were charged with 15 separate counts?
A Yes.
Q Including several counts of falsification of business records?
A Whatever is in my -- I forgot the name of the legal document.
Q Okay. And you pled guilty under oath to all 15 counts, correct?

A I did.
Q And you were required to pay back taxes penalties and interest in the amount of \($ 1.9\) million; is that correct?

A That sounds about right.
Q And with interest and other costs, it came out to be about \($ 2\) million. Do you recall that?

A Sounds about right.
Q And you were incarcerated as a result of that guilty plea?
A Sorry?
Q You were incarcerated as a result of that guilty plea, correct?

A I was.
Q Now, after pleading guilty to all of these crimes, the years long scheme of talks fraud you and the Trump Organization entered into that separation agreement that we discussed on

\section*{Tuesday, right?}

A Correct.
Q What did you have to agree to do or not to do in exchange for the severance package?
A If you have the document.
Q Let's pull it up.
MR. SOLOMON: Please pull up PX 01751 already in evidence. Paragraph three, subsection " \(\mathrm{D}^{\prime}\) as in dog. Can we go to the top just for the introduction, please.
Q It starts with "employee promises, in exchange for the benefits provided in paragraph two, employee promises." Do you see that, sir?

A Yes.
Q And paragraph D, "That except for acts or testimony directly compelled by subpoena or other lawful process issued by a court of competent jurisdiction, he will not one, communicate with, provide information to, or otherwise cooperate in any way with any other person or entity" and then that goes on. Do you see that?

A Yes, I see that.
Q Sir, did you understand that this subsection precluded you from voluntarily cooperating with anyone adverse to the Trump Organization including the Attorney General's office?

A I -- I didn't give it a lot of thought to be honest.
Q But you agreed to it?

WEISSELBERG - DIRECT(MR. SOLOMON)
Page 1195
A I agreed -- if it was -- if I was ordered to meet with a court or some lawful person or a subpoena, then I would meet with them, yes.

Q You would not voluntarily cooperate, right?
A That's what it says, yes.
Q Now, sir, let's be clear. This is a yes-or-no question. There is no misunderstanding. Is it just a coincidence that under this severance agreement, that you are being paid \($ 2\) million which is almost the same exact amount that you had to pay in connection with your guilty plea?

A Coincidence.
Q Pure coincidence?
A Coincidence.
MR. SOLOMON: We have nothing further at this time, Your Honor. Excuse me one moment.

I apologize, Your Honor. We are not complete. May I have a moment?

THE COURT: Sure.
(Whereupon, there was a pause in the proceedings.)
MR. SOLOMON: I apologize for the confusion. We might have more after lunch. We would like to take a few minutes. I think you gave me the warning. We have two minutes. If we could break for lunch and we will let the defendants know if we need Mr. Weisselberg to come back or not.

THE COURT: Okay. I just want to point out not to be such a stickler, but one of the documents that Mr. Robert objected to on statute of limitations grounds was dated February 24th or so, 2016. That's after statute of limitations period.

MR. ROBERT: Understood, but it had to do with information that was from '15. That's what we talked about last week and it is part of the Statement of Financial Condition. I understand what Your Honor is saying, but that's why we preserved the objection.

THE COURT: I see. Okay. Understood. All right. So let's break for lunch.

MR. SOLOMON: I apologize for the confusion.
THE COURT: We come back at the usual \(2: 15\), right?
MR. SOLOMON: Yes.
(Witness exits the stand.)
(Whereupon, a luncheon recess was taken.)

THE COURT: I understand there is a request for a front bar. It may eventually have to be made public, but for right now, it is okay.
(Whereupon, an off-the-record sidebar discussion was held.)

THE COURT: I think we have an agreement. The plaintiff will not be questioning Mr. Weisselberg anymore at this particular time. You reserve the right to recall him later. The defendants have the right to call him. And I'm instructing him -- I'm lifting the prohibition on discussing the case with counsel or with anyone else. And is there more to it than that at this point.

MR. WALLACE: Nothing from the plaintiff, Your Honor.

MR. ROBERT: Nothing from defendants, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Let's move on to the next witness.
MR. HAREN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Eric Haren on behalf of the People. The People call Patrick Birney.

\section*{DIRECT EXAMINATION}

BY MR. HAREN:
Q Good afternoon, Mr. Birney, where are you currently employed?

A Trump Organization.
Q And how long have you worked at the Trump Organization?
A Since 2015.
Q Approximately when in 2015 did you start working at the Trump Organization?

A January 2015.
Q What was your title when you started with the Trump Organization?

A Senior financial analyst.
Q Can you walk us through the titles you have held at the Trump Organization since you started there in 2015?

A Yes.
Q Please do.
A Senior financial analyst, associate assistant

Page 1200

Q Do you still have that license today?
A I really don't know. I can't imagine that I do.
Q Okay. Do you hold any licenses as an appraiser?
A No.
Q Do you hold a designation as a member in the Appraisal Institute?
A No.
Q Do you hold any other licenses or associations relating to appraisers?

A No.
Q Have you ever been a certified public accountant?
A No.
Q During your tenure at Aon, did you work on Trump Organization insurance accounts?
A Yes.
25 Q Can you describe your work on those accounts, please?

Page 1201
A Sure. Similar to the other clients that I managed, again, schedules of insurance, invoice management, certificates of insurance requests, auto I.D. cards, I was the -- I was one of the main contacts that if somebody from Trump needed something, they would reach out to me.
Q During your work at Aon or at the Trump Organization, did you ever come across the phrase "team of four"?
A Yes.
Q What did you understand that phrase to refer to?
A The team of four from the Trump Organization who worked on the insurance program.

Q Was it called "team of four" because there were four members of the team?

A I believe so, yes.
Q Who were the four members of the team?
A Ron Lieberman, Allen Weisselberg, mat calendar Marie and Mike Cohen.
Q Thank you. You said that you joined the Trump Organization in January of 2015. Who offered you a job at the Trump Organization?
A Allen Weisselberg and Ron Lieberman.
Q And where did they offer you the job?
A In Allen Weisselberg's office.
Q Thank you. You said your title when you joined the Trump Organization was senior financial analyst.

Q Thank you.
During your time at the Trump Organization, who did you understand were your supervisors?

A Ron Lieberman, and then I did work for a lot of other people above me. So Ron Lieberman would be my direct boss, but I would consider Allen Weisselberg, Jeffrey McConney, Mat Calamari to be my superiors. Larry Glick, too.

Q And is it fair to say that for matters that you worked on with Jeffrey McConney and Allen Weisselberg, you viewed them as your superiors?
A Yes.
MR. HAREN: Let's mark for identification
Plaintiffs Exhibit 1162, please.
Q Mr. Birney, do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?
A An e-mail from Jeff McConney to myself.
Q And what is the date on the e-mail?
A November 16, 2016.
Q And what is the subject of the e-mail?

Page 1204

\section*{A DJT SOFC.}

2 Q What did you understand that subject to refer to?
3 A The Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump.

17 Q What do you understand it to refer to?
A The main backup spreadsheet that supported the numbers on the Statement of Financial Condition.

Q And the word "Jeff," who does that refer to? A Jeff McConney.

MR. HAREN: I would like to pull up on the screen a native file that is a component of Exhibit 1162.
Q Mr. Birney, it is the attachment to the e-mail that you were just looking at. Do you recognize this document?

Page 1205
1 A Yes.
2 Qhat do you recognize it to be?
3 A A draft of the Statement of Financial Condition for the year June 30, 2016.
Q When you say, "draft of the Statement of Financial Condition," do you mean a draft of the supporting data for the Statement of Financial Condition?

A Yes. Sorry.
Q Okay.
MR. HAREN: I would like to move this native file into evidence?

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
Q What is indicated to you by the information in cell H 1 ?
A That things highlighted in yellow are open.
Q And what do you understand the phrase "open items" to mean?
A I understand it to be these items need to be updated or finalized.

Q So is it fair to say that an open item in the context of this spreadsheet is not an item that's been finalized?
A That's fair to say.
MR. HAREN: Okay. Let's pull up Plaintiff's
Exhibit 1167, please.
Q Mr. Birney, do you recognize this document?
25 A Yes.

1 Q What do you recognize this document to be?
2 A An e-mail from Jeff McConney to myself on November 16, 32016.

4 Q That's the same date as the prior e-mail, correct?
5 A I believe so.
6 Q What is the subject of this e-mail?
7 A 2105 DJT Statement of Financial Condition.
MR. HAREN: I would like to move this exhibit into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit 1167.)
Q What did you understand the subject of the e-mail to refer to?

A The Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J.
Trump for the year 2015.
Q Does the e-mail have an attachment?
A Yes.
Q Do you see --
MR. HAREN: Back to the e-mail, please.
Q Do you see the information at the bottom of the e-mail that states "scanemai1@trumporg.com?" Do you see that?

A Yes, sir.
Q What is the e-mail at the bottom of this message that begins "from scanemail@trumporg.com" indicate to you?

\section*{BIRNEY - DIRECT (MR. HAREN)}

Page 1207
1 A It indicates that it was scanned in on the 26th floor copier machine by the pantry and then forwarded by Jeff to me.

Q Let's look at the attachment starting on page two of the exhibit. Mr. Birney, do you recognize this document?

A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?
A The cover page to the 2015 Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump.

Q If you could just flip through the exhibit, you should see that on page 27 there's the rear page of Statement of Financial Condition. Do you see that?
A Yes. If that's page 27, yes.
Q So if you could flip through from page 2 to page 27 and just confirm that the full Statement of Financial Condition for 2015 was forwarded to you on November 16, \(2016 ?\)

A It appears to be the full statement.
Q So, Mr. McConney sent you a supporting data for the Statement of Financial Condition and a copy of the 2015
Statement of Financial Condition on November 16, 2016; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Did you at some point in time become involved in the process of preparing Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?
25 A Yes.
\(1 \quad Q \quad\) When was that?
2 A Shortly after this e-mail.
3 Q So in or about November 2016?
A Yes.
Q And for which years had you been involved in the process of preparing Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?
A From 2016 to 2021.
Q So each of the years in that range?
A Yes.
Q Did you understand that working on Mr. Trump's Statements of Financial Condition was part of your job at the Trump Organization?
A Yes.
Q What did you understand the Statements of Financial Condition for the years that you worked on them to show?

A Mr. Trump's net worth.
Q And is that as of a particular date?
A As of June 30th of each year.
Q Do you have an understanding of the phrase "back up" in the context of Mr. Trump's Statements of Financial Condition?

A Yes.
Q What do you understand that phrase to refer to?
A The backup to the supporting data spreadsheet. So anything that was used to -- wherever the numbers came from, I would usually refer to that as the backup.

Q Let me see if I understand correctly. Supporting data spreadsheet contains number and the backup is additional information supporting those numbers. Is that fair?

A Yes.
MR. HAREN: Let's mark for identification
Plaintiffs Exhibit 756. Excuse me. This one is in evidence already.
Q Mr. Birney, the document on the screen, Plaintiff's Exhibit 756, is in evidence as Statement of Financial Condition for Donald J. Trump as of June 30, 2016. I just want to direct you to page two. Do you see at the bottom of the independent accountant's compilation report on this page that there is a date?
A Yes.
Q And do you see that the date is March 10, 2017 ?
A Yes.
Q And that date is after you began working on Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition in November of \(2016 ?\)
A Yes.
Q So is the Statement of Financial Condition for the year ending June 30, 2016 the first statement of Statement of Financial Condition that you worked on for Mr. Trump?
A Yes, I think so.
P. Birney - Plaintiff - direct (Haren)

Page 1210
1 Q Did somebody assign you to work on Mr. Trump's annual 2 Statement of Financial Condition in November 2016?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Who assigned you to work on that project?
5 A I don't know who -- I don't know who assigned me. It 6 was either Jeff McConney or Allen Weisselberg.
7 Q Do you have, you know, any indication of which of those 8 people is a more probable answer?
9 A Probably Jeff McConney.
10 Q With respect to preparing Mr. Trump's Statement of 11 Financial Condition, did you ever receive any training documents 12 in writing?
13 A For the preparation of the Statement of Financial 14 Condition?
15 Q Yes.
16 A I don't believe there are any official training
17 documents in writing.
18 Q And speaking generally are you aware that asset 19 evaluations in the Supporting Data for Mr. Trump's Statement of 20 Financial Condition are something called cap rates?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Before working on Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial 23 Condition had you ever valued a property using a cap rate?
24 A I don't think so.
25 Q When did you complete your work on the 2021 Statement
    A In late 2021.
    Q Let's --
    A I think.
    Q So prior to the completion of your work on the 2021
    Statement of Financial Condition, had you had any professional training in applying accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America also known as GAAP?
    A I don't think so.
10 Q Prior to the completion of your work on the 2021
11 Statement of Financial Condition, did you know what the 12 Financial Accounting Standards Board was?
13 A I don't think so.
14 Q Prior to the completion of your work on the 2021
15 Statement of Financial Condition, did you understand the phrase 16 "accounting standards codification?"
17 A No.
18 Q Prior to the completion of your work on the 2021
19 Statement of Financial Condition, were you familiar with 20 Accounting Standards Codification 274 governing personal 21 financial statements?
22 A No.
23 Q Prior to the completion of your work on the 2021
24 Statement of Financial Condition, did you have a general
25 understanding of what Accounting Standards Codification 274

P. Birney - Plaintiff - direct (Haren)

statement from some entity or something like that. I would go to Jeff and ask for it.
Q I meant did you in the time period I referenced, 2016 to 2019, review drafts of the Supporting Data with Mr. McConney, as well?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did you have an understanding as to whether you were the final decisionmaker on any valuation in the Statements of Financial Condition from 2016 to 2019?
A Can you repeat the question, please?
Q Did you have an understanding as to whether you were the final decisionmaker on any valuation in the Statements of Financial Condition from 2016 to 2019 ?
A Yes.
Q What was your understanding?
A That I was not the final decisionmaker.
Q And did you have an understanding as to who the final decisionmaker was?
A Yes.
Q And what was your understanding?
A Allen Weisselberg.
Q Okay. Let's go to Plaintiff's Exhibit 742.
Mr. Birney, do you see on the screen an Excel spreadsheet entitled, "Donald J. Trump Statement of Financial Condition as of June 30, 2016?"
P. Birney - Plaintiff - direct (Haren)

Page 1214

\section*{A Yes.}

Q Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?
A A draft of the Supporting Data spreadsheet.
MR. HAREN: Your Honor, I think this document has been reviewed with other witnesses and the magic words may not have been said, so I'd just like to move it into evidence.

MR. ROBERT: I'm trying to keep order so we don't have the same document going around twice. To the extent it's not, statute of limitations objection.

THE COURT: Okay. To the extent it's not. It's now in over objection.
(Whereupon, the item previously referred to is received and marked Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 756 in evidence.)
Q Who was the principal drafter of the spreadsheet on the screen?
A What do you mean?
Q The spreadsheet itself as opposed to any decisions that may have led to numbers being included it in it. Did you prepare the spreadsheet?

A I probably worked on the spreadsheet.
Q Did the process of preparing the Supporting Data for the 2016 Statement of Financial Condition involve more than one draft?

Page 1215
A Yes.
Q How many approximately?
A I don't know.
Q How many drafts in a typical year then would you go through?

A Could be 20, could be 30 . I really don't know.
Q All right. Will you -- were you the decisionmaker on which valuation methods to choose -- excuse me.

Were you the decisionmaker on which valuation methods were used in the spreadsheet?

A No.
Q Who was?
A Either Jeff McConney or Allen Weisselberg.
Q All right. Can you be -- is it that one side on some and one side on others? Can you kind of explain your answer?

A Sure. This was 2016 so this would have been the first year I was working on it so I would have just asked Jeff a lot of questions. I don't know if I even asked Allen questions about this year if it even got to that point. It was probably just me and Jeff for things that I worked on for this year, so I don't know who made the ultimate decisions.
Q All right. Did you follow a process to go from draft 25 versions of the Supporting Data to the final version of the

Page 1216

\section*{Supporting Data in 2016?}

A Can you repeat the question, please?
Q Did you follow a process to go from draft versions of the Supporting Data to the final version of the Supporting Data in 2016?

A I don't really know.
Q Let's pull up some of your testimony to see if it refreshes your recollection.

MR. HAREN: Let's go to page 103 of Mr. Birney's testimony. Well, first let's go to the first page. Could you go to the first page, please?
Q Mr. Birney, do you recall testifying under oath on June 25, 2020 ?

A Not that specific date, but I do recall in 2020, yes.
MR. HAREN: All right. And let's go to page 103. Q Just if you take a look at page 103, starting at line six. It states:
"QUESTION: You mentioned earlier that you have meetings with Jeff McConney and Allen Weisselberg to go over drafts of the spreadsheet -- sporting spreadsheet; right?
"ANSWER: Yes.
"QUESTION: Between the first draft and the final draft, approximately how many meetings would there be in a typical year?
"ANSWER: I don't know. It depends on the specific year. Anywhere from -- I'm just -- it depends. It varies.

Page 1217
"QUESTION: You'd have at least one meeting a year; right?
"ANSWER: Yes, there would be at least one meeting.
"QUESTION: Would there be only one meeting?
"ANSWER: Probably not.
"QUESTION: So just try to give me an approximation; five meetings, between five and ten?
"ANSWER: Between five and ten."
Now, does that testimony refresh your recollection as to any process you may have had in terms of going from the draft version of the Supporting Data to the final version of the Supporting Data in 2016?
A Yes.
Q And so what is your recollection?
A Sorry. The reason I'm getting -- I don't know if that -- what we just looked at was specific to 2016, was it? Q I think it was a general question with a general answer.
A Giving -- I can give you a general answer.
Q Sure. Give me a general answer.
A Sure. In 2016, we would -- I worked together with 23 Jeff, but in general I would work on drafts of the spreadsheet.
24 There would be meetings with Jeff McConney and Allen
25 Weisselberg. It could have been, yes, five to ten meetings to
P. Bimey - Plaintiff - direct (Haren)

Page 1218

1 finalize it and then we would send it over to Mazars along with all of our backup and we would work with Mazars on the Statement of Financial Condition until we were done.

Q And so were Jeff McConney and Allen Weisselberg involved in finalizing the 2016 Statement of Financial Condition?

A Sorry. One more time?
Q Were Jeff McConney and Allen Weisselberg involved in finalizing the 2016 Statement of Financial Condition?
A I imagine they were, yes.
Q You imagine or they were?
A I know Jeff McConney was involved. I can't remember if Allen was. He probably was involved.
Q All right. And during the course of preparing the 2016 Statement of Financial Condition did you understand that Mr. Weisselberg and Mr. McConney were your superiors? A Yes.

MR. KISE: Your Honor, not to interrupt, but it's a question regarding an exhibit that I think was just introduced, PX 1167. And it took me a minute because I'm a little slow, but it's got 35 pages attached, but the native version these -- this appears to be two different documents I guess is my question. And I just want to clear that up.

I'm sure, far be it for me to accuse the government of doing anything intentional, I am sure that, if anything, it's inadvertent or it could be that I'm mistaken. Often I am, but from what we can see of the native version of this e-mail that is the cover of Plaintiff's Exhibit 1167, the remaining pages that start with this part, with the handwriting on it were not part of the original attachment to the e-mail. The only thing attached to the e-mail was the Statement of Financial Condition and these remaining pages appear to be a different exhibit. I just didn't know if that was introduced. And we don't have to take up courtroom time right now. I just wanted to place this on the record before we go farther. If they are not going to use this exhibit for the rest of the day, we can clear this up later, but I just didn't want to go any further without at least noting it.

THE COURT: Okay. Any response?
MR. HAREN: Yes, I think we'll look at it at a break we. Can take a look at it and see if there was an inadvertent error.

MR. KISE: Thank you.
Q And back to the exhibit that was on the screen, Exhibit 742. Mr. Birney, in this Supporting Data spreadsheet are there capitalization rates used to value assets? If it would help you to scroll through the document, I'm happy to direct you.
A Please.

    Condition?
    A No.
    7 Q Who was?
    8 A Same as before, Allen and Jeff.
    9 Q And you mean Allen Weisselberg and Jeff McConney?
    10 A Yes.
11 Q All right. Let's --
20 as the Supporting Data for the 2020 Statement of Financial

22 A Yes.
23 Q Was the process of preparing the Supporting Data for

A Same as before, Allen and Jeff.
Q And you mean Allen Weisselberg and Jeff McConney?
Q All right. Let's --
MR. HAREN: I guess how close am I to the ten minutes?

THE COURT: You have another three or four if you want.

MR. HAREN: It's a fortune.
Let's pull up on the screen Plaintiff's
Exhibit 857.
Q Mr. Birney, the document on the screen is in evidence as the Supporting Data for the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition. Do you recognize this document?
A Yes.
Q Was the process of preparing the Supporting Data for the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition in any way different than the process from 2016 to \(2019 ?\)

Bimey - Plaintiff - direct (Haren)
Page 1230

1 A Yes.
2 Q How is it different?
3 A There was more input from more people.
4 Q And when you say "more people," who else was involved 5 in -- who else was involved?

A Myself, Allen Weisselberg Jeff McConney, Ray Flores, Jody Whitsec, Adam Rosen, Alan Garten.

Q And at the time Allen Weisselberg was still the chief financial officer of the Trump Organization?
A I think so.
Q What was Jeff McConney's position at the time?
A I think he was controller.
Q And how about Ray Flores?
A Vice president development and acquisitions or something like that.

Q And can you just give us a general idea of Mr. Flores' role in the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition?

A Ray gave input on backup and certain cap rates, certain properties.

Q And just so I have the list right, Mr. Garten was the chief legal officer at the time?

A I think so.
Q And Mr. Rosen worked under Mr. Garten; is that right?
A He worked in the legal department.
Q So Mr. Garten was the senior most legal person involved in the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition?

Page 1231
A Yes.
Q And Mr. Weisselberg was the senior most accounting person involved in the 2020 Statement of Financial Condition?

A Yes.
MR. HAREN: All right.
THE COURT: Before you go, let's revisit the important question of the warning. The ten-minute warning seems to make you all nervous and you're looking at the clock, you want to know how long - I have a better idea. How about a five-minute warning and a one-minute warning? Anybody object to that?

MR. WALLACE: No objection.
MR. HAREN: We could use a little red light.
THE COURT: Or a sign or hold up my hands. All right, 15-minute break. See you soon.
THE COURT OFFICER: Remain seated in the audience.
(Whereupon, there is a recess in the proceedings and the transcript continues on the following page.)

Page 1232

THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Part 37 is back 24 session.

MR. KISE: While we are waiting for the witness, I think over the break, we reached an understanding and Ms. Faherty can state.

MS. FAHERTY: Our PTG folks were able to resolve the issue. It seems it was a technological family coupling issue. Our goal to have a corrected exhibit in the morning. Some additional pages were added. That's all, Your Honor. I apologize for the mistake. We will correct it immediately.

THE COURT: I'm glad Mr. Kise caught you on it.
MS. FAHERTY: Well, you know, I do try to sneak things in apparently.

MR. KISE: I'm a little slow, but I read things.
THE COURT: We are getting the witness, yes?
THE COURT OFFICER: The witness is here.
(Witness resumes the stand.)
THE COURT: Let's continue.
Q Welcome back, Mr. Birney.
A Hi.
MR. HAREN: Let's call up Plaintiffs Exhibit 1501.
Q Mr. Birney, this document is in evidence as the supporting data spreadsheet for the 2021 Statement of Financial Condition. Do you recognize it?
the notes.
Q By notes, you mean the information Excel E4 that refers to WP?
A Yes.
Q But apart from those notes, do you recognize it to be a 2021 supporting data spreadsheet for Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?

A Yes.
Q Can describe just in general terms the process of preparing the 2021 Statement of Financial Condition?
A Yes. It was very similar to the 2020 statement.
Wherever we pulled information from from 2020, I think why pulled it from 2021. There was one change for valuations that I can recall right now and that was the golf courses.
Q Just speaking about process, can you say who was involved in the process of preparing the 2021 statement?
A Yes. It was the team that I had mentioned for 2020 except I do not believe Allen Weisselberg was involved and Jeff McConney was barely involved.
Q All right. Let's pull up on the screen a document that is Plaintiff's Exhibit 758.

Mr. Birney, this document is in evidence as the supporting data for Mr. Trump's 2017 Statement of Financial Condition.

MR. HAREN: Could we scroll down to row 969, please.
\(1 \quad \mathrm{Q}\) What is indicated to you by the information in columns \(B, C\) and \(H\) in row 969 ?

A The triplex valuation for the previous year I believe is column \(H\) based on columns from Trump International Realty at 5 30,000 square feet multiplied by \($ 10,900\) per square feet.

Q I'll just note for the record the Court has reached an 7 official understanding about the pronunciation. Triplex.
8 A What did I say?
\(9 \quad \mathrm{Q}\) Triplex. It's very important here in this courtroom.
A Sorry.
Q I would like to direct your attention to row 971. What is indicated to you by the information in columns B and C and G in that row?

A The valuation for the triplex based on comp for 432 Park, \(10,996.39\) square feet multiplied by \($ 10,625\) per square-foot.
Q And based on the information in columns \(B\) and \(C\) in row 969 and row 971, there was a change in the square footage used for Mr. Trump's triplex apartment between the 2016 and 2017 Statements of Financial Condition, right?
A Yes.
Q Do you have an understanding of any events that led to that change in square footage?

A Yes.
25 Q What's your understanding?

\section*{BIRNEY - DIRECT (MR. HAREN)}

Page 1235
A My understanding is there was an article written that stated that Mr. Trump's triplex apartment was actually \(\mathbf{1 0 , 9 0 0}\) or so square feet and then we used that -- we verified that square footage internally and then we used that for the 2017 Statement of Financial Condition.

Q You say "we verified that internally." Who was involved in that verification?

A Allen Weisselberg, probably Jeff McConney and I believe Stephanie Lennig.

Q How do you spell her name?
A L-E-N-N-I-G.
Q Thank you.
MR. HAREN: Let's pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 1605 unless there was a different version of this marked yesterday. I understand this document is in evidence already.
Q Mr. Birney, do you see that the title of the article is "Donald Trump has been lying about the size of his penthouse"?

A Yes.
Q Does the article have a date?
A May 3, 2017.
Q Is this the article that prompted the change in square footage reported in the supporting data to Mr. Trump's Statement of Financial Condition?

A Probably.

Page 1236
\(1 \quad \mathrm{Q}\) Is it the article or was there some other article?
2 A I don't know.
MR. HAREN: Let's turn back to the 2016,
Plaintiff's Exhibit 756.
Q Do you remember that we agreed there is a date on the independent accountant's compilation report on page two. The date is March 10, 2017, right?

A Yes.
Q All right. Let's move to plaintiff's 01324.
Mr. Birney, this document is in evidence. Does it appear to be an e-mail from Dan Alexander at Forbes to Allen Weisselberg and Jeff McConney on February 22, 2017?

A Yes.
MR. HAREN: And could you scroll down just generally through the e-mail, so Mr. Birney can look at it.
Q Mr. Birney, do you see on the second page of the exhibit, there's an item entitled, "Trump Tower Penthouse"?
A Yes.
Q Does it state a square footage?
A Yes.
Q What is the square footage that is stated?
A 10,996 .
MR. HAREN: Let's pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 1327.
We apparently have a version of this that's already in evidence, so I would like to use that one instead of this notified by e-mail from Forbes that Mr. Trump's triplex apartment was 10,996 square feet?
A Just to be clear, you said 2016?
Q Yes.
A I don't think he did.
Q Did Jeff McConney ever inform you before the 2016
Statement of Financial Condition was finalized that he had been notified by e-mail from Forbes that Mr. Trump's triplex apartment was 10,996 square feet?
A I don't -- I don't know. I don't think he did.
Q Let's go back to the 2017 supporting data, Plaintiffs Exhibit 758. Let's look at again row 969 actually look at row 971. Do you see where it states "triplex-based on comp from 432 Park"?
A Yes.
MR. HAREN: Let's pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 767.
Q Mr. Birney, could you look through the document?
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize it?
A Yes.
Q What do you recognize it to be?
A The backup to the triplex valued for the 2017.
MR. HAREN: I move this document into evidence.
MR. KISE: For what purpose? It's hearsay. What's it being admitted for?

Page 1237
1 one. Let's pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 1345.
2

16 Q Do you see where the e-mail states under the heading

24 Q Did Allen Weisselberg ever inform you before the 2016
25 Statement of Financial Condition was finalized that he had been

Page 1239
THE COURT: It is hearsay. Depends on -- actually, it depends upon what they're trying to admit it for. What's the purpose of admitting it?

MR. HAREN: The witness just testified that this was the backup to the 2017 valuation of Mr. Trump's triplex.

THE COURT: Well, it's in for that so --
MR. KISE: It is in for the fact that it is a backup, but not --

THE COURT: But not for the truth --
MR. KISE: Right.
THE COURT: Contents.
MR. KISE: Okay.
THE COURT: Okay.
Q Mr. Birney, there's information contained on the first page that is in handwriting. Do you see that?

A Yes.
Q What does that information represent?
A The square footage of Mr. Trump's triplex.
\(Q\) Do you have an understanding as to whose handwriting is on this page?

A I think is Stephanie Lennig. I don't know for sure.
Q That was the person you mentioned who was involved in verifying the square footage of Mr. Trump's triplex after the article came out?
A Yes.

1 Q Let's turn to page two of the exhibit. Do you have an understanding what is reflected in the mathematical computations on the right side of this page?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And what is your understanding?
6 A It's the dollar per square-foot.
7 Q The dollar per square-foot of what?
8 A Of this unit in 432 Park.
9 Q And the dollar per square-foot that's calculated here was then used to value Mr. Trump's triplex in the 2017 Statement of Financial Condition; is that right?

A Can you show me the previous exhibit?
Q Sure.
MR. HAREN: Let's go back to Plaintiff's
Exhibit 758 and down to row 971.
A Probably. It's not the same number, but it's very close to that number.
Q It says 432 Park in the spreadsheet, doesn't it?
A Yes.
Q And can you look at Exhibit 767 on the second page.
Does that also reference 432 Park?
MR. HAREN: Could you zoom -- yeah.
23 A Yes.
24 So does the information on this page represent support
25 for the \($ 10,625\) per square-foot number that was used to value

\section*{P. BIRNEY - DIRECT (MR. HAREN)}

Page 1241
Mr. Trump's triplex for the 2107 statement?
A It does. I just don't know why we wouldn't have used 10,624 instead of 625 . It is very particular.

Q Might be a dollar off?
A Sorry?
Q So it might be a dollar off?
A Yes.
Q Let's look at page -- continuing on page two of the exhibit. Do you see at the bottom there is an Internet address https://www.alux.com and then it continues?

A Yes.
Q What do you understand that to refer to?
A I understand that would be the website that this came from.

Q So it is a website entitled alux.com?
A That is my understanding.
Q Did you go to alux.com to find a property to use to value Mr. Trump's triplex for the 2017 Statement of Financial Condition?
A I think I did.
Q And tell us what you did when you did that. In other words, did you follow a process? How did you identify this process as something that should be used?

A I re -- I think I Google-searched recent sales and/or 25 like penthouse sales in Manhattan.

1 Q And you happened upon an article entitled, "Own the Most Expensive Penthouse in U.S. Now!"?
A Yes.
Q For this property to be used to value Mr. Trump's triplex for the 2017 Statement of Financial Condition, did you discuss it with anybody?

A Yes.
Q Who did you discuss it with?
A Allen Weisselberg or Jeff McConney.
Q Did either of them direct you to use this comparable as opposed to any others that you had identified?

A I don't remember.
Q In 2017, would you have chosen a comparable for Mr.
Trump's triplex apartment without being told to do so by Jeff McConney or Allen Weisselberg?
A No.
MR. HAREN: Let's go to Plaintiff's Exhibit 843, please. Could we go down to row 1011.
Q Mr. Birney, do you have an understanding of the information contained in columns \(B\) and \(C\) in row 1011?
A Yes.
Q And what is your understanding?
A So description of the valuation for Mr. Trump's triplex in 2019.
Q What does it indicate to you about what information was

\section*{BIRNEY - DIRECT (MR. HAREN)}

Page 1243
used in that valuation?
A It indicates there was a comp used from 220 Central Park South that my understanding is that there was a \($ 10,348\) per square-foot number on that 220 Central Park South property.
Q And so the 10,348 per square-foot from 220 Central Park
South was used to value Mr. Trump's triplex in the June 30, 2019
Statement of Financial Condition?
A I think so.
MR. HAREN: Let's pull up Plaintiff's Exhibit 2530.
Q Mr. Birney, do you recognize this document?
A Not really. I recognize the first page.
Q What is contained on the first page?
A First page looks like the same thing as the last year, the square footage for Mr. Trump's triplex.

Q It appears to be the same handwriting that was used in the 2017 version we looked at a few minutes ago?

A Yes.
Q Do you see on the second page there is an article from therealdeal.com?

A Yes.
Q Do you see at the top there is a date of September 25, 2019?
A Yes.
Q Do you see there's also something at the top that says,
25 "Ken Griffin, 220 Central Park South Priciest U.S. Home Sale.'

A Yes.
2 Q Do you see in the article there is a highlighted price of where it says record shattering 238 million?
A Yes.
5 Q Do you see in the paragraph that follows, "A 23,000 square-foot quadruplex"?
A Yes.
8 Q Do you see that 23,000 square-foot is highlighted?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Do you see that below there is a strip of what I'll refer to as adding machine math?

A Yes.
Q Do you have an understanding of what is computed by that adding machine math?
A The price per square-foot for this unit.
Q What is the price per square-foot that's computed?
A \(\mathbf{$ 1 0 , 3 4 7 . 8 2}\).
MR. HAREN: Can we go back to Plaintiff's
Exhibit 843.
Q Does that number match the 10,348 per square-foot that's used in row 1011 of this spreadsheet?
A Yes.
Q Having now seen that information, do you recognize Plaintiff's Exhibit 2530 as the backup or the valuation of Mr.
Trump's triplex in 2019?

Page 1245

\section*{A Yes.}

MR. HAREN: Your Honor, I move this document into evidence.

THE COURT: Granted. It is in evidence.
(Whereupon, the Document was marked in evidence as Plaintiff's Exhibit 2530.)

MR. KISE: Same objection, Your Honor, as to the purpose that it is being moved into evidence for. Also, I just have a general objection. You were talking before about moving things along. What is the relevance of all of this? I mean, I know we have a dispute over whether or not the square footage was right or wrong, should have been right or wrong, but this doesn't really go to that. This just goes to the price per square-foot in 2019 -- after the square footage number was corrected. So I'm just not sure what relevance this exhibit has or the other one frankly.

THE COURT: Well, let's hear the explanation.
MR. HAREN: I would just say the price per square-foot is another variable in the valuation and its choice could be evidence to matters that are relevant to issues being tried.

MR. KISE: What issue is being tried on that point, as to that point?

MR. HAREN: There are additional elements of the other counts that haven't been decided on summary judgment for which a choice of a price per square-foot that is record-shattering could be relevant, and I would rather not discuss that in front of the witness.

THE COURT: Objection overruled. It's relevant to the whole process it seems to me evaluating these properties.

MR. HAREN: You can scroll down a little bit.
Q So what you're describing is happening starting at Row 248; is that right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And just so I understand the average value per acre and the multiplication to get essentially a value of the total acreage is done based on the private residences that are identified as comparables; is that right?
A The private residences that are what?
Q Identified as comparables?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And -- but then there is additional value added for construction of a grand ballroom and beach cabanas that are club facilities; is that right?
A I don't know how to answer that.
Q Is the grand ballroom used at the club?
A At Mar-A-Lago, yes.
Q And are the beach cabanas used at the club?
A Yes.

residential comparables and acres, but components of the club are added to it; is that right?

Q Okay. And is the method that you described in terms of the value per acre identified from the comparables and then the multiplication across the acreage of Mar-A-Lago, is that used on the statements from 2016 to 2021?

A Can you repeat the question, please?
MR. HAREN: Can I have a read back, please? THE COURT: Please.
